EVERYTHING RUSHED

During this the Closing Week of Our

Dissolution Sale

Never have the women of Peterborough and other large buyers responded so universally to any special event announced by this store. We hardly dared expect such a stupendous volume of patronage, which has so forcibly expressed the people's appreciation of our methods.

A flood-tide of Bargains still await buyers during this, the Best Week of Our Dissolution Sale. Stock must be reduced to proper proportions before our Annual Inventory begins next week.

Everything will be rushed this week—eclipsing every record that is worth a mention or comparison. The Golden Lion will be a Dispensary of a list of good things in DRESS GOODS AND SILKS, SUITS AND CLOAKS, WALKING SKIRTS, TABLE LINENS, WASH GOODS, NECK RIBBONS, ETC. Savings will flow from every counter and every section.

Piles of Snowy Whitewear Melt Away.

All records for first day's selling were broken since then, and yet we make a showing almost equal to the display with which the sale began. The public demands it and we have simply provided for it to meet their wishes. Sharper Reductions are now offered—Qualities are even better and prices lower, even though Cottons are higher. No rumpled or mussed sorts in the whole collection.

Here's a list worth crowing about:—

A BAD FROST FOR MR. WHITNEY.

Col. Munro Elected in North Oxford by An Old-Time Majority.

Embro's Answer to Mr. Gamey's Campaign Methods—The Conservatives Expected a Far Larger Majority in Woodstock Than Mr. Gamey Received—Col. Munro Will Have Over 1,000 Majority.

Woodstock, Jan. 27.—The Tory bow is unbent, the shaft is returned to the quiver, the loud cymbal has not been called into requisition. North Oxford is not led captive by Gamey. It is as overwhelmingly Liberal as ever. Colonel Munro has been elected by a majority that when full returns come in may prove greater than that of the late Mr. Pattullo in the elections of 1902 and 1898, notwithstanding the expected failure to retain in Woodstock the majority secured by Mr. Pattullo on personal grounds. Mr. Butler carried Woodstock by 32. In 1902 Mr. Pattullo secured a plurality of 279 over the Conservative, and a majority of 69 over both his opponents. Conservatives were expecting a much heavier majority for Butler in view of the fact that Sir Oliver Mowat, with all his prestige, only once carried Woodstock, his majority on that occasion being 54.

Shaken the Wrong Way.

Embro, where Mr. Gamey spoke, and where he was said, in the bombastic words of the Opposition press, to have shaken the faith of the old Liberals, gave rather a remarkable answer. Mr. Ross, the temperance candidate, got a hundred votes there in 1902, Mr. Pattullo 17, and Mr. Muma 2. The Liberal candidate this time got 106 and the Conservative 17, thus making the Government majority 89 in a district where the Government candidate got only 17 votes altogether eighteen months ago.

The Premier's Thanks.

Among the first message to arrive at the Liberal committee rooms, where the returns were received by the committee, was the following message from the Premier, to whom the welcome news that Munro was leading by a handsome majority had been conveyed:

"My heartiest thanks to Woodstock workers and Liberals generally. Congratulations to Col. Munro, M. P.P." Signed, Geo. W. Ross.

Weather Conditions Bad.

The polling in the country was carried on under terrible weather conditions. When the total returns are in Lieut.-Colonel Munro will have a majority of upwards of 1,000, perhaps the largest majority yet given for a Liberal candidate in the riding. The vote:

HE DIED A CONVICT

Whitaker Wright Sentenced to Seven Years in Jail.

AND SUDDENLY TOPPLED OVER

Dramatic Conclusion to the Trial of the Famous Company Promoter, Who Was Convicted of Fraud—His Friends Attribute His Sudden Death to Poison—London Thrilled With the Tragedy.

London, Jan. 27.—The trial of Whitaker Wright ended in a tragedy. Within an hour of being found guilty and sentenced to seven years' penal servitude, the most severe sentence the law allows, for the fraud of which he was convicted, the financier, whose colossal dealings have created a sensation on both sides of the Atlantic, lay dead in the anteroom of the court, thus escaping the jailors who were waiting outside to take him to prison.

Whether Wright's death was due to heart disease, following the excitement of the trial, as announced by the doctors, or by poison, as grimly hinted by his friends, is still undecided, and possibly will not be ascertained until the coroner's verdict.

Standing with his hands in his pockets and looking very pale, but not so anxious as during the judge's severe summing up, Wright heard the judge's condemnation and sentence without apparent excitement. He quietly protested his innocence in a very loud voice, audible throughout the room, left the court in company with his solicitor and was arranging for the future of his wife and family, when he suddenly fell and expired without another word.

His solicitor, George Lewis, jr., who was with him at the time, said: "Wright seemed to be stunned by the sentence, but he did not give the slightest indication, either before or after his sentence, of any intention to take his own life."

Wright's friends said all along that while he was hopeful of his acquittal they were certain he would not survive a sentence and would commit suicide.

Justice Bingham, in passing sentence, said he could see nothing to excuse the crime of which Wright had been convicted, and he could not conceive a worse case.

Wright, who had stood up to receive his sentence, said, in a firm voice:

"All I can say is that I am as innocent of any intention to deceive as any one in this court."

Due to Poisoning.

All London to-night is thrilled with the news of it. No such human tragedy has been enacted in England in years.

An examination of the body made at a late hour to-night points strongly to the fact that death was due to poisoning.

DOZEN ENGINES SNOWBOUND.

G.T.R. Feeding 63 Passengers at a Cost of $160 a Day.

Clinton, Jan. 27.—The railway situation here and in this section of the province is without doubt the worst in the history of the country. No less than twelve engines within twelve miles of this place, on the Stratford branch, are either disabled or stuck in the snow, as well as a train full of passengers and a snowplow. While on the London branch no trains have reached here since last Saturday, the road being completely blocked, and no attempt made to open it. No mails have been received since Saturday last, and with the big storm raging yesterday it will not likely be opened for some days. The track since the day's thaw last week makes it dangerous for trains to run. The G.T.R. here have over sixty-two passengers to take care of, which is costing them over $100 a day. Business is at a standstill, and never in the history of the country has such a state of affairs ever existed.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Winnipeg—Mrs. Jane Gainer died at Dominion City, Man., aged 108.

Muscogee, I.T.—Runners report an uprising among the full-blood Cherokees, and ask protection for whites, who live in that country.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 27.—Ex-Lieutenant-Governor McInnes is dangerously ill, and his condition is causing his friends great anxiety. Heart trouble is the complaint.

Winnipeg—The Directory for 1904 contains 287,866 individual names, and the estimated population is 77,304, the increase over a year ago being placed at 18,744.

Boston—The schooners Ella Pressey and Francis Schubert were lost in a collision off Cape Cod Sunday night. Captain Elias White and Mate Fred. T. Peterson of the Pressey went down.

TO TORONTO WITH THE CURLERS.

An Excursion will be Run on Thursday, Feb. 2nd When the Thistles Will Play for Ontario Tankard.

The local curlers will run a cheap excursion to Toronto on Tuesday, Feb. 2nd, when the play for the Ontario Tankard will take place. Two rinks of the Thistles will compete for this trophy, and doubtless a great many will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit Toronto. A very low rate has been secured, viz.: $2.05 for the round trip, leaving Peterborough by special train at 8 a.m. on Tuesday morning, and good to return on any regular train within two days.

CANADA'S SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE.

While Canadian trade with South Africa has not yet reached large dimensions, it is gratifying to learn, from an authority so competent to discuss it as Mr. J. G. Jardine, the Dominion Commercial Commissioner in South Africa, who is here on a visit, that it is vigorous and healthy, and that notwithstanding the distance of 10,000 miles which separates the two branches of British stock, and the fact that Canadian manufacturers have the advantage of a large home market, there is the opportunity for a good beginning there which, if taken advantage of now, may lead to important things in the future.

American and German competition plays a large part in the international commerce of the South African colonies, but the preference which Great Britain and the various states of the British Empire enjoys gives them an advantage, although in the opinions he has expressed on this subject from time to time Mr. Jardine has laid much stress on the methods adopted by the competitors of Great Britain and Canada for pushing business.

Americans and Germans have their representatives all over the country in much greater force than the British, and of course the Canadian manufacturers; but Canadian concerns are combing to send out travellers to represent several interests they find profitable.

A curious example of success in the sphere of agricultural implements is mentioned. A Canadian firm of agricultural implement makers brought a traveller from Australia to South Africa who understood his business, and he placed $50,000 worth of ploughs for them in a short time, in addition to other business. A great deal depends upon the agent making himself popular. A brainy, capable salesman, with freedom to spend money in getting business, will weigh strongly in the balance against preference tariff concessions.

Another point on which Mr. Jardine lays emphasis is the fact that Americans and Germans are more ready to make concessions to secure trade than the British manufacturer. They will pack to suit the customer and will pack more economically than English manufacturer, especially in the case of carts, wagons and machinery, and thus they save freight.

A method employed by the Americans and the Germans is for a group of producing firms to combine to send out a representative, paying him liberal expenses. Such a man would represent several interests, such as wooden frame work of houses, mining and agricultural machinery, canned goods, and articles of wearing apparel. By combining in this way the firms save cost and the methods tell very strikingly in the results obtained as against the practice of employing single representatives and commission agents.—Ottawa Free Press.

GRAND TRUNK EXHIBIT AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Extensive Preparations Made to Show Beauties of Canada.

St. Louis, Jan. 20th.—Mr. H. R. Charlton, advertising agent for the Grand Trunk Railway System of Canada, is in St. Louis to-day. Mr. Charlton has just completed arrangements for an allotment in the Forestry, Fish and Game building.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company will have a very extensive display at the World's Fair and intends to show the game and fishery products of the famous resorts crossed by the pioneer Canadian line.

Mr. Charlton has to-day given out the contract for the construction of the Grand Trunk's booth which will be most elaborate; he will return to St. Louis in 10 days to supervise the work of decoration and preliminary installation.

Among the scenories which the scenerias which the Grand Trunk will reproduce in the Forestry, Fish and Game building are the following:—

Panorama of the City of Quebec, the Gibraltar of America; views and fish products of the Maine Seacoast; among the New England Hills, views and specimens of game and fish of the White Mountains, N.H.; the Grand Trunk Victoria Jubilee Bridge, of Montreal; the shooting of the Lachine Rapids; views of Kingston, Toronto and the Niagara Falls, where the Grand Trunk has now constructed a continuous double track extending as far East as Quebec.

The Highlands of Ontario will also be reproduced by specimens which will prove, indeed, the sportsmen's paradise.

Muskoka Lakes, undoubtedly one of the most beautiful regions in America, with their red deer, wild ducks, partridges and hares, will have a most ambitious representation there during the World's Fair. Thousands of American tourists have visited the Muskoka Lakes of Ontario during the past season, hence the pretentious scale which is to be given them in the Grand Trunk's representative exhibit.

Mr. Charlton is authority for the statement that the exhibit of the Grand Trunk at the Universal Exposition of 1904 will be second to none and, far beyond anything presented at previous expositions.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Lakefield, Jan. 26.

The local hockey team drove to Keene Monday to play the return game in the Trent Valley Hockey League. The score was 16 to 3 in favour of Keene.

The local curlers were much pleased to hear of the good showing of their representatives at the Bonspiel held in Peterborough last Tuesday and Wednesday and look for good results when they go to Orillia next Thursday to play the winners of the northern districts.

Several of the young men of the village are organizing themselves to hold an "at home" in the Town Hall in the near future.

The Women's Institute of the village are holding their annual "at home" in the Town Hall on Thursday evening next when a good musical programme is expected.

The most interesting hockey match of the season was played in the rink on Friday evening last when the "Kentuckey's" lined up to show the "Blowhards" how to chase the puck. After much strenuous play and Crowley, of the "Kentuckeys," bleeding and bruised, had been carried off the ice. The "Blowhards" defeated their opponents by a score of 14 to 5.

Miss McClelland, of Peterborough, is visiting in the village the guest of Mrs. J. Millage.

The news of the death, which occurred Friday, Jan. 15th, of Miss Etta Garbutt, only daughter of Mr. Robt. Garbutt, of Smith, came as a severe shock to her many friends in the village. Miss Garbutt had a music class in the village and was much loved by her pupils who feel their loss keenly. The funeral took place on Sunday at 2 p.m. to the Lakefield Cemetery.

The death of Mrs. J. Wallace occurred in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Sunday morning. Mrs. Wallace underwent an operation last week and to all appearances was doing well, but a severe change for the worse occurred on Saturday night and though everything possible was done to help her, death took her away on Sunday morning. The funeral will take place in Lakefield from the family residence on Wednesday, Jan. 27th.

Mr. John Cooper's new house on Queen street, is very near completion and Mr. Cooper intends moving in in the course of a week.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are preparing to give a dramatic entertainment in the Town Hall on Friday, Feb. 11th. A splendid programme may be expected. The proceeds are in aid of the Building Fund of the church.

We regret to report that Mr. John Mutill is confined to his bed with an attack of pleurisy, but hope that he will soon be about again.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled, a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A party of young people enjoyed themselves immensely at Mr. Ed. Aldrief's on Jan. 20th, Wednesday evening.

On Wednesday afternoon a quiet wedding took place at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Johnston, when Miss Maggie Duncan was united in matrimony to Mr. Andrew Brown, both of Seymour.

On Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 20, the residence of Mr. Jas. Conkrite was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their daughter, Miss Lottie, was united in the bonds of matrimony, to Mr. John Dell, Rev. Mr. Johnston performing the ceremony. The bride was charmingly dressed in cream satin, trimmed with lace and insertion. The happy pair left on the four o'clock train for Niagara and points west, with the congratulations of their friends and relatives for their future happiness and a considerable amount of rice thrown in.

On Friday night about twenty-five or thirty of the town boys attended the Norwood-Campbellford hockey match. Foster, C. Pearce and Pettegrove was very conspicuous for the winners.

The band concert Friday evening was a complete success. The Rev. W. R. Tunely, M.A., as chairman, was exceptionally good, and his brilliant remarks were appreciated by all. The Rev. Mr. Camp, by request, gave a short address. A quartette, Misses Smith, Bryans, Lancaster and Bryans, "Sunny Africa," was very good. A song entitled, "Bandolen," by Mr. L. R. Slater, was very good. The instrumental solo by Miss Myrtle Green, "Hancock's Grand March," was fine. A duet by Messrs. Swain and McGuire, "I am Wearing My Heart Away for You," was very good. Miss Elgin Watson in her instrumental solo, "Valse Arabesque," by Lack, was exceptionally good. A quartette by Messrs. Jarvis, Crow, Barrett and Williams, slumber song, was very fine. The duet, "Will I Find My Mamma There," sang by Messrs. E. McGill and L. Webb, was good. Mr. M. Swain in his comic song, "Hold Fast," was the hit of the night. It is plain to be seen when Mat comes out there is something doing. The cornet solo by the band leader, Mr. T. Jarvis, was good. The music by the band throughout the evening was certainly fine, and showed that it had made very rapid progress during the past few months. A few of the selections were as follows: Overature, entitled "The Diamond was Certainly Great." The march, "Philosonate," by Hall, was good, as well as a number of others which the people enjoyed to the limit.

Another fire broke out in the sand house of the C.P.R. on Saturday evening, but did not gain much headway before it was extinguished.

On Monday afternoon what might have proved to be a very disastrous fire broke out in the English church parsonage. The fire started from the chimney and it was quite a while before it was found out. It was speedily extinguished, but the water did more damage to the furniture than the fire.

What might have proved to be a fatality through escaping gas, in Mr. J. Coon's bakery, occurred on Monday, when Mr. Herbert Schemerhorn and Robert McMullen were overcome by gas. Mr. McMullen began to feel sick and was just in the act of telling Schemerhorn that he did not feel well, when he saw Schemerhorn fall to the ground. McMullen, although very weak, managed to drag him out to the open air when he was overcome. Mr. Schemerhorn had to be carried home on a stretcher, but speedily recovered after arriving there.

On Monday evening the A.O.U.W. gave an oyster supper, which was enjoyed by all who were lucky enough to get invitations.

An at home in the town hall on last Tuesday evening was a complete success, everybody enjoying themselves thoroughly.

Mr. Wm. Barlow of Toronto, is spending a few days with his parents in town.

Mrs. Wm. Webb entertained a few of her friends on Monday evening.

ONEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The roads are now blocked in every direction, but will soon be opened.

Those who drove to the Peterborough markets obtained higher prices for their produce than from the merchants who shipped to Toronto and Montreal.

The House of Refuge to be built at Lindsay, with the one hundred acres attached, is meeting with approval from every right-minded person.

There was a very pretty wedding solemnized at the Methodist church on Wednesday, the contracting parties being Barton Rea, druggist, of St. Louis, U.S.A., and Miss Gardiner, daughter of Mr. R. H. Gardiner, and niece of Mr. A. Gardiner, of Peterborough, who was the caterer for the affair, and who supplied the supper in an up-to-date manner. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Lawton Hill, Toronto, assisted by Rev. Mr. Johnston, before a large crowd in the Methodist church. The wedding presents were numerous and costly.

Mr. Green, pump agent, was here last week.

The shipments of stock were very large this week notwithstanding the stormy weather.

The outlook for the branch of the Bank of Toronto established here is encouraging so far.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The meeting of the East Durham Farmers' Institute was held here on the 22nd inst., the speakers were all present, but very few hearers. There were many who were not aware of such a meeting being held until after it was over.

Our January thaw was of short duration—about 6 hours.

We were glad to hear of the choice made at the nomination in Peterborough at the meeting called for that purpose by the Liberal party on the 15th inst. R. R. Hall, Esq., Barrister, is well qualified to represent the West Riding of the County of Peterborough.

The address printed in "Saturday Night" of the 9th inst., delivered by the Rev. J. Sanderland, of Toronto, on the temperance question, is well worthy of perusal; showing the necessity of enlightning the public through the pulpit, press and schools is reference to the evils of intemperance.

FINAL PLEBISCITE.

London Chamber Will Support Policy of Retaliation Provided Friendly Negotiations Fail—Colonial Secretary Speaks.

London, Jan. 27.—(C.A.P.)—The fiscal plebiscite held by the London Chamber of Commerce resulted as follows: Tax on foodstuffs, yes 74, no 62; tax on raw materials, yes 21, no 17; tax on manufactured goods, yes 116, no 39; preferential trade with the colonies and foreign countries on a reciprocal basis, yes 108, no 40.

The Chamber will move at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to support retaliation, provided friendly negotiations fail.

Colonial Secretary's Speech.

Alfred Lyttleton, Colonial Secretary, addressing his constituents at Leamington last night, said the Government's decision in favor of a revision of its fiscal policy must lead sooner or later to a colonial preference. (Cheers.) Canada was setting a splendid example. South Africa and New Zealand were following her and he believed Australia was of the same faith. There was only one way of dealing with the immense colonial problems, and unless imperial interests were vitally concerned our principle would be never to interfere with the desires and wishes of the self-governing states of the Empire. Even with regard to the Crown colonies, England must remember that each had the greatest desire to have in its own life one particular thought regarding policy and method of expression. Provided they kept that always in view, the Empire would possess the surest foundations. (Loud cheers.)

ACCIDENT IN MINE SHAFT.

Cage Dropped 1,500 Feet Into Water and 15 Men Met Death.

Victor, Colo., Jan. 27.—By the falling of a cage yesterday in the Stratton Independence mine, located near the centre of this city, fifteen men are dead and one other severely injured.

Sixteen men were being hoisted. When the cage reached the surface the engineer was unable to stop the engine, and the cage, with its load of human freight, was drawn up into the gallows frame, where it became lodged temporarily.

The strain on the cable finally caused it to part, and the cage released, shot down the shaft with terrific speed. Two of the occupants had become entangled in the timber rods near the top of the gallows frame. One was crushed to death, while the other received painful injuries. The other fourteen men were hurled to death down the 1,500-foot shaft.

At the bottom of the shaft stands 25 feet of water, and into this the cage plunged, carrying some of the men into the water with it.

His Life Crushed Out.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—The Townsend Laundry, 110 West Adelaide street, was the scene of a horrible and fatal accident yesterday afternoon, when Robert Oxenham was crushed to death by the elevator. He was employed as a washer and worked in the basement. He started the elevator, and while leaning over to give the signal he was caught by the elevator and dragged up to the side partition, where his life was crushed out. The body was wedged in so tightly between the elevator and the wall that it was necessary to break away the partition to extricate him. Deceased was 45 years of age and married. An inquest will be held.

Engineer Phibbs Killed.

London, Jan. 27.—Engineer William Phibbs of the Sarnia Tunnel was crushed to death and Fireman James Norwood badly injured in a collision in the yards here yesterday morning with an express train. Phibbs was in charge of a light locomotive. The express locomotive and a baggage car were badly damaged.

Smothered to Death.

Little Britain, Jan. 27.—Joseph Faurd, farmer, near here, was killed yesterday morning by the upsetting of a load of wheat, which he was taking to Mariposa Station on the G.T.R. When found he was dead, with a number of bags of grain on him. He undoubtedly smothered in the snow.

Two Lobster Fishers Dead.

Liverpool, N. S., Jan. 27.—Two sons of Alexander Wharton, named Arthur and William, of Beach Meadows, were drowned Monday while overhauling their lobster traps by the upsetting of their dory during a very heavy gale that struck off shore suddenly.

MINERS STILL IN THE MINE.

Elements Are Against Rescue Work at the Harwick Mine.

Pittsburg, Jan. 27.—Even the elements seem conspiring to prevent the work of rescue at the Harwick mine. At 3 o'clock yesterday 16 men went down into the shaft. It was 9 o'clock when the first three men of the party who went down at 3 o'clock were brought to the surface. Not one of them was able to walk, so numbed were they by the cold.

Henry Beckert, one of the men said: "We were too cold to work. There is apparently no one to rescue. We had a hard time to find many of the dead. A shred of clothing here and there. A jacket, a pair of overalls, but few bodies.

"When we left the bottom of the shaft there were 12 bodies lying there ready to be brought up. There are many others there, and bodies of many others will never be found.

"The south main drift, in which we worked, gives little chance to find bodies that will be recognizable. In the north main drift the way has been cleared for some distance, but we could not tell what was there."

Just before 10 o'clock the last of the rescuers was brought to the surface. A party of three volunteers then went back to the mine to continue the search.

Drinking Healths.

This was a Roman custom. The drinking was accompanied by some such words as "Here's to myself," "Here's to you" and "Here's to I shan't say who." The ancient Greeks also drank healths. When Theramerus was condemned to drink hemlock he said, "Hoc pulcro Critiæ."

The ancient Saxons also had the same custom. Hengist invited King Vortigera to a banquet to see the new levies. After the dishes were removed Rowena, the beautiful daughter of Hengist, appeared before the scene holding in her hand a golden cup full of wine. She then made obeisance and said, which in modern English means, "Lord king, your health." The king drank and replied, "Here's to you."

The Greeks handed the cups to the person they toasted and said, "This to thee." Our custom of holding out the cup comes to us from ancient Greece.

THE NEW TAX BILL

The New Assessment Bill Has Radical Provisions.

AFTER THE BIG COMPANIES

Graduated Business Tax Provided For—Assess Telephone and Telegraph Companies on Gross Receipts—Will Increase Railway Taxes—Special Bill to Be Brought In For This Purpose By Committee.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—The Select Committee on Municipal Taxation met yesterday morning in the Private Bills Committee room. Attorney-General Gibson presiding, and there were present also Hon. F. R. Latchford, J. J. Foy, K.C., John Lee, W. H. Hoyle, A. G. McKay, C. B. Powell and Denis Murphy. The committee sat over two hours and went through the clauses proposed to be added to the assessment bill.

Machinery Exemption.

Mr. Gibson thought it desirable to amplify the definition of machinery, and where there was likely to be litigation he was willing to put in additional clauses to show just what was meant. It seemed unfair to Toronto and such cities to exempt what would amount to such a large interest in their taxation, and it must be settled whether machinery for distributing electric power, light, and so forth, should be classed with ordinary machinery. Mr. Gibson suggested that for the present machinery be left undefined, with the suggestion that the companies be exempted for the purposes of the business tax.

The Business Tax.

The new business tax which is to take the place of the income tax engaged the attention of the committee during the greater part of the sitting. The business tax is irrespective of any assessment of land under the act, and is additional to real estate assessment. It is proposed to assess distillers 125 per cent. of their real estate value, and Mr. Gibson remarked that they would come off rather better at that rate than at present. The brewers will be assessed for the business tax at a sum equal to their ordinary assessed value, 100 per cent.; bankers, real estate men, etc., 75 per cent. In the case of departmental stores and retail stores having five or more separate branches of business, and where the assessed value is over $20,000 (this provision relieving the smaller enterprises) the business tax will be incident on 50 per cent. of the assessed value.

Professional Men Must Pay.

Professional men, solicitors, doctors, dentists, veterinary surgeons, etc., will be taxed on 50 per cent. of their assessed value. Mr. Gibson said that medical men would pay a much larger amount than they have hitherto done and this applies also to lawyers. A doctor having a house would be assessed on that property and not on the office he might occupy. Mr. Gibson thought a man's house was a pretty good index of his income, and it was to be remembered that the tax was an alternative for the income tax.

"It may be we are putting it a little too severely for some of the professions," he said, "but I would suggest letting it stand in the meantime. There will be discussion in the papers and deputations will be heard and the House may insist upon coming down to the 25 per cent. basis. The doctors are paying less now than they ought."

Theatres 25 Per Cent.

Theatres, music halls, hotels, restaurants and telegraph, telephone, steam, gas, water and other public utility companies will be assessed on a 25 per cent. basis. No person will be assessed under more than one clause, and where he may have more than one interest he will be assessed on that which will yield the highest amount of assessment.

Mr. Gibson thought it would be illusory to attempt to get the business tax from certain carriers, such as local steamers, or from manufacturers' agents, who worked from samples. These should be taxed on income, and everyone not assessed under the clause would fall under the income tax.

Illustration of Double Tax.

Considerable discussion occurred on the question whether a merchant or manufacturer who drew a salary as manager or secretary of a company would be assessable as to his position and also on the income he might derive as a shareholder. It might be argued that this was the plainest possible illustration of the double tax. It was difficult to draw the line and no one, said Mr. Gibson, would dream of exempting shareholders in banks.

As the bill stands it renders persons of the class alluded to liable to the double taxation. Mr. Hoyle wished to sleep on the proposal and it remains for consideration.

Telephones on Gross Receipts.

Telegraph and telephone companies are to be assessed at a percentage to be determined on their gross receipts, and in every township at the rate of $200 for every mile of wire and of $7.50 for every newly-strung mile of wire, returns of gross income and wire mileage to be made by the companies in writing in each township and city up to Dec. 31 in each year. Mr. Gibson thought that the annoying, nagging and distressing sources of quarrelling between corporations and municipalities would be removed by this provision. Mr. Hoyle was in favor of an automatic principle and would not meddle with receipts at all.

The Steam Railways.

Mr. Gibson explained that the bill provides for leaving out the provincial board. It makes provision for taxing steam railways when running along roads and streets of municipalities, the intention being that a substantial—a very substantial—addition to the taxation of railways should take place during the present session.

Later on Mr. Gibson said that there would be a very large addition to the burdens of the railways. It was stated in this connection that the Michigan taxes on the G. T. R. tunnel are greater than the Canadian assessment.

There is a change in the bill as provided by the commission as regards the sale of lands by the sheriff, the bill going back to the old law.

Not a minute should shows symptoms of cr Cough Remedy given as comes hoarse, or even aff appears will prevent the and is pleasant and safe to

NEGOTIATIONS DEADLOCKED.

London, Jan. 27.—The St. Petersburg despatches are conflicting, some saying that negotiations are deadlocked, others that Russia's reply will be ready to-day or Thursday.

The Daily Graphic correspondent at Sebastopol claims indisputable authority to assert that Russia three weeks ago asked permission for warships to pass the Dardanelles, which permission Turkey refused.

Despatches from both Tokio and Pekin agree, however, that as a result of China's efforts to secure mediation France has agreed to use her good offices, in conjunction with Great Britain and the United States, to arrange a modus vivendi between Russia and Japan. Further, the French Minister at Pekin has intimated to Prince Ching his belief that if such mediation was successful the three powers in question could assist China in coming to an equitable agreement with Russia regarding Manchuria. Both British and American Ministers at Pekin are agreed, however, according to the despatches from Pekin, that such mediation is impossible, as neither of the powers concerned had invited mediation publicly.

According to The Times' correspondent at Pekin Prince Ching admits that the suggestion to invite the mediation of the powers came from the Russian Minister.

Advices to The Telegraph from St. Petersburg say that Russia's reply to Japan's latest note has already been drawn up. He reports also renewed depression on the Bourse as a result of pessimistic feeling.

Tax For New Army.

Pekin, Jan. 27.—An Imperial edict relating to the raising of the funds necessary for the new army plans was published yesterday. It orders the taxation of wines and tobacco, decrees that all official perquisites shall be applied to the army funds, enjoins the reduction of the expenses of the Imperial household, orders the public works department to stop all unimportant work and appeals to officials and merchants to contribute, promising to reward the contributors. Officials everywhere are exhorted to show loyalty in supporting the Government. In conclusion the edict threatens punishment for those who obstruct the execution of the plans.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of, that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

Jury on the Coyle...W. G. Morrow as... fred returned a verdict last night of murder against Clement Coyette. He was then given a preliminary hearing, committed for trial, and taken to the county jail at L'Original.

The murder was one of the most brutal on record in this district. Coyette and Colligan quarrelled over the manner which the chores were being done. Coyette knocked his employer down, and a fourteen-year-old son, picking up a stick, struck the assailant, who was under the influence of liquor. This infuriated the man, who picked up a broad axe and cleft Colligan's head asunder. He then hacked the boy to death and started for the house to wipe out the rest of the family. He struck at Mrs. Colligan with an axe but the head flew off. He beat the helpless woman with the handle. The frightened children scurried to shelter, and one alarmed the neighbors, who overpowered the brute. Coyette had only been in the neighborhood two weeks, and is supposed to have tramped from Montreal.

BEGAN ON NEW REVENUE CUTTER.

Will Be 176 Feet Long and of 18-Knots Capacity.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—The work of constructing the new Dominion revenue cutter that is to take the place of the Petrel on the upper lakes, has just been started by the F. B. Polson Company, and from her dimensions and the provisions of the contract, will be quite capable of performing the duties demanded of her. Speed, as well as stoutness of build—the chief factors for a boat of this kind—will be the principal characteristics of the new vessel. She will be 176 feet long at the load water line, and will be capable of steaming along at the rate of 18 miles an hour. Two sets of triple expansion engines will be installed, with an electrical dynamo to supply light for the sixty lamps she will have. She will be flush decked and schooner rigged.

COL. GIBSON'S ADDRESS.

With Faces to the Enemy, Liberals Will Not Be Hounded Out of Office—Stands By Leader.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Hon. Colonel Gibson concluded his address to the Legislature yesterday, speaking for an hour, and finishing with an eloquent declaration of his determination to stand by his leader, and of the Government's intention to continue in the trust imposed upon them, and if they had to retire, to do so with their faces to the enemy, not as cowards and traitors to their party. The Conservatives, moreover, would possibly find that the tide would turn, the Government's ill-luck would change, and the Opposition, after being so near to their desired haven, find themselves still farther away. He also explained that the Government was not in a position to cancel the charter of the Toronto Junction Recreation Club. If illegal practices were proved the Government was not constituted for trying informations for breaches of the law. The courts were for that purpose. Mr. St. John followed Colonel Gibson, and spoke for an hour and a half before moving the adjournment. He criticized Premier Ross for not appearing in the witness box in the Gamey case, and Mr. Ross interrupted to make a statement on the subject, explaining his course. He had been ready to attend the court at any moment if called upon. Mr. St. John then took up the action of Hon. E. J. Davis regarding his resignation, and drew from the Commissioner a full explanation. The House rose shortly before 6. Mr. M. G. Cameron, West Huron, is expected to follow Mr. St. John, and Mr. A. A. Mahaffy, Muskoka, will probably follow him.

THE NEW TAX BILL

The New Assessment Bill Has Radical Provisions.

AFTER THE BIG COMPANIES

Graduated Business Tax Provided For—Assess Telephone and Telegraph Companies on Gross Receipts—Will Increase Railway Taxes—Special Bill to Be Brought In For This Purpose By Committee.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—The Select Committee on Municipal Taxation met yesterday morning in the Private Bills Committee room. Attorney-General Gibson presiding, and there were present also Hon. F. R. Latchford, J. J. Foy, K.C., John Lee, W. H. Hoyle, A. G. McKay, K.C. B. Powell and Denis Murphy. The committee sat over two hours and went through the clauses proposed to be added to the assessment bill.

Machinery Exemption.

Mr. Gibson thought it desirable to amplify the definition of machinery, and where there was likely to be litigation he was willing to put in additional clauses to show just what was meant. It seemed unfair to Toronto and such cities to exempt what would amount to such a large interest in their taxation, and it must be settled whether machinery for distributing electric power, light, and so forth, should be classed with ordinary machinery. Mr. Gibson suggested that for the present machinery be left undefined, with the suggestion that the companies be exempted for the purposes of the business tax.

The Business Tax.

The new business tax which is to take the place of the income tax engaged the attention of the committee during the greater part of the sitting. The business tax is irrespective of any assessment of land under the act, and is additional to real estate assessment. It is proposed to assess distillers 125 per cent. of their real estate value, and Mr. Gibson remarked that they would come off rather better at that rate than at present. The brewers will be assessed for the business tax at a sum equal to their ordinary assessed value, 100 per cent.; bankers, real estate men, etc., 75 per cent. In the case of departmental stores and retail stores having five or more separate branches of business, and where the assessed value is over $20,000 (this provision relieving the smaller enterprises) the business tax will be incident on 50 per cent. of the assessed value.

Professional Men Must Pay.

Professional men, solicitors, doctors, dentists, veterinary surgeons, etc., will be taxed on 50 per cent. of their assessed value. Mr. Gibson said that medical men would pay a much larger amount than they have hitherto done and this applies also to lawyers. A doctor having a house would be assessed on that property and not on the office he might occupy. Mr. Gibson thought a man's house was a pretty good index of his income, and it was to be remembered that the tax was an alternative for the income tax.

"It may be we are putting it a little 'do severely for some of the professions," he said, "but I would suggest letting it stand in the meantime There will be discussion in the papers and deputations will be heard and the House may insist upon coming down to the 25 per cent. basis. The doctors are paying less now than they ought."

Theatres 25 Per Cent.

Theatres, music halls, hotels, restaurants and telegraph, telephone, steam, gas, water and other public utility companies will be assessed on a 25 per cent. basis. No person will be assessed under more than one clause, and where he may have more than one interest he will be assessed on that which will yield the highest amount of assessment.

Mr. Gibson thought it would be illusory to attempt to get the business tax from certain carriers, such as local steamers, or from manufacturers' agents, who worked from samples. These should be taxed on income, and everyone not assessed under the clause would fall under the income tax.

Illustration of Double Tax.

Considerable discussion occurred on the question whether a merchant or manufacturer who drew a salary as manager or secretary of a company would be assessable as to his position and also on the income he might derive as a shareholder. It might be argued that this was the plainest possible illustration of the double tax. It was difficult to draw the line and no one, said Mr. Gibson, would dream of exempting shareholders in banks.

As the bill stands it renders persons of the class alluded to liable to the double taxation. Mr. Hoyle wished to sleep on the proposal and it remains for consideration.

Telephones on Gross Receipts.

Telegraph and telephone companies are to be assessed at a percentage to be determined on their gross receipts, and in every township at the rate of $200 for every mile of wire and of $7.50 for every newly-strung mile of wire, returns of gross income and wire mileage to be made by the companies in writing in each township and city up to Dec. 31 in each year. Mr. Gibson thought that the annoying, nagging and distressing sources of quarrelling between corporations and municipalities would be removed by this provision. Mr. Hoyle was in favor of an automatic principle and would not meddle with receipts at all.

The Steam Railways.

Mr. Gibson explained that the bill provides for leaving out the provincial board. It makes provision for taxing steam railways when running along roads and streets of municipalities, the intention being that a substantial—a very substantial—addition to the taxation of railways should take place during the present session.

Later on Mr. Gibson said that there would be a very large addition to the burdens of the railways. It was stated in this connection that the Michigan taxes on the G. T. R. tunnel are greater than the Canadian assessment.

There is a change in the bill as provided by the commission as regards the sale of lands by the sheriff, the bill going back to the old law.

Not a minute should shows symptoms of cr Cough Remedy given as comes hoarse, or even af appears will prevent the and is pleasant and safe to

NEGOTIATIONS DEADLOCKED.

London, Jan. 27.—The St. Petersburg despatches are conflicting, some saying that negotiations are deadlocked, others that Russia's reply will be ready to-day or Thursday.

The Daily Graphic correspondent at Sebastopol claims indisputable authority to assert that Russia three weeks ago asked permission for warships to pass the Dardanelles, which permission Turkey refused.

Despatches from both Tokio and Pekin agree, however, that as a result of China's efforts to secure mediation France has agreed to use her good offices, in conjunction with Great Britain and the United States, to arrange a modus vivendi between Russia and Japan. Further, the French Minister at Pekin has intimated to Prince Ching his belief that if such mediation was successful the three powers in question could assist China in coming to an equitable agreement with Russia regarding Manchuria. Both British and American Ministers at Pekin are agreed, however, according to the despatches from Pekin, that such mediation is impossible, as neither of the powers concerned had invited mediation publicly.

According to The Times' correspondent at Pekin Prince Ching admits that the suggestion to invite the mediation of the powers came from the Russian Minister.

Advices to The Telegraph from St. Petersburg say that Russia's reply to Japan's latest note has already been drawn up. He reports also renewed depression on the Bourse as a result of pessimistic feeling.

Tax For New Army.

Pekin, Jan. 27.—An Imperial edict relating to the raising of the funds necessary for the new army plans was published yesterday. It orders the taxation of wines and tobacco, decrees that all official perquisites shall be applied to the army funds, enjoins the reduction of the expenses of the Imperial household, orders the public works department to stop all unimportant work and appeals to officials and merchants to contribute, promising to reward the contributors. Officials everywhere are exhorted to show loyalty in supporting the Government. In conclusion the edict threatens punishment for those who obstruct the execution of the plans.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of, that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

NEW BUILDING FOR THE Y. W. C. A.

The Question was Again Brought up Last Night.

Every Indication of Such Being Constructed—Its Needs are Badly Felt.

There is every indication at present of a new Y.W.C.A. building for the Peterborough branch of the Association and it is something very gratifying to know that at last action has been taken in the matter, the need of which has been sorely felt, and which has been so frequently agitated by correspondents to the local press. The good work of the Association generally and the local branch especially, is readily recognized as has also been the fact that such work has been retarded to a marked degree, by the inadequacies of the present building. The membership is continually increasing, at least steadily if not in leaps and bounds, and this augumentation has perhaps brought the matter of a new building to light recently. The Advisory Board of the Association last night met a Committee of the Directors and the matter was earnestly discussed. Everyone present agreed that a new building was an absolute necessity, as since the fire in the Henthorne Block, the Y.W.C.A. had been notified to the effect that the rooms on the street on the first floor were going to be converted into a store of which Mrs. Darnley would be the occupant. Temporarily the rooms above those at present occupied will be used, but, it is emphatically stated that this could not be permanent.

The proposal of a new building has been held in mind for some time and repeatedly brought up, only however to be laid aside for another occasion. Since the fire, however, the matter has been entered into with visibly increased vim, and, if a perdiction is permitted, it will not be long before a building convenient in all its requirements, and favourably situated, will be constructed. Again, that such a building is needed is recognized in the fact that Hon. Senator George A. Cox. has offered to donate a cheque amounting to one quarter of the entire cost of the building, while Mrs. (Hon.) Geo. A. Cox has also offered to furnish the gymnasium. These alone should inspire the Y.W.C.A. management. At last night's meeting more or less immediate steps were taken in the matter by the secretary of the Board being invited to find out the cost of a suitable building such as those at Brantford, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton. When such information is obtained the matter will be brought up at the annual meeting of the association, which will be held in the course of the next few weeks.

The greatest inconvenience is in the boarding house and general rooms being apart, as they are to-day, the former being on Brock street and the latter on George street. The work being thus divided up between two places cannot be done as satisfactorily as if the boarding house and general rooms were all in one building. There is no doubt regarding the sentiment of the general public, who, it is known, hope the matter will be pushed to a final point and a satisfactory building constructed.

The weather man was responsib[le] for a good many disappointed peop[le] last night. At 7.30 there were several hundr[ed] people waiting to be admitted to t[he] rink and at eight o'clock the[y] were in the rink waiting f[or] the arrival of the Picton team. Sho[rt]ly before eight o'clock the telepho[ne] was brought into requisition and t[he] manager of the Picton team at Po[rt] Hope communicated with. He i[n]formed the local secretary that t[he] team would be here at 9 o'clo[ck] and would go right on the ice. La[ter] advices, however, gave the inform[a]tion that it was uncertain when [the] train would leave Port Hope, a[nd] more uncertain still when it wo[uld] arrive here. Mr. Hewitt, secret[ary] of the O.H.A. was communica[ted] with, and he instructed that [the] game be played off to-night, in v[iew] of the fact that it would be very l[ate] when the team would arrive.

As soon as this decision was r[e]ived at, it was communicated [to] the crowd gathered at the rink, w[ho] took the matter philosophically. [Tickets] were given back either tickets [or] money as they preferred, and th[e] gathered good naturedly accepted [the] situation.

The game will be played to-nig[ht] commencing sharp at 8.15, when b[oth] teams will be in splendid condit[ion] and prepared to put up a good ga[me]. The games for the Shepherd-N[eil] curling trophy were played off yes[ter]day at both Peterboroughs and O[ri]lia, each town being represented [by] eight rinks. In Orillia the Pet[er]borough curlers were beaten by [two] shots, the scores being 58 to 66, w[hile] the Orillia men were defeated [in] by 42 points, the scores being 44[0] to 86. TRAINS BLOCKED BY HEAVY STORMS.

Railroad Traffic was Largely Impeded by Snow.

Especially Severe Weather Experienced in Western Ontario—The East was Clearer.

Yesterday's storm was the worst that has visited Peterborough for some winters, but the snowfall was much heavier to the west of this point. A steady fall occurred all day yesterday, having begun on Monday night, and continuing with increasing energy until eight o'clock last night. The trains were very badly crippled. The noon train on the G.T.R. due here at 11.45 did not arrive until 3 o'clock, while the 2 p.m. Belleville train was cancelled altogether. The train which conveyed the Picton hockey team, and which was due to arrive at Peterborough at 5.33 p.m., was six hours late, not arriving until 11.30 p.m.

The C. P. R. service was also broken up, all trains being up to nearly two hours behind their scheduled time. The 5.10 train from the east yesterday was two hours late, while the local from Toronto due to arrive here at 7.30 o'clock did not draw up until an hour later. The midnight was on time but the 5.10 a. m. train from Montreal this morning was three and a half hours late.

A strong northerly wind caused the snow to drift so as to completely barricade the country roads, while the streets in the less frequented parts of the town are all in bad shape, making walking very tedious and disagreeable.

The storm was experienced all over Ontario, Quebec, and a considerable portion of the United States. Telegraphic despatches state that the storm originated in the North-western States, proceeding first south-east to Louisiana and thence north-east up the Mississippi Valley, being centred yesterday over Ohio. Low temperatures prevail throughout Canada. The minimum in Toronto yesterday was 5 degrees below zero, in Winnipeg 40 below, Minnedosa, in Manitoba, 42 below, Port Arthur 30 below, White River, Ont., 32 below, Bissett, in the Ottawa Valley, 40 below, Ottawa, 6 below, Peterborough 13 below, and Montreal 4 below.

In Toronto the street car service was in a bad way all day yesterday, and at times, so persistent was the fall of snow, and the drifting so violent that it looked as if the whole system would be tied up, and it was only by the more concentrated efforts on the more central lines that the cars were continued.

No trains passed through Berlin yesterday morning, while London experienced the worst storm in thirty years, and a wreck on the G. T.R. there yesterday morning, increased the blockade on that line. Stratford was shut off from the surrounding towns. At St. Thomas the storm was very bad, and should the present conditions of things continue a coal famine is feared.

All over the province generally comes news of crippled train service and other inconveniences through yesterday's bad weather.

To-day was much brighter and quite a surprise after yesterday. The trains were late, the 11.45 G.T.R. express not arriving until 2.30 this afternoon, and the 11.25 C.P.R. train from the west being 20 minutes overdue.

PLEASING ANNUAL MEMBERS' TEA

Y. W. C. A. Members Spend a Pleasant Evening Together.

A Programme of Music and Games—Some Features of the Evening.

The annual tea for the members of the Young Women's Christian Association took place last evening at the Association Rooms, on George street, when a most enjoyable evening was spent by a large number of the members, together with a number of representatives from the Board of Directors and the Advisory Board.

The reading room and hall on the ground floor were by the aid of rugs, screens, cushions, palms, etc., transferred into a most inviting parlour, while the gymnasium in the rear contained the long T-shaped tables daintily arranged and presenting a most tempting appearance.

After the good things provided had been done ample justice too, the guests repaired to the parlour where, under the direction of the secretary, Miss Lough, assisted by Mrs. G. H. Williamson, the evening passed pleasantly with games and music. Much of the credit for the success of the tea is due to the Secretary, Miss Lough, and the members and ladies of the Board, who so kindly assisted.

The association also desires to thank the following business firms who rendered assistance in various ways:—F. Mason, R. Fair & Co., J. C. Turnbull & Co., R. Hall & Son, A. Comstock, A. H. Stratton & Co., J. Craig, the Charlotte street church, and the Y.M.C.A.

The weather man was responsible for a good many disappointed people last night. The Picton hockey team which should have reached Peterborough at 5.33 in the afternoon, was stalled at Port Hope, and did not reach here until 11.30, at which hour of course it was too late to play the game.

At 7.30 there were several hundred people waiting to be admitted to the rink and at eight o'clock these packed in the rink waiting for the arrival of the Picton team. Shortly before eight o'clock the telephone was brought into requisition and the manager of the Picton team at Port Hope communicated with. He informed the local secretary that the team would be here at 9 o'clock, and would go right on the ice. Later advices, however, gave the information that it was uncertain when the train would leave Port Hope, and more uncertain still when it would arrive here. Mr. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A. was communicated with, and he instructed that the game be played off to-night, in view of the fact that it would be very late when the team would arrive.

As soon as this decision was arrived at, it was communicated to the crowd gathered at the rink, who took the matter philosophically. All were given back either tickets or money as they preferred, and those gathered good naturedly accepted the situation.

The game will be played to-night, commencing sharp at 8.15, when both teams will be in splendid condition and prepared to put up a good game. The Picton team is a very likely looking bunch and the prospects for a close contest are excellent. The local team will be the same as that which figured in the Belleville game last Friday. Chaucer Elliott accompanied the Picton team and was a partner in their difficulties. He will referee the game to-night.

THE PETERBOROUGH II AND T. A S. FRIDAY.

Both Teams are Preparing for a Fast Game.

On Friday night, Jan. 29th, the T. A.S. and Peterborough II teams will meet for the second and probably the last time this season, and the game promises to be one of the most interesting seen here this season. Both teams have been practising since the last game, and both are anticipating a harder contest on Friday night, than was experienced the last time they met.

"WHAT WE HAVE WE WILL HOLD,"

Say the Peterborough Curlers—They Defeated Orillia and Kept the Cup.

The games for the Shepherd-Neill curling trophy were played off yesterday at both Peterboroughs and Orillia, each town being represented by eight rinks. In Orillia the Peterborough curlers were beaten by 8 shots, the scores being 58 to 66, while the Orillia men were defeated here by 42 points, the scores being 44 to 86. Thus Peterborough still holds the cup, winning out by a total score of 34 points.

The games created very great interest in both towns and in Peterborough were witnessed by a large crowd of curling enthusiasts. The cup is a handsome silver one, mounted on an ebony base and standing over four feet in height, and was donated by Mr. Shepherd of Orillia, and Mr. R. Neill, of Peterborough for competition between representatives from the curling clubs of both those towns. Those who played were as follows:

A WINTER CROSS COUNTRY RACE.

Belland and Burns Matched to Race 5 Miles on Feb. 6th.

Last night at the Examiner office C. J. Burns and Dave Belland signed articles to run a cross country race on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 6th, the course to be from the Oriental Hotel to Downer's Corners and return.

A medal will be put up, to be given to the winner. The course is about 5 miles, and the event will doubtless create considerable interest among local sports.

CURLING.

The following are the scheduled games for to-night:

Ice No 1.—T. Rutherford vs. Clegg.
Ice No. 2.—Brown vs. C. Rutherford.
Ice No. 3.—Greer vs. Edwards.
Ice No. 4.—Hay vs. Knapman.
Ice No. 5.—Morrow vs. Thompson.

PUCKERINGS.

The Young Crescents do hereby challenge the St. Andrew's Junior Guild team to a game of hockey to be played as soon as possible. Average 14 years of age; the game to be played on the latter's ice.

• • • •

In the Trent Valley League to-night Lakefield and Keene meet at Lakefield and the game will probably be refereed by "Billy" Meagher, of Town.

• • • •

Trenton and Brighton play at the latter town in the Trent Valley League this evening.

• • • •

The officers of the 57th Regiment will give a smoker to-night to the Peterborough and Picton hockey teams. Major Boulter, of Picton, made himself most agreeable to the 57th on the occasion of their visit to Picton on July 1st, and the smoker will serve as a pleasant reminder of the event.

• • • •

Mr. Jack Hynes will referee the T. A. S.-Peterborough game on Friday night.

In response to certain statements on the part of the management of the C. D. A. which appeared in Monday's Examiner, the Eko Camp management stated to-day that they were all bravado on the part of the C.D.A. pure and simple, and in answer to the allegation that they have always shown the "white feather," which they themselves deem a malicious slander and totally unworthy of being credited to such a source as the C. D. A., have handed the following team for publication: Goal, W. R. G. Higgins; point, Richard Watt; cover point, Jack Comstock; rover, Roland Glover; centre, Jack Watt; right wing, Fred Clarke; left wing, R. H. Elliott, captain, R. Henderson; mascot, W. Cavanah; manager, Wm. Comstock; refreshment committee, M. Comstock, Jos. Gibson, Geo. Jackson, R. Matchett and R. Cottrell; time keeper, Herbert Gillespie; goal umpire, Alfred Smith.

• • • •

The Grasshopper Club, recently organized, will meet to-night at Hooper's on the corner of Brock and George streets, to attend the hockey match.

• • • •

The T. A. S. is expecting a good stiff game with Lakefield on Monday next. The team from the Northern town feel pretty sore over their defeat by Keene and will do all in their power to take a fall out of the T. A.S. when they meet on Monday.

NOTABLE BETROTHAL.

The Duke of Norfolk, Premier Duke of England, Will Wed With Daughter of Lord Herries During February.

Much interest attaches to the engagement of the Duke of Norfolk, who will lead the Hon. Gwendolen Constable-Maxwell, eldest daughter of Lord Herries, to the altar sometime in February next.

The Duke of Norfolk is premier Duke and Earl of the Realm and Hereditary Earl Marshal and Chief Butler of England. He goes back to 1468 for his first noble ancestor, Sir John Howard, who was said to be the wisest and most honest of all the counsellors of Henry VI. The Duke is Chief Layman of the Roman Catholic Church, his family never having departed from the ancient faith. The Duke was born in 1847—so is just 56 years of age. He has been married before, his first wife being Lady Barbara Abney-Hastings, who died in 1887. By her he had one child, a son, born in 1879, but since dead, leaving him without issue.

The Hon. Gwendolen Constable-Maxwell is of as blue blood as the Duke of Norfolk, her great ancestor, Herbert Herries, being summoned to the Parliament of Scotland as Baron

THE HON. GWENDOLEN MARY MAXWELL.

Herries in 1489. She is direct heiress to the Scottish peerage. Like her husband that is to be, she is a Roman Catholic, all her forbears being of that faith, "making it their boast that, ever true to their Sovereign, they have never forsworn their Church." On her mother's side she is related by blood to her prospective bridegroom, for she is directly descended from Lord Edward Fitzalan-Howard, second son of the 13th Duke of Norfolk, who was born in 1818. The Hon. Gwendolen was born in January, 1877, so is not quite 27 years of age.

The Diana of Scotland.

Lady Constance MacKenzie, who is famous as the Diana of Scotland, has been having a time just to her liking in the West. With a party of friends she has been hunting, fishing, exploring and roughing it. Lady Constance is as much at home as the thoroughly seasoned cowboy in the saddle, and a gallop across the plains before breakfast each morning is one of her delights. A favorite form of sport with Lady Constance is coyote hunting. Few sports are so hazardous as hunting and chasing the coyote, and not many women of the west and southwest are daring enough to undertake it. Lady Constance wears corduroys and sweaters and, of course, divided skirts, as she rides astride. It is reported that Lady "Connie" is to be married soon and that this trip was intended as a sort of final fling of maiden independence.

Love at First Sight.

Everybody has heard about Dean Hole and his roses. He has just been telling "V.C." how he came to take up the hobby. "When I was a young man at Oxford," he says, "I was sitting in a garden one evening, smoking a cigar, when my attention was attracted by a beautiful shining object that gleamed against the green. I got up to satisfy my curiosity, and found, to my surprise, that it was a rose lit up by the rays of sunset. My heart was filled with affection for the lovely flower. It was a case of love at first sight. And from that day till this I have loved roses. I began rose culture with 12 trees in the vicarage garden of a little village in Nottinghamshire—I have always had a large garden—and I have ended with 5,000!"

Sunlight Soap is recommended, by those who have investigated the different kind of soaps, as being the best and purest on the market. Those who have gone still farther and tried the different methods state that the Sunlight way of washing is greatly superior to ordinary methods because it requires much less work and makes the clothes whiter and cleaner. Because Sunlight Soap is quite pure and free from adulteration it will not injure delicate fabrics or the user's hands.

THE HONEY BADGER.

He Is a Tough Beast and Is Exceedingly Hard to Kill.

Badgers belong to the great weasel tribe, although they are also allied, as many people know, to the bears. Among their more or less distinguished relatives may be named the wolverene, otter, skunk and marten. In Africa and India, says a writer in Longman's Magazine, are to be found the curious ratels, a remarkable branch of the family, distinguished by their extraordinary fondness for honey. To obtain this luxury they spend most of their time hunting for the nests of wild bees.

They are absolutely oblivious, as are English badgers, of the stings of the infuriated bees, their tough, thick and loose coats protecting them from any serious injury. Ratels are strong and very courageous beasts. The Boers of South Africa hold them in high respect, as do the natives, and assert that a pair of these beasts will occasionally attack a human being. I have heard of men being treed by these animals, but whether the tale was true or false I am uncertain. What is certain is that the ratel, or honey badger, of South Africa is a beast extremely difficult to kill by reason of his tough constitution, good defensive powers and extraordinarily loose coat and that he is when meddled with or put out a beast of very high courage and unpleasant manners.

EVERYDAY AILMENTS.

If your health is impaired in any way, however slight, this article should interest you. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that most of the ailments from which men and women of the present day suffer are due to weak, watery blood, or disorders of the nerve forces. In your case the trouble may only be making a start—showing itself in a tired feeling, a derangement of the digestion, perhaps an occasional headache or a feeling of nervousness. These symptoms are too often followed by a complete breakdown of the health. In such cases there is no medicine which will bring back health and strength as quickly as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thousands of weak and weary men and women owe their present good health and increased vitality to this medicine. These pills make new, rich red blood, and restore shattered nerves. This is the whole secret of the wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Here is a bit of strong proof. Mrs. W. J. Clark, sr., Boston, Ont., says:—"I suffered a great deal from a complication of troubles; rheumatism, liver trouble and pains about the heart all adding to my misery. A thorough use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and now at the age of fifty-two all aches and pains have left me and I am enjoying the best of health."

This is the verdict of all who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. But you must get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box. If in doubt send direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

England's First Railroad.

The traveling on the first railroad in England was not very comfortable undoubtedly. The coaches were at first only coupled with chains, as wagons are now, so that they jerked the unfortunate passengers nearly off their seats at starting and clashed violently against each other when the driver put on his brake. When fairly in motion, if the speed was any but the slowest, the very short wheel base produced a pitching action so trying that if the journey had not been a short one it would have seriously affected the popularity of the railway as a means of passenger transit.

Definition of Greatness.

"Don't you sometimes think you would be a greater man if you were to cultivate the art of oratory?"

"I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum. "A great man, as you know, is one who gets mentioned in the schoolbooks after he is dead instead of the financial columns of the newspapers while he is living."

In No Danger.

Aunt Jane—Helen, I saw that young man kiss you last evening.

Helen—I don't think you need to complain, auntie. I don't think he would have given the kiss to you if you had been there instead of me.

WORSHIPED AS A GOD.

An English General Who Was Deified by East Indians.

John Nicholson, British colonel and brigadier general, was once worshiped as a god. He was the eldest son of Alexander Nicholson, a physician of Dublin. This gallant soldier distinguished himself in the Punjab campaign of 1848-49, when he was appointed a deputy commissioner of the annexed Punjab under Sir Henry Lawrence. At Bannn, dealing wisely with an ignorant and bloodthirsty people, he evolved in the course of five years such order and respect for law that murder and highway robbery, previously so rife, were unknown in the district.

He so impressed his powerful personality on the natives that he became to them a demigod, and in Hazara a brotherhood of fakirs in 1848 instituted a religious cult for the worship of "Nikal-Seyn," which continued to flourish in spite of Nicholson's efforts to suppress it even by punishment.

At a moment of victory during the siege of Delhi in 1857 this hero fell mortally wounded in the street while leading his men. He died a few days later on the 23d of September, 1857, and was buried in front of the Kashmir gate.

AN OLD SUPERSTITION.

The Practice of Consulting Scripture as a Book of Fate.

The practice of consulting Scripture as a book of fate was generally condemned by the church. A council at Vannes pronounced against it in 461 A. D. So did one at Agde in 506 and one at Auxerre in 585. Charles the Great forbade it in his capitularies, and so did Pope Gregory II. Nevertheless curiosity as to the future was so strong in men's minds that the custom continued.

An odd circumstance is that the cathedral chapter at Orleans in 1146 appealed to a prognostic of this sort in a supplication addressed by them to Pope Alexander III. against their bishop. At his consecration, when the gospel was opened above his head, the finger of the deacon rested upon the words, "And he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked." This was a token that the bishop Elias was to be turned out of his see.

The practice of observing the book when opened over the head of a prelate at his consecration was very common. It was thought that a sure augury could thence be drawn as to what sort of a bishop he would prove.—Chambers' Journal.

The Saracens and the Moon.

The Saracens called the moon Cabar the Great, and the crescent still surmounts the Turkish mosques and is emblazoned on the green standard of the prophet. Schlegal mentions a story that Mohammed "wished to pass with his disciples as a person transfigured in a supernatural light and that the credulity of his followers saw the moon, or the moon's light, descend upon him, pierce his garments and replenish him.

"That veneration for the moon which still forms a national, or, rather, religious, characteristic of the Mohammedans may perhaps have its foundation in the elder superstition or pagan idolatry of the Arabs."

Not His Fault.

A doctor was summoned to attend the miller's little boy. He wrote out a prescription, which was promptly made up and administered in due form. The next day he called again to see his patient and found the whole family in tears.

"Alas!" said the mother, "I shouldn't have thought that my poor child would have died of the measles."

"What!" exclaimed the doctor. "He had the measles, and you never told me?"

ANTS KIDNAP THEIR FOES.

Raid Neighboring Villages and Carry Off Many Prisoners.

Dr. H. C. McCook tells of a species of kidnaping ants which make organised attacks on other ant villages for the purpose of capturing slaves. Here is an account of the attack:

"At last the muster is complete. Mysteriously, but effectively, the signal 'Forward!' is given, and the column moves from the hill. There is no regular alignment, but a show of solidarity, a holding of the ranks within close compass and touch—a 'rout step,' in fact. There is no general; there are no subordinate officers, but such is the sympathetic unity that they seem to move in response to one will and command. If every warrior is a law unto himself the law so binds and animates and compels all alike that the ends of an organised cohort are served.

"Assault, battle and pillage follow quickly upon the sortie. The objective point of the march is not far away. A hundred yards distant is a Fusean village. The route thereto lies across the edge of a grove, over a footpath, along a fallen tree, under whose shelter and shaded by tufts of grass is the devoted commune. It is feeble in numbers, and there is a bare show of defense as the freebooters burl themselves upon the hill and plunge into the open gates. The villagers flee at the first onset through unassailed or secret passages. Some run the gantlet through the assailing ranks. All who can carry a part of the family treasures—eggs, larvæ and pupæ. Like their Brobdingnagian brothers of the human race, when disaster befalls their first care is for their offspring. The fugitives mount into nearby clumps of low wood plants, whence they look down upon the devastation of their homes—with what feelings? For one must suppose that the midgets do feel, though sometimes he would fain hope otherwise.

"Meanwhile the invaders issue from the gates, bearing in their jaws the Fuscan young and occasionally an adult. They take the home trail, but not in ordered ranks. It is go as you please now. They are welcomed back by their black confederates, who receive the captives and take them—their very own sisters perhaps—into the domestic quarters. The soldiers burry back to the scene of action, for their work is not yet finished."—Harper's Magazine.

It is the Poison That Causes Pain

The Poisonous Waste Matter is Removed by the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels When These are Kept Healthy by

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The kidneys, liver and bowels are known as excretory organs, because it is their mission to cast out of the body the poisonous waste material, which would otherwise poison the system, cause pains and aches and give rise to deadly disease.

Because of their direct and specific action on each of these organs, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are wonderfully successful in overcoming pain and in thoroughly eradicating from the system the very cause of serious and painful ailments.

Once the bowels are regular and the kidneys and liver active in filtering the waste material from the blood good health and proper working of the bodily organs are assured. It seems useless to experiment with new-fangled medicines, which are only intended to afford relief, when you can be thoroughly cured and the cause of your troubles removed by Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomachic troubles and terrible headaches, and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with most satisfactory results as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 8

SIGNALS AND SIGNS.

HOW CANADIAN INDIANS COMMUNICATED WITH ONE ANOTHER.

Began to Pass With the Middle of the 19th Century—Smoke, Fire and Other Symbols the Means by Which the Aborigines Conveyed Information to Friends and Allies—Long Distances Covered.

Previous to the advent of civilizing influences Canadian Indians had an elaborate system of signals, some of a friendly character, but the majority having reference to war. As time has passed many of his signs and signals have become lost and the present generation, with few exceptions, have little or no knowledge of them as they were practiced until the middle of the nineteenth century.

The "smoke" signals were probably the most universal and best known. Many of the early settlers, who located far from the confines of civilization, were fully competent to read and interpret the most of them. "Fire" signals were also quite commonly employed, especially by tribes inhabiting a mountainous country. Signals by means of the branches of trees, arrows, stone, and sticks were less frequently used, though they were by no means rare. Their interpretation varied considerably, so much so that few whites ever thoroughly understood them. Many were in reality purely local and pertained particularly to the tribe using them. This was not true of the "smoke" and "fire" signals. These, with possibly a few others, were understood generally by all tribes of Indians.

The Smoke Signal.

"Smoke" signals were made by means of a small fire, built of some material that would cause a quantity of smoke, with very little active combustion. The highest accessible butte or mountain was selected from which to send either these or "fire" signals. The commonly accepted statement that rings of smoke were caused to ascend is wrong. Properly speaking they were not rings, but rather puffs or balls of smoke. Occasionally, on still days, a column of smoke was allowed to ascend. Primarily it was not a signal, but used principally to attract attention.

The ball of smoke was produced by covering, momentarily, a small fire, using a buffalo, elk, or deer hide, or in later days a blanket, removing the covering, permitting a puff of smoke to escape and immediately recovering the fire. In this manner quite a variety of signals could be produced. One puff of smoke at comparatively long intervals meant "an enemy is near." Two puffs indicated "a camp here." Three puffs, quite near together, with a longer interval between each set of three denoted "great danger" or "attacked by enemy." Four puffs, in pairs, with an appreciable interval between the two pairs, signified "large band of enemy, help wanted."

Some tribes varied this method of signaling by building the number of separate "smokes," as they were called, required to express their meaning, as one, two or three. Such signals could be readily distinguished at from 10 to 30 miles and they were seldom confounded with camp fires. The lookout or scout that was a necessary adjunct of every war party, especially when in a hostile neighborhood, rarely failed to see and report all signals occurring within the limit of his vision.

The Fire by Night.

"Fire" signals were used for the same purpose at night and with from one to four bright fires in line, the same meanings were expressed as during daylight. In the vicinity of the section of country claimed as home, or where the larger number spent the winter months, there was unusually some high butte or mountain called "signal hill." From this eminence fire signals were always made and any event of importance was quickly communicated to the people. Signals from this hill were almost invariably made by order of the chief, and their principal use was in calling the people together for a council meeting, a dance, or a feast. The Indian from whom this information was obtained stated that many of the more experienced among the old people could readily distinguish if it was to be a war, scalp, or sun dance.

The same system of signaling was used at night by means of "fire arrows;" though they could not be seen at so great a distance as the smoke or fire signals, yet a clever operator could make his wishes known without difficulty. One, two or three fire arrows had the same significance as an equal number of "smokes" or "fire" signals, with the addition that a number of arrows shot rapidly into the air conveyed the information that they were greatly outnumbered and that help was imperatively required. The Indians made these arrows very ingeniously by wrapping the head of the shaft in a variety of slow burning, soft bark, which made quite a bright flame and lasted some length of time. In replying to any of these signals it was the custom to make the same signal as had been received. In times of war no answer was ever returned for obvious reasons, but if possible the requested aid was despatched as soon as it could conveniently be done.

The Tunnel Stone.

In mountainous districts signals, or, more properly speaking, signs, were made by the use of stones. A band of Indians traveling and wishing or expecting others to follow would frequently turn over stones, selecting those possessing a comparatively rounded base, with the other extremity as sharply pointed as possible, placing the point in the direction they were traveling. By this simple procedure they easily and surely marked the course taken by any who might encounter these signs. If they had found and were following the buffalo, three small stones were placed on the surface of that which had been overturned. Two small stones indicated that they were following a party of the enemy, while but one small stone in a similar position was given the same interpretation, with the addition that they required assistance. A number of small sticks stuck in the ground near the large stone indicated the number in the party, and a stick split in halves was used by at least one tribe to express the number 10. As an illustration, an instance is recalled that occurred a number of years since. A party of white men, on a hunting trip, met an Indian. Inquiry was made as to the probability of finding antelope at a butte distant some sixty miles. He confidently replied in the affirmative, and upon being questioned as to his reasons for supposing game existed there, answered that he had just seen an Indian sign so stating, and at a little distance he showed a pointed rock, weighing probably twenty pounds, with the point directly toward the butte in question. It was quite evident that it had been recently turned over, and three small pebbles were lying on its surface, with nine short sticks fixed in the earth by its side. The information conveyed to the Indian by this sign was subsequently found to have been correct.

Boughs, Branches and Twigs.

Information corresponding to the above was also given by means of the boughs of trees. A large, low-hanging branch was partially broken off, turned horizontally and fixed with the top pointing in the direction taken by the travelers. One, two, or three of its smaller branches, when broken so as to hang perpendicular, had meanings identical with the small stones. Signs made in this manner were quite commonly employed by the tribes inhabiting a heavily timbered country, especially the sign denoting the finding of game. The green boughs of trees were also almost universally regarded as emblems of peace. A party approaching a hostile camp bearing these tokens were received with all the honors of war. When their errand was finished, whether successful or not, they were given safe conduct out of the camp of their enemies. Many years ago a young brave, overcome by hot blood and personal enmity toward one member of a party who were seeking to bury the tomahawk under this aboriginal flag of truce, wantonly shot an arrow through the heart of his enemy. His tribe was so incensed at this cruel breach of Indian etiquette that he was completely ostracized, eventually banished, and is to-day an adopted member of another and totally distinct band of Indians.

A number of other signals and signs were in everyday use in the happy, halcyon, palmy days of the red man, the days before he was confined to certain metes and bounds by advancing civilization. Many of these survive even to-day. The sticks against the lodge door, indicating "no one at home;" one or more red willow sticks fixed in the ground near the door, denoting the number of "sleeps" that will elapse before the owner returns; the tops of the sticks denuded of bark for a short distance, implying that some member of the family is ill; the flying "medicine flag," giving evidence of sickness, are all familiar examples of the minor signals of the present.

The Department of Fisheries at Ottawa has received the official returns of the salmon pack of British Columbia for 1903. The figures show the smallest grand total in the history of salmon packing since 1892. The total for the whole province, including the Fraser River and all northern British Columbia points, is 473,547 cases. The varieties put up were as follows: Sockeyes, 368,709 cases; red and white springs, 25,538 cases; humpbacks, 25,735 cases; cohoes, 53,570 cases. Total, 473,547 cases.

In 1892 the total pack was only 228,470 cases. At that time there were only 11 canneries on the Fraser River, and 16 in Northern British Columbia waters, making a total of 27 canneries. Since then the development of the cannery establishments has been very great, so that in 1903, despite the fact that a number of canneries were closed down, there were in operation on the Fraser River alone 35 canneries, while in Northern British Columbia waters there were 25 canneries which put up a pack. This makes a total of 60 canneries in operation in British Columbia this year, or more than double the number in 1892.

1896	601,570
1897	1,015,477
1898	484,161
1899	782,479
1900	585,413
1901	1,236,150
1902	625,982

What Do People Read?

Every roadside fence is now a primer for the passerby, every trolley car is a first reader to the traveler and every boarding a treatise on zoology, manufactures and social problems. Today most read a little, if only the signs and posters; some read newspapers—probably 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 of the 40,000,000 who could read them if they would. A few read novels. If the most popular novel finds only 1,000,000 buyers in a country where 40,000,000 could read it if they would, who can say that novel readers are more than a few? A very few, possibly 2,000,000 to 3,000,000, read standard literature and serious contributions to thought and knowledge. Surely the procession of readers grows larger every year, relatively as well as absolutely.—Outlook.

Fixing a Clock.

A resident of Florida tells this story of an old negro who came to a watchmaker with the two hands of a clock:

"I want yer to fix up dese han's. Dey ain't kept no correct time for mo' den six munfs."

"Well, where is the clock?" responded the watchmaker.

"Out to my cabin."

"But I must have the clock."

"Didn' I tell yer dar's nuffin de matter wid de clock 'cepting de han's? An' here dey be. You jess want de clock so you kin tinker it an' charge me a big price. Gimme back dem han's."

And, so saying, he started off to find an honest watchmaker.

Thistles.

In the fourteenth century thistles were used as food for cattle, and they were considered as a crop. In the old priory of Lindisfarne there is a note in the archives of 1344-45 of thick leather gloves required for the harvesters of the thistle crop. It is curious that, though the thistle is the emblem of Scotland, the Scot never seems able to say which kind of thistle is the true national emblem. It is said that a thistle which resembles Carduus marianus was figured on the old coinage of the day of James V., who was first to put thistles on the Scotch money. The horn spoons sold in Edinburgh sometimes have little silver thistles on the end of the handles.

Had to Give up and go to Bed.

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

Children

Have "eyes bigger than their stomachs," according to an old saying. They overeat themselves, and are tempted by all sorts of injurious and indigestible edibles. As a consequence the foundation of serious stomach trouble is often laid in childhood.

For children with "weak" digestion or whose stomachs are diseased, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery may be confidently recommended. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the nourishment contained in food is perfectly assimilated and the puny child is built up by food into a condition of robust health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

Mrs. Ella Gardner, of Waterview, Middlesex Co., Va., writes: "My little daughter is enjoying splendid health. I am glad I found a doctor who could cure my child. Whenever she feels badly I give her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she is soon all right. She took twelve bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' eight bottles of 'Pellets,' and one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and she is well. We thank God for your medicine."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

A Valuable Legislative Committee Report on Theories and Practice.

A volume remarkable for the amount of valuable information it contains is the report on municipal trading and municipal ownership, or operation of public utilities, just issued in accordance with an order of the Legislature, passed in June last. The report is mostly given to "an epitome of the periodical and other literature produced within the last few years on the subject of the municipal or other ownership of public or quasi-public utilities." The extracts chiefly relate to water, gas, electric light and power plants, and street transportation.

The volume has been prepared by Mr. Aveen Pardoe, Librarian of the Legislature, at the direction of the special committee of the House, and is a monument to months of painstaking labor and research. He refrains from passing judgment on the question of municipal ownership, but states that he has endeavored to utilize an equal quantity of material on each side. He adds that "it is likely enough the advocates of either side will be surprised to learn the strength of the arguments, the weight of the statistics and the depth of the feeling on the other side."

The information is gathered from theories and from practical results in Great Britain, the United States and Canada. A table of statistics respecting Ontario municipal undertakings, is a reliable record of the actual work in this Province. To this are appended several pages of interesting notes.

Canadian Trees for New Zealand.

The outgoing Australian steamer Miowera carried a big consignment of fruit trees for Hobarttown, New Zealand, sent by the well-known local nurseryman, M. J. Henry. The trees are to be set out in the plantations of a big fruit preserving concern in New Zealand. Last fall a member of the firm, which has placed the order with Mr. Henry, was in Vancouver, and spent some time visiting the orchards. He was so pleased with what he saw of British Columbia apples, that he has since his return home, made arrangements to place the large order, which Mr. Henry has just filled.—Vancouver Ledger.

Reserve Force

In these days of hurry and worry and bustle most people, men and women, are living up to the "limit." That is to say, they use up day by day all the force and energy nature provides, and consequently have NOTHING IN RESERVE to meet the extra demands of illness, bereavement or other nervous shocks. Of course, this is all wrong and we must either live differently or assist nature to furnish the RESERVE FORCE we should always possess.

It is easy to say live differently, but most people find that the demands of their business or social position render it practically impossible; then we must accept the other alternative and give nature a helping hand. In no other way can this be done so effectively as by taking a course of FERROL the ideal concentrated medicinal (The Iron-Oil Food) food, which combines in a beautiful and palatable emulsion Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, the very essentials for producing force of the right kind, because they build up, strengthen and develop tissue, nerve and brain and make the blood rich, warm, pure and healthy.

THE RAILWAY TRAFFIC ALMOST DEMORALIZED.

All Trains Late and Many Cancelled Altogether.

Peterborough is not the only place where snow has impeded railway traffic. The following from the Lindsay Post tells of the conditions on the Midland Division:—

The extreme cold weather and recent snowstorms have caused considerable havoc on the Midland division of the G.T.R., demoralizing traffic so badly that some of the trains from the branch lines running into Lindsay have had to be cancelled altogether, while all others have been late in arriving. The Haliburton train is about the only one that has been running anywhere near regular time; the Coboconk train is late every day in reaching Lindsay. Yesterday the line between Lorneville and Cobocconk was so badly blocked that the train was cancelled. The east and west trains have been behind time every day for the past week.

This morning, while the shunter was moving some empty cars in the vicinity of the iron bridge, a couple of cars went off the track, blocking the line so that No. 21 train from Port Hope could not get past. It took one and one-half hours to clear the line. At Lindsay the parlour car and a coach were dropped off the regular and the train left for Toronto made up of a baggage car and one coach, pulled by two engines.

McKee McLennan, the English church clergyman, conducted the funeral service. The bearers were Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh, C. O. Kelly, John Knox, Frank Birdsall, Jas. Moore and Thos. Webster. The deceased had been a member for a great many years of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society. He leaves a wife and one son, Rev. Frank Patterson, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. John Adams and wife, of Longford Mills, are the guests of his brother, Mr. Sad Adams.

BLAIRTON.

Invention and improvement is the order of the age, and is acceptable by all. Criticism and fault-finding (intended to have a feature here for the sake of making impression) is unpalatable. But if a blind palpable error is pointed out, why not accept it in good nature, and improve on it? Go where one may from home, in any direction, one sees farm after farm enclosed and divided into fields by stump fences. He will also see in spring and fall stump-pulling, stump drawing and stump fencing. There may be seen at times stumps so large that two teams, and at times three teams are required to take them to their destination. Then, as is evident in hundreds of instances in old fences, that to make the stump lie properly, viz., stump on ground and roots vertical, all the under half of the roots have been chopped away—a matter of great labour—while the roots in a great measure, are rendered useless for fencing. The roots left on tower away ten, twelve, and, in some cases, fifteen feet high, and make splendid watch towers and perches for the crows. It will be readily admitted that all of these roots above a lawful height are but a dead waste. Such stumps as we have referred to will make about, say, ten feet of fence, while each one might easily have been made to build twenty feet, at least, and at less than one quarter of the cost. Next stump taken in is small, then large again, and so on, the result is an unsightly lack of uniformity in the fence. Beetle and wedge and Jack screws are often brought into action to try and separate large stumps, but generally without good results. We have seen a gang most vigorously attacking a single stump in the above manner all day, but at night the stump, all having been woefully abused, still stands in majestic defiance of its assailants, after having billetted them next door to hors-de-combat.

There is a remedy for this, which if resorted to, will in the case of large stumps, be a saving of labour of at least fifty per cent, and such stumps when quartered will build double the usual amount of fence. The remedy is this:—Take an inch and a half augur, or a two inch one, and bore into the stump about one-third of its distance, between the roots, in the strongest part, and as near the bottom as will guarantee not to strike into openings between roots. A man of fair experience, with dynamite, places in a sufficient charge and tamps slightly with the borings or damp sand, or dry clay, using a stick for the purpose. Very often good chances may be found, after a little clearing out between two large roots, to lodge a cartridge of dynmite, and then cover it with earth, etc. The effect will be equal to the other treatment. One man said, "I have the biggest stump I ever saw, but it is like a barrel in the centre, and it can't be blasted." There being no chance to bore any augur holes successfully we selected a little log about 2 feet long and 6 inches in diameter, bored a two inch hole in the centre from the end, put in charge, and placed the stick in the centre of the stump, wedging it in with other wood, filling all space. This is the best place explosives can be put, when chances afford. The result was the monster stump was parted into a dozen pieces.

Dynamite is only 20 cents per lb., and with proper treatment stumps can be halved and quarted at will. It is the easiest work in the world to do it, and a picnic to the looker-on.

These having the need and will to try it, will be much surprised to find how cheaply, and with what uniformity they can with quartered stumps build a fence.

NORTH SMITH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mrs. Beamer, who resides with her mother, Mrs. A. E. Kennedy, is at present seriously ill, her many friends will be pleased to learn of her speedy recovery.

Quite a number are suffering from severe colds in this neighbourhood.

A very pleasing event took place at the residence of Mr. Absalom Northey on Wednesday evening, Jan. 20th, it being the marriage of his only daughter, Violet, to Mr. C. E. Kennedy, only son of Mr. A. E. Kennedy, president of the Buckhorn Dairy Company. The bride was very becomingly attired in a dress of steel grey, and wore the usual bridal veil. The duties of bridesmaid were suitably performed by Miss Georgie Nugent, cousin of the bride, who was also suitably attired, both carried a handsome bouquet of flowers. While the duties of groomsman was ably performed by Mr. Walter Northey, brother of the bride. The wedding march was played by Miss Flossie Kennedy, as the bride entered the parlour leaning on the arm of her father. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Metzler, pastor of the Methodist church, of which the contracting parties are both members, in the presence of over 80 invited guests. The presents to the bride were both many, useful and costly. The happy couple start out in life under most favourable circumstances, and with the best wishes of a host of friends.

The men that make the chairs are J. E. LeClare, Osias Lafave, Harry Kingdon and Charley Sullivan. Drop in; we won't keep you waiting. 10d10

GIVEN TO INDIANS.

Vancouver Man Says He Found White Children in Indian Families.

In a recent number of The Victoria, B.C., Times was published an interview with W. F. Best, a Vancouver man who had just returned from a 200-mile trip up the Skeena, who reported that he found white children of tender age in the keeping of Indian families. These children, he said, have been turned over to northern tribesmen and are being reared under native environment, with all its superstitions and unwholesome influences, and in many cases are being unkindly treated by their Indian guardians. The Times continues: "These children, of whom there are several in the north, have, Mr. Best learns, been taken from orphanage institutions, a number having come from Vancouver. One was brought south on the steamer Danube. It is a bright little child of about five years of age. An Indian woman accompanied the youngster, and both were going to New Westminster. There the child was to be taken from the woman and returned probably to the institution from which it was taken very young. Complaints had been made of the miserable creature who was acting as its guardian. She had been drinking heavily and was giving the child scant nourishment, and altogether improper care. But this case is only one of several which came to the notice of Mr. Best. Probably a more pathetic case was reported from Masset, over on Queen Charlotte Islands. A white child was there given to a family of natives at a time when they had no children of their own. At first much fuss was made over the little one. The natives lavished a great deal of kindness on it, but after a while Indian children were born in the family and the attention which the tiny white stranger received grew gradually less until now the child is reported to be severely ill-treated. Mr. Best says that there are three white children in the care of Indians at Essington. They were given them, it is understood, through the medium of an Indian missionary, and astonishment has been expressed that so little interest has been manifested in the welfare of the little ones."

Tuppers Now Out of Politics.

The withdrawal of Sir. C. H. Tupper from politics is another indication of how rapidly changes take place in the personnel of Parliament. Since 1896, when the Conservatives went out of office, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Mr. Foster, Dr. Montague, Hon. J. F. Wood (who died a few years ago), Hon. T. M. Daly, Hon. Mr. Prior and many minor members of the old Conservative regime have left public life. This is, therefore, the period of re-construction in the personnel of the Conservatives in Parliament, and by the end of another the majority of the members will be entirely new men. Sir Hibbert Tupper, as he was usually called to distinguish him from his father, played a leading part in Conservative Cabinets after the death of Sir John Macdonald. As a fighter in and out of the House, and a man of undoubted capacity and courage, he will be missed. "The Tuppers" are now out of politics.

Late Col. Yule a Canadian.

Col. Yule, who died in Scotland a few days ago, was a son of the late John Yule, seigneur of Chambly, near Montreal. He was educated at the Anglican school at Lennoxville, Que., and entered the British army in 1866. Col. Yule was married to a sister of Col. Ponsonby Watts, now residing at Camberley, Surrey, England. This lady died while her husband was on service in Bermuda. Col. Yule left six children. The eldest daughter married Capt. Platt, who at the time was on the Governor's staff in Bermuda. He is now in India. The eldest son is a lieutenant in the British navy. In his school days and in his younger days in the army, Col. Yule was a fine athlete.

Early History of North Oxford.

The first general elections for Ontario were held in August and September, 1867, and George Perry, Reeve of Blenheim, was the first member for North Oxford, with Adam Oliver representing the south riding. Mr. Perry's majority was 230, and he was returned by acclamation in the general election of 1871. He was a Liberal and opposed the Sandfield Macdonald Ministry. He retired in 1872 to give Mr. Mowat, the new Premier, a seat. Mr. Mowat sat for North Oxford until he left the Provincial Legislature in 1896.

A TORONTO MAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Shot Himself After Wounding Wife and Sister-in-Law.

Wife Refused to Live With Him, Claiming he had not Contributed to Her Support Since They Were Married Three Years ago —A Well-known Golf Instructor—Inquest to be Held.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—He fired three shots. The first bullet passed through the hand of his sister-in-law; the second went into his wife's forehead, without causing much injury; the last found a resting-place in his own head. He is dead.

So Thomas Lawlor, who is well known to lovers of golf, took his own life last night, and his body is now lying in the morgue. Lawlor was a married man, but for some time he has not lived with his wife. She claims he never contributed anything to her support since they were married three years ago. She has been living at 71 Niagara street with her mother, Mrs. Peer.

She met her husband on the street yesterday afternoon and had a talk with him. She told him she would not go back to him.

Shortly before 7 o'clock in the evening, while the family, consisting of Mrs. Peer, Mrs. Lawlor, Mrs. Mary Jane Kelly, Percy Peer and two little children, were in the house at 71 Niagara street, there was a knock at the door. Percy opened the door and Lawlor walked in. He locked the door and put the key in his pocket. Then he walked back to the kitchen, where his wife was with the rest of the family, and asked her if she meant what she said in the afternoon. She replied, "Yes, Tom."

Lawlor drew a revolver from his overcoat pocket and pointed it at his wife. Her sister, Mrs. Mary Jane Kelly, made an effort to catch his hand, and received the bullet in her hand. He fired again, the ball glancing his wife's head.

The women ran to the front door. It was locked. They smashed the window, threw the children out, and climbed out themselves. While they were escaping they heard another shot. That was when Lawlor took his own life. Why he did not follow up his murderous intentions can never be known. He had three shots left in his revolver, and above cartridges in his pocket.

Constable Brisbin broke in the door and found Lawlor dead, lying across a chair in the kitchen with the revolver by his side.

Lawlor was at one time a caddie for the Toronto Golf Club, and was subsequently an instructor for the Cobourg and Lambton Golf Clubs.

Swept Cartridge Into Stove.

Arnprior, Jan. 28.—Abe Evans, employed in the Mississippi Hotel, Galetta, a village on the C. A. R., seven miles from here, while sweeping one of the rooms swept up a cartridge in the dirt and threw it unnoticed into the stove. The explosion that followed blew one eye completely out and the sight of the other is so badly injured the doctors have very little hope of saving it.

Passengers Jumped For Lives.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 28.—A southbound passenger train on the St. Louis & Iron Mountain Road ran into the White River branch passenger train at Diaz, near Newport, Ark., injuring eight persons, several of them fatally. The branch train had just pulled onto the main line and stopped for coal, when the fast train struck it and plowed entirely through the two coaches. That there was no great loss of life was due to the fact that Joe Pennington, the news agent, saw the approach of the St. Louis train and ran through the coaches warning the passengers to jump for their lives. The wrecked cars took fire and the flames communicated to the coal chute, which burned with them.

Asleep in His Car.

Sarnia, Jan. 28.—At the inquest on the death of Fireman Albert Johnson, killed in the smash-up here on the 20th inst., William Kerr, first engineer of the train doing the damage, admitted that he was asleep in his cab until within 50 yards of the other train, and did not notice the signals set against him. He had been on duty 25 hours continuously, having had but seven hours' sleep previous to being called.

71 Bodies Brought to Surface.

Pittsburg, Jan. 28.—Three days have elapsed since the catastrophe at Harwick mine, and last night 71 bodies of those who met death as a result of the explosion had been brought to the surface. Only 18 of them have been identified.

J. F. Sangster's Sudden Death.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—Having come to Toronto to meet his daughter, who was returning from her honeymoon trip, John Herbert Sangster of Port Perry, one of the best-known physicians in the province, died suddenly at the King Edward yesterday morning. Dr. Sangster was 72 years of age, and leaves a widow and four children. He was born in London, Eng. He was prominent in educational affairs, being connected with the Model School, the Hamilton Public Schools in 1853, was first master in the Provincial Grammar School and in 1865 was head-master of the Normal School. He graduated in medicine and took up practice in Port Perry. Dr. Sangster wrote a number of valuable educational books. Interment will take place at Port Perry.

Dropped Dead Out West.

Erwood, N.W.T., Jan. 28.—Walter H. Gray, agent of the Canadian Northern Railway, dropped dead suddenly about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon from paralysis of the heart.

Were Elected By Returning Officer.

Oakville, Jan. 28.—Judge Gorham rendered his finding in the recount of the recent municipal election yesterday. Mayor Kelly and W. H. Robinson each received 214 votes; John MacDonald and Harry E. Moore as councillors also tied, receiving 146 votes each; Town Clerk Davis as returning officer had the privilege of giving the casting vote and declared Robinson elected as Mayor and Moore as councillor. A recount was demanded by Mayor Kelly. Judge Gorham declared Robinson elected Mayor and Moore councillor.

Murderer Coyette's Career.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—The police have learned that Clement Coyette, the murderer of old Mr. Colligan and his son, was married here some years ago, and his wife is at present living in Montreal with relatives. Coyette lived with her for a time in the house on Poupart street, in which Mann shot and killed his mother-in-law. The fact that the murder had taken place in the house seemed to be an attractive argument, and Coyette took a delight in telling people where he lived. He has been parted from his wife for some years.

How a Mayor Was Saved.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison was yesterday afternoon ordered by Judge Richard W. Tuthill to be immediately discharged from custody in connection with any responsibility for the wholesale loss of life in the Iroquois Theatre fire. The judge declared that the Mayor was in no way whatever guilty or liable, and that the coroner's jury, in ordering Mayor Harrison held to the Grand Jury, had put an unjust stigma upon the Mayor, who had failed in no particular whatever in omission or commission.

British Mission to Thibet.

Calcutta, Jan. 28.—The British mission to Thibet, which is now at Tuna, is strongly entrenched in a walled enclosure, which contains houses and a well. Four companies of the 23rd Pioneers, with a 7-pounder machine gun, a section of the Norfolks and 20 men of the Madras Sappers have remained as an escort, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Hogge. The cold is so severe in the Jelep Pass that the saddles have frozen on to the animals' backs.

C.P.R. Buys Rails in U.S.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have just purchased from the Pennsylvania Steel Company, through B. J. Coghlin of this city, 40,000 tons of 80 pounds steel rails. The price has not been made public, but it is understood that the rails are to be delivered during the coming summer.

A STRIKING ILLUSTRATION FROM NEW ONTARIO.

Under the above heading Trooper A. J. Brace, son of Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, and well known in Peterborough, contributes the following article to "The Circuit Rider," edited by A. P. Brace, B.D., also a son of Rev. A. H. Brace:

Tall, straight and powerful was my friend Aleck Mac——, a true Scot, manly and well beloved by all who knew him; a third worker, an intelligent and capable leader. But one failing interfered with the confidence his employers loved to place in their practical and experienced bush and mining man; he was too fond of the "heather dew." This was Aleck's drawback and he knew it. His dear little wife was an earnest Christian woman and dearly loved her husband. He promised her that soon he would swear off, but that was difficult for he loved his men; he was the hero of the gang always and so often he thought it seemed unmanly not to "treat" when "it was up to him." As is ever the case Aleck's great heart and generous nature crippled his better judgment and strong will and he was "one of the boys."

In going my rounds as a bush preacher, costumed like my friends in shantyman garb, I several times met this manly character and loved to be in Aleck's company. I saw latent possibilities of usefulness for the Master's service in this man if he would only receive a vision of the Christ and the Higher Life. It seemeth strange and hard that he should have to learn his lesson in the sad experience that came to him, but, "God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform."

Aleck was sent in charge of a little gang of five, besides himself, to the district of Wahnapata to investigate a new mining property by running a small test shaft. They were supplied with plenty of dynamite for blasting purposes and also had a goodly supply of the usual Yak stimulant. The little camp was snugly built and around the blazin and welcome camp fire the first night was spent. Stories were told, pipes were smoked and the flasks were passed. 'Twas a little earlier in the winter than this and the nights were always frosty. It is well known that dynamite is very susceptible to frost, so in the morning the first duty was to thaw this necessary article. They had with them a dynamite thawer—a tin can made double, with an outer compartment for water, which when heated gently thaws the powerful explosive which is placed in the inner chamber.

Around the fire in the early morning they chaffed and laughed and passed the flask, waiting for the dynamite to thaw; they were feeling good and did not notice the time quickly passing. One stepped to the fire and tested the can with a gentle kick. The water had all vaporized, the dynamite was dry and heated and it required only this slight concussion to produce the terrible explosion which instantly followed. The loud report brought settlers soon to the spot and they witnessed a horrible scene. The six men were buried in all directions, four were literally blown to pieces, the two remaining, a French Canadian and Aleck were most horribly mutilated.

Tenderly were they carried to Sudbury but the French lad expired ere the train reached the station. Aleck, broken, bleeding and unconscious, was carried to the Hospital and for three long weeks, for the most part unconscious, hovered between life and death. The best medical aid was summoned; his faithful wife, broken-hearted, but quiet, submissive and tearless, sat patiently beside him night and day and lovingly ministered to his wants.

I was one of the first allowed to enter the silent room when the verdict was published that Aleck would probably live. I shall never forget the sight. It has been my sad lot to behold many tragic scenes of mutilation and suffering on the battle grounds of the African veldt, but none equalled this. There lay the massive form of the big and once strong muscular man; he had lost a part of one leg, the right arm, the fingers of the left were badly cut and lacerated, his breast and head were filled with pieces of the dynamite can, the tips of his ears and nose were gone and both eyes were absolutely destroyed. 'Twas a piteous sight—the great chest heaved and fell, and subdued groans escaped the sufferer's lips. I said, only, "Aleck." Quietly, but quickly, recognizing the voice, he said, "Is that you, Mr. Brace?" and it was a sight to make angels weep to see the large tear drops roll down from those sightless orbs. "Cheer up, Aleck," I said, "God has spared your life, and you are going to live. You will miss your arm and leg and—" he didn't let me finish, but piteously broke in with a heart rending sob of anguish, "Tis my eyes; how can I live and not see again?" And the great frame was convulsed, the tears fell fast and the choking sobs were to me the saddest I've known. "Well, Aleck," I replied, "our lessons are sometimes hard to learn and difficult to understand, and perhaps the loss of your physical eyesight may mean the gain of spiritual vision. God can make a real man of you yet, bruised and bruised and broken as you are." Then "shall I sing for you, Aleck?" "Oh, yes, won't you sing the little piece you used to sing in camp? 'The Bird with a Broken Wing.'" We did, and at the last verse:

"But the bird with the broken pinion
Kept another from the snare,
And the life that sin had stricken
Raised another from despair."

Aleck piteously said, "Yes, perhaps, that's me." We prayed together for divine guidance and strength, but it was not till the third visit, and we sang for the third time the sweet little song of hope, that Aleck felt God would accept his broken gift of his emaciated self. But he gave all that was left to his Master, and to-day, though blind, supported by his crutch and leaning on his faithful wife, he sells books and Bibles and humbly but gladly lives and tells to others the power of Jesus to save

"The bird with a broken pinion."

COUNTY COUNCIL'S JANUARY MEETING.

A Deputation From the Children's Aid Society.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

The County Council went into Session at 10 o'clock this morning, pursuant to adjournment.

The Warden, Mr. E. A. Peck, in the chair.

SCHOOL INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

On motion, Mr. J. Coyle Brown, County School Inspector, read his semi-annual report, which was as follows:—

To the Warden and Members of the County Council, County of Peterborough,—

Gentlemen, — In presenting my semi-annual report, I may say that the past year has been one of peculiar difficulty. In many places diseases of various kinds, diphtheria, scarlet fever, small-pox, etc., have interfered with the schools, reducing the attendance, and, in some cases, leading to the temporary closing of the schools. Also teachers were difficult to be got at such salaries as many of the back sections were able to pay. I was forced to give temporary permission to some who did not come up to the legal requirements. Some schools were closed altogether owing to inability to obtain teachers. Times are good, avenues to employments not requiring so much time and money in preparation, are open. Hence few are preparing for the teaching profession. I understand that at present there are only fourteen young men attending the three Normal Schools of the Province, whereas three years ago there were one hundred and forty. The Public Schools are more and more filled with female teachers, and they are becoming harder and harder to get. Salaries must be very materially increased, or else many schools must be closed.

A new union school section was formed during the year, consisting of an eastern part of the Township of Douro and a western part of the Township of Dummer. A site was chosen on the boundary line, and a school house erected. The school will be opened in a short time. The nearest schools were more than six miles apart by the shortest road, so that many were altogether too far from school privileges. They will now be within reasonable distance.

Union School Section No. 12, Belmont, and No. 9, Marmora, has had a great backset on account of the closing of the Cordova Mines. It is to be hoped that the closing is only temporary.

School section No. 12, Otonabee, has changed its site. The old site was in an out-of-the-way place, and the school property was often destroyed with impunity. The building was a poor one. The new site is on the Black Road.

The difficulty in S. S. No. 11, Otonabee, may be said to be settled. A site has been granted on the Indian land, a building is to be erected, and ready for occupation immediately after the midsummer vacation.

A section, union or other, is very much needed in the northern part of the Township of Anstruther. Unfortunately, much of the land there is within the limits of lumber companies, and cannot be located by settlers. How to deal with it is a problem of which I have thought much, without being able to solve. It is a great pity that a considerable number of children should grow up in any part of the county without an opportunity to obtain even the most elementary education. One man who has been in the neighbourhood for fourteen years has, I understand, four or more, children of school age.

The auditing of school accounts should be done before the annual meeting. It is very generally done at the annual meeting, and badly done. It is to be hoped that the secretary-treasurers are honest men.

In many cases the house, out-buildings, etc., are not sufficiently looked after. The first meeting of the trustees for the year should be held on the Wednesday following the annual meeting. A thorough examination of the house, out-buildings, furniture, maps, and apparatus, should be made with a view to see that everything is in good order. The teacher should inspect often and when anything is needed, or out of order, should report to the trustees. These duties are often overlooked.

The practice of holding public examinations has been dying out. It should be revived. Three public examinations should be held each year: One before Easter, another before midsummer and the third before Christmas. The trustees and teacher should make it a point to have these examinations held in every school. It gives the parents and friends of education in the neighbourhood an opportunity of seeing how matters are going on, and increase their interest in educational affairs.

The scribbling book is now a prominent part of a pupil's outfit. It is questionable however whether as generally used, it is an advantage or otherwise. Matter is placed in it without much care as to either correctness or appearance. Leaves are torn out or mutilated. When finished it is often not fit to be seen, a mere bundle of paper rags. Used in this way it is a positive injury to the pupil. In a new scribbling book the leaves should be numbered from the beginning to the middle. No leaf should be torn or mutilated. The date should be placed at the beginning of the entries for the day. Everything placed in it should be done as neatly as the pupil can. The teacher should look over it often and command or give directions for alterations and improvements, as the case may require. When finished the teacher's indorsement should be attached. The pupil should take it home for the inspection of parents or guardians, and then put it carefully away. Used in this way it would greatly benefit the pupil both in the work of the school and in the business of after life. It would also give to the parent a better idea of what the pupil was doing and what progress making, than could be got in any other way.

It is proposed that the Government schould undertake to supply all the public schools of the Province with text books. This, it appears to me, is undesirable on both sanitary and educational grounds, unless the pupils be given the books outright. For a pupil to use books that have been used before by one or more others, may be, and is likely to be, a means of propagating disease in a neighbourhood. It is a decided advantage for a pupil to have his or her books. The associations clinging around text books are often among the most pleasurable recollections of youth. When one comes across a book studied during school days he does not readily lay it down. It is often conned over again, and causes a troop of forgotten images to pass before ones mental vision that otherwise would never be recalled.

It is also proposed to introduce nature study, manual training and domestic science into the public school course. On looking over "A Draft of Proposed Changes" it is almost appalling to see the large space these subjects occupy, compared with that given to what must ever be the backbone of an education for the great majority. Reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic and geography are the main subjects to be taught in the public schools. Most of the others should be learned, not taught.

In every school there should be a cabinet for holding such specimens of natural history, of manufacture, and of art as can be contained in small space. The pupils should be made acquainted with the names of the specimens, and with any interesting particulars regarding them. A portion of time each week should be devoted to this purpose. It would give opportunity for a start in original investigation according to the pupil's bent, and might lead to important results in the case of not a few.

In conclusion allow me to hope that the year on which we have entered may be a happy and prosperous one, and that each of us at the end may be able to look back on a year well spent.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient, servant,
J. COYLE BROWN,
P. S. Inspector.

The members were engaged in committe work after the Council adjourned at eleven o'clock until three o'clock this afternoon. The Committies on Schools, Roads and Bridges and Finance, got through a good deal of important business.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At 3 o'clock the council resumed, the Warden in the chair.

On motion of Councillor Fitzgerald, the reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A deputation composed of Rev. Father McColl and Mr. R. M. Denniston, was heard before the Council, on behalf of an increased grant in aid of the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Denniston made a practical appeal on behalf of the Society. He said that last year 29 children had been received at the Shelter — 12 from the town and 17 from the county. The expenses in connection with the work during the year was $800. The Society had received a grant from the town of $300 and from the county of $100; the balance being made up by voluntary subscriptions principally from benevolent citizens of the town. Mr. Denniston explained the relative responsibility which rested upon the town and county respectively for the prosecution of this good work. The attention of the Council was drawn to the fact that the cost of looking up the destitute and abandoned children from the different parts of the county was of course larger than it was in the case of those from the town. A list of the individual cases which had been sheltered and cared for was summarized, and the efforts made in each case towards placing those wards of the Society in comfortable homes with moral surroundings or in improving their condition.

Rev. Father McColl expressed his conviction that the Society was doing a good work on behalf of destitute and abandoned children in both town and county. The Society was fortunate in having able, painstaking officers, who could neither be impassed on or deterred in doing their duty on behalf of the community. Children were, of course, better with their parents, if their homes were moral ones. But children were sometimes left with parents whose influence meant certain distruction to them. Many of these when young can be saved by taking them from such parents and placing them in the care of this Society. Therefore, the mission of this Society was a worthy one and must recommend itself to the sympathy of the Council. "If," said Rev. Mr. McColl, "we can forestal these children becoming a menace to the community by making them good citizens, we are doing a good work, and a work of prevention like this should receive your encouragement. It is better than curing an evil, which in many cases is found impossible." He hoped the Council would consider the application for a grant in a liberal spirit.

Mr. Denniston read the report of the Society which was submitted at the last annual meeting and which has already appeared in the Examiner. He asked the members to make a record for incoming councils by a grant which would be a standard worthy to follow. He hoped they would double their grant this year. The whole county was interested. The Society was anxious to increase the efficiency and comfort of the Shelter this year by adding sanitary plumbing, baths and other important improvements.

Councillor Shaw moved, seconded by Councillor Maloney, that the application on behalf of the Children's Aid Society for a grant, be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

DILATORY TREASURERS.

Councillor Fitzgerald moved, seconded by Councillor Shaw, that the Clerk be instructed to notify the Treasurers of municipalities who have not made their returns to the County of the urgent necessity of doing so at once.—Carried.

Council adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

Mr. Geoffrion For Speaker.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—(Globe special.)—The likelihood is that the House of Commons will meet at 2 o'clock, instead of the customary hour of 3 o'clock, on March 10, in order to elect a Speaker. Everything would then be in readiness for the opening of Parliament by His Excellency, and it would not be necessary to adjourn until the following day. Victor Geoffrion, M.P., for Chambly and Vercheres, is looked upon as a strong possibility for the Speakership of the House.

Only one Dr. Chase.

There is only one Dr. Chase of Receipt Book fame—only one Dr. Chase who is known the world over because of the great prescriptions he gave to mankind. His portrait and signature—A. W. Chase, M.D.—are on every box of his remedies. Imitators do not dare to reproduce these. They are the guarantee which protects you against fraud. Be sure theya re on the box you buy.

AT LIFE'S EVENING.

To those well along in years there comes, according to the condition of the system, their measure of ills and suffering. Some are young at 70, while others are old at 60.

Elderly people who once use Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill find that it has marvelous power to relieve them of the troubles that nothing else will shake off, especially backache, constipation, bladder trouble, failing appetite, and indigestion. If ANTI-PILL is used upon taking cold, the aches and pains that usually follow will be avoided. To prove this, send to WILSON-PILL CO., Niagara Falls, Ont., for a free sample. ANTI-PILL is sold by druggists at 50 cents a box.

RAW MATERIALS.

No One Wishes to Tax It Says Home Secretary Douglas.

London, Jan. 28.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Akers Douglas, Secretary for Home Affairs, speaking at Swansea, South Wales, said that no one wished to tax raw material. He was quite sure the country would give a mandate to the Government and empower it to open up negotiations. This would lead to a closer union with the colonies. The Government had no desire to tax food in such a manner as would in the aggregate raise the cost of living to the working man.

Canada and Chamberlain.

The Morning Leader (Liberal) says Canada cares nothing for Chamberlain's policy, and quotes the remarks of James Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior, to the effect that Canada is not a bit excited over the fiscal question, and that those who have taken the trouble to consider it care little about it. This, The Leader says, sounds at variance with Hon. George E. Foster's pet tariff reform leagues, and is a rebuff for Joseph Chamberlain.

Protection to the Fore.

Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman (Liberal leader), speaking in Glasgow last night, said the colonies and food taxation had now been retired to the background, also protection, naked and unashamed, had come to the front. The extraordinary commission just appointed was composed mainly of men who had everything to gain from the imposition of protective duties, with a few independent theorists thrown in for decency's sake.

PRAISES SIR SANDFORD.

Sir Edward Sassoon Discusses the Business of New Pacific Cable.

London, Jan. 28.—(C. A. P.)—Sir E. Sassoon, writing to The Times, says it was only to be expected that the new Pacific cable would not pay at first. He praises Sir Sandford Fleming's open letter of Dec. 8, and shows that the cable produced an increase of 26 per cent. in Indian traffic alone.

Wanted to Be Attached.

The Daily Chronicle publishes a letter from Lord Wolseley in reply to Father McCarthy's communication regarding the Riel rebellion. Lord Wolseley says that all ranks were sorry not to be attached at any place during the long journey from Lake Superior to Red River.

Waits For Parliament.

Right Hon. Alfred Lyttleton, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has informed a correspondent that he will not question the proposed Transvaal ordinance, regarding the importation of Chinese labor, until the matter has been discussed in the British Parliament.

READ THE EXAMINER WANT ADS.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Armoury at Cobourg," will be received at this office until Tuesday, February 9, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of an armoury at Cobourg, Ont.

Plans and specifications can be seen at this department and on application to John Boyd, caretaker public building, Cobourg, Ont.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Pupile Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, must accompany each tender. This cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract, or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

A MANDATE TO GO ON

AN ANALYSIS OF THE RESULT

Gratifying Recognition of the Services of the Liberal Government and Party—The Premier Well Satisfied—Butler's Majority in Woodstock Great Disappointment to the Conservative Party.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross yesterday expressed himself as extremely well satisfied with the result in North Oxford, and, so long as the electors who have ranged themselves at the backs of old leaders like Hon. Geo. Brown, Robt. Baldwin and Sir Oliver Mowat are at his back, he sees no reason why he should not, with comfort, as well as confidence, continue to direct the political affairs of Ontario. "It is needless to discuss in detail the majorities in these cases," said Mr. Ross. "It was expected that Woodstock would support the Conservative candidate, and, following precedents when there were only two party candidates in the field. Woodstock has shown its sterling Liberalism as splendidly as ever. The only change is a small majority of 31 for Mr. Butler. In the bye-election of 1896 Mr. Pattullo had a majority of 276, but in the subsequent elections in 1898 and 1902, there were three candidates in the field, and consequently the strength of the two parties was not properly tested.

"Mr. Butler's small majority in Woodstock must have been a great disappointment to the Conservative party, as from reports that reached me they expected that Woodstock would give anywhere from 200 to 300 in his favor. The stalwarts in Woodstock were nobly supported by the rural voters. Evidently the feeling in the Liberal party of that old riding is as genuinely loyal as ever it was, notwithstanding the tremendous efforts made to stampede the party. This result is all the more gratifying, as the whole credit of the victory is due to the Liberals of the riding. They asked for no assistance, except in the discussion of the political issues, and that assistance they got as fully as it could be granted." Mr Ross hoped that this feature in the party victory of conducting the campaign by local organizations and by public discussions will be repeated in all elections in the Province hereafter. In Colonel Munro North Oxford, has an able representative and one who will be heartily welcomed by all the Liberals of the House.

Presbyterian Alliance.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—The initial meeting of the Presbyterian Alliance met in St. James Square Presbyterian Church last night, to prepare for the world's gathering at Liverpool in June. The speakers were Rev. Dr. Kerr of Philadelphia, Rev. Dr. Henry of Philadelphia, Rev. Dr. Black of St. Louis, Rev. Dr. Roberts, and Rev. Professor Cavan, who briefly outlined the scope of the Alliance, the first meeting of which was held in Edinburgh in 1877; in Philadelphia, 188 : Belfast, 1884; London, 1888; Toronto, 1892; Glasgow, 1896; Washington, 1899, and the next in Liverpool in June of the present year, for which this Executive meeting is a preparation. With a membership of 88,000,000, no Protestant organization presented so solid a front.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible bu tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

Toronto's Municipal Scandals.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—It has been learned that at least two suspects in the election frauds are prepared to turn King's Evidence, and renewed vigor animates those whose duty it is to prosecute. A great number of new informations are being issued against D. R. O.'s previously summoned, and also against their clerks. These new summonses will be served to-day. County Crown Attorney Curry will endeavor to have the trials begin on Friday.

To Sell Canadian Land.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—Land men from Northwest Canada, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, the Dakotas and Illinois gathered here yesterday to adopt measures to stimulate emigration to Canada. It is proposed to start an active propaganda that will bring the resources of Canada before the homeseekers of this country and Europe. Among the delegates are members of the Winnipeg Common Council and Board of Trade.

Prof. Ashley's Opinion.

London, Jan. 28.—Professor Ashley, lecturing at the Chartered Institute of Secretaries, in reply to the question of the secretary of the Cobden Club, said: "It seemed the best opinion agreed that the Canadian preference had given a fillip to certain of our exports to the Dominion, especially in textile goods, and prevented a decline in other exports."

For Embezzling $3,000.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Stuart Arnoldi, cashier for the North British and Canadian Loan Company. It is claimed Arnoldi is $3,000 shy in his accounts. His thefts, it is said, extend for a period of two years. He has a wife and one child. The complainant is L. C. Hoskins, the accountant of the company.

Fresh Roses.

Roses, carnations and all other cut bloom, fresh, at lowest prices in town, at the Aylmer street Greenhouses. Reduced prices still continue on all regular stock plants. Jos. Cobb.

DUNLOP NOT A MEMBER.

New Point Raised in the House By Mr. M. G. Cameron.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—An appeal by the Speaker for more Parliamentary conduct on the part of the members opened the proceedings in the Legislature yesterday. Hon. Mr. Charlton quoted extensively from "May on Parliamentray Procedure" against the use of personalities and intemperate language. He appealed to the members to assist him in maintaining the honorable name of the Ontario Legislature. Mr St. John, in resuming his speech, adopted an entirely different style from that of the previous day, and discontinued the asking of questions as on Tuesday. He criticized the Government for not revoking the charter of the Toronto Junction Recreation Club, and said last year's amendment did not cover the case at all. Mr. M. G. Cameron, who followed, had barely entered upon his speech when the House adjourned. He, however, raised a new point in the North Renfrew case by arguing that Mr. Munro not being declared elected, the election was abortive, and quoted an English case to show that under such circumstances the election was not conducted at all. Mr. Cameron will continue to-day, and will be followed by Mr. Mahaffy. The next Liberal speaker will be Mr. R. A. Thompson of North Wentworth.

A SMALLPOX SCARE.

100 Families at Niagara Falls, Ontario, Are in Danger.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 28.—Intense excitement prevails here over the possibility of a great spread of smallpox. Over a hundred of the most prominent families of Niagara Falls, Ont., have been exposed to the disease. The particulars show that Mrs. Julian Thornley, a bride of less than two months and a social favorite, is ill with the disease. On Monday evening last she attended a social function at the home of a prominent society leader here, where the amusement was progressive euchre. At that time a noticeable eruption had appeared on Mrs. Thornley's face, and general comment was made at the appearance of her complexion, but no one thought that she was stricken with the dread disease. The announcement was made yesterday morning by Dr. W. H. Hodge of the American side of the river, who was called into consultation. Ladies who were associated with Mrs. Thornley at cards and particularly those whose wraps were left in the same room and in conjunction with hers are wild with terror, that they will contract the disease.

TRE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

No Expert to Be Permanently Appointed —No Secretary Yet.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The Railway Commission, of which Hon. A. G. Blair is chairman, will be completely organized when it first meets for business on Feb. 2.

The report that a railway expert is to be permanently appointed to advise the railway commission lacks confirmation. The act does not give power for any such appointment, but it does permit the commission to call in expert advice whenever necessary. If Mr. C. J. Smith of the Canada Atlantic Railway, who was mistakenly slated by the Conservative papers for a seat on the commission is a competent man, he stands as good a chance of being called in for advice as any other railway expert. No appointment to the Secretaryship of the commission has yet been made. Mr. Pugsley, the Secretary of the defunct Railway Committee, has been spoken of for the place. So has Mr. Hansard, law clerk of the Railway Department. The commission will hold their first meeting on February 2nd.

WILL CLOSE THE BALTIC.

What Germany Would Do in Event of Russo-Japanese War.

Paris, Jan. 28.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald has telegraphed an extraordinary story to the effect that Germany and Denmark have reached an understanding under the terms of which, in the event of Great Britain fighting with Japan against Russia, Germany would amicably occupy Copenhagen with a powerful force, thus effectively closing the Baltic and preventing the Russians from leaving or the British from entering that sea.

Japanese War Tax.

London, Jan. 28.—The Times this morning publishes the following despatch from its Tokio correspondent: "The Government has resolved to impose a war tax by doubling the land tax and the income tax, thereby obtaining additional revenue of 44,000,000 yen ($20,000,000)."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

Prohibition of Seals.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Senate yesterday adopted the resolution to open negotiations with Great Britain for a revision of the joint regulations for the protection of the fur seals of Alaska.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—About 400 head of cattle, 10 calves and half a dozen sheep were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day, and about 100 other cattle were sold at the Point St. Charles stock yards this morning. The snow blockade prevented several carloads of cattle from reaching the market in time.

Trade was slow as unusually high prices were asked for all kinds of stock, the advance being greatest for common stock, which sold at nearly half a cent per pound higher than they did two weeks ago. Prime beeves sold at from 4¾c to 5c per lb., but sheep were not very choice. Good mediums sold at 4¼c to 4½c, ordinary mediums 3¾c to 4c and the common stock at 2½c to 3½c per lb. The best calf was sold for $8, the others being young bobs, which sold at about $3 each. Sheep sell at about 3⅝c per lb. Fat hogs are higher in price; good lots sold at from $5.50 to $5.60 per 100 lbs.

Sheep and lambs, receipts, 400; feeling firm, but sales very limited; sheep, $3.50 to $4.50; lambs, $6 to $7. Hogs, receipts, 2303; steady; state and Pennsylvania hogs, $5.40 to $5.60; common mixed western, $4.75.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Berlin.—A great crowd gathered in front of the palace early yesterday to salute Emperor William on his birthday.

Madison, Wis.—A passenger train struck a sleigh containing a minister, his wife and four children, instantly killing the father, mother and two children.

New York.—A rate war has begun on steerage business between New York and Mediterranean ports. The cut affects only east-bound traffic, and has made no change in freight rates.

Seoul, Corea.—The pedlars, with the permission of the Government, are levying blackmail on all wealthy houses in Seoul, except those of the high officials, on the pretext of guarding the house.

The King's Irish Visit.

London, Jan. 28.—The Irish Racing Calendar announces the following dates of April meetings, which have been changed in view of the visit of the King to Ireland during that month: Punchestown, April 26 and 27; Phoenix Park, April 28; Leopardstown, April 29 and 30.

BLAKE GIVES HIMSELF UP.

St. Catharines' Postoffice Clerk Returns to Be Tried.

St. Catharines, Jan. 28.—After over a week's absence from the city, Thomas Blake, the missing postoffice clerk, wanted in connection with alleged irregularities at the postoffice, returned to the city Tuesday night, and yielded to the officers of the law. He was taken before the police magistrate himself, and remanded for eight days.

He is charged with having "unlawfully stolen a posted letter from a box in the postoffice, the said letter containing the sum of $1.25." He has returned, pleaded guilty and thrown himself upon the mercy of the court.

Law Closed to Ladies.

London, Jan. 28.—At a council of the Benchers of Lincoln's Inn, held Tuesday evening, the petition of Miss Christobe H. Parkhurst of Manchester to be allowed to enter as a student of the Inn was considered and refused.

Manitoba Liquor Law.

Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—Attorney-General Campbell at Tuesday night's session of the Legislature outlined the proposed changes in the liquor law of Manitoba. The main planks of the Government platform are:

1—A good license law properly enforced.

2—Total abolition of all saloon licenses.

3—Abolition of wholesale licenses in rural municipalities.

4—Stringent legislation dealing with interdicts.

5—Improvement of condition of bona fide hotels.

6—Elimination of undesirables as license holders.

There will be no change in hours.

Want Law Repealed.

Belleville, Jan. 28.—The County Council of Hastings County yesterday appointed a delegation to wait on the Ontario Government and request that the bill changing the make-up of County Councils be repealed. The new bill provides for the councils being composed of the different reeves of townships and villages. At present the county councillors are elected on a basis of representation by equalization.

Loss Will Be $500,000.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 28.—Three miles of coal barges, 57 in number, belonging to the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal Company, and loaded with coal, are grounded and going to pieces six miles from here. Another is sinking at Hoffman Landing. Two hundred men are at work trying to save them. It is estimated the loss will be $500,000. Ice in the river caused the damage.

ORILLIA CURLERS GOOD ENTERTAINERS.

The sixteen curlers who went to Orillia to compete with an equal number of Orillians for the Shepherd-Neill Cup, returned yesterday, and speak very highly of the treatment accorded them by the curlers in the town to which they were visitors. Although they were defeated, it was by the narrow margin of 8 shots, and the pleasure experienced in the visit more than compensated for the defeat, which, however, did not lose them the cup.

The Orillia curlers did all in their power to render the stay in that town of the Peterborough rinks most pleasant, which they succeeded admirably in doing. Some difficulty was experienced in getting to the Northern town, because of the snow blockade, but once they had arrived their troubles were forgotten amid the pleasant circumstances with which they found themselves surrounded.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Was Held in the School Room Last Night.

And was Well Attended—Reports were Very Encouraging and Showed a Satisfactory Standing.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's church was held in the Sabbath school room last night and was attended by a large congregation with Rev. Dr. Torrance in the chair and Rev. J. A. Wilson also present. The chief business of the evening was the presentation of reports, which showed a very satisfactors and highly encouraging state of affairs.

The secretary, Mr. H. S. Macdonald, read a communication from Mr. Robt. Innes, tendering his resignation as representative of St. Paul's church on the Central Charity Board. Mr. J. D. Collins was appointed to replace Mr. Innes.

SABBATH SCHOOL.

Mr. J. A. Fife, B. A., superintendent of the Sabbath School, presented the annual report of that branch of the church's work. The average attendance was as follows:

THE MISSION SCHOOL.

The report of the advisory committee of the mission school was presented by the chairman, Mr. R. E. Wood. It showed that since the mission had been opened on February 1st, 1903, services had been held there regularly every Sunday. These services had been attended by from 50 to 75 persons in the morning and from 50 to 125 in the evening. The Sabbath school attendance was about 50. During the year the collections amounted to $114.77, an average of $2.55 per Sabbath. The report went on to show that the work for the past year had been very encouraging.

The report was adopted.

TREASURER'S ANNUAL REPORT.

The treasurer's annual report was submitted by Mr. R. T. Thompson and was adopted. It was as follows.

FOR MISSIONS.

The report of the Missionary Secretary Treasurer, Mr. W. Madill showed that the contributions to missions during the past year were $1766 60, including a special contribution of $750 for the support of three missionaries in the North West. The total amount contributed in 1903 was $18 93 less than the contributions of the previous year.

The report was adopted.

REPORT OF SESSION

The report of session was presented by Rev. Dr. Torrance and showed that the number of persons on the church roll was 780, the largest in the history of the church. Early in the year a series of evangelistic services were held under the leadership of Rev. Messrs. Kerby & Turk, with marked success. The rest of the report went on to show how great strides of progress had been taken in every branch of the church's work.

The report was adopted.

WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The annual report of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society showed a very encouraging state of affairs, especially as the meetings had been largely and regularly attended. The membership is 113, 96 members of the general society and 17 life members. The total receipts were $433 99, and expenditures $416.74.

The report was adopted.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

The financial statement of the Ladies' Aid Society was presented by Miss C. E. Hall and showed an expenditure of $206.77 and a receipt of $297.86, leaving a balance on hand of $262.09. The statement was adopted.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD.

The second annual report of the St. Paul's Young Men's Guild showed that this, the youngest organization in connection with the church had done good work and increased its membership considerably. There are thirty-five active members on the roll. The Guild, since its organization, had taken up the ushering and collection plates early in the year. They entertained the brother organization of St. Andrew's church and in June held their first picnic, going to Stony Lake, a fair number accompanying. The report concluded with an invitation to all the men of the congregation to join the Guild, or at least attend the monthly meetings.

The report was adopted.

THE Y. P. S. C. E.

The annual report of the Y. P. S. C. E. was presented by Rev. J. A. Wilson, the president, and showed that great interest had been taken in the work. The financial statement, presented by the treasurer, Miss M. S. Geoffrey, showed an expenditure of $26.70 and a receipt of $71.94, leaving a balance on hand of $6.24.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The report of the Board of Managers was presented by the secretary, Mr. H. S. Macdonald and was as follows:

The year has been singular as far as finances are concerned, by reason of a large increase in revenue and yet showing an increased deficit.

We commenced the year with an overdraft of $561.91, which had been increased to $1197.00 on Dec. 31st, or a deficit for the year 1903 of $510.09.

You will remember that the cost of erecting the mission school as reported by the building committee was about $1300 more than had been subscribed and this was disposed of by adding $1000 to the mortgage and the balance has been paid out of current revenue.

The following are the notable increases in the expenditures for the past year over the previous year:

Bal. Building Acct., Mission and Furnace	$ 735 00
General Running Expense	258 60
Addition to Assistant Pastor's Salary	150 00
Increase in Fuel Acct.	106 00
Pulpit Supply	84 00
Kaisomining Church, etc.	50 00
	$1383 60

An increase in the revenue of about $500, to which we add the special anniversary collection of $371, in all $871, deducted from extra expenditure, as stated above shows the shortage for the year of $510.09.

Of the increased expenditure $1,000 is directly chargeable to the mission but of this amount about $750 is chargeable to capital account.

We estimate that an amount of $350 will be required for current expenses for the mission yearly. The amount contributed at the mission is difficult to compute, as it is included in St. Paul's collections.

We are pleased to report that there has been a substantial increase in the number of contributors by envelope, although many of those to whom cards were sent have so far made no response. It is gratifying to note that a number of old contributors have, without any demonstration, increased their contributions and it is hoped others will do the same.

The retiring members of the board this year are Messrs. A. Hall, W. G. Ferguson, T. A. Hay and J. H. Connal, all of whom are eligible for re-election. The place of Mr. A. E. Lech should also be filled.

The old Board of Managers was re-elected, with the addition of Mr. R. E. Wood.

Messrs. R. F. McWilliams and A. P. McLean were elected auditors for the current year.

On motion it was resolved that the Board of Managers engage Rev. J. A. Wilson for another year at least.

Votes of thanks were tendered Mr. J. Crane as organist and the choir as well as the choir of the mission, after which the meeting adjourned.

OFFICERS ENTERTAINED THE HOCKEY PLAYERS

After the Game Last Night—A Very Pleasant Incident.

At the conclusion of the hockey match last night, Lieut.-Colonel J. W. Miller and the officers of the 57th Regiment, entertained the members of both teams in the officers' mess at the armouries. Among those present were Lt.-Colonel E. B. Edwards, Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Ex-Mayor Boulter of Picton, and his son, Mr. Frank Boulter, manager of the Picton team.

A supper was first served by Mr. Harry Long, at the conclusion of which speeches were made.

Colonel Miller in proposing the toast of the Picton team, spoke in eulogistic terms terms regarding the kindness directed towards the 57th Regiment when in Picton last summer and was pleased to have the opportunity of speaking of the matter and try to reply to the hospitality extended to them while in that town.

Ex-Mayor Boulter responded, and dwelt on the pleasure he felt at meeting his old acquaintances of the smart 57th. He proposed the toast of the Peterborough hockey team, to which Messrs. Jas. Hamilton and Bob Mercer responded. A number of vocal selections brought the evening to a close.

THEY WILL RESIDE IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Wedding of Mr. Oscar Sharpe and Miss Charlotte Jeffs.

The wedding of Miss Charlotte Jeffs, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jeffs, of 31 Homewood avenue, to Mr. Oscar Sharpe, of Hague, Saskatchewan, was quietly celebrated at three o'clock yesterday, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe. The couple were unattended.

The bride's dress was of crepe de chine trimmed with lace and the ceremony was performed under a floral arch in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe were the recipients of many costly presents, and left per 5.10 C.P.R. tram for their honeymoon, and after for Saskatchewan.

REPRESENTATIVES ON QUARTERLY BOARD.

Charlotte Street Church Elected men to Govern Church Affairs.

At the congregational meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist church held last night the following gentlemen were elected as representatives to the Quarterly Board, for the year 1904: A. B. Cunningham, Jas. MacCreary, Geo. Minorgan, Jos. Forster, W. F. Adamson, J. L. Hughes and Dr. Jeffs.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO MR. ALEXANDER.

An Electric Light Bulb Broke in his Face, Nearly Blinding Him.

Mr. Pennington Alexander, of the electrical contracting firm of Alexander & Miller, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday, while he was at work in All Saint's church. Mr. Alexander, with an assistant, was working in the attic stringing wires, and was using a small incandescent lamp. In some manner the cord to which the lamp was attached was disturbed, throwing the bulb against a beam, and, breaking into a million pieces near Mr. Alexander's face, a large quantity flew into his eyes, causing great pain, and he feared that his sight would be affected.

Dr. Bradd succeeded in extracting the small pieces of glass, however, and he is now recovering as well as can be expected.

Picton Pirates Met Their Peers Last Night—The Orillia Curlers Highly Spoken Of.

PIRATES DEFEATED BY LOCAL SEPTETTE.

Took Picton Team Into Camp by Score of 13-7.

Game one of the Fastest Seen on Local Ice—Home Team won by a Flying Finish—6 Goals in 5 Minutes.

The Team that Picton says is Best in District.

GOAL,—ROBERT MERCER POINT,—EDWARD HOWELL.
C. POINT,—WILL CAVANAH.
ROVER,—H. ARMSTRONG.
CENTRE,—FRED WHITCROFT.
L. WING,—CHRIS GRAHAM.
R. WING,—ROY ARMSTRONG.

Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team has added another victory to those already secured this season, and that won from the Picton "Pirates" last night was, perhaps, the fastest game ever seen here, and until within about 5 minutes of full time, it was by no means a sure thing for the team. They won, however, by a flying finish and the safe score of 13—7, again demonstrating their ability to play winning hockey, and pull themselves out of a tight place when occasion demands it.

The Pictonites came expecting to repeat the dose they gave the local team in Picton, and that they were unable to do it is not because they did not play good hockey, because it is a fact which must not be lost sight of that Manager Boulter has been able to get together a team which will take second place to but few aggregations in the business. The home team had to go all the time to win, and there were periods in the game when the visiting team was playing the better hockey.

It was an alternation of Peterborough and Picton, with sometimes the former team playing the best game, and other times the latter, and it is taking none of the credit which the winners deserve, to say that notwithstanding the apparently wide margin by which the game was won, they had to work for every inch of the way.

The home team, however, proved that in an emergency they are equal to the occasion, and during the last five minutes rushed in the goals in 1, 2, 3, order, scoring 6 goals in the last five minutes. This was the grandest finish ever seen to a hockey game in the history of Peterborough, and that it pleased the spectators was plain from the thunderous applause which the 2,000 enthusiasts tendered the winning team.

The visitors were clearly out-played during the last part of the game, as they were also in its early stages, while in the first part of the second half the honours were with the Pirates. Manager Boulter, has succeeded in getting together a well balanced team, with one or two men who are a little better than the average Intermediate standard, and last night they played well enough to win from an ordinary team, which, of course, Peterborough's team is not. The visitors played a better game than the public had expected of them, and in order to win, the home team also made a record for itself.

During the second half the winners were playing a handicap game, for Whitcroft was injured as a result of a cross check by Powell in the beginning of the second period, and had to retire from the game. Until his accident "Whitty" was playing a splendid game, breaking through the visitor's defence and scoring apparently at will. Both goal keepers were given abundance of work, and both acquitted themselves with great credit.

Rocque was called upon to stop more shots than Mercer, and at least a score of times he prevented what looked like sure shots from entering the nets. There is no doubt he is a star, but used his stick a little too freely upon the men comprising the opposing team. Referee Elliott was called upon to reprimand him a number of times last night for hitting the Peterborough players. There is no discounting his work in goal, however, and but for his stops the score would have been considerably larger. The Picton forwards have a good system of combination play, which, though not pretty, is exceedingly effective. They shoot fast and accurately, and Mercer was kept pretty busy warding off shots from the stick of Embury, who is undoubtedly the star of the visiting team.

The half time score was 4—2 in favour of the home team, and the game decidedly in their favour, although towards the last part of the first half the Pirates' forwards were getting in some especially nice work. Peterborough ran in four goals in succession before the visitors scored, and it began to look like a walk over, when the Pirates wakened up, and then there was something doing. They ramed in shots like hail on Mercer, who stopped some apparently impossible ones, and saved the net time and again. The local goal keeper deserves great credit for his excellent work last night. While there were not as many shots on his nets as there were on Rocque, he had to stop much harder shots, and a number of times when Embury and Strike had succeeded in passing through the defence with the puck "Bobbie" saved the net by a sensational stop.

The game on the whole was fairly clean, particularly in the first half. In the second period it became somewhat rougher, the visiting team being the chief offenders, and Powell the particular fence adorner. He was sent off repeatedly for cross-checking and tripping, and but for his infringement the game might have been called very clean. Nine Picton men were ruled off: Powell, 5; Seale, 2; Croft, Strike; and four Peterborough men. Chaucer Elliott, who refereed the game, was strict, holding the players down to hockey, and watching off-sides closely. His work was most satisfactory.

It is impossible to particularize on the work of the home team last night. They had to play the best game they have ever played to win, and they did it, and six goals to spare and it is doubtful if in the annals of Canadian hockey such a finish as the home team made last night, has ever been seen. Howell and Cavanah were there with the goods, and broke up some very pretty four man combination rushes, which the Picton forwards have down to a science. Howell scored one of the goals in the first half after a rush, while Cavanah, in addition to playing his position at cover point, took a hand in the forward line in the second half, when the attacking division was minus the services of Whitcroft, and was responsible for some of the scores. His lifts always meant "trouble ahead" for Rocque.

Harold Armstrong played his position as rover, and played it well. During the entire game he played steadily but in the last few minutes he distinguished himself, scoring the last four goals for the winners, and clinching the game for them. Roy Armstrong, on the right wing, played the best game last night that he has put up this season, and got in some of his famous shots, for which his playing is characteristic. He scored on some difficult shots.

On the left Chris. Graham did some splendid work, and played hockey from the drop of the hat. He was always in front of the goal when there was a pass to take. He checked his man closely and was also responsible for a number of scores.

During the summer months of 1903 Manager Boulter had been quietly gathering together a team of puck chasers, and he has no reason to be ashamed of the aggregation which last night represented the Penninsula town. They are not as good a team as Peterborough, and admit it, as true sports will, when they are defeated by a superior team, but for all that the Pirates play a good fast game, and one fast enough to win ordinary games. Peterborough team had to work harder for victory last night than was necessary in the Belleville-Peterborough game here. The work of Rocque in goal has already been mentioned. He has full license to play goal on any team.

The defence is, of course, not equal to that of the home team, although different methods are used, and sometimes methods which do not come within the range of the allowable. This is particularly true of Powell. Croft, at point played a good block game, though he is not in the same class as Howell. Powell is a strong checker, but lacks the speed which Cavanah possesses and which he uses to such good advantage.

MR. JOHN GUTHRIE WAS AN OTONABEE PIONEER.

Died at Noon To-day and will be Buried on Saturday.

The death of John Guthrie occurred about noon to-day at his residence 308 Aylmer street, at the matutre age of 68 years. The deceased was born in Londonderry, Ireland and emigrated to Canada when but a child, three years old. For a time he lived at Quebec, but fifty years ago settled in Otonabee, retiring, however, and moving to Peterborough three years ago. In 1873 he married Miss Mary A. White, who together with five daughters remain to mourn his sad demise. The names of his children are,—Mrs. Fawcett, Annie, Etta, Violet and Mary.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Sewing.

A competent dressmaker is open for engagements to sew at home or go out by the day. Apply at 100 McDonel street. 2421-3543

AN OLD SETTLER OF SMITH DECEASED.

Mr. W. H Steadman Died This Morning After Months of Illness.

After suffering for some months with a stomach trouble, Robert Steadman, aged 66 years, died at his residence, Communication Road, Smith, this morning at 9 o'clock.

The late Mr. Steadman has been a resident of Smith for 20 years, during which time he has carried on the business of market gardening, being about a mile and a half from Peterborough. He came from Yorkshire, England, and married the daughter of the late Christopher Butler, who survives him. There was no family.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery.

EARLY DEATH OF BELLA POLLOCK.

Her Demise Occurred Last Night at the Age of 22 Years.

After a lengthy illness, Miss Bella Pollock, fifth daughter of Robert and Agnes Pollock, died at her father's residence, fifth ward, last night, at 11 o'clock. The deceased young lady was but 22 years of age, and her untimely death will cause genuine sorrow to the circle of friends by whom she made herself beloved by her sunny manner and kindly disposition.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

GREAT BENEFITS OF COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

Lady Minto's Scheme Should be Heartily Supported.

People living in Peterborough can have some idea of what it would be to live in Nipissing, in New Ontario, in Manitoba or in Alberta without the possibility of help in time of sickness. If we had no doctors, no nurses and no chemists' shops we should be no worse of than these places are at present without a nursing centre of any sort. On the other hand what joy it must bring to the mother of a large family in these remote districts when she is told that the march of civilization is passing so close to her that a hospital is to be established within reach. The dread of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and of the many terrors of childhood, loses half its intensity when parents know that a nurse may be obtained for the asking (in case of poverty) to relieve the tired mother, or that the hospital will relieve them of quarantee and the fear of further infection in the family. Peterborough has done nothing for this work. Will you not buy a ticket for the concert in aid of it on February 2nd in the Market Hall? Ask your doctor what he thinks of it.

A Musical Event.

On the 10th, 11th and 13th of Feb. the Mendelssohn Male Choir, of 400 voices, will give concerts in the Massey Music Hall, Toronto, and the singers of Peterborough are proposing to run an excursion to Toronto to afford those who may wish to hear this great musical organization, an opportunity of doing so. The return fare will be $2.05, and in order to guarantee its success at least 100 must take advantage of it. Mr. Mulligan and Mr Jas. Edgcumbe would be glad to have the names of those who intend going, so that they may give the railway company the necessary guarantee.

Auction Sale.

To-morrow afternoon Mr. John Haggart will sell by public auction at Fleming Terrace, the household furniture and piano of Mr W. H. Rackham. The sale will commence at one o'clock, and the early buyers will likely get some snaps. The furniture is all in good condition, and will be sold without reserve.

GOUGH'S "GOOD-BYE" SALE.

The stars of the forward line were Strike and Embury, the latter doing good work fully equal to anything seen on local ice this season. He scored nearly all the goals credited to the Pirates, and without him, the the forward line would be weak.

Seale and Gerow, the latter one of the two home brews on the team, are close checkers and work well in combination, their individual work, however, is not up to the standard of that of Embury. Picton's chief strength was in their combination work, which at times was most efficeint, and included all the forward line. The team has no reason to be ashamed of the showing made last night, and there are many who are willing to believe that Belleville will meet its Waterloo to-morrow night when the Pirates play in the Bay City.

Following is the line up:—

The home team rushed matters early in the game, scoring four goals in quick succession before the visitors succeeded in getting one past Mercer. Whitcroft scored the first two goals in 2 and 4 minutes respectively by some clever play, working right in through the defence. Chris Graham had the honour of putting in the third in one minute. Play continued for six minutes when Howell by a beautiful rush the length of the ice placed one squarely in the net, making the score 4—0, and the home team the aggressor. Picton then took a freeze, and in 5 minutes

SKATES AND SKATERS

SKATES OF DAYS GONE BY—TYPES OF MODERN SKATES.

The Knife-Edged Steel Runner of To-day Had Its Genesis in a Crude Piece of Bone—Invention of the Clamp—Evolution in the Goods Required by the Devotee of the Ice.

Skating as a competitive sport or as a mere go-as-you-please pastime is always popular. There is never a time when the long winter days have swung round that young Canada (and old Canada, too) is not anxious to go out on lakes, ponds and rivers to glide here and there on the glistening steel blades. The great popularity of ice sports, in fact, has made the manufacture of skates a prominent line of business which has earned fortunes.

The development of the skate from a piece of crude bone tied to the shoe to the superb sharp edged steel runner of to-day has been a gradual process and one interesting in the extreme. To do it justice would require nothing short of a book.

Skating, say the men who deal in skates and skating shoes, tippets and other things which skaters require, has taken a decided upward turn in the last few years. There has been a greater demand for skating goods since 1895 than ever before, and the dealers are rubbing their hands with satisfaction as they look forward to weeks of zero weather. Skates were never before so cheap. Fifteen years ago the boy who had a pair of "club" skates, which fastened with the magic clamp and had none of the heartbreaks of heel plates and toe straps, was looked upon with veneration and awe by his comrades. The skates came high, and most of the boys had to content themselves with looking at them through the windows of the stores. Now the strap skate is long since banished, and the "full club" skate can be bought for 25 cents a pair. Of course the dealers do not recommend the quarter skates to be full tempered steel, but they have the patent attachement for heel and toe, and that satisies the average small boy.

SKATES OF DAYS GONE BY.

This year the sporting goods houses are showing a more complete line of the so called racing skates than ever before. Year after year those who go in for the sport have observed that the fast fellows, the racers who break records, wore long, thin bladed skates, some running as high as eighteen or twenty inches in length. These were gradually taken up by the skaters who had no desire to go out after records, but who wanted to be in the swim, and now they are quite the thing. Most of them have the old fashioned wooden foot plate, and many of them fasten with straps, as do the skates of the little boys in Holland. The old wooden "rocker" skate is even seen in the displays and stands the test of years very well in competition with the swell looking etched steel skates of later pattern.

Those estimable persons who cling to the practice of beginning at the beginning and who love to dive into the origin of things are pleased to derive the modern ice skate from the ancient Scandinavian snowshoe, composed of two long strips of wood nearly resembling in form the runners of a modern sleigh. Transferred frym snow to polished ice, they have grown closer and closer together. By turns bone has been substituted for wood and iron for bone until at last the widely separated wooden runners have fused into a single skate iron, which, by the way, is made of steel.

Roach Smith exhibited to the London Society of Antiquaries in 1841 a specimen of an ancient skate formed of the bone of some animal, presumably a deer, which had been worn smooth on one side from friction. There was a hole at one extremity for a cord by which to fasten it to the foot. A cavity drilled horizontally at the other end to a depth of three inches might have been used to receive a plug with another cord to secure it more effectually. There is no way of telling to what age or people these belong or whether they were made before or after the introduction of iron.

Inventors were a long time perfecting a skate that was really a comfort to us, even after the introduction of single steel blades, and the devotee of this royal outdoor sport who is used to clamping on his skates with a single movement doesn't know how lucky he is that he wasn't born fifty years ago until he looks back over the old styles or resurrects a pair of antemediaeval skates and attempts to fit them to his feet. They were not all alike. There were almost as many styles from which to select as there are now, but most of them were fitted with a half dozen straps which crossed and recrossed the foot like the fastenings of an old time sandal and which never failed to stop the circulation of the blood, not to say anything about the wear and tear on patience in keeping them tight enough to prevent the skate turning and giving the wearer's vanity a bump.

The first clamp skate made its appearance in 1858, but it didn't create any great stir among the straps and wooden plugs then used as fastenings. The blade of this skate took on a more modern shape, and the rest for the foot was, for the first time, made entirely of metal. A pocket at the front end, in which the toe of the shoe was inserted, formed the only fastening for the front, while the screw clamp at the heel pressed the foot forward and held the back of the skate in position.

It is generally believed that roller skates are a recent invention, but more than 130 years ago there were attempts made to ignore King Frost and skate on boards.

The first effort of this kind was by Joseph Mertin, a native of the city of Huy, Belgium. He went to England with the Spanish ambassador in 1760. It is related of him that at one time he put on these skates, took a violin and attended a masquerade. The skates, which were not made to turn and had no contrivance by which they could be stopped, got contrary during the evening and ran him through a mirror costing £100, smashing the violin and wounding him severely.

In 1819 roller skates were brought to the attention of the public through the patent office.

NEW SENSATIONS IN MEDICAL WORLD

Collingwood Bright's Disease Cure Brings to Light Others Equally Wonderful.

Mrs. Fred Philip, of Eglinton, Tells of Her Remarkable Experience.

Toronto, Jan. 27. — (Special.) — The report from Collingwood of the wonderful cure of Mrs. Thos. Adams of Bright's Disease, by Dodd's Kidney Pills has aroused great interest here and the discussion of it has brought out the fact that Mrs. Adams' case is not an isolated one, that right in Toronto there are people, who, suffering from the most dreaded and fatal of Kidney Diseases have found a positive and permanent cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

One of the most striking cases that has been brought to light is that of Mrs. Fred Philip, now residing on Broadway avenue, Eglinton, one of the northern suburbs of the city. That Mrs. Philip was suffering from Bright's Disease and was in a most dangerous state there is not a shadow of doubt. She was in two city hospitals, Grace and the General, and left both places without a hope for the future.

IN THE HOSPITALS.

In Grace Hospital the doctors wished to operate on her but she objected, and leaving the hospital called in another doctor. He told her at once that she had Bright's Disease, and had her removed to the General Hospital. The doctors there demurred to an operation on account of the danger.

On being discharged a second time without any benefit, Mrs. Philip stopped the doctors and started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. The result is that to-day all the terrible swelling is gone, she is able to do all her own work as well as look after her bright little four year old child.

In an interview Mrs. Philip spoke freely of her terrible trouble and gave unstinted praise to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MRS. PHILIP'S STORY.

"I was sick for six months," she said, before taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. During that time I was six weeks in Gracey Hospital and two months in the General Hospital. I was told in both places that nothing more could be done for me. I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills in April and am still using them. They have done me a world of good. The Dropsy has all left me and I am now doing all my own work just the same as I was before I was sick."

The talk these cases has caused has also served to show how general the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills has become and how numerous are the cures effected of Pain in the Back, Rheumatism, Dropsy, and all the other results of Diseased Kidneys. In fact, cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills can be found by the hundred, but a case in which they have failed to cure has yet to be reported.

The Whole Thing.

"I suppose," said the absconding cashier to the friend who had run across him in parts unknown, "that there was a good deal of talk about me after I disappeared?"

"I should think there was!" answered the friend. "Why, man, the weather wasn't mentioned at all for two weeks."

Helping Out the Supply.

Magistrate—So you admit having been engaged in making counterfeit money?

Prisoner—Yes, your honor. You see, the supply of the genuine article is so very, very short!

Don't hang a dismal picture on the wall, and don't daub with sable and gloom your conversation.—Emerson.

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B B B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

The Offending Handkerchief.

It is in fact a grave sanitary question whether the handkerchief does not do more harm than good as it is ordinarily used. When we assume that the nose does not need to be wiped, we face a reasonably broad proposition as to the danger of the handkerchief as a disease propagator. Most nasal catarrhs are of an infectious character, notably those of grip origin.

Contrary to a general law of asepsis, the handkerchief saturated with disease germs, instead of being promptly washed, is stowed for hours in the pocket, with a result that can be easily imagined. Is it any wonder then that catafrh is constantly fostered by a system of auto infection?

Would Win Either Way.

"Would you still want me to be your wife if my father was a poor man?" asked the beautiful heiress.

"Yes," the duke replied after a little pause. "In that case I would be enough of a curiosity to get rich exhibiting myself."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Arithmetical Wonder.

If twelve persons were to agree to dine together every day, but never sit exactly in the same order around the table, it would take them 13,000,000 years at the rate of one dinner a day, and they would have to eat more than 479,000,000 dinners before they could get through all the possible arrangements in which they could place themselves. A has only 1 change; A, B, 2; A, B, C, 6; four letters, 24; five, 120; six, 720; seven, 5,040; eight, 40,320; nine, 362,800; ten, 3,628,800; eleven, 39,916,800; twelve, 479,001,600.

A Mean Dig.

Mrs. Bragg—I gave quite a nice little luncheon the other day. Didn't Mrs. Jenkins tell you?

Mrs. Sly—No.

Mrs. Bragg—Strange! Why, she was one of my guests.

Mrs. Sly—Yes, she told me that.

Accurate Painters.

The famous Tintoretto, in a painting of the Israelites gathering manna, showed them armed with guns, and a latter day Neapolitan artist has depicted the holy family crossing the Nile, in their flight into Egypt, in a magnificently ornamented barge.

The Doctor's Expectation.

Friend—I'm glad to see you so much better, old man. Does the doctor expect you to be out soon?

Invalid—Well, I think he expects me soon to be out the amount of his bill. He sent it in today.—Exchange.

When a clumsy man has stepped on a lady's trailing skirt, before he begins to apologise he should always get off the skirt.

Queer Ways of Painting.

The ladies of Arabia stain their fingers and toes red, their eyebrows black and their lips blue. In Persia they paint a black streak around their eyes and ornament their faces with representations of various figures.

HERBERT SPENCER.

He Was a Great Phrase Maker and Had Some Odd Ways.

Herbert Spencer was no linguist. Because of eye strain which affected his health he did not even know German. His pamphlet on education was, however, translated into fifteen languages, including Japanese.

Spencer was a great phrase maker. It was he who popularized the word "evolution" and explained one of the phases of the Darwinian doctrine as "the survival of the fittest." He also introduced Comte's coined word "sociology."

He was a bachelor and long lived in boarding houses. Finally he set up an establishment of his own, where he could have about him people of his own choosing. A favorite relaxation in his later years was to sit in the open doorway of his house and listen to a piano played in a distant apartment. He had the player trained. A thump of his stick was the signal for her to stop, another thump for the music to proceed where it broke off.

Spencer was fond of playing billiards. Once at Brighton he invited a smart youth to a game. The philosopher had four strokes and scored two while the youth ran out. Mr. Spencer put away his cue with deliberation and said to his opponent: "A moderate degree of expertness in a game of skill is agreeable and even creditable. Such dexterity as you show is evidence of a misspent youth. Good afternoon."

Loaded With Money.

Sir Samuel Baker once had a thrilling adventure with an African buffalo bull which he discovered standing in the shallows of a small lake. He fired two bullets without effect, and the animal charged. Sir Samuel had no ammunition left; but, luckily, the bull halted to stare at him. "Suddenly a bright thought flashed through my mind," says Baker. "Without taking my eye off the animal before me, I put a double charge of powder into the right hand barrel, and, tearing off a piece of my shirt, I took all the money from my pouch, 3 shillings in sixpences and 2 anna pieces. Making them into a rouleau with the piece of rag, I rammed them down the barrel. They were hardly home before the bull sprang forward. The horns were lowered, with their points on either side of me and the muzzle barely touching his forehead, when I pulled the trigger, and 3 shillings' worth of small change rattled into his hard head. Down he went and rolled over with the suddenly checked momentum of his charge."

It Is the Poison That Causes Pain

The Poisonous Waste Matter is Removed by the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels When These are Kept Healthy by

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The kidneys, liver and bowels are known as excretory organs, because it is their mission to cast out of the body the poisonous waste material, which would otherwise poison the system, cause pains and aches and give rise to deadly disease.

Because of their direct and specific action on each of these organs, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are wonderfully successful in overcoming pain and in thoroughly eradicating from the system the very cause of serious and painful ailments.

Once the bowels are regular and the kidneys and liver active in filtering the waste material from the blood good health and proper working of the bodily organs are assured. seems useless to experiment with new-fangled medicines, which are only intended to afford relief, when you can be thoroughly cured and the cause of your troubles removed by Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomachic troubles and terrible headaches, and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with most satisfactory results as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 8

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

IN THE STORM'S VOICE

By A. S. Richardson

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"Tommy, this is the fourth time in ten days, and you promised to behave if Nell let you come!"

"But I couldn't help it this time, dear. It just slipped out." Then, in wheedling tones, he added, "Besides, this is the day for declarations."

"Of independence," interrupted Harriet ruthlessly. "And your declaration calls for independence. I should be dependent upon you for everything—the roof over my head, the food on the table, the furbelows on my back, even my happiness"—

"And would it be so hard, little girl, to accept them? Why, I have dreamed of nothing else for years but giving you all these—and more. I am willing to take my chances of drawing big dividends in happiness"—

"Men are born gamblers," replied Harriet, with her big brown eyes fixed on the line where blue water and bluer sky met in rippling kisses. Tom sat up very straight and dug the toe of his tennis shoe viciously into the stony walk.

"Of course you are not taking any chances in going on the stage. You are going to be a star inside of a year, just because the man to whom you've been paying good money says you are his most promising pupil"—

"I think that will do, Tommy. I really didn't know you could be so rude."

Harriet had risen and was dusting off her linen skirt with elaborate care. Tom was on his feet in an instant.

"Forgive me, dear, but you can't understand how I feel when I think that in less than a short month you will pass out of my life, perhaps forever, and if you do come back that you will not be just the same girl, but one imbittered by hard experience. Hattie, do you think any audience will ever listen to the music of your voice and hang on every word as I do? And the critics, they will say things that will hurt and cut you, and I—I won't be able to punch their heads off! Oh, if you only could"—

"But I can't. And I think it is very horrid of you to spoil my vacation by crying for the moon, for that is what you are doing when you ask me to give up my career."

Harriet swept across the porch and into the house. Tom pulled his cap far down over his eyes and plunged into the tangle of laurel which screened the house on the right. He was perfectly aware that he had bungled the morning's conversation and lost the coveted opportunity involved in a long three hours of Harriet's exclusive company. The rest of the house party had gone across the lake by boat to participate in a good old fashioned up state celebration of Independence day, but Harriet had begged off on the plea that she needed a day of absolute quiet to get up in a new role. Tom knew better. It was because she hated firecrackers, cannon and firearms generally. He had smiled grimly when he heard her excuse, wondering what she would do when her dramatic career cast melodrama her way.

And Tom had stayed behind because, as he informed Mrs. Walton, Harriet's sister, a cottage in the heart of the Adirondacks was no place for a young woman to be all alone. Mrs. Walton knew better also, but she held her peace. If only Tom would improve those golden morning hours! Dear knows, the whole family was opposed to this silly notion of Harriet's.

While Tom smoked and shied pebbles at unoffending birds and insects Harriet sat in her room looking over some photographs which had arrived in the last mail. She had ordered them for the manager whose company she was to join in August for a road tour. There were her "Lady of Lyons" costume worn at the last school review and one as Juliet and a head clouded in tulle, to say nothing of half a dozen less striking poses. With a hand that was quite firm and determined she indorsed the pictures, "Yours faithfully, Harriet Wentworth." She would play under her own name. There was nothing to be ashamed of.

She was going to be very happy. Of course it would be hard at first, because some of the fellow players to whom she had been introduced before leaving town were a bit plebeian. But all professions had their drawbacks. And at last her life of dependence would be over. Mrs. Walton had been kind and her husband even more kind. They had not said one word when Harriet took the last dollar of her little inheritance to pay for a term's tuition at a well advertised dramatic school.

"Independence!" She had hungered for it ever since she could remember. And now, in a few brief weeks, she would be mistress of the situation—quite capable of taking care of herself.

An hour of hard study on the role of Amy Leighton "who is always misunderstood," as the playbills would read, a brief respite at the luncheon table, where personalities were carefully avoided, and she was back in her room. But somehow she could not study. She suddenly recalled that Tom had only two weeks' vacation, that this was the biggest holiday of the year, and he had given up the jaunt with other members of the house party. Why? Because she was afraid to go. She hated the long ride on the water—she had always been afraid of boating—and she hated the noise of a country celebration. And Tom loved it all.

She lay on her couch trying to study, but her thoughts reverted unpleasantly and persistently to Tom—Tom who had carried her books and her lunch to school, who had fought for her and fetched and carried for her ever since she could remember. But of course there might be another Tom on the road. If not—well, her art would comfort her.

The room was suddenly shrouded in gloom, and from the distance came the mutter of thunder. Ah, that was why she could not study! Electricity in the air always unnerved her. It was merely a case of depression.

She closed her window, then passed rapidly from room to room, closing doors and windows and busying herself in sheer desperation, for an electrical storm in the Adirondacks is no trifling matter. Down came the darkness like a mighty pall, and with hands that trembled she lighted the sitting room lamp. Surely Tom would come in a few moments if he could find his way through the blackness outdoors. A flash of lightning played on the window, and she jerked down the shade. With the thunder there boomed another crashing sound, and a forest monarch lay prone on the lake's edge. Another crash and another, with the wind whistling and howling a minor accompaniment to the thunder. Harriet lay face downward on the wicker couch, her head buried in pillows. In the inky blackness of the entry stood Tom, his face grim and set, his arms crossed over his chest. Suddenly there came a pause, one of those awful, portentous pauses that presage an exceptional burst of fury. On the ominous silence rang a trembling voice: "Tom, where are you? Why don't you come?"

He reached her side just as the yellow blue light of the bolt seemed to envelop the entire cottage. When it was over Tom was holding a limp, unconscious form tight to his heart.

"It's all over, little girl. It was just a tree or something that was struck. There can't be another crash like that. Look at me, dear; it's Tom. I'm with you."

* * * * * * *

Mr. Walton was smoking his postprandial cigar two nights later in a peaceful frame of mind on the widest hammock the porch afforded. His wife was talking in an undertone.

"Well, thank heavens, Hattie has given it up for good. I think it was that bit of scandal about the manager's being divorced and marrying his leading man's wife. Such a tangle!"

"I don't believe it was anything of the sort. It was that storm."

"Nonsense. How do you know?"

"Tom."

And Mr. Walton lighted a fresh cigar and rolled over to watch the figures of a man and a tall, slender girl disappearing in the direction of the lake.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Love is sometimes a hard taskmaster. He drives women to tasks beyond their strength and lays heavy burdens on their shoulders. Love of husband, love of family, forces many a woman day by day to labor for the home when aching back and throbbing head make her utterly unfit for household duties.

Weak, nervous women who suffer from headache, backache, bearing-down pains and other consequences of womanly disease, can be completely cured by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"About two years ago I was taken sick and it seemed as if I had no nerves at all," writes Mrs. P. Woodbeck, of Delray, Mich. "Could not work an hour in the day without being tired out. I doctored first with one physician, then with another, but did not receive any benefit. One would say one thing and the next something else. I had almost given up when I thought your medicine might help me, so I wrote to you asking what to do. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so and could see a difference right away. I only took four bottles in all and felt better than I had in a long time. Can work all day now and not feel tired as I would in an hour before taking your treatment. I think it is the only medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

THE GOOD OLD CLOCK.

Its Mellow, Friendly Tick an Antidote For Lonesomeness.

"Give me the clock for company," said the observant man, "and you may have all the balance of the inanimate things under the sun, or over it, and I will throw a few of the animals in for good measure. I can conceive of nothing more friendly, more unspeakably comforting, than the mellow tick of the old family clock which towers high on the old fashioned mantel, above the good old open faced fireplace where the embers are dying down and deepening into a bluish melancholy gray late of winter nights. One never feels quite alone as long as one may hear the mellow tick tack of the old family clock, the same sweet mellow cadences which have rung in one's ear from earliest infancy, through all the changes and upheavals of time, down to the present. Other sounds may fall and deepen into the sadder silence of the night's heavy stillness, but the old clock continues to mark the flight of time, and no second may escape without hearing its passing called out dreamily by the faithful clock whose hands have measured already so many days—some bright and full of light and life and promise and sweet bodings of the future and others echoing back sepulchrally from the years already counted. Ah, the clock! But give me the clock with its ticking all through the night, and its silvery chiming on the hour, and you may have the other things, and the dog to boot. I'll take the clock in mine every time when it comes to keeping off that feeling of lonesomeness which creeps upon us now and then."

Reflections About Lawyers.

When Peter the Great visited London in 1698 he was shown Westminster hall. He asked who all those busy people were in black gowns and flowing wigs. He was answered, "They are lawyers, sir." "Lawyers?" said he, much astonished. "I have but two in my whole dominions, and I believe I shall hang one of them the moment I get home."

When, in 1558, a lawyer tried to settle in the Isle of Wight, he was hounded out of the place, with a pound of candles hanging at his side, all alight, and with bells about his legs.

In 1807 "a book about lawyers" was written by John Cordy Jeaffreson, who declared: "Sweep away the lawyers, and forthwith there would be an end of triumphant roguery. The lawyer is the typical knave, the arch villain, the perjured monster, the heartless demon of our social system." As "the greatest scoundrel unhung, long since consigned by the unanimous but impotent wishes of his fellow countrymen to endless perdition"—

No wonder that "Death to thieves!" was the cry of the mob as they ransacked the house of Lord Mansfield. Yet solicitors, at any rate, do not always grow rich, and there is truth in Sydney Smith's remark that "it is not in every man's power to say, 'I will be a great and successful lawyer,' but it is in every man's power to say that he will be an honest man."

We earnestly hope that all lawyers who read these lines will do their best to be honest, whatever may be the difficulties in their path.—London News.

Wren's Dwelling.

The great Wren was appointed surveyor general and principal architect of the new London which rose out of the ashes and would have built a city of magnificent distances, worthy of the opportunity, if the citizens had not struck out for their private rights and fancies. The result was another maze of streets, above whose heads, however, loomed the wonderful dome of St. Paul's and the host of spires and towers which to this day soothe many a weary eye by their manifold beauties. Parallel with Pudding lane, now given up to the fishes, runs another beetling passage called Love lane. It is so narrow that you can almost step across it. It curves like the folds of a serpent. In places the houses overhang till their fronts almost touch. It requires some courage to struggle through the throng of porters and fishermen which surges to and fro, but it is worth the pilgrim's trouble, for in the very middle of it is the back of the house in which Wren lived while he was building his churches and laying out the new city. A flight of stone steps protected by rusty iron rails leads up to the massive oak door, now sadly battered, with great pieces chipped out of it, splashed with mud and choked up with the sweepings of ages. It is a melancholy memorial, in much the same case as some relic which we have not the heart to consign to the dust heap.—Pall Mall.

Animals and Eating.

A horse will eat in a year nine times his own weight, a cow nine times, an ox six times and a sheep six times.

Black Diamonds.

Black diamonds are only found in the Brazilian province of Bahia. They are usually found in river beds and are brought up by divers. Others are obtained by tunnelling mountains. The largest specimen ever found was worth $20,000.

Capacity to Carry Weights.

A man of average weight, 140 pounds, can carry a load of 100 pounds up steps for eight hours of a working day at a speed of 1 foot 6 inches a second.

Japanese and Flowers.

The subtleties of the Japanese mind are illustrated in nothing more strikingly than in their rules for the arrangement of flowers. Not only does every flower which a bouquet or a garland contains symbolize something, but its position with regard to other flowers is significant.

February 2, 1903.

I was feeling bad; was sleepy all the time; as soon as I ate my meals I would fall asleep if I did not go out. Saw the doctor two or three times, but that did me no good. I was in the drug store and picked up one of your little booklets and read about Iron-ox Tablets being good for the liver; took about four boxes and that tired feeling was gone. I felt like a new man. Iron-ox Tablets cured me.

"WILL REVOLUTIONIZE CANADA'S COMMERCE"

In the Brooklyn Eagle of January 10th, appeared an illustrated account of considerable length and merit on the Trent Valley Canal, pointing out its advantages, more especially in regard to the fact that this water route will render the Dominion still more independent than ever of the United States commercially. After cleverly describing the route of the canal, the writer continues with: "The premier work is the tremendous hydraulic lift lock at Peterborough. It was this sudden drop along the route that for nearly half a century has stood in the way of the accomplishment of the plan. It is, therefore, around the Peterborough structure that much of the engineering interests rests. Continuing, the article lucidly points out how advantageous to Canada generally the Trent Canal will be.

Gerow scored on a pass. The Pirates were now playing a splendid game, and in 1-2 a minute Gerow again located the nets, making the half time score 4—2.

In the second half Whitcroft again started the scoring, and in 4 minutes sent a hot one which Rocque failed to stop. This finished his work in the game, as shortly after the face-off he was given a cross check and went down, inflicting a rather severe cut over his eye, which put him out of the game, and greatly weakened the local forward line, as he was playing a magnificent game. He followed the puck closely, and was always ready to take a pass, and send it through.

Embury, who had been too closely checked during the first half to get in much work, with Whitcroft off, began to show up, and scored the first goal for the Picton team in the second half in 3 minutes, to offset which Chris. Graham put in a lucky one in one minute, doubling the score. This seemed to put the pirates on their mettle, and they ran in two in succession, the result of some especially good work by Embury. With the score 6—5 the Pirtook fresh hope and it looked as if they might yet win out, but Harold Armstrong had not yet been heard from, and during the next few minutes the complexion of things changconsiderably.

Roy Armstrong started the avalanche by scoring after a period of 12 minutes, and in one minute Chris. Graham put in another on a nicely placed pass from Roy. In 30 seconds Roy repeated the trick. The play had developed into the fastest kind of hockey, and both goals were rushed alternately. Embury scored for the Pirates in 30 seconds, making the score 9—6. The sensation of the night occurred when Harold Armstrong in 1 1-4 minutes scored 3 goals in succession, and clinched the game. Strike then took a hand in the scoring and shot one in in 30 seconds, and Harold Armstrong scored the last goal in one minute, making the final score 13-7.

OFF-SIDES.

The Picton team is highly pleased with their treatment here. The boys say they were used much better than they expected.

After the game the 57th Regiment officers entertained both teams to a smoker given in the mess room.

Picton says Peterborough has the best team in the district. That's manly, and we respect them for it. Of course Peterborough has the best in the district.

Neither team has any reason to be ashamed of its record last night.

The Pirates expect to take the Belleville team into camp to-morrow night. "We don't care if they do."

The "Pea-Canners" are not to be sneezed at.

The crowd was generous last night and the Pirates got a fair share of applause for good plays.

The Grasshopper Club was on deck in good force, and who can tell but that their "yell" helped to win the game. They had the Yale "yell" beaten to death.

The Picton team is staying over here until they go to Belleville to-morrow night. They had a good practice this afternoon in the rink through the kindness of the management.

Mayor Boulton, who is a good sport, accompanied his team, and enjoyed his visit immensely.

The hockey management have come come in for some well merited compliments on their method of handling the large crowd last night.

ANOTHER FAST GAME TO-MORROW NIGHT.

Peterborough II—T. A. S. Contest Creating Considerable Interest.

The Peterborough II and T. A. S. teams will meet for the second time this season to-morrow night, and considerable interest is attaching itself to the game. There will probably be a slight change in the line-up of both teams, the Peterborough II's being chosen from the following:—Wasson, Glover, MacPherson, Ford, Morgan, Cameron, Renton, Lee. The T.A.S. line-up has not been announced yet, but it is probable that one or two changes will be made. Fred McGrath will probably be out of the game with an injured knee. "Reddy" Hynes will referee the game again to-morrow night.

O. H. A. EXECUTIVE MEETS.

Port Hope Wins the Protest Against Cobourg.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the O.H.A. was held Tuesday night in the Telegram Building, with Vice-President Francis Nelson in the chair. The other members present were: Secretary W. A. Hewitt, J. A. Washburn, Treasurer A. W. McPherson; E. Guss Porter and H. D. Jamieson.

The protest of the Port Hope team against Cobourg was allowed. It was decided that Edward C. Moffatt was not eligible to play, as he was over age, but in view of the fact that Bentley's mother had taken a declaration that he was under age, Cobourg had played him in good faith. The game was ordered to be replayed at Port Hope Monday night. In the meantime Arthur C. Bentley must satisfy the O. H. A. that he is eligible to play.

PUCKERINGS.

JUNIORS AT PORT HOPE.

To-morrow night, the Junior team will go to Port Hope to play the last game in the first round of the series. The team will be:—Gale, VanEvory; point, Moore; cover point, Parker, (Capt.); forwards, Hall, Long, Kennedy, Smith. Captain Parker is confident of being able to give the Port Hope a dose of the same medicine they gave Belleville.

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice in your issue of Saturday a "defy" from the Fire Brigade hockey septette and on behalf of the 57th Band Team I have much pleasure in picking up the gauntlet so insolently thrown down. This challenge, however, is accepted subject to the following considerations: 1st, the match is to be for the championship of the market square; 2nd, a side bet of $100, to be covered the day before the struggle.

Yours Truly,
Captain, 57th Stars.

• • • •

Mr. Editor,—We regret very much that the Central Milling Co. are unable to meet us in a friendly game of hockey, but we are glad to hear there is other sport they are prepared to contest and we hereby accept their challenge to a tug-of-war, the date to be mutually arranged. Thanking you for your valuable space, we remain,

Yours Truly,
McALLISTER MILLING Co.

LADY MINTO'S INTEREST IN HOSPITAL RETURN.

Cannot Attend Concert but Pleased at Interest Shown Here.

Lady Minto has written Mrs. McAllister as follow:—

"Owing to my many engagements it is impossable to accept your invitations for Feb. 2nd, but hope you will have every success and be able to add something substantial to the fund."

It is now for the people of Peterborough to do this. Another check of $25 has been received by Mrs. McAllister who hopes to have some more contributions before sending the list to Her Excellency, the middle of the month. Buy your tickets early and be able to mark them before the rush. Plan opens Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

PARTNERSHIP

FORMED IN

The Fur Business

A partnership having been arranged between Mr. Ed. Hyland and the undersigned to take effect about the beginning of March next, our stock will have to be reduced to a certain stated amount before same can be effected. This means a turning into cash at once of about $25,000 worth of Manufactured Furs, Skins and Men's Hats and Furnishings.

Our present stock, totalling nearly $45,000, must be reduced to $20,000 before beginning of March. The next five weeks will consequently see some remarkable price offerings in Fur Goods, Hats and Men's Furnishings.

This sale being forced at a time when furs of all kinds have been ruling higher than ever before and no prospects for some years of prices being lower as far as the raw fur skin market reports, justify one in forming an opinion, gives the people of Peterborough and vicinity an opportunity to buy their fur wants for next season as well as the present time at old time prices that ruled years ago.

The following is a partial list of the Furs we offer and it gives an idea of the very special values presented in this sale.

You will note in many cases goods are offered less than cost of manufacture.

FINANCE MINISTER OF COUNTY COUNCIL.

A Good Choice Made in the Person of Mr. T. M. Hunter.

The appointment of Mr. T. M. Hunter to the chairmanship of the Finance Committee in the County Council, is one which the Council showed wisdom in making. Mr. Hunter during the time in which he has held the office of County Councillor, has made himself thoroughly conversant with the matters of importance in the county, and is eminently fitted to fill with efficiency the important position to which the votes of his fellow members have placed him. He has developed a good grasp of the county's finances, and should make a good record during the year.

Carefulness and a thorough performance of all duties which have been entrusted to him, have characterised his actions so far in the council, and there is every reason to believe that in the more responsible position which he now fills, the same qualities will be brought into requisition.

Go with the Curlers to Toronto on Tuesday, Feb. 2nd, special excursion by C. P. R., leaving Peterborough at 8 a. m., good for two days, returning on any regular train. Fare for round trip $2.05.

The Fire Sale

At The Metropole

We must move out to let the landlord in.

Few of the goods are hurt—only tumbled about during the excitement of the fire. The greater part is not even soiled, nor are they shopworn because the whole stock was all new. But a big slashing cut has been made in every price to make the sweeping clearance a quick and decisive one! Come quick and help yourself to the bargains.

EVERYTHING RUSHED

During this the Closing Week of Our

Dissolution Sale

Never have the women of Peterborough and other large buyers responded so universally to any special event announced by this store. We hardly dared expect such a stupendous volume of patronage, which has so forcibly expressed the people's appreciation of our methods.

A flood-tide of Bargains still await buyers during this, the Best Week of Our Dissolution Sale. Stock must be reduced to proper proportions before our Annual Inventory begins next week.

Everything will be rushed this week—eclipsing every record that is worth a mention or comparison. The Golden Lion will be a Dispensary of a list of good things in DRESS GOODS AND SILKS, SUITS AND CLOAKS, WALKING SKIRTS, TABLE LINENS, WASH GOODS, NECK RIBBONS, ETC. Savings will flow from every counter and every section.

Piles of Snowy Whitewear Melt Away.

All records for first day's selling were broken since then, and yet we make a showing almost equal to the display with which the sale began. The public demands it and we have simply provided for it to meet their wishes. Sharper Reductions are now offered—Qualities are even better and prices lower, even though Cottons are higher. No rumpled or mussed sorts in the whole collection.

Here's a list worth crowing about:—

THE CONTROLLERS JOINED.

Judge Winchester Grants Orders in the Quo Warranto Proceedings.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The municipal scandal continues to retain sensational interest. The granting of orders by Judge Winchester against all the controllers to show cause why they should not be unseated on quo warranto proceedings, the discovery of startling irregularities in the tenth sub-division of Ward 5 ballots for controllers, the formal announcement of the authorities that new and direct evidence locating the responsibility for the crooked work had been placed in possession of the Crown, and the selection of Crown Attorney Curry by W. R. Riddell, K.C., as associate counsel in the civic investigation, were some of the factors in stimulating public concern in the situation yesterday. The trial of Samuel Thompson, D.R.O., will begin this morning, on a new charge of ballot frauds and conspiracy to commit frauds while deputy returning officer.

Fire Does $2,000,000 Damage.

Mexico City, Jan. 29.—A great fire at Progreso, the chief port of Yucatan, has destroyed an entire square of business houses and public buildings, including the market. The loss is put at $2,000,000. The public buildings were not insured and the loss on them is estimated at $300,000.

SUTCLIFFE'S CLOSE THEIR STORE AT 9 P. M. ON SATURDAYS

has attracted marked attention and caused enthusiastic complimentary remarks—not by one particular class of people, but by representative people of all classes. We dislike egotistical remarks and realize that the foregoing is unnecessary to those who have wandered admiringly through our display—but to those who have not yet become acquainted with the Amazing Variety, Superb Qualities, and the evident "under-reasonable" prices, we think the above representation only fair—fair to those who run the chance of overlooking the opportunity—fair to the store that deserves these pleasant encomiums.

Quality and Style

have always been the watchword of this store's Whitewear selection—but these do not necessarily mean high priced Whitewear. Big buying regulates that and this store's selling capacity enables us to buy largely—sufficiently large to have the best Whitewear makers confine their lines to us in Peterborough. "The Dorothy", a particularly dainty Corset Cover, bound to fit, was confined to us in Peterborough. Why? Because we purchased over 1,200 Covers in 4 styles alone. This style has been sufficiently good for two other stores in Peterborough to use the name—but the "Dorothy" description does not tally with "Dorothy" Covers. A comparison of them would prove it. The "Dorothy" is obtainable only at Sutcliffe & Sons'. As regards Quality comparison—that's out of the question. There are none "just as good". We are perfectly safe in asserting such. A look through will please you and gratify us.

J. SUTCLIFFE & SONS,

WHITEWEAR SPECIALISTS.

$570,000 IS VOTED

Opposition Makes No Objection to Passing Supply.

CAMERON'S GREAT SPEECH

Causes Perturbation in the Ranks of the Opposition—North Renfrew Point Is to Be Considered—Mr. Thompson's Strong Argument on Prosperity of the Province—Mr. Mahaffy's Maiden Speech.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The Legislature passed an interim supply vote yesterday for $570,000. The motion was introduced by the Premier. Mr. Whitney offered no objection.

Mr. M. G. Cameron concluded his speech in the debate on the address, and was warmly applauded and congratulated by the Premier and many of his colleagues for his effort. After his argument of the previous day in regard to the North Renfrew vacancy the members attended the House in large numbers, expecting to hear a continuation as able as the commencement. They were not disappointed. Mr. Cameron claimed that the Opposition were to blame—if their contention was right that the vacancy in North Renfrew could have been filled, before the House met last year—for not giving notice of the vacancy.

Mr. A. A. Mahaffy of Muskoka, made his maiden effort, and impressed the House very favorably. Mr. R. A Thompson (North Wentworth) followed, and pointed out much of which the Government might be proud in its agricultural record. The House adjourned till Monday to allow the members plenty of time to get home by Sunday over the snowbound railways.

When the House opened it was decided on the Premier's motion to extend the time for presenting petitions for private bills until Wednesday, February 10th.

Mr. Cameron's Point.

Mr. Whitney asked if he correctly understood the hon. member for West Huron (Mr. Cameron) to raise a point of order that Mr. Foy's amendment respecting North Renfrew was illegal.

Premier Ross—No.

Mr. Whitney—The hon. gentleman is here; he can speak for himself.

Mr. Cameron—No, I made the statement, which I reassert, that the statement contained in his amendment is not in accordance with the facts.

Mr. Whitney—It is a serious matter, and I would like to know what view the Government takes. It is not a fair thing for the hon. gentleman (Mr. Dunlop) to sit here at a possible penalty of $2,000 a day if he is not entitled to the seat. If it is a mere blank cartridge we should know it.

Not a Blank Cartridge.

Hon. Mr. Ross—It is not a mere blank cartridge. My hon. friend Mr. Cameron deserves the thanks of the House for arguing so effectively and so logically as he did. The action the Government may take in the matter may be announced at a later date. I am not prepared to announce it now. It is an important question, and it is quite within the right of the hon. gentleman to raise the point. The amendment may not be in order, but the right of the hon. member to sit may be another question altogether.

Mr. Whitney—The Government are not prepared to say what action they will take?

Mr. Ross—Not to-day.

Mr. Whitney—It has been left to this late date to a member of the House to inform the Government what the legal position of the matter is.

Mr. Ross—Not by any means. While we had doubts on the question before us, we have heard the argument of a member of the House for the first time. The matter is not closed yet; my hon. friend has not concluded his speech, and perhaps we will hear arguments from the other side which will completely upset this.

Mr. Whitney—I have not said a word other than in commendation of the member for Huron The Government, having charge of this matter, have only now become possessed of the fact that there is a doubt on this question. (Opposition applause.)

NORTH OXFORD ELECTION.

Col. Munro's Majority Officially Declared to Be 977.

Woodstock, Jan. 29. — Sheriff Brady, returning officer for North Oxford, made the following official declaration yesterday afternoon: Munro, 2,842; Butler, 1,865; majority for Munro, 977.

Smallpox in Guelph.

Guelph, Jan. 29.—A student of the O. A. College named Miller has developed what is suspected to be a case of smallpox, of the mild type known as varioloid, and has been removed to St. Roch's Isolation Hospital in Guelph township. The College authorities say it is chicken pox.

Concoction.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Major Maude, military secretary to the Governor-General, stated yesterday morning that somebody must have concocted the story that Lord Minto was going to India and that his successor here would be Lord Dundonald.

CHINA'S INTEGRITY

Russia Will Not Agree to Join With Japan in Its Guarantee.

WAR NOW SEEMS INEVITABLE

Russian Reply Is Courteous But Uncompromising—Not Yet Officially Presented to Japan, But It Has Been Communicated to M. Kurino, Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg—What Japan Will Do.

London, Jan. 29.—The Daily Graphic claims to be able to affirm that Russia's draft of her reply has not yet been officially presented to Japan, but that it has been communicated to M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg, who has transmitted the contents to Tokio, whence it will be conveyed to the friendly powers. The Russian reply is courteous, The Daily Graphic continues, but it refuses in uncompromising terms to permit the re-insertion in the draft of the treaty of the two words guaranteeing the integrity and independence of China upon which Japan insisted in her last note.

The clause proposed by Japan was that Russia and Japan should mutually agree to respect the "integrity and independence of China and Corea." Russia has now stricken out twice the words "China and," and it is understood this will close the negotiations. It is probable, The Daily Graphic goes on, that when this note has been presented Japan will notify Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister at Tokio, that she has no alternative but to take up arms in defence of her interests, and that M. Kurino will be instructed to demand his passports. In the meanwhile instructions have been sent to the two Japanese cruisers at Colombo to proceed to Singapore, where in the event of war being declared their crews will be paid off and the vessels laid up.

ST. JOHN AND QUEBEC.

The Terminal of the Allan Line Under New Contract.

London, Jan. 29.—It is announced here that the Canadian Government has made a contract with the Allan Line of steamers for an improved mail service between Canada and Great Britain to commence next August with the new turbine steamer Victorian, and to be supplemented later with her sister ship the Virginian.

The British terminus of the service will be Moville, Ireland, the year round, while the Canadian terminus will be Quebec in the summer and St. John, N. B., in winter. The steamers Tunisian and Bavarian are to alternate with the turbine steamers.

The schedule time is to be six and one-half days in summer, with seven and one-half days in winter. The subsidy is $10,000 per round trip for the turbine vessels and $5,000 for the slower vessels.

Forsakes 16 to 1.

New York, Jan. 29.—William Jennings Bryan yesterday announced his idea of the paramount issue. It is not gold or silver; it is "Whether or not the money changers shall rule this country." In the face of this issue he is willing that 16 to 1 be relegated to the background.

Sentenced For Stealing Cattle.

London, Jan. 29.—Fred Parsons was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary by Judge Edward Elliot on a charge of cattle stealing. The offence took place two years ago in Caradoc, and four others are now serving terms in prison for it.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S., held its regular fortnightly meeting last night, when a paper on the "Roman Colosseum" was read by Miss Kate McGrath.

The Canadian Government has, it is stated, entered into an agreement with the Allan line for an improved mail service to England. The new turbine steamers will be used on the route.

The great importance to Peterborough of the Trent Valley Canal is being recognized by the public men of the town, and it is probable that some steps will be taken to establish a bureau of publicity.

Mrs. Haskell, Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order Good Templars, of Silver Lake, Mass., tells of her cure by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines and washes internally and externally until I made up my mind that there was no relief for me. Calling at the home of a friend, I noticed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My friend endorsed it highly and I decided to give it a trial to see if it would help me. It took patience and perseverence for I was in bad condition, and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nearly five months before I was cured, but what a change, from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful exhilarating feeling health always brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars, and your Vegetable Compound is a grand medicine.

"I wish every sick woman would try it and be convinced."—MRS. IDA HASKELL, Silver Lake, Mass. Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order of Good Templars.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me"?

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. You have some derangement of the feminine organism, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as surely as it has others.

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain if I had known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a few months sooner, for I tried many remedies without finding anything which helped me before I tried the Vegetable Compound. I dreaded the approach of the menstrual period every month, as it meant much suffering and pain. Some months the flow was very scanty and others it was profuse, but after I had used the Compound for two months I became regular and natural, and so I continued until I felt perfectly well, and the parts were strengthened to perform the work without assistance and pain. I am like a different woman now, where before I did not care to live, and I am pleased to testify as to the good your Vegetable Compound has done for me." Sincerely yours, MRS. TILLIE HART, Larimore, N.D.

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. Women should consider it unwise to use any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass, will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

DIGNITY OF PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE.

Never in the history of representative institutions in this country, has the dignity, and even decency, of parliamentary debate been so disregarded as by the Opposition during the last and present session of the Legislature. Last June Mr. Gamey furnished the cue and outraged every idea of decency and decorous conduct of debate. His malign influence was contagious, and affected his colleagues, who degenerated distinctly in moral fibre, and regard for the amenities of debate. This session the same influence reasserts itself. We had occasion the other day to refer specifically to Mr. Lucas of Centre Grey, and to discuss his flippant and offensively familiar manner of speech. Now, Mr. St. John, of Humber piggery fame, is another offender. His prosiness of inconsequent detail, and exaggeration of argumentative inanities, are essential elements of his oratory, and if wearisome and soporific, are not offensive; but the same cannot be said of his loud, aggressive familiarity towards his fellow members, of his habit of rudely hurling irrelevant and personally directed questions across the floor of the House. So far was he an offender in this direction that the Speaker felt called upon, during the course of Mr. St. John's speech, to read a severe lesson on decorum, and to "lay down the law" in no undecided way, in regard to the necessity of the observance by members of the rules and decencies of debate. The effect was good. Mr. St. John continued his speech with a noticeable improvement in tone and manner. The Speaker cannot, perhaps, entirely absolve himself from responsibility for the necessity of the course he took on Wednesday. Last session with a forbearance dictated no doubt by a desire to be fair, the member for Manitoulin was suffered to transcend in his speech all bounds of decency and parliamentary privilege. In taking this position, the Speaker saved himself from reproach, which might easily have come from from the Opposition, if he had taken a sterner stand, of being unfairly strict, for where judges of the land were violently assailed for doing their duty, the Speaker could not hope to escape indecent criticism for doing his.

Gameyism is on the wane. When the man from Manitoulin, superseded Mr. Whitney as the practical leader of the Conservative party, great things were expected of him. True his charges against the Government last March, which were hailed as an engine for overthrowing the Government and putting the Opposition in power, fell flat and were discredited and disproved, but it was thought and hoped that his employment on the stump to abuse the judges and outrage all sense of decency would have a better result. At first, in Muskoka and North Renfrew there seemed to be some ground for this hope, but North Oxford was a failure. Here Mr. Gamey's peculiar and pernicious habits of speech passed all bounds. In addition to his vulgarly violent and coarse abuse of the judges he invaided the sanctity of private life and uttered the monstrous innuendo that as a reward for services on the commission, the daughter of one of the judges was taken in marriage by a wealthy Liberal. Gamey's campaign in the Conservative interests in North Oxford was a decided detriment to their cause. At Embro where he first spoke, Mr. Pattullo, the Liberal candidate in the general election of 1902, got only 17 votes. At the same place last Tuesday, the Liberal candidate's vote was increased to 108. In Woodstock, a Conservative town, where the Opposition expected, by the help of Gamey and the other machine, to have a majority of 200 or 300, the Conservative candidate only got a majority of 32; and a prominent Woodstock Conservative refers this disastrous result to the disgust and re-action caused by Gamey's unwholesome political presence and outrageous indecency of language. Mr. Whitney will yet repent if he has not begun to do so already, that he took Gamey to his bosom, and practically surrendered the leadership of his party to such a political adventurer. But Mr. Whitney is so anxious to gain office that he seems ready to use any base tool, any insidious instrumentality to compass his ends. The influence of such a man, as Gamey has shown himself to be, employing such indecent methods, as he has employed, can only be temporary. The re-action is bound to come, and the boomerang will recoil on the heads of those who have stooped to use such an odious agency of political advantage.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

The Grand Trunk Pacific is going to be a transcontinental line, says the Montreal Herald. Three members of the Cabinet have within the last couple of days assured the country that the Conservative guesses that the eastern section was to be abandoned are wide of the mark. The original route from the Atlantic is to be followed. The administration believes there can be found to the north of existing railway lines a route through land capable of attracting and sustaining a population which will furnish business for a railway.

Canada is to be given depth and strength by the line, which will double the width of our settled strip along the American border.

The view of the non-partizan public on railroad building was well expressed by Mr. Hodgson, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, yesterday, when he said: "One and all will be glad to note that the Grand Trunk Railway is likely to become an important factor in this direction. Much as we differ in our opinion as to the necessity of this line extending to Moncton, or elsewhere in the east, we cannot but admit that the greater the transportation facilities we enjoy the better for the country's development. It is gratifying to know that our Government seem to be fully alive to the importance of this question, and have appointed a transportation committee to go thoroughly into the matter."

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Harry Elmhirst, we are pleased to report is recovering, though slowly ,from a severe attack of appendicitis.

Miss Ellen Nelson and niece, Miss Jennie, have moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Laing.

The carnival on Friday evening was very much married by the heavy downpour of rain during the day and evening. The following prizes were awarded:

Best fancy dress, lady, Mrs. C. D. Anderson.

Best comic dress, lady, Miss Maud Campbell.

Best fancy dress, girl, Miss Margaret Walsh.

Best comic dress, girl, Miss Mabel McCann.

Best fancy dress, gentleman, Mr. Geo. Fife.

Best comic dress, gentleman, Mr. Fred Eason.

Best comic dress, boy, Master Tom Campbell.

Mr. Jas. Quinn won the mile race, and Master Leo Walsh, the boys'.

Mr. N. G. Somerville and Mr. J. Burgess will give addresses in the town hall on Monday, February 1st, 7.30 o'clock, on Improvements in Dairying. The topics to be discussed are of special interest to patrons of cheese factories and creameries. Ladies are particularly invited. The addresses will be illustrated with a number of lantern slides.

The greatest hockey match of the season will be played here on Monday night when Peterborough T. V. H. L. team will meet the locals. They have proved themselves a little stronger than the T.A.S. and therefore a very interesting match is looked for.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Rev. Father Phelan spent a few days last week in Toronto.

Miss L. Kearney and M. McAuliey have returned home after an extended visit with friends in Campbellford and Trenton.

Miss Mollie Young is visiting with friends in Peterborough.

Miss Emma Scollard has returned home after spending a few days with friends in Peterborough last week.

The many friends of Mrs. Pete Windsor will be sorry to learn that she is at present dangerously ill.

Mr. Harry Nugent, while engaged in cutting wood the other day, the axe slipped, giving his foot a very severe cut.

Mr. Harry Hockerty's infant child, three weeks of age, died Sunday last. His friends sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

Mr. P. P. Young has given the contract for the building of his new boat to the Burtrim Ship Building Company, of Toronto. Mr. Young expects to have it completed and in good running order as soon as navigation opens or by the first of May. We wish Mr. Young every success with his new steamer.

La grippe has visited our village and quite a number are confined to the house those last few days nursing a cold.

Barbarous Surgical Operation.

For the Cure of Piles.

Is not only intensely painful, dangerous to life and very expensive, but in the light of modern medical research, and since the discovery of the Pyramid Pile Cure, wholly unnecessary. If you have any doubt on this point kindly read the following letter from one who knows that the claims regarding the merits of the Pyramid Pile Cure are borne out by facts.

"For a long time I suffered with blind piles. They gave me so much pain and uneasiness that they almost disqualified me for doing anything. I saw an ad. in the Atlanta Journal of the Pyramid Pile Cure, and ordered a fifty cent box, and they cured me. Oh, how glad that I am well again!"

"The Pyramids cured me and I am satisfied that they will cure anybody else who is suffering as I was, if they will use them.

"You may use this in any way you see proper if my experience will encourage any sufferer to use your Pyramids, I shall be glad. H. K. Hicks, Calhoun, Ga."

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at fifty cents a package, and its merit is so well known that the sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

MANUFACTURING AND DAIRYING.

The Census Statistics for These Important Branches of Canadian Industry.

Both Give Evidence of Unprecented Prosperity—Butter and Cheese Making Together Rank Third in the Tables of Canadian Manufacturing.

Canadian Manufacturing received an enormous impetus in the years between 1891 and 1901. The census returns show that in the last named year there were 14,650 establishments employing five workers and over, as against 13,679 in 1891. The value of their annual output, moreover, had increased from $368,-156,787 to $481,953,375. There is hardly a branch of this important industry but shows advancement, showing that manufacturers have enjoyed their full share of the benefits flowing from the good times of recent years. It would not look as though any domestic industry was being run off its feet by foreign competition.

The investment in the agricultural industry is set down as $1,787,102,630, of which $1,403,369,501 is given as the value of land and buildings, $108,665,502 as the value of implements, and $275,167,627 as the value of the various lines of production. The value of land crops, animals sold and animal products is given as follows:

Field crops	$194,953,420
Fruits and vegetables	12,994,900
Nursery stock sold in year	489,501
Live stock sold in year	52,755,375
Meats and products of animals slaughtered on farm	22,951,527
Dairy products	66,470,953
Wool	1,387,084
Eggs	10,286,828
Honey and wax	356,816
Total values	$363,126,384

BUTTER AND CHEESE MANUFACTURERS.

The value of the butter and cheese products in the census of 1891 ranked eighth in the statistics of manufactures, but in the census of 1901 it ranks third.

In the former census year saw mills flour and grist mills, men's and women's clothing shops, foundry and machine works, planing mills, boot and shoe shops and sugar refineries led in the order named in value of production of establishments employing five hands and over.

In the latter census the value of log products still leads, being $50,805,084, the value of flouring mill products is second with $31,835,879, and the value of meat packing and slaughtering products is fourth with $22,217,984. The raw materials of flour and grist mills, butter and cheese factories and meat packing and slaughtering establishments are almost wholly the products of agriculture, and their aggregate value in the 1901 census is $71,173,295, or 85 per cent. of the aggregate value of finished products.

In the manufacture of butter and cheese alone $25,362,531 out of the production was paid directly to the patrons as the value of the raw materials of cream and milk supplied to the factories, being 86 per cent. of the value of factory products.

The share of this large distribution going to the farmers of Quebec is $11,-039,279, being nearly 44 per cent. of the amount for the whole Dominion, and exceeding by $341,400 the total value of butter and cheese produced in the Dominion in the census year 1891.

In Ontario the distribution to farmers for cream and milk supplied to factories in the last census year is $12,959,240, or 51 per cent. of the whole, Measured in the proportion of value of product to the payment to patrons of factories, Ontario is first with 86.5 per cent., and Quebec is second with 85.7 per cent.

Following are the census statistics of butter, cheese and condensed milk factories throughout Canada:

No. of factories	1,736	3,580
No. of employes	3,463	7,002

AGENTS OF TORONTO COMPANY.

Two Sensational Arrests in Hamilton For Forgery.

Hamilton, Jan. 29.—The police made sensational arrests yesterday afternoon when they took Alfred Crossley and H. F. Baker in on charges of forgery. The prisoners are both Englishmen. Crossley is about 31 years of age, and Baker is ten years his junior. Crossley was the Hamilton agent of the People's Loan and Deposit Company, Toronto. The concern opened a branch here about four months ago in Treble's Hall, North John street. Baker was employed as a bookkeeper, and the firm says it knows nothing about him. It is alleged that the two men went to the local branch of Molson's Bank yesterday afternoon and tried to get cashed a cheque for $300, drawn on the Dominion Bank, and bearing the signature of the People's Loan and Deposit Company. The bank refused to honor the cheque, and it is charged that the pair then tried to pass it off on the Bank of Hamilton.

BRITISH FISCAL FIGHT.

Lord Goschen Hopes to Confront Protectionists at Westminster—Cobden Club Replies to Chamberlain.

London, Jan. 29.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Goschen, addressing an anti-protection meeting at Halifax last night, said he wanted the next act of the protection drama performed at Westminster, where opponent could meet opponent. The House of Lords was prepared to do its duty if the matter was not properly brought before the House of Commons. He was amused at the airs the Tariff Commission gave itself. It was a royal commission that was needed. He hoped England would never adopt the science displayed in German fiscal legislation. Mr. Chamberlain's denial of Imperial instincts to his opponents was an insult from a man who had given such scant attention to our mighty Indian Empire. They could learn what was white man's burden there, but to a certain extent they had still to learn that of the colonies.

The Cobden Club's Reply.

The Cobden Club has issued a pamphlet of 100 pages in reply to Mr. Chamberlain. It attacks his scheme for colonial preference on the ground that there is no offer from the colonies and no likelihood of a reduction of the colonial tariffs. The colonies will not agree to any limitation of their fiscal independence. Canadians expect a preference not only for their food importations, but for manufactured articles imported to England. This would simply result in her dumping her bounty-fed iron in lieu of Germany's. The scheme would be giving little advantage to New Zealand, South Africa or Australia and cause conditions similar to those which resulted in the severance of the North American colonies.

Two Things to Do.

Sir Edward Grey, M. P. (Liberal Imperialist), in an article in The Independent Review, says that Mr. Chamberlain must either give up his ideal free trade within the Empire or part company with his colonial supporters. Chamberlain's clamp to hold together the tottering edifice of the Empire was a tax by England on her food imports for the benefit of her colonies, they remaining free to impose protective duties on British manufacturers.

Praises Queen's Quarterly.

The Glasgow Herald thinks The Quarterly Magazine of Queen's University, Kingston, is an excellent sample of what can be done by an institution alert to every modern impulse. Continuing, it says that it is doubtful whether Oxford or Cambridge would even only discuss this so full of utility to farm-tool makers and iron manufacturers.

Latest Insult to Canada.

Prof. A. Fletcher (Radical), ex-editor of The Daily Chronicle, says the day is not far distant when Canada will march with music under the American flag. He adds that the risk of war between Great Britain and the United States over such a trifling matter as the Alaska boundary will thus be removed.

Foreigners Had Security.

Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain (Chancellor of the Exchequer), speaking at King's Norton, said the chief reason why foreign countries outstripped England was that foreign business men had some security.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of "that's just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

Chumbi, British India, Jan. 29.—Col. Younghusband, commanding the British expedition to Thibet, has received a personal visit from the Depon-Lama, one of the five great Lamas of Thibet, who delivered an ultimatum warning him to return to Onatong and promising that there would be serious trouble if he did not do so.

Large reinforcements of infantry and cavalry have already reached the Thibetan camp and more are coming from Lhassa and Shigatse, the western capital. It is expected that an attack will be made on the British camp at Tuna, when the Thibetans are sufficiently reinforced.

In the meantime the British are pushing the work of road-making through a gorge north of Lingmathang, which is said to be more difficult to traverse and higher than the Kyber Pass. The military telegraph is keeping pace with the roadmakers. All this work is being done in the face of Arctic weather.

The British expedition is still waiting a proper representative from the Delai-Lama at Lhassa. A flying column, under command of Col. McDonald, is ready to push forward at any moment should necessity arise.

WOUND ROUND A SHAFT.

A. Boyer of Greenwood Meets Violent Death All Alone.

Greenwood, Jan. 29.—A terrible accident happened here yesterday morning in A. Boyer's mill. Mr. Boyer was oiling a shaft. His clothing was caught and he was whirled around until the clothing gave way. He was thrown a distance of 15 feet into the tail race, striking a stone wall. When found his body had floated down the race a short distance and had been caught by a plank. Death must have been instantaneous. There was no person around at the time the tragedy happened.

Mr. Boyer was a man of between 65 and 70 years of age, and had resided in this township for many years, managing a grist and saw mill, as well as farming. He was highly respected. He occupied a seat in the Township and County Council for a number of years. He leaves a widow, but no children. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and in politics a Reformer.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Pittsburg.—At 11 o'clock Thursday 92 bodies had been taken from the Harwick mine and 26 were at the foot of the shaft ready to be brought out.

Brownsville, Pa.—While a number of laborers were being lowered into the shaft of the Briar Hill Coal Company the cage fell to the bottom, 300 feet below. Four men are reported dead.

New York.—Sarah Cohen, nine years old; Louis, seven, and Meyer, two, were suffocated in a six-storey tenement. The janitor, father of the children, started to thaw out some pipes and a small fire resulted.

London.—Arthur Rogerson, being sentenced at Manchester for blackmail, asked to be acquitted, as his friends would send him to Canada. The recorder said that it was not good for Canada to have such men sent there.

Terra Haute, Ind.—Many people are imprisoned in the upper rooms of their houses in the Eel River bottoms by the floods. They have been without food during the zero weather and a boat cannot be rowed through the moving ice to rescue them.

Smashed Combine's Price.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The Pennsylvania Steel Company, to secure a large contract for rails from the Canadian Pacific Railway, has smashed the combine price of $28 a ton for rails in the United States. To secure the contract, which is for 40,000 tons of 80-pound rails, the Pennsylvania Company quoted a price of $21.75 for the rails landed in Montreal. The United States Steel Company, which is at the head of the combine for $28, quoted the local company the same price as the Pennsylvania Company, but the tests showed that the rail of the latter company was of higher quality.

Dr. Vrooman, M.P., At Hospital.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Dr. Vrooman, M.P. for South Victoria, has been in the Toronto General Hospital since last Thursday suffering from appendicitis. He was operated on last Monday by Dr. Peters. The operation was successful, and the patient is doing well and expects to be practically recovered in two weeks.

Mr. Holmes Ill.

Clinton, Jan. 29.—Robert Holmes, M.P., for West Huron, and editor of The New Era, is confined to his bed by an attack of congestion.

Frozen at 80.

London, Jan. 29.—John Haslett, over 80 years of age, was found Wednesday night frozen to death in his house in Thorndale.

Bishop Gravel Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Bishop Gravel of Nicolet died last night after a long illness.

Over 100,000 Volumes Burned.

Turin, Italy, Jan. 27.—The University Library has been partially, destroyed by fire. It is roughly estimated that over 100,000 volumes were burned, as well as many rare manuscripts.

MR. CARROLL BECOMES JUDGE

Mr. Rodolphe Lemieux Appointed Solicitor-General—Nomination: Will Take Place in Gaspe on Feb. 20.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Judge deBilly, Superior Court Judge for the district of Gaspe, which comprises the Counties of Gaspe and Bonaventure and the Magdalen Islands, has resigned. He is succeeded by Hon. H. G. Carroll, who has been Solicitor-General since Mr. Fitzpatrick's entrance to the Cabinet. Mr. Rodolphe Lemieux, M. P. for Gaspe, replaces Mr. Carroll as Solicitor-General. The former's acceptance of an office of emolument involves his going back to his constituency for re-election. Nominations will take place on February 20th, and it is expected that Mr. Lemieux will be returned by acclamation; if not, the returning officer will fix the date for polling. This practice is necessary in Gaspe, as it is a very difficult constituency to traverse. The disappearance of Mr. Carroll from the Parliamentary arena is a matter for regret. His health at times seems rather too delicate to withstand the irregular hours and the constant exactions entailed by the politician's life, and yet he possesses wonderful energy. He is a man of unfailing courtesy, and in debate keen and logical. Parliamentarians recall with pleasure Mr. Carroll's fine speech on the Manitoba school question during the remedial debate of 1896, which was heard by friend and opponent alike with considerable delight. Mr. Lemieux is one of the cleverest of the group of young French-Canadian politicians in the House of Commons. He is an eloquent and magnetic speaker and a man of fine presence.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1904.

Primary and Junior Union.

The regular weekly meeting of the Primary and Junior Union will be held this evening at eight o'clock in the board room of the Y.M.C.A.

Special for Men.

Rev. W. R. Young, D.D., of St. Thomas, a former pastor of Peterborough, will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at four o'clock. Soloist, Mr. R. N. Jolliffe. There should be a large attendance of men at this meeting.

The Wrong Hour.

A typographical error which might have caused some confusion occurred in yesterday's Examiner, when it was stated that the funeral of the late John Guthrie would take place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. This should have appeared as 3.30 o'clock.

The Oriental will receive the returns of the Belleville-Picton game at Belleville to-night.

For Frozen Pipes.

The almost extreme temperature which has been experienced this winter has been sorely felt in many houses chiefly by the pipes getting frozen and then bursting. A long felt want has been supplied by the Peterborough Light and Power Company in the practical form of an electrical machine which thaws out pipes. It is a 40 horse power transformer and is connected with a current of electricity and the current is complete by connection with the water pipes. The heat thus generated, in the course of a few minutes only completely thaws out the pipes.

$4,000,000 THE EXTENT OF A BIG FORTUNE.

And Mrs. Peter Morgan of Town is the Heir.

Four million dollars! That is the extent of an inheritance which Mrs. Peter Morgan's ship of fortune, now appearing on the far off horizon of the sea of Obscurity is bringing to her. The lady in question, whose maiden name was Anne Mompesson Porteous, is Mr. Harry Strickland's mother-in-law and she lives in Ashburnham.

Many years ago there lived in England a certain George Mompesson, an Englishman by birth, but who traced his ancestors to the Norman invadors. The fortune comes from him, and can Mrs. Morgan but prove her claim as sole survivor of the Mompesson line, by producing the necessary documents, to her will fall the inheritance.

This George Mompesson was the uncle of Captain Mompesson of the 47th Regiment, who was with Wolfe at the storming and final capture of Quebec in the year 1759. When in that city Captain Mompesson fell in love with a certain Louise Melvin, a charming young lady whom he later married. Their daughter, Mrs. Porteous was Mrs. Morgan's mother.

Thirty years ago while casually reading the London Illustrated News Mrs. Morgan's eye noticed a paragraph concerning the Mompesson family in which it was printed that there was an immense fortune in store for any of the surviving members. Mr. Harry Strickland, her son-in-law, immediately took up the matter and after pursuing it through many channels and drawing out clues which did not get him nearer to the mark, threw the whole affair up. About six months ago, Mr. Charles Morgan, of the Merchants' Bank, Montreal, began the upheaval of the matter again, continually corresponding with his mother for certain information. A few days ago Mrs. Morgan had a letter from him in which it was stated that he believed that he had succeeded in his quest, and that he thought he could prove the relationship. Mrs. Morgan told the Examiner to-day that she was of the opinion that she could produce the marriage certificates and other necessary documents which would prove that she was the rightful heir of this gigantic fortune. The inheritance is at the present time in the English Court of Chancery.

A short note of the fortune in this morning's Toronto papers created considerable excitement in that city as well as in Peterborough and Montreal.

The news has naturally acted as an invigourating tonic towards Mrs. Morgan, who of late has been in but poor health.

AN ARMY OF AGENTS INVADING TOWN.

Mr. R. M. Roy's Studio is Being Rebuilt With all Haste.

The repairation to that part of the Henthorne Block, which was recently destroyed by fire, is being pushed ahead as fast as possible and all men who can be secured to do the work are employed. Mr. Roy told the Examiner this morning that he found many negatives in perfect condition which previously he believed had been spoiled. Should any of his patrons wish for reprints from old negatives, if they will drop him a line, Mr. Roy will be pleased to see whether those negatives in question are not destroyed and if so could supply his patrons with the required reprints. Mr. Roy further stated that his new studio would partially be on the ground floor and that he would do his utmost to make it the finest on the continent. Continuing he remarked that the town was being invaded by a veritable army of agents for firms undertaking the enlargement of photographs. These were generally bogus or at the most unsatisfactory, and believed it would be better for any enlargements to be made at a professional's studio.

"All Mending Done Free at Parker's."

WARDEN PECK WAS HOST AT BANQUET.

County Council Officials and Other Gentlemen Present.

The Trent Valley Canal Discussed—The Great Factor in the Developing of Peterborough.

The most important question claiming the attention of citizens of Peterborough town and county was freely discussed at the banquet given by the new warden last night. It was stated by Mayor Roger and reiterated by speakers who followed that the future of Peterborough was bound up in the Trent canal, and that with its completion the town would prosper as it could not possibly do otherwise. The mayor said that the town and county must spend money to bring the advantages to be gained by the canal to the attention of the public, so that public sentiment would support them in asking for its speedy completion.

While the canal would be of incalculable local benefit it would also be a great national benefit which fact should be impressed upon the commission and the public, through the press and by every means possible.

This view was shared by all the speakers who touched upon it, and it is probable that some action will be taken by the county public bodies.

A most enjoyable evening was spent last night at Long's Palm Parlours, when the newly-elected Warden of the County of Peterborough, Mr. E. A. Peck, entertained the members of the Council, County officials, representatives from the town and township councils, and a number of other guests, to a banquet in honour of his election to the office of Warden. All who were present spent a thoroughly enjoyable time, and Mr. Peck was the recipient of many congratulations upon his election, as was also the county in securing such an efficient officer as Mr. Peck gives promise of being.

Mr. William Anderson, M.P.P., was unable to be present at the early stage of the affair, but came in from Toronto, arriving about half-past eight. His arrival was the signal for an outburst of applause. A number of bright after-dinner speeches were made. All present expressed their pleasure at being present, and satisfaction in the fact that the host had been chosen to fill the highest position in the gift of the county.

Mr. Long served a delightful dinner, to which all the guests did ample justice.

Those present were:

E. A. Peck, Mayor Roger, Judge Edmison, D. Hughes-Charles, Sheriff Hall, ex-Warden Richard Crowe, J. Coyle Brown, Wm. Robertson, B. Morrow, County Councillors Moloney, Buck, Hunter, Curtis, Shaw, Johnston, Monogue, Fitzgerald; Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., T. E. Bradburn, Dr. Jeffs, Ald. Adams, Dr. Caldwell, Wm. Stewart, County Treasurer; R. P. Watt, County Clerk; J. E. Belcher, County Engineer; E. M. Elliott, Reeve of Smith; Robt. Rae, County Jailor; John Moloney, Local Registrar; Councillor Stenson, of North Monaghan.

Warden Peck in proposing the first toast, "The King," said that he was pleased to see so many of his friends present. He expressed regret that some had been unable to be present whom he had hoped to see.

Following this the Warden proposed the toast to "The Largest Municipality within the Bounds of the County—the Town of Peterborough." All, he said, were pleased that the town had progressed so well during the past year, and hoped that in future the progress would be still more rapid. Coupled with this toast were the names of Mayor Roger and Ald. Adams.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Mayor replying, said he was glad to think that the town and county had got along so well together. The relations of the two had always been very pleasant. The County had always used the town well, and the townspeople were very proud of their county, and thought the affairs well managed. On the other hand, the county had, he thought good reason to be proud of their county town. It had been properly called "The Premier town in Canada." The town's financial standing was good, and it had never been mixed up in any municipal scandal. The interests of the town and county were bound up together and one could not prosper without the other. The American Cereal Company must be recognized as a great boon to the county. This was manifested by the long distance from which produce is brought. He hoped that the related interests would be recognized. The Mayor said that he had been convinced that the future of the town and county were bound up in the completion of the Trent Valley Canal. Its completion would reduce freight rates first of all, the result of which would be that more manufacturers would locate here. He hoped that the County would be prepared to help in the education of the public to the great advantage of the Canal. A great many of the people were entirely ignorant of its possibilities, and to educate them up to them would take money. This had been recognized by the Conservation Association, and the town council he believed, would also be prepared to help. If the Canal were to be completed it must be taken up in a business way. He hoped the county would interest otself to the extent of contributing to the cost of educating the people. In conclusion, His Worship congratulated both the Warden and the county on the election of Mr. Peck to the office of Warden. He paid a high tribute to the ability of the Warden.

Ald. Adams expressed his thanks for the invitation and also congratulated the Warden upon his elevation to office. He was pleased to know that the affairs of the county had been well managed. The speaker referring to the union of the town and village of Ashburnham, expressed the hope that the union would be beneficial to both concerned. He also spoke of the happy relations of the town and county, and expressed belief that the matters of adjustment made necessary by the separation of the village from the county would be amicably arranged.

"OUR VISITORS."

Councillor Fitzgerald, vice chairman, proposed the toast to "Our Visitors," to which Judge Edmison was the first to reply. As a visitor he expressed great pleasure at being present and meet the Council and officials. He had never received anything but splendid treatment from the county in the years during which he had been associated with it. He believed that there was not a better governed county in Ontario than that of Peterborough. He also thought the town well managed and that the Mayor had good reason to be proud of the management of the town. He believed that Peterborough should become a city, and it would not be a "poor" city either. Outside of Toronto he thought there were few cities better than Peterborough.

He was happy to congratulate the county on its model government. He said this after a knowledge of other counties.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, following said that he was pleased to congratulate Mr. Peck on his election as Warden, and thought the county had done itself proud. As a representative of the county's bankers he was pleased to have such good clients. He was pleased to live in the county of Peterborough. He wanted it to be the pattern of perfection for all other counties. Nature had done a lot for Peterborough that it had not done for other places.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY BEST IN ONTARIO.

Sheriff Hall was the next speaker, and agreed with all the previous speakers that the county was the best in Ontario. The present Warden was one of the best the county had ever had. There is less crime here than any other county in Ontario. Two years ago the county court had not held a single sitting. He thanked them for the hearty way the company had drunk the health of the guests.

Dr. Jeffs, following, expressed his pleasure at being present, and also congratulated the Warden upon his selection to the position. He had always thought of the county as being well managed. He was heartily in favour of the suggestion made by the Mayor with reference to the assistance towards the completion of the canal. He understood that the Cereal Company contemplated erecting an immense flour mill capable of grinding the wheat of the Northwest. This would be a great benefit to the town.

REEVE ELLIOTT SPEAKS.

Reeve Elliott also responded to the toast, making a humorous speech. He appreciated very highly the honour of being present. The township he represented rejoiced in the selection of Mr. Peck to fill the Warden's chair. He was very proud to be associated with the town, in which more business was done than in any town of its size in Canada. The town had not only included Ashburnham, but it had reached out in the township of Smith, and was asking for a portion of that township. In his connection with the Farmers' Institute he had found that great progress had been made in agriculture in the county.

On the request of ex-Warden Crowe, Mr. W. Anderson, M.P.P., addressed the gathering. He expressed his pleasure at being present. He was pleased to learn that Mr. Peck had been elected to the position of Warden. He paid a high compliment to the modesty and ability of the new Warden. Although he had the honour of being elected to a higher office he felt more at home in the County Council.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles proposed the next toast, that to "The New Warden of the county, the County Council and County Officials." In proposing the toast Mr. Charles eulogised the Warden.

Mr. Peck in responding, said that he had not anticipated hearing his name so favourably spoken of. He had been extremely gratified at receiving his appointment as Warden, and should always look back with pleasure on the period in which he had been Warden of the County of Peterborough. There is no better county in Canada than Peterborough, and he never wanted to live in a better. He thanked the gentlemen for the hearty way in which the toast had been received.

MR. BROWN IN REMINISCENCES.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, the County School Inspector, was the next speaker to respond to the toast. He also paid a high tribute to the ability of Warden, and as the oldest county official present, he knew the condition of the county perhaps as well, or better, than anyone present. Speaking in a reminiscent strain, Mr. Brown referred feelingly to the death of Dr. Sangster, of Port Perry, than whom there had been no more talented man in Ontario. He concluded an interesting speech by telling a school master's story. Mr. John Moloney following, said that he was highly honoured at being present, and had never met a more gentlemanly young man than the present Warden. His relations with the council had been most pleasant.

Councillors Buck, Huntor, Monogue, Curtis, Mr. Belcher, County Engineer, who also gave an Irish song, Councillors Fitzgerald and Shaw, Dr. Caldwell, jail surgeon, R. P. Watt, county clerk, who also favoured the gathering with a solo, Councillor Moloney, Councillor Johnston and Mr Stewart, county treasurer, spoke, congratulating the Warden on his election.

The toast to "The Press" was proposed by Mr. Elliott and responded to by the representatives present.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn responded to the toast to "The Sugar Beet Industry," and after "Auld Lang Syne" had been heartily sung the company dispersed.

DIED IN MASSEY AND LEAVES SISTER HERE.

Demise of Mr. McCabe Formerly of Town.

Chief Rossel this morning received a wire from Massey, bearing the intelligence that a certain Barney McCabe was dead in that town. The deceased leaves two sisters and one brother in Peterborough, Mrs. Michael Saro, of 17 Wescott street; Miss M. McCabe, and Mr. Thomas McCabe. He was well known in town, having lived here, and was a member of the Roman Catholic church. He will probably be buried here.

INTERESTING WEDDING IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Miss Mabel Yeaney, Formerly of Peterborough, Married to Mr. H. C. Garrard, B. A.

An interesting event took place at Standerton, Transvaal, South Africa, on Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, 1903, when Miss Mabel Yeaney, formerly of Peterborough, and one of the young ladies who went from here to teach in South Africa, was married to Mr. H. C. Garrard, B.A., son of an English Church clergyman, at Stratford-on-Avon. Mr. Garrard is at present principal of a Government school at Standerton, where he and his wife will in future reside.

It will be remembered that the present Mrs. Garrard, in company with Miss Macfarlane, went to South Africa in response to the call for teachers in April, 1901, and has been there ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrard, the former now enjoying his "summer" vacation, are spending their honeymoon in Durban, but will return to Standerton at the end of January, when school will re-open. Her many friends here wish Mrs. Garrard many years of happy married life in the South African home which she has chosen.

GREAT BENEFITS OF TRENT CANAL.

Of National as Well as of Immense Local Importance.

Would Reduce Freight Rates and be the Means of Inducing Manufacturers to Locate Here.

There appears to be a revival of interest in the question of the Trent Valley Canal, and at the Warden's banquet held last night, it formed the chief subject of discussion for some of the speakers. While, of course, the chief interest in the canal centres in the fact that it would be of great benefit locally, the national aspect of it is also one which must not be lost sight of in its advocacy, as it is upon national grounds that the canal has the strongest claims for recognition.

The benefit, locally is almost incalculable, and even now it is believed that the town has lost a large industry which it might have secured, because of the fact that the canal was not completed. It was stated on Monday night at the Mayor's banquet that the Singer Company had said that if the Canal were now completed, or its early completion assured they would have located their works here. As a consequence of the uncompleted state of the canal, the Singer Works will be established at St. John, Que., where the Company will build works to cost $700,000, and employ 700 hands. It has also been learned that the Deering Company would have considered Peterborough as a possible location for their impliment works in Canada had the canal been completed. Hamilton was chosen as the city in which the works would be built. Up to the present time one million dollars have been spent in plant, buildings and grounds, and it is stated that more will yet be expended. This should be an object lesson on the necessity for pressing for the immediate construction of the canal. The great benefit to Peterborough in the matter of freight rates, too, is a most important consideration. The freight on every ton of coal brought to Peterborough at the present time is $1.25, whereas if the canal were completed, the cost would be at the outside, 80 or 35 cents per ton. The rate at present from Oswego to Trenton or Port Hope is 25 cents.

The benefits locally, however, are entirely eclipsed by the great national benefits, which the canal would give. It would provide the greatest national waterway on the continent, and that the value of such a waterway is appreciated by the Americans is proven by the fact that the State of New York has voted an appropriation of $100,000.00 to resuscitate the Erie Canal, which, even when that amount of money has been spent, will not be able to compete with the Trent Valley Canal, which can be built at a cost of four or five million dollars.

The transportation problem is perhaps the most important one in Canada to-day, and is rapidly growing in importance by the great expansion of the Canadian West, and the increase in the quantity of grain there, for the shipment to the seaboard for which some cheap channel must be found. This is provided for in the Trent Valley Canal, and this fact must be impressed upon the public, in order that Peterborough in the agitation for its completion may have the moral public support.

Entertained Choir.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Nelson entertained the members of St. Paul's choir, at their residence in the fifth ward last night. The first part of the evening was taken up with a rehearsal, and the remainder spent by enjoying Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's hospitality.

CHURCH OPENING AT CAVANVILLE.

Methodists Build a Handsome Brick Structure.

The Dedication Ceremony Performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson—Rev. Mr. Sparling Preached the Sermon.

A very interesting ceremony was held at Cavanville yesterday, when the new Methodist church in that village was dedicated. The new building is a very handsome brick structure, the cost of which will be between $5,000 and $6 000, and Cavanville Methodists are to be congratulated upon their enterprise in building such a handsome and costly place of worship.

A very large crowd gathered yesterday afternoon at the church, when the opening services were held. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Sparling, of the Metropolitan church, Toronto, while the dedicatory ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, of the George street church, as chairman of the District. Rev. J. J. Rae, of Oshawa, had charge of the financial arrangements at the services yesterday, and so well was his work performed that it is stated that almost the entire cost of the building has been provided for.

The musical service was an important part of the ceremony yesterday, and the choir was assisted in the exercises by Miss Maisie French of Oshawa, and Miss Staples of St. Andrew's church, Cobourg, while Miss Jessie Rae of Oshawa, acted as accompanist to the soloists.

In the evening a tea was held and afterwards a concert given, at which a number of addresses were made, and music rendered by the choir, and solos by soloists of the afternoon.

The members of the clergy present were:—Rev. Messrs. Kenny, of Millbrook; Lewis and Wilson, of Peterborough; Johnston, of Millbrook; Clarry, of Cavan South; Drew, of Fraserville; Robeson and Bowerman, of Bethany; Rae, Oshawa; and Sparling, Toronto. Rev. H. V. Montier, who has charge of Cavanville circuit, is to be congratulated upon his success in building such a handsome structure.

The opening services will be continued next Sunday, when Rev. Dr. John Burwash, of Victoria University, Toronto, will preach in the morning and evening, and Rev. Jos. Kilgour, a former pastor at Cavanville, in the afternoon.

INTERESTING PAPER ON "ROMAN COLOSSEUM"

Given by Miss Kate McGrath at Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S., held another very successful literary meeting last evening, when an excellent and most instructive paper on the "Roman Colosseum," was read by Miss Kate McGrath.

Miss McGrath introduced the subject of her lecture by going back to the earliest ages of its history, brief reference being made to the architect of this wonderful monument of art in Rome. The subject of the paper naturally called for a description of a monument renowned for size, magnificence and splendour, and in her portrayal of all this, Miss McGrath succeeded in an admirable manner. Her paper abounded in beautiful and vivid pen pictures of the Colosseum, together with the varied scenes represented therein. Then came the sadder and more horrifying scenes, and the stupendous ones for which this marvel of beauty and art was appropriated. The gladiator fights between man and beast, and also between man and man, were specially mentioned and reference made to the dark records left by them on the pages of history. Finally came the last and most memorable purpose for which this temple of grandeur was used, namely, the public martyrdom of the thousand of heroes, who so bravely faced the most horrible deaths in the arena, rather than deny their faith in Christ.

On the whole the paper was one of very deep interest and Miss McGrath was deservedly congratulated at the conclusion of her reading.

Miss Fanny Holmes presided at the meeting, and during the evening pleasing vocal solos were rendered by Miss A. Simons and Miss L. Clancy.

On Thursday, February 11th, a paper on "Pope Leo XIII," will be read by Miss Coleman.

INJURED BY A FALLING WOOD PILE.

Mr. Daniel Sheehan Suffered Painful Accident this Morning.

Mr. Daniel Sheehan, the well-known deaf-mute, was the unfortunate victim of a most painful accident this morning, at Hicks & Co's woodyard, where he is employed. He was engaged in unloading cordwood, when a high pile started to fall. He did not hear it, of course, and having his back turned, did not notice his danger, until a large stick flew from the pile, hitting him on the head. There was no one near him at the time, and the first intimation that the other employees had of the accident was when they saw the injured man running, holding his head, and making a most heart-rending noise.

He was taken to the office where the wound, which was a large one, was washed and dressed by a doctor who was called.

The injury was found to be rather a serious one, and it may be some little time before Mr. Sheehan will be around again.

A Musical Event.

On the 10th, 11th and 12th of Feb. the Mendelssohn Male Choir, of 400 voices, will give concerts in the Massey Music Hall, Toronto, and the singers of Peterborough are proposing to run an excursion to Toronto to afford those who may wish to hear this great musical organization, an opportunity of doing so. The return fare will be $2.05, and in order to guarantee its success at least 100 must take advantage of it. Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe would be glad to have the names of those who intend going, so that they may give the railway company the necessary guarantee.

COUNTY COUNCIL HEARD DEPUTATION.

The New Drill Hall Site was the Subject of Discussion.

Councillors Visiting the Cereal Works This Afternoon—Tablets for South African Heroes.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

When the members filed into the council chamber this morning there were no indications of late hours, or after-dinner big heads. Each wore an "after-the-ball" smile and greeted each other with pleasant mutual exchanges and good-natured sallies regarding the good time spent round the board at the Warden's banquet last night.

IN COMMITTEE.

The Warden suggested that as there was no urgent business to be proceeded with in Council, that the members get down to their committee work, which they did, and continued in committee until 11 o'clock.

COUNCIL RESUMED.

The Council went into session at 11 o'clock, with the Warden, E. A. Peck, in the chair. All the members were present.

NEW DRILL HALL.

On motion of Councillor Crowe, seconded by Councillor Hunter, a deputation consisting of His Worship, Mayor Roger, and Alderman Rush, addressed the Council in reference to a site for the new drill hall, stating that the Minister of Militia would be in town shortly to select a suitable place. They requested that a committee from the Council be appointed to confer with another from the town, in reference to the matter, and to meet the Minister.

On motion of Councillor Buck, seconded by Councillor Curtis, the matter was left in the hands of Councillors Johnston, Hunter and the Warden.

AN OLD ACCOUNT.

Mayor Roger also addressed the Council in reference to the expenses in connection with the reception given to the Governor-General and party on the occasion of their visit to Peterborough last summer, and requesting the County to pay a portion of the expenses.

On motion of Councillor Fitzgerald, seconded by Councillor Crowe, the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

A TABLET TO SOUTH AFRICAN HEROES.

Mr. D. W. Dumble addressed the Council in reference to placing a tablet in the Court House building in memory of the volunteers who died in South Africa.

Mr. Dumble and Mr. H. Beal also addressed the Council regarding the usual grant to the Horticultural Society.

On motion of Councillor Hunter, seconder by Councillor Moloney, these matters were referred to the Finance Committee.

On motion of Councillor Shaw, seconded by Councillor Hunter, the Council adjourned until 2 o'clock.

On the invitation of Mr. Stuart, Managing Director of the Cereal Company, the Councillors visited the Cereal Works this afternoon.

LEFT IN HANDS OF LEGAL COMMITTEE.

Quashing of the Lighting Bylaw Reconsidered Last Night.

The Council met in Committee of the Whole last night and considered at considerable length the street lighting bylaw. The main discussion was on the point as to whether the appeal entered by the Legal Committee from Mr. Justice Meredith's decision, quashing the bylaw, should be borne out, or whether a new bylaw should be framed, the town entering again into a contract with the Peterborough Light and Power Company, to stand good in case the town should lose the appeal. After over an hour's discussion the matter was left in the hands of the Legal Committee. The matter of a new drill shed site was also taken up.

—In 1899 about half the tea imported into Canada was from Japan, amounting to 11,,000,000 lbs. In that year the Salada Tea Company first introduced the delicious green teas of Ceylon, and these teas were so much appreciated that the imports of Japan tea have steadily declined since then, until last year the imports of Japan tea were only 4,000,000 lbs., the Ceylon green teas introduced by the "Salada" Co., taking their place.

WRIGHT'S SACRIFICE

He Destroyed Many Papers and Then Killed Himself.

BIG PROMOTER TOOK POISON

Indications Are That the Case Will Be Used Politically Against the Conservative Government—Charged By Liberal Papers That Wright Was Shielded Because of His Generosity to That Party.

London, Jan. 28.—A post-mortem examination has shown that Whitaker Wright committed suicide by taking cyanide of potassium. His features showed no trace of the suffering he must have endured prior to death. His face was calm and peaceful. His brain was found to have been abnormally large, and as the examination proceeded the doctors found evidences of cyanide of potassium, which confirmed their previous impression of the cause of death. Portions of the deadly tabloids, still undissolved, were found in the stomach, Wright evidently having swallowed several of them.

According to the doctors, the dead man prolonged his agony by taking too many of the cyanide of potassium tabloids, as a smaller dose would have brought death sooner.

The post-mortem examination indicates that Wright must have swallowed the tabloid poison while standing before Justice Bingham, after receiving his sentence. It is recalled that Wright pulled a handkerchief from his pocket and appeared to wipe his face, and it is surmised that under cover of this he took the fatal dose.

With the consent of the Home Secretary, Wright's body will be handed over to his relatives after the inquest for private burial at Witley, his home in Surrey.

There are indications in the comments of the Liberal newspapers on the result of the Whitaker Wright case that this case will be used as a political weapon against the Government, which declined to prosecute Wright, Premier Balfour, acting on the advice of the law officers of the Crown, having announced in Parliament, in December, 1902, that the case was not one for the public prosecutor. These papers insinuate that the Government wished to shield Wright, because he was a strong supporter financially and otherwise of the Conservative cause, and because he had influential friends.

The Daily News contends that the law officers, Sir Robert Finlay and Sir Edward Carson, ought to resign, and it refers to the "wicked insinuation" of Wright's friends that a prosecution of the case would involve the Duke of Connaught, who did in in one of Wright's companies, but who was not even remotely involved in its misdoings.

"The handling of the matter," says The Westminster Gazette, "has reflected more discredit to the Government than its other mistakes, with even greater consequences. Distinguished people are involved, and some of them have had happy escapes."

The Financial News, on these points, says: "Wright might have made disclosures which would have seriously discomforted some people, but Wright was loyal as well as courageous, and he carried his secrets to the grave. To prevent others from divulging what he chose to conceal, he destroyed many papers, thus completing his sacrifice."

PRAYING BY WHEEL.

Queer Fashion That Prevails Among the Buddhists of Thibet.

Whatever political result may accrue from the advance of Colonel Younghusband, British Commissioner, with an armed force into Thibet, it is not unlikely that his visit will in a measure lift the veil which has so long hidden that land of mystery from the world.

Thibet is ruled by Buddhist priests, or lamas, and religion enters largely into the everyday life of the people. One of the peculiar features of Buddhism as practiced by the Thibetans is the use of prayer wheels. The wheel usually consists of a small cylinder of metal fixed on an axle, which serves as a handle. The cylinder contains strips of paper on which prayers and incantations have been written by the lamas, and revolving them is supposed to confer benefits on the whirler.

Besides the hand wheels, praying water wheels are also used.

Sven Hedin in his book tells of seeing a shed in which were forty-four red prayer wheels forming a square of eleven on each side. Below them was a notched device so arranged that the devotee by pulling his hand along could walk round and round, turning the whole lot with but little effort.

One of the Thibetan's modes of revenge is to secure his enemy's prayer wheel and turn it in the opposite direction from that used in praying. This is considered a deadly insult and is supposed to inflict great injury on the owner of the wheel.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY.

Nothing Else Can Supplant It as a Preserver of Youth.

Next to air and food in the human economy comes exercise. We may have plenty of fresh air and a proper allowance of the right kind of food, and yet without helpful daily exercise these will not avail to keep the body in good condition. In answer to the question, "Why do we grow old?" a French writer gives these three reasons: "We do not get enough physical exercise in the open air, we are poisoned by microbes which the phagocytes have not succeeded in destroying, and we are depressed by fear of death." Of the three reasons it will be noted that he gives the place of first importance to lack of exercise. There is nothing else which can take the place of physical activity as a preserver of youth and energy. "Grow younger as you grow older by cultivating a moderate love of good, healthful, honest sport," is sound advice. Walking, running, jumping, rowing, playing golf, tennis or croquet or any other milder form of exercise in the open air keeps the muscles supple and prevents the joints from stiffening, fills the lungs with life giving oxygen and keeps the blood from becoming sluggish or the liver torpid. In short, it is exercise that keeps the body in tune and "up to concert pitch," just as exercise keeps the voice of a music instrument in perfect tone.

ART OF CONVERSATION.

It Should Be Fostered and Studied With Seriousness.

Caroline Hazard in her "Education of Women" says, "How few of us study to put things persuasively, to reach a proper climax, to retire gracefully from a subject." It is a common saying that the art of conversation has disappeared from among us, and yet it is an art held in honor by all men. Telegraphic speech has taken the place of the more careful and elaborate forms of conference, But it is an art which should be presented to all young people and which they should study with seriousness and attention. Nothing really inspires, nothing really creates enthusiasm but the perception of an ultimate ideal, whether it be in art or music or in any other of the realms of spiritual thought. This ideal of beauty has to come to the aid of every form of expression, lifting and raising it into its own kingdom. The student who has even begun on such a course of training, who can see beauty in everything in the created world and in the realm of thought, has certainly begun to be beautiful in himself. For beauty most truly passes into the person who studies the beautiful. No one can give out what he does not have to give. He must first absorb beauty at the great natural reservoirs and fountains of the beautiful before he himself can become truly beautiful in life and character and so able to transmit beauty to all around him.

ANCIENT BABYLON.

Its Great Wall Was One of the Wonders of Those Days.

According to Herodotus, the ancient city of Babylon stood on a broad, level plain and was an exact square of fourteen miles each way, making the entire circuit of the city fifty-six miles. It was protected both by a wall and a moat, the latter being broad and deep and kept constantly filled with water. But the wall was the wonder of wonders, being 93 1-3 feet in width and an even 200 feet in height. This monster barrier was provided with 100 gates, all of solid brass, the lintels and side pieces being in bronze. Cross walls ran along the banks of the Euphrates, each provided with twenty-five gates, which corresponded to the number of streets running in each direction from the river.

The most remarkable edifice inside the wall was the temple of Bel, a pyramid of eight square stadia. On the summit of this pyramid stood a pure gold image of Bel forty feet high, two other smaller figures of the same precious metal and a golden table forty feet long and fifteen feet wide. This wonderful city first came prominently into the history of the world in the year 747 B. C., but since the time of Alexander the Great it has been a ruin, the site having at one time been entirely lost.

THE GREAT CONDOR.

It Is the Most Difficult Bird In the World to Trap.

Probably the great condor is the most difficult bird in the world to trap. One of the great vultures, it inhabits lofty peaks of the Andes, hardly accessible to man. It builds its nest among the topmost crags, often on a ledge of some precipice with an almost perpendicular drop of many hundred feet.

An extremely wary bird, it shares with its congeners the proverbial "eagle eye" and is thus able to see immense distances while yet unseen by man. Its wings have a spread of twelve feet, and, though its flight is heavy, it can sustain itself for long periods in the air.

To trap it men ascend to its haunts and shoot some animal of considerable size. This is skinned, and a man lies down by the body under the skin and waits, perhaps for hours. Soon condors come flocking round until one settles on the skin, when the man below grips its legs, flings the skin over it and stabs it to death.

The strength of these birds is enormous, and the condor hunters often have their arms broken by strokes from their powerful wings.

EYES INCREASE IN SIZE.

Change Often Results In the Improvement of the Sight.

A conversation with a prominent hatter developed the fact that among men of large affairs where decided executive ability and strong mental equipment were requisite it was common to find an increase in the cranial development. A more detailed investigation among some of the large metropolitan hatters revealed the fact that many of them had for years by means of an automatic measuring device kept records of peculiarities of the cranial outline of many of our prominent men, which had led to the discovery (to which, however, little importance had been attached) that the skull often shows a decided increase in size after middle age.

Thus, if it is a fact that the human eye depends largely upon the surrounding bony structure for its size and proportion, it can readily be seen that in the case of an eye which presents abnormal visual conditions due to an inadequate development the increase in the size of the skull referred to, accompanied, as it usually is, by generally improved physical conditions, would naturally tend to a corresponding increase in the size of the eyeball, thereby contributing to a possible neutralization of the visual defect.

You Cannot Rely on Imitations.

When Threatened With Bronchitis, Asthma, Pneumonia or Serious Lung Troubles be Sure to get the Genuine

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

For generations the value of turpentine as a remedial agent in all affections of the bronchial tubes and lungs has been well known.

It remained for Dr. Chase to so combine turpentine, linseed and half a dozen other ingredients as to not only make a wonderfully successful medicine, but also one that is so pleasant to the taste as to be sought for by children.

The sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is more than three times that of many similar remedies. The result of this success is a host of imitations.

When attacked by coughs and colds which threaten to reach the lungs and prove serious; when awakened by children with croupy coughs, gasping for breath, you cannot afford to trust to imitations.

Mr. John Pollard, Echo Bay, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled last winter with a very bad cold, which was beginning to settle on my lungs. I was so hoarse that I could scarcely speak, and had a nasty hacking cough, which I could not get rid of. One bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured me, and I can heartily recommend it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 25 cts. a bottle, family size, three times as large, 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & So., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every boittle. 9

PENETRATED THIBET.

AN ENGLISHWOMAN'S JOURNEY BY MULE BACK TO VATUNG.

A People Whose Religious Rites Are a Mixture of Pagan, Buddhist and Christian—Power of the Priest Governors—Prayer Wheels, Curious Inception of Devotion, Seen on All Sides.

An English lady, one of the few white women who have ever penetrated Thibet, recently returned from a rough journey to Vatung, the trading town where Thibetans meet the rest of the world. In 1888 the grand lama of Thibet gave permission to his subjects to admit "foreign devils" as far into his domain as a certain point specified, eight miles within the Thibetan border. At that point the village of Vatung was built, a mere hamlet of little wooden houses. One or two foreign commissioners of trade live there. The commissioner for the Chinese Government is an Englishman, and it was on the invitation of him and his wife to visit them that the adventurous English lady set out with two friends and a troop of pack mules with Thibetan drivers and guides.

The road leads uphill all the way. To reach Thibet the party passed northward through the Province of Sikkim, crossing a mountain pass nearly three miles above sea level. This is Jelap pass, and from it one can look down into the forbidden land. At the top of the pass a rough stone wall marks the boundary between Sikkim and Thibet, and every traveler who crosses the boundary must add one stone to that wall. It is a curious custom, but observed by all. In addition to the stone, pious Thibetan Buddhists push often into some crevice a stick to which is tied a rag or paper having a prayer inscribed upon it. The people in Thibet are tremendous on prayers, so zealous that they cannot say them fast enough or often enough by mere force of tongue, so they call machinery to their aid. At Vatung may be seen on all sides that curious invention of Thibetan devotion, the prayer wheel.

Once at Vatung, every traveler of course is wild to go farther on, to penetrate to Lassa itself. But a wall is built behind Vatung. Beyond that no white man may go. The wall is guarded by Thibetan soldiers, very dirty and somewhat dangerous looking. Up the hill above Vatung is a lama monastery, which the travelers visited—that is to say, they visited the outside of it. They begged to be allowed to enter, but the lama priests drew their forefingers across their own throats. That indicated the fate awaiting them if they let the travelers in.

Thibet is a hierarchy whose priest rulers terrorize their people. Thibetan religious customs and observances bear a weird resemblance to those of western civilized nations. There are monasteries; there are also choirs, miters, fasts, holy water, nuns, rosaries and bells. The nuns are expected to give their time to prayer and nursing the sick.

Thibetans wear a queer loose garment with a belt. It is so long and full that they draw it up in front above the belt, making it form a sort of bag or pouch, and in that receptacle they carry often food enough to last them for days—a very convenient arrangement. The Thibetan salaam is a very odd item of orientals, bowing his head low and spreading his hands apart. Then after the bow is over and his head is raised again he sticks out his tongue at the person he is bowing to. He means it as a compliment.

The women's dress is nearly the same as the men's, except that on great occasions the female adorn their heads with a fantastic silver hoop, having turquoises studded around it. They pile their hair around this hoop. One queer thing about both Thibetan men and women is that they rarely either cut or comb their hair from birth till death. To make up for that, however, both men and women wear many turquoises. Of these gems the English lady says, "One sees stones hanging from a dirty ear that would cause pangs of envy in the breast of many a London belle."

Thibetan women are handsome, many of them, and decidedly better looking than the men. All wear long boots to enable them to wade through the snow. At the lama monastery which the lady was not allowed to go into there was a great row of hideous looking masks, or false faces, put out upon the fence to air. These masks are worn by the priests in religious festivals. The object is to familiarize the people with the looks of devils, so they, the good Thibetans, will not be scared at the evil spirits when they see them in the other world.

SEVEN FROM ONE.

It has been shown that one bottle of Scott's Emulsion is capable of building seven times its weight of solid, healthy flesh.

How is this possible?

Because Scott's Emulsion is one of the richest and most digestible of foods.

Because Scott's Emulsion makes all good food do good. Nothing of value to the body is allowed to go to waste.

Because Scott's Emulsion makes the stomach strong, the appetite keen and the digestion perfect.

Because Scott's Emulsion adds new flesh to the body, puts new blood in the veins and feeds the fires of life called vitality.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. H. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave, Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not for a long time bear any solid food in my stomach; felt melancholy and depressed. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. MILBURN'S HEART and NERVE PILLS

Cured Mrs. Edmond Brown, Inwood, Ont., when she had almost given up hope of ever getting well again.

She writes: "I was so run down that I was not able to do my work, was short of breath, had a sour stomach every night and could scarcely eat. My heart palpitated, I had faint and dizzy spells and felt weak and nervous all the time. My husband got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills but I told him it was no use, that I had given up hope of ever being cured. He however persuaded me to take them and before I had used half the box I began to feel better. Two boxes made a new woman of me and I have been well and have been able to do my work ever since."

BARNYARD'S SOUTHERLY CORNER.

"When the frost is white on the fodder-stack,
The haws in the thorn-bush withered and black,
When the near fields flash in a diamond mail,
And the far hills glimmer opaline pale,
Oh, merrily shines the morning sun
In the barnyard's southerly corner.

"When the ruts in the cart-road ring like steel,
And the birds to the kitchen door come for their meal,
And the snow at the gate is lightly drifted,
And over the woodpile thinly sifted,
Oh, merrily shines the morning sun
In the barnyard's southerly corner.

"When the brimming bucket steams at the well,
And the axe on the beech-knot sings like a bell,
When the pond is loud with the skaters' calls,
And the horses stamp in the littered stalls,
Oh, merrily shines the morning sun
In the barnyard's southerly corner.

"When the hay lies loose on the wide barn floor,
And a sharp smell puffs from the stable door,
When the pitchfork handle stings in the hand
And the stanchioned cows for the milking stand,
Oh, merrily shines the morning sun
In the barnyard's southerly corner.

"And the steers, let out for a drink and a run,
Seek the warm corner one by one,
And the huddling sheep, in their dusty white,
Nose at the straw in the pleasant light,
When merrily shines the morning sun
In the barnyard's southerly corner.

Why Little Folks Are Big Eaters.

It has been laid down as a physiological rule that the requirements of adult diet depend not on the weight of the eater, but on the extent of his bodily surface. In the case of children this rule is further modified. An infant may weigh one-eighteenth as much as a grown man, but its surface is more than one-seventh as great. As the first requirement of the infant's food is to replace the heat that is continually being lost by radiation from all parts of the body, the latter fraction determines the needed proportion of nourishment rather than the former. But in the case of a growing child food is also needed to supply the increase of bodily weight. In all, an infant's ration may be five times as much as would be estimated from its actual weight alone.—Success.

SOLDIER AND WRITER.

Col. Younghusband, British Commissioner to Thibet—Grand Lama Made Formal Protest Against 4,000 Soldiers.

The English military expedition into Thibet escorting Colonel Francis E. Younghusband, British Commissioner, will probably meet no opposition from the grand lama beyond the formal protest already made.

The expedition consists of 4,000 soldiers, with mountain guns and Maxims, and thousands of carriers and transport animals. Colonel J. L. R. Macdonald, who is the military commander of the mission, has had much experience in fighting the hill tribes of India and served as director of railways on the staff of the

COL. F. E. YOUNGHUSBAND.

China expedition of 1900-01. The British troops are equipped with Canadian fur coats and colored glasses to protect their eyes from the glare of the snow.

The difficulties of the campaign will be very great. Thibet is really a part of the Himalaya mountains, and the British soldiers must pass through terrific ravines and along narrow mountain paths. One of the dangers to be guarded against is the rock avalanches with which the Thibetans from time immemorial have been wont to repel their foes. The rocks are gathered at the top of a mountain and arranged on a platform that is held up by a bean tied with ropes. When the enemy is at a spot just under the trap the Thibetans cut the ropes and let the stones fall down on the part below.

Colonel F. E. Younghusband, British Commissioner and chief in command of the expedition, not only has an enviable reputation as a soldier and traveler, but also as a writer.

GERMAN WORK PEOPLE.

Their Amusements Are Few and Mostly Confined to Sunday.

Amusements play a comparatively small part in the lives of German work people, and such as they have are mostly confined to Sunday. Games have not taken hold of them; they go to no football or cricket matches, although there are matches, and other classes in Germany show a growing taste for games and sports. I went to see a football match between Dusseldorf and a neighboring manufacturing town. A similar match anywhere in manufacturing England would have attracted from 10,000 to 20,000 sons of toil, who would have shouted themselves hoarse from beginning to end. At the German match not one put in an appearance. When I left the field toward the close of the game the spectators, who had slowly increased during the afternoon, numbered exactly sixty-five. They were not workingmen, and they showed no excitement whatever. They played the association game, not very well. The national game in Germany is kegel, a kind of skittles, and it is played at public houses, but not by workingmen or seldom by them. They play cards sometimes, but not a great deal. In short, games may be ruled out as an item in industrial life. Theaters and music halls count for more, but for nothing like so much as in England and in America. They are less numerous in proportion to population and are only visited by the working classes to a limited extent on Saturday and Sunday.

LOCKS AND KEYS.

Their Use Can Be Traced Back to the Ancient Egyptians.

According to Denon, locks and keys can be traced back to the ancient Egyptians, more than 4,000 years ago. This is inferred from the sculptures on the great temple of Karnak, which closely resemble locks still in use there—clumsy, massive wooden locks, in which three pins drop into three holes in the bolt, when it is pushed in, and are raised by corresponding fixed pins on the big key. Similar locks and keys are found at Mosul, near Nineveh, the key being more than a foot long, quite clublike and often carried on the shoulder.

Keys are also mentioned at the siege of Troy, 1193 B. C. The Phœnicians are said to have exchanged locks for tin from Cornwall. Occasional notices of them occur in many Greek and Roman writers, Pliny ascribing their invention to Theodorus of Samos. Bronze and iron keys have been found in the ruins of Pompeii.

Possibly far more ancient than these are Chinese locks, with springs and tumblers, some of them musical, almost exact counterparts of the famous Bramah locks of England in the eighteenth century.

JOHN BURNS LABOR LEADER.

Appreciation of Him by an Ex-Presidential Candidate.

W. J. Bryan gives the following interesting sketch of John Burns, the English labor leader:

He began his industrial life at the age of ten as a maker of candles. He was afterward apprenticed to a machinist, and after acquiring proficiency in his trade followed that line of employment until his associates made him their representatives in the city Government.

He was soon afterward sent to Parliament, and has for some fifteen years represented his district in both bodies. He is only forty-five, but his hair and beard are so streaked with grey that one would think him ten years older. He is a little below medium height, strongly built and very active and energetic.

A diligent student, quick-witted and effective in speech, it is not surprising that he stands to-day among he world's foremost representatives of the wage earners. He is opposed to both drinking and gambling.

He receives no salary either as a member of the County Council or as member of Parliament, but is supported by his association, which pays him what is equivalent to $1,000 a year.

With this very meagre income he devotes his life to public work, and I have not met a more conscientious or unselfish public servant. And yet what Mr. Burns is doing on a large scale many others are doing in a lesser degree.

Mixed Metaphors.

The true bull, as made only in Ireland, always has a meaning, though this is expressed in a paradoxical manner, and a really good bull often condenses into a phrase some fact which otherwise might need considerable explanation.

For instance, there was the tourist who complained of the poor look of the hotel to which he had been brought. "Ah, sure," said the jarvey, "the front of this house is at the back." And, again, there was the witness at the Parnell Commission who, in reply to his cross-examiner's taunt of cowardice at a moonlighting outrage, retorted, "Faith! I'd rather be a coward for five minutes than dead all the rest of my life."

For an example of the mixed metaphor, the following gem would be hard to beat. It was a resolution denouncing "landgrabbers" passed by a branch of the Land League at Kerry, and produced as evidence at the Parnell Commission. "It denounced in scathing terms "these vile reptiles which hover vulture-like in search of land, which when found they seize and devour with tigerish rapacity."

Another example was the work of one of the Irish members in the House of Commons. "We have opened the ball," said he; "it is for you to keep it rolling." Instances might be multiplied ad infinitum, but I hope I have made my point clear.—Glasgow Gazette.

The Art of the Butcher.

The Butchers' Guild School in Dresden is most extensive and important; it stands in the vast grounds of the municipal slaughter-house. Here, says The Magazine of Commerce, the students learn the natural history of the domestic animals with which they are concerned, their diseases, and how to breed and care for cattle. They have classes in ambulance work, with more special reference to accidents to which a butcher is liable. They have excursion classes into the cowsheds and cattle-pens, where they learn by practical demonstration to appraise the weight of cattle, the quality and quantity of meat, the fat and hide it will yield, the breed, age, etc. The pupils' answer to questions of this practical nature are inscribed in the master's book, together with the distinguishing number of the animal. When it has been slaughtered, the actual figures are set down and compared with the students' valuations, which are taken into account in the yearly certificate. There is, in addition, in the schoolyard, a mechanical dummy-ox, on which the students practice felling, an ingenious contrivance registering the force of the blow. Each apprentice is called upon to show his proficiency at the end of his training in slaughtering correctly and humanely and in cutting up the carcase.

Barrie's Team Defeated the Light Brigade—Fast Game in Prospect for To-night.

A FAST GAME IS PROMISED TO-NIGHT.

Peterborough II and T. A. S. Meet for the Last Time This Season To-night.

The Peterborough II. team had a good practice last night with the Picton team, in preparation for the game to-night with the T. A. S. in the Trent Valley League, which gives promise of being one of the best seen on local ice. The Peterborough team will line up as follows:

Goal, Wasson.
Point, Glover.
Cover point, McPherson.
Forwards, Lee, Morgam, Ford and Renton.

The T.A.S. line up may be slightly different to that which figured in the last game and has not been announced yet.

Mr. Roach of Port Hope, will referee the game.

"CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE."

Failed and the Bedelias Defeated Them by a Score of 3-0.

A great game of hockey was that played last night from 10 to 11, when Barrie's "Bedelias" defeated the Light Brigade by a score of 3—0. The game was a strenuous one and both teams played good fast hockey. The Bedalias are starting out their hockey career with a very creditable win and expect to maintain the record so nobly made.

SHAMROCKS DEFEATED LONDON LIGHTS.

Score was 3-1 and was Fast—The Rising Generation in Hockey.

A very interesting game of hockey was played on the 29th inst., at Hamilton's pond, McDonel street, the two contesting teams being the Lights, of London street, and the Shamrocks of McDonel street. The teams were in splendid condition, and the ice was all that could be desired.

The line-up of the teams was as follows: Shamrocks.—Goal, Herbie Calaghan; point, J. O'Brien; cover point, L. Shannon; centre, J. Eano; right wing, M. Quinlan; rover, Percy Lynch. London Lights.—Goal, C. Hegrahen; point, A. Blade; cover point, O. King; centre J. Morrow; right wing, H. Taylor, left wing, C. Morrow. The captain of the Shamrocks P. Lynch; rover L. Johnston. The Lights were a larger and more practised team than the former but the Shamrocks located the nets 3 times while the Lights succeeded once. The game was refereed satisfactorily by C. Hayes.

Defeated Them Last Night in a Fast Game by Score of 7-3.

The Uno Athletic Club's hockey team met the St. Andrew's Guild team on the Y. M. C. A. ice last night in a game of hockey which resulted in a win for the former by a score of 7 to 3. The Uno A. C. is a new organization and this was their first practice together. Osborne and Roseborough were the stars for their respective teams The line-up was as follows:

Plutocracy Threatens Democracy.

New York, Jan. 29.—The annual banquet of the Manufacturers' Association of New York was held at the Union League Club, Brooklyn. President J. G. Schurman of Cornell University, responded to the toast of "Business and Government," and referred at length to the great advancement in the United States during the past century in manufacturing and commercial interests, but deplored the concentration of power and wealth in the hands of the few, which formed a plutocracy which threatened our democracy.

A Friend of Queen Victoria.

Morristown, N.J., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Mary Tredway, friend and companion of Queen Victoria, is dead, aged 94. Her father was physician to the family of George IV. and to Queen Victoria after her accession Mrs. Tredway and her husband came to America about 70 years ago. On leaving England she was bidden an affectionate farewell by Queen Victoria, who gave her a silk dress. Her death was due to an accident, being fatally burned.

Kara Tribesman Raging.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—A newspaper published in German South Africa, just received here, announces that in consequence of the gathering of the Kara tribesmen in the hills, a general insurrection has broken out among the Bondelzwarts tribesmen. Fifteen white men have entrenched themselves at Luederichbucht, the most important port of the colony, and there is danger that the entire southern section will be devastated.

Declines More Money.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—President Mitchell, after being re-elected head of the Mine Workers of America, practically declined an increase of $2,000 a year in his salary when a resolution was introduced to increase it from $3,000 to $5,000. When put to a vote, it seemed that fully two-thirds of the house voted "aye." He declared the resolution lost, and when there was a call for a division ignored it. With a rap of his gavel he declared the motion lost and closed the debate.

Callaghan's Case.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—(Globe Special.)—Judge Winchester has sent a report to the Department of Justice on the W. H. Callaghan case which is said to be unfavorable to the prisoner. His sentence expires on Feb. 17.

SCOTLAND YARD'S HARVEST.

Police Care for a Remarkable Number of Articles That Are Left Behind by Careless Owners.

If anyone wishes to realize what incredibly careless and oblivious creatures we human beings are, he should pay a visit to one of the many lost property offices—at New Scotland Yard, Euston, King's Cross, and the other great railway stations—with which London is punctuated, and watch the ceaseless stream pour in of articles found derelict in cabs, omnibuses, and railway carriages.

And even more remarkable than the number of these articles is their odd variety. To forget a bag, an umbrella, or a pair of gloves on leaving a hansom is an act of oversight of which even the most careful man may be guilty once in a way; but it is difficult to see under what conditions a trombone or a set of false teeth could be overlooked, to say nothing of a pair of crutches, a saucepan, and an artificial leg.

But articles much stranger even than those have found their way to the lost property offices of London—notably, at Euston, a small silver-mounted coffin of ebony, surmounted by a grinning skull resting on cross-bones; at Broad street a so-called fossilized giant, more than twelve feet high and with a chest five and a half feet in girth; a fine and stalwart baboon not much under four feet in height at Waterloo; and at Cannon street a wailing infant who at this present moment is serving in the King's navy.

Good for Cabmen.

As is perhaps pretty generally known, any cabman or conductor who finds abandoned property in his cab or omnibus is bound, under a penalty of £10, to take such property within twenty-four hours to the nearest police station; and apart from his natural honesty he has strong inducement to obey this demand of the law, for it ensures him a substantial reward for his trouble. It is by no means an unknown thing for a cabman to purchase a hansom and a couple of horses with the reward paid to him for restoring to its owner a fat pocketbook, a bag of gold, or a casket of jewels.

How people contrive to forget articles of such value passes understanding; but once a bag containing money and securities to the value of £3,500 was brought to the office by a cabman, who had the gratification of receiving 100 golden sovereigns as the reward of his honesty; and in another case jewellery forth £3,000 was found lying ownerless on a seat on the outside of an omnibus.

Reward is Regulated.

These exceptional rewards are left to the discretion of the Commissioners of Police; but on all lost property up to the value of £10 the discoverer is entitled to a reward of 2s. 6d. in the pound for all articles except money and jewellry, and for these he receives 3s. in the pound, with a minimum reward, however small the worth of the article recovered, of 1s. When the article is taken by a cabman or conductor to the police station a receipt for it is handed to him, the article is carefully tied up with red tape, and a label is attached to it and sealed.

Thus every day from all parts of the metropolis the streams of lost property flow to the central office on the Embankment, where the articles are received, classified, and stored by a competent staff, consisting of ten men—four constables, a couple of sergeants, three inspectors, and a superintendent—and here they await the claims of their owners.

It is considered a poor year which does not yield 30,000 of these lost articles, or an average of nearly 600 a week, of which quite a quarter come in on Mondays. It is interesting to note that of every 1,000 of these articles, roughly 460 are sticks and umbrellas, eighty-seven are purses, seventy-five bags of one kind or another, twenty-three are field or opera glasses, and five are watches; and of every 1,000 on an average 530 are restored to their owners.

Origin of Common Phrases.

Expressions that we use, nowadays, metaphorically, were used in their real sense in bygone days. For instance, we speak about "beating a retreat," forgetting perhaps that the phrase comes from the fact that in war time, when a retreat was ordered, the drums were beaten in a particular manner, just as to-day it is sounded on the bugle. Then, again, one speaks of going off "bag and baggage." How many know what the "baggage" was? The general idea is that it was part of the soldier's kit. In point of fact, the "bag" was originally the soldier's haversack; the "baggage" was his wife. The familiar phrase, "To give the cold shoulder," originated in France, where it was the custom to serve with cold shoulder of mutton instead of hot meat a guest who had outstayed his welcome. "A feather in his cap" comes from Hungary, it being formerly the custom for the Hungarians to put a feather in their caps for every Turk they killed. The word "Deadhead," is, according to some authorities, one of great antiquity. It is said that a "deadhead" was in Pompeii an individual who gained admission to an entertainment free of charge by means of a pass in the form of a small ivory death's head.

Funny Old Signs.

One of the most notable of old London signs, "The Dog's Head In the Iron Pot," had its beginning in the early years of the reign of that same bluff King Hal, says St. Nicholas. It stands out, a lonely figure on Blackfriars road at the corner of Charlotte street, the sign of a wholesale iron-monger's establishment. The dog is in the act of eating out of a three legged iron pot which it has overturned. There were also "The Black Dog" and "The Dog and Duck." "The White Greyhound" was the sign of John Harrison in St. Paul's churchyard, a bookseller who published some of Shakespeare's early works.

The Fire Sale

At The Metropole

Can't be stopped until everything in the fire-scorched store is sold out and everything must be sold out in a hurry. There's no alternative. The carpenters are waiting to repair the store.

We must move out to let the landlord in.

Few of the goods are hurt—only tumbled about during the excitement of the fire. The greater part is not even soiled, nor are they shopworn because the whole stock was all new. But a big slashing cut has been made in every price to make the sweeping clearance a quick and decisive one! Come quick and help yourself to the bargains.

ARREST OF A BROKER.

Said to Have Secured Money From Bank on Forged Bills of Lading.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—M. G. Stagg, who conducted a broker's office at Scott and Colborne streets, was arrested last night on a charge of fraud. The complainant is Robert Inglis, manager Bank of British North America.

It is claimed that Stagg borrowed money from the bank on forged bills of lading. The amount he is charged with procuring in this way is $382.

He will also have to answer to the charge of receiving $750 in the same manner.

This Store's Whitewear

has attracted marked attention and caused enthusiastic complimentary remarks—not by one particular class of people, but by representative people of all classes. We dislike egotistical remarks and realize that the foregoing is unnecessary to those who have wandered admiringly through our display—but to those who have not yet become acquainted with the Amazing Variety, Superb Qualities, and the evident "under-reasonable" prices, we think the above representation only fair—fair to those who run the chance of overlooking the opportunity—fair to the store that deserves these pleasant enconiums.

Quality and Style

have always been the watchword of this store's Whitewear selection—but these do not necessarily mean high priced Whitewear. Big buying regulates that and this store's selling capacity enables us to buy largely—sufficiently large to have the best Whitewear makers confine their lines to us in Peterborough. "The Dorothy," a particularly dainty Corset Cover, bound to fit, was confined to us in Peterborough. Why? Because we purchased over 1,200 Covers in 4 styles alone. This style has been sufficiently good for two other stores in Peterborough to use the name—but the "Dorothy" description does not tally with "Dorothy" Covers. A comparison of them would prove it. The "Dorothy" is obtainable only at Sutcliffe & Sons'. As regards Quality comparison—that's out of the question. There are none "just as good". We are perfectly safe in asserting such. A look through will please you and gratify us.

THE RUSSIAN REPLY

A Report Indicating Peace in the Far East.

SAID TO BE SATISFACTORY

Contents of Russia's Answer to Japan Imparted to Several British Officials—Ambassador at St. Petersburg Tells Representative at Tokio, Who Informs Embassy at Washington—Shots Fired.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Associated Press has the authority of the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg for the announcement that the Russian reply, which it is expected will be delivered to-day, is satisfactory. Although no further details are obtainable it is assumed, if the information of the Ambassador is correct, that Russia has made certain concessions and that Great Britain will prevail on Japan to accept them as satisfactory. The statement of the British Ambassador went from St. Petersburg to the British Legation in Tokio, where Mr. Griscom, the American Minister, heard of it and cabled the news to the American State Department.

Jap Warship Fired Across Russian.

London, Jan. 30.—The Che Foo correspondent of The Daily Mail says a foreigner who has arrived there reports that the Russian steamer Argun was fired at by a Japanese warship outside of Chemulpo harbor. Three shots were fired across the Argun's bows, but no further attempt to stop her was made.

Alexieff Somewhat Better.

Viceroy Alexieff is better, the correspondent says, but he is still confined to his room.

Neutral Zone Once Existed.

Berlin, Jan. 30.—Concerning the recent proposal for the establishment of a neutral zone between Corea and Manchuria it is recalled here that such a zone once existed. It lay on the Manchurian side of the Yalu River and was completely devastated and rendered uninhabitable. The late Li Hung Chang eventually succeeded in having this zone incorporated into Manchuria.

Subjected to Grave Risks.

Rome, Jan. 30.—Bishop Mutel, apostolic vicar in Corea, has sent in a report to the Vatican saying that the 10,000 Roman Catholics living in Corea are subjected to grave risks because of the present condition of the country on account of the Russo-Japanese situation.

Turkish Cruiser Medjidia

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—Reiteration of the story of the sale of the Turkish cruiser Medjidia brought forth an emphatic denial yesterday on behalf of the Cramps. It was stated that at no time has there been any negotiations for the sale of the cruiser to either Russia or Japan.

DR. HODGETTS APPOINTED.

Succeeds Dr. Bryce As Secretary of Provincial Board of Health.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—At a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon, Dr. C. A. Hodgetts was appointed Deputy Registrar-General and Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health to succeed Dr. P. H. Bryce, who goes to Ottawa to become medical inspector to the Department of the Interior. Dr. Hodgetts has been connected with the Provincial Board during the last ten years, as temporary inspector the greater part of the time and permanent inspectar for the last three years. He will not take charge until the board meets on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Dr. Bryce's new appointment dates from Feb. 1, but he will remain till after the board meeting.

Short Course at O.A.C.

Guelph, Jan. 30.—This year's short course in steer judging at the Ontario Agricultural College was not so largely attended as usual although 150 men, young and old, took advantage of it. The College was indebted to quite a number of breeders for the loan of beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine, and horses. Not only were these submitted to the students for practical experience in judging, but valuable talks and addresses were given by various competent experts in their respective classes.

A valuable course was also given in grain judging and in identification of the seeds of various weeds, while in the evening addresses were given by members of the staff and prominent outsiders upon a variety of subjects of interest to farmers. The course, which lasted two weeks, is just finished.

Mrs. Colligan Will Die.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 30.—According to reports received from Alfred township yesterday there is very little hope of Mrs. Colligan, wife of the farmer murdered by Clement Coyette last Sunday, recovering. She was brutally beaten by Covette and brain fever has set in. If she dies it will make the third victim of Coyette's bloody work.

Mayor Loses Office.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 30.—As a result of a contract having been made by his legal firm with the city, the election of Mayor G. H. Barnard has been nullified under the Municipal Clauses Act, and an enabling bill will have to be passed by the British Columbia Legislature to reinstate him.

Turkish Troops to Istip.

Salonica, Jan. 30.—The Minister of War has ordered seven battalions of Turkish troops from Monastir to Istip and other points on the Bulgarian frontier.

TO BECOME PARTNER OF MR. THOS. BARRIE.

Mr. Ed. Hylands Will Become Member of the Firm on March 1st.

An interesting business announcement is made elsewhere in this issue, and the gentlemen concerned are being complimented upon the prospects for a business enlargement which the change presages. Mr. Thos. Barrie, who is known throughout Peterborough county as one of the leading furriers, has announced that in a short time he will take into partnership with him, Mr. Ed. Hylands, who it is well known, has been associated with the Barrie store for about eight years in the capacity of fur cutter and designer in which position he has demonstrated his thorough knowledge with every detail of the fur manufacturing business. The experience gained while in Mr. Barrie's employ, which is supplemented to that gained previously in association with such well know firms as G. R. Renfrew, (now Holt & Renfrew,) and Cummings and Sellers, of Toronto, has given Mr. Hylands an insight into first-class furrier trade, which is enjoyed by but few persons, and has enabled him to turn out work, which compares favourably to that manufactured in any of the larger cities.

It is in a large measure due to Mr. Hiland's excellent work that Barrie's furs have attained such an enviable reputation throughout the country and wherever they are known, and with the addition to the firm of Mr. Hylands, the prospects for still further business development and continued success are bright.

The firm will go into the manufacture and sale of furs among the wholesale and retail more extensively than ever with the inauguration of the new business, and dating from March 1st, a new era of business expansion will take place.

THE TRUSTS AND GUARANTEE CO., LIMITED.

Gratifying Report of Last Years Business.

There was a large and representative attendance at the seventh annual meeting of Shareholders of The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, which was held at the office of the Company, 14 King street west, Toronto, on the 27th of January, 1904. The reports of the year's operations presented to the shareholders indicate a highly successful year's business and show a substantial increase in the revenue of the Company. The net profits for the year, after payment of all expenses of operation and management, were sufficient to permit of the payment of a half-yearly dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum and to carry forward a balance of $34,466.92. The amount at the credit of Profit and Loss Account is now $82,918.12. The subscribed capital of the Company is $2,000,000, and the paid-up captial now amounts to over $800,000.

In moving the adoption of the report of the Directors, the President referred to the growing confidence of the public in the management of the Company and appreciation of the facilities the Company affords for the transaction of the various classes of trusts committed to its care. This is indicated by the large increase in volume of the general business entrusted to the Company during the past year as administrator, etc., and the large number of wills which have been made appointing the Company Trustee and Executor.

The retiring Board of Directors was re-elected, and at a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Hon. J. R. Stratton was re-elected President and Messrs. D. W. Karp and C. Kloepfer Vice-Presidents for the ensuing year.

A WIRE CONNECTION

United Pilgrims Diners at London and New York.

IN TOUCH ACROSS THE SEA

Frequent Messages Were Exchanged Direct From the Carleton in London and Delmonico's in New York—How the Intimate Exchange of Courtesies Was Possible Made Manifest to Guests.

London, Jan. 30.—While the American branch of the Pilgrims' Society was giving its dinner last night in New York in honor of Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador to the United States, the English branch of the society celebrated the occurrence with a supper at the Carleton.

Shortly before the Delmonico banquet commenced some seventy of the Pilgrims' Society here sat down at a number of small tables, which were all looped up with telegraph wires, strung on miniature poles and decorated with foliage.

Among those present were: Ambassador Choate, the Earl of Halbury, Lord High Chancellor; Sir Edward L. Durand, brother of Sir Henry; Sir Thomas Lipton, Lord Desrhurst, Lord Fairfax, Secretary Carter of the United States Embassy; the Archdeacon of London and Alexander Siemens. Several well known pilgrims, including Lord Roberts and Admiral Lord Chas. Beresford, who are both ill, sent regrets.

The unique feature of the evening consisted in the installation by a trans-Atlantic cable company of cable instruments in one end of the supper-room. By means of this arrangement frequent messages were exchanged between Delmonico's and the Carleton, so that the English pilgrims felt almost as much in touch with the New York celebration as if they had been actually present.

Two old grandfather clocks, one showing English and the other American time, enabled the guests to keep an eye on the progress of the New York banquet. Strands of the Atlantic cable placed upon the tables enabled the guests to realize the means by which such instantaneous and intimate interchange was possible, in spite of the difficulties of distance and the difference in time.

The name of Sir Henry Mortimer Durand was, when pronounced, given a warm welcome.

A DOUBLE HEADER ARGUMENT.

The Conservatives of Ontario are considerably crushed by the defeat administered to the Opposition candidate in North Oxford, and the Mail and Empire is working hard to convert the defeat into a moral victory. It argues that the normal Liberal majority was greatly reduced. To show this, and to arrive at the normal Liberal vote, the vote polled by the independent candidate at the general election of 1902, is included, a vote largely composed of Conservatives. It thus reaches the consoling conclusion that the Liberal majority has been cut in half. A very weak spot in this calculation is that the figures thus used—the vote of the independent candidate—been claimed as Conservative in Mr. Whitney's figures used to show that he has a popular majority in the province. Of course, once you give figures such ubiquitous elasticity, anything can be morally proven. But as a matter of fact Mr. Munro's majority of 977 is larger than any majority ever polled by Sir Oliver Mowat. North Oxford has been faithful to the Ross Government, and the large majority polled on Tuesday, was obtained only by the help of local organisation, as against the frantic and corrupt efforts of the Conservative machine manipulated by the veteran Birmingham.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canadian railways have been severely criticised this winter for deficient and delayed train service. Many of the complaints made have been done unthinkingly, regardless of the fact that the present winter in its almost unprecedented severity has been largely responsible for these delays. Mr. W. Beaton, prominently associated with railway traffic has just returned from New York, and he reports the same difficulties and delays in connection with American railway lines. A winter like the present is responsible for serious interruption to the course of more conveniences to which we are accustomed than the railways.

Toronto Saturday night, referring to the result of the North Oxford bye-election says: — "The election however, has done this service to the country, it has exposed R. R. Gamey at his true worth. Anything I have said of this man in the past has been justified by his shameless utterances on the platform in Woodstock. He made remarks about a young married couple who have nothing to do with his case, nor with politics, that no man worthy of the name would have uttered. He has not a single defender for his disgraceful utterances. Incapable of shame, oblivious to all sense of propriety, the man himself is not to blame. The fault lies with those who gave him the opportunity to say such things from a public platform. Nor is the Globe blameless for having given the publicity of its columns to his remarks."

The last sentence contains odd logic. A vicious and degraded man may outrage public decency, smash all our conventional ideas of propriety and by the silence of the accredited exposers of wrong doing, the press, be encouraged to pursue his slimy course unmolested.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

THE LESSONS OF THE CONTEST

The press throughout the province recognizes that the result in North Oxford was a rebuck of the Whitney campaign of slander and machine politics, says the Toronto Globe. Even the Woodstock Express, which championed the cause of Mr. Butler, the Conservative candidate, recognizes that the presence of Birmingham and the Tory machine did no good. "Without doubt," it says, "the Opposition would have been much stronger if their organization had been under local management." The Woodstock Sentinel-Review has a moderate article on the contest, which undoubtedly echoes the sentiment of the constituency. It says:

"One has only to compare the returns of yesterday with those of previous contests to appreciate the fact that but for the almost impassable condition of the roads in the rural districts, which made it in all cases extremely difficult to reach the polls and in some cases impossible, Lieut.-Col. Munro's majority would have been three or four hundred larger. As it was it much exceeded that ever given in a Provincial election to a Liberal candidate in a straight fight. The last contest which answered this description was held in 1898, when Sir Oliver Mowat defeated Mr. Charles Wilson, by 821 votes."

With reference to the Tory machine which operated in the riding, it has this to say:

"Our readers all know of the character of the men who have come into this community within the last week or so for the purpose of bringing to bear on the voters those influences which in election campaigns in months and years gone by have been exerted to the poisoning of our political life and the sapping of the moral strength of whole constituencies. North Oxford was flooded with these professional campaigners under the direction of a man with the blackest record, the father of the whole school of Canadian corruptionists, members of which have unfortunately from time to time made their appearance in the Liberal as well as in the Conservative ranks. The leaders who employed these men, it should also be remembered, were those who devoted practically all their addresses to the electors in this and other ridings to denouncing their opponents as steeped in electoral infamy."

The Hamilton Times contributes a thought to the discussion that the Opposition might profitably ruminate upon. "For the shameful conduct and language of the Tory idol," the Times says, the party leaders are as much responsible as if they themselves had done the deeds and uttered the vile words that have called forth the execration of a decent public. The Opposition has no platform but Gamey, no policy but slander, no ideal but office."

SOUR STOMACH AND HEARTBURN.

Are Among the Disagreeable Features of Indigestion—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured Them for Isaac Jenkins and Will do as Much for You.

Indigestion is becoming a menace to the general health of the people of Canada. It is one of those stealthy diseases that creep quietly on its victims—a little discomfort, then a slight ache, growing into pronounced pains till the weakened body of the sufferer is racked with torture and is as well an easy victim for any disease that floats in the air or water.

Under these circumstances no one should neglect his or her stomach. It needs an occasional rest and such rest is best and easiest given in the shape of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest the food themselves, supplying those gastric juices the scarcity of which is the first sign that serious stomach troubles are at hand. They are also a sovereign remedy for any stage of indigestion or dyspepsia.

Isaac Jenkins, of 116 Dundas street, Toronto, says: "I had been troubled with Dyspepsia for one year and could get no relief. I would have a sour stomach and heartburn and could never touch any rich food. I used half a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and am completly cured."

Suicide of William Harvey.

Iroquois, Jan. 29.—William Harvey, a retired Hamilton merchant, committed suicide yesterday at the home of his son-in-law, A. D. Harkness, Irena. Within the last two or three years his wife and daughter have died. He has been despondent since and his family and friends have been uneasy. While alone, he procured his son-in-law's rifle and shot himself. His daughter called her husband, and together they ran to his assistance, to find him just breathing his last. A letter was found in his pocket, in which he asked his children to forgive him for what he was doing, and saying that he could stand the strain no longer, but would go to join his wife and daughter in heaven, and that he hoped to be forgiven.

Alaska Steamer Lost.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 29.—The little steamer Staolin, for the past five years operated on the mail route between Juneau and Sumdum, is believed to have been lost with all on board. Great alarm is felt at Juneau because the Staolin is very much overdue and a number of Juneau people are known to have been on board.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

Canada is a country of magnificent distances, and for that reason development depends primarily on a solution of the transportation problem, says the Globe. The question must be regarded rather as a number of intricate and diversified problems, each district and locality having needs according to its own peculiar circumstances and conditions. Transportation is an essential part of the productive industry of any country. The carrying of grain to market is as essential as ploughing, sowing, and reaping. Agricultural development is no more possible without transportation facilities than without soil or sunshine. The crop that cannot be marketed is virtually worthless. This truth is so well recognized in a general way that it need not be emphasized, but its importance is generally overlooked. Our areas of rich farming land capable of yielding abundance of food, our forest wealth, and rich mineral deposits might as well be under the sea as lacking in transportation facilities, so far as present development is concerned. Until supplies can be delivered and products carried away, productive industry in any form is impossible. This truth has had an unfortunate but practical demonstration in many parts of western Canada. Projected railway lines have led to the establishment of settlements which have wrestled for a time with unfavourable conditoin and dispersed. The land office records show the wholesale abandonment of farms where transportation facilities have failed.

The margin of profit is so narrow in farming and the respective advantages of different countries so evenly balanced that slight differences in transportation facilities are sufficient to divert the tide of settlement. Agriculture will not be carried on at any great distance from railway connections. A comparatively short haul by team, even when roads are kept in good condition, is equal to a long haul by rail or steamboat. Farmers will not permanently locate at any great distance from grain elevators or railway stations. Every grain-producing area must be covered by a network of railed highways to provide for the profitable connection of the producers with their markets. A map of any well settled district shows this essential condition. The carrying of produce to market is a useful industry undertaken for profit, and rests on the same business basis as the cultivation of farms. Under ordinary conditions railway facilities would increase as the demand for them developed. But in a new country of vast area, where growth must extend from many widely-separated centres at the same time, Governmental encouragement is necessary. The Dominion Government has risen to the needs of the occasion in the west and the north by providing for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific. This will make an immense strip of territory available for profitable cultivation, and will establish many new centres from which other lines will radiate.

Cost is naturally the chief consideration in making productive industry possible by railway and othher transportation facilities. Every cent taken from the cost of carrying a bushel of grain from a Canadian farm to the British market is equal to a reduction of one cent per bushel in the cost of production or the addition of one cent per bushel to the price by a British preference. The great increase that would be effected in Canada's wheat production by a British preferential tariff has been frequently discussed. Results equally important can be achieved by proportionate reductions in the cost of reaching the British market. Every reduction in this charge brings new areas within the limits of profitable cultivation. Many farms abandoned under existing conditions could be profitably worked if a slight reduction were made in the cost of reaching markets. The customs tariff imposed at the gateways of the Dominion has rightly received much attention, but it is secondary in importance to the railway tariffs imposed on the highways. Discriminations in the latter have often neutralized the former, and the problem of the immediate future is to minimize the cost of reaching markets, and distributing supplies.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the sure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

HAPPY AND HEALTHY.

A Beautiful Canadian Girl Saved From Catarrh of the Lungs by Pe-ru-na.

MISS FLORENCE KENAH.

Miss Florence E. Kenah, 434 Maria street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"A few months ago I caught a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and remained there so persistently that I became alarmed. I took medicine without benefit, until my digestive organs became upset, and my head and back began to ache severely and frequently.

"I was advised to try Peruna, and although I had little faith I felt so sick that I was ready to try anything. It brought me blessed relief at once, and I felt that I had the right medicine at last. Within three weeks I was completely restored and have enjoyed perfect health since.

"I now have the greatest faith in Peruna." F. E. KENAH.

WOMEN should beware of contracting catarrh. The cold wind and rain, slush and mud of winter are especially conducive to catarrhal derangements. Few women escape.

Upon the first symptoms of catching cold Peruna should be taken. It fortifies the system against colds and catarrh.

The following lotter gives one young woman's experience with Peruna:

Miss Rose Gerbing is a popular society woman of Crown Point, Ind., and she writes the following:

"Recently I took a long drive in the country, and being too thinly clad I caught a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and which I could not seem to shake off. I had heard a great deal of Peruna for colds and catarrh and I bought a bottle to try. I am pleased that I did, for it brought speedy relief. It only took about two bottles, and I considered this money well spent.

"You have a firm friend in me, and I not only advise its use to my friends, but have purchased several bottles to give to those without the means to buy, and have noticed without exception that it has brought about a speedy cure wherever it has been used."—Miss Rose Gerbing.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

British-Grown Cotton in Africa.

London, Jan. 29.—The Duke of Marlborough, Under-Secretary for the Colonies, received a deputation of the British Cotton Growers' Association at the Colonial Office yesterday afternoon. The deputation was much encouraged by the Government's attitude. The Duke expressed the sympathy of the Government with the movement to secure an adequate supply of British-grown cotton. Large areas will immediately be planted in West Africa. The association is satisfied that the work done is past the experimental stage.

OBITUARY.

Sad Death in Charles of Mr. James Menogue.

It is with sincere regret that this community received the announcement of the death under particularly sad circumstances of James Menogue of Chandos, which sad event occurred on Monday morning, January 18th, just one week following the death of a bright little baby brother. He had been suffering for some time with a lingering illness, but his many friends had always looked forward with some degree of hope to his return to health. He had never been confined to his room, but he appeared so much depressed by the little one's death that on the morning following this sad occurrence, a farming symptoms developed and he gradually sank in spite of all efforts to arouse him.

The deceased was only eighteen years of age, and was the second son of Jno. Menogue, ex-reeve of Chandos, now representative in the county council, well and favourably known in this community, particularly bright and intelligent, and beloved by all who knew him. He leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his untimely demise.

He was buried on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock from his late residence, when a large procession followed his remains to his last resting place in the Catholic cemetery.

The pall-bearers were all young friends of the deceased, associated with him in childhood and had played their field games together during his young manhood—members of the Clydesdale foot-ball team. They were Phillip Tanner, Michael O'Brien, John Long, Simon Mahoney and Dennis O'Brien.

At the deceased's own request Rev. Father Phelan, of Young's Point visited him a few days prior to his death.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the sorrowing family in this trying time of their double bereavement.

In writing to the public the announcement of the death of James Menogue, I feel that I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without paying some brief tribute to the memory of one whose loss we all so deeply feel. Although I realize my inability to express the right word, I am confident that I voice the public sentiment when I say he was a favourite with all. As a boy at school not only did he show unusual ability in his studies but in his home he had a neatness, a natural tact, a thoroughness which characterized all that he did. Although sweet and amiable in disposition he had a seriousness unusual in one of his age. Who of us does not remember the sweet boyish face beaming with intelligence, and regret that a life so full of promise should be so brief? If we all miss him, who can know the parents' anguish, as they laid him to rest,—"the casket in the silent tomb, the jewel with the God who gave it."

We who loved him have no wish to remember him as we saw him during these latter months when our hearts were torn by conflicting hope and fear. He rejoiced in his young manhood and the love of life was strong within him, and if he shrank at first from the thought that he must leave this world of beauty and sunshine to lie down in the dark, some silence, his eye seemed to bridge the chasm and see beyond the golden portals.

In the silence of that cold, grey winter morning as with desolate hearts we look upon his dying face let us think that ready upon his wasted brow he felt the breath of the eternal morning and heard the waves break upon the farther shore." He is gone but not forgotten. A. L. H.—Com.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible but tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

It is my experience as a specialist of thirty years. In my book I tell how at last I found a way to reach deep-seated diseases. Thirty years of earnest, ardent toil in hospitals and at bedsides, made it possible for me to write these books.

The books tell how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness, the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves.

That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were 1 in each 40 treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the real truth of my discovery, the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know that I am sincere—that my prescription is unusual."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now to any sick one

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Can be taken at my risk. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk. Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubt as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick. If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them tell me about it. Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help.

Get my book now—to-day. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At druggists.

OLD FICTION IS EXPLODED.

Ontario's Birth Rate Shows Favorably in Comparison with Quebec's —The Tables are Being Turned.

In his report on births, marriages and deaths, in Ontario for the year 1902, which is in course of preparation to be presented to the Legislature at this session, Dr. P. H. Bryce, registrar, makes some comparisons between the natural increase in Ontario and Quebec, which indicate that the popular belief that Quebec is outstripping this Province is a fiction, as far as recent years are concerned. The figures give ground for the belief that by the next census year Ontario may get back some of its lost representation at Ottawa again.

The report will say: "That there is in Quebec the operation of the law of decreasing birth rate with the urbanizing of its population may be seen from the fact that while in 1898 there were 60,345 births and 31,871 deaths, or a population increase of 28,474, in 1901 there were 55,398, or nearly 5,000 fewer births, and 32,219 deaths, or 348 more than in 1898. In other words by the operation of the two factors, the population increase of 1901 was 5,295 persons less, or a gross deduction of 19 per cent., while that of Ontario shows a slight increase in the rate per 1,000 of births over deaths, it being 9.1 as compared with 8.9 in 1898. It seems apparent that the increase in urban populations, when the relative age periods are taken into consideration, does, under the stress of modern life, tend directly to a lessening of population increase when compared with the same people occupied in the more simple and health-giving employments of rural life."

The total births for 1902 were 47,796, as compared with 46,061 in 19011, an increase of 1,735 as compared with a decrease of 66 in 1901. The following counties show increases of over 100: York 595, Algoma 413, Simcoe 106, and Northumberland and Durham 109; while Renfrew alone shows a decrease of over 100, it being 118. The fact that the counties with a large French population should show a decrease, Prescott and Russell having 78, and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry 48, is a point of some interest as probably showing, like Grey, Renfrew and so on, a removal of some of the young adult population to other areas. It is apparent that Algoma has been the centre of most rapid increase in the counties, apart from York, where Toronto, with 599, shows an increase greater than the total increase in the 14 cities together, which have 594.

WINDSOR'S REPUTATION.

The total marriages for the year were 18,072, an increase of 37. Essex County had the highest marriage rate per thousand. In this connection the report will say: "That the city of Windsor is becoming a more than enlarged Gretna Green, where all persons of whatever quality can have the marriage ceremony performed celeriter et jucundissime, is a fact repugnant to that sense of propriety which is supposed to make the social qualities of the Canadian people, and would seem to call for some explanation of why this practice has increased in this extraordinary fashion."

The total deaths for the year were 27,864, as compared with 29,608 in 1901.

Latent Energy.

It has been computed that in a single cubic foot of the ether which fills all space there are locked up 10,000 foot tons of energy which has hitherto escaped notice. To unlock this boundless store and subdue it to the service of man is a task that awaits the electrician of the future.

"Greatest Living Authority on Browning" Pays a Visit to Canada.

A most picturesque figure and one of great importance in the world of literature has recently been before the Toronto public. Hiram Corson, professor of English literature at Cornell University since 1870, the author of a score of volumes, said by Dr. Goldwin Smith to be the greatest living authority on Browning, has concluded a course of lectures for the Conservatory School of Expression with interpretative readings from the greatest English poets. During this course, his talk were such as one reads about, and hears once or twice in a life-time. When he reads, there is a subtle, thrilling quality in his firm resonant voice, which at once soothes and stirs, and the difficult repetition of "Let the King Reign," in the "Song of the Knights," as the close of each stanza was lifted from monotony into an echoing affirmation of the soul's devotion.

Dr. Corson is 76 years of age, and resembles the artist G. F. Watts in features. As he sits with long grey beard and skull-cap, Merlin himself is suggested, even to the quaintly jewelled forefinger. A dry and pleasant humor frequently drew smiles and laughter from the audiences. Our portrait is from the painting by J. Colin Forbes, lately of Toronto.

Mrs. Mather

Was in Misery for Five Years from Neuralgia.

Mrs. P. N. Mather, Vancouver, B. C., who was told by doctors that she would never get rid of her neuralgia, writes thus:—"Neuralgia in the head and face made life a misery for me for five years. The doctors said I would never get rid of it. I had heard so much about Paine's Celery Compound that I determined to give it a trial. After the use of four bottles I am a cured woman and have not been troubled with the disease for five months. I owe my present good health, comfort and happiness to Paine's Celery Compound, and advise all neuralgic victims to use it. It is the best medicine in the world."

BILLY BUNTON'S MINUTE GUN CLOCK.

His Latest Acquisition in the Line of Curiosities.

Mr. William Bunton is a well-known connoisseur in, and collector of, curios. During his recent visit to New York, he secured a decided novelty in the shape of an up-right clock, without hands or dial, which marks the time, very minute-ly — literally, to the minute. It is cylindrical in shape and rests on a pedestal. The works of this unique clock are arranged vertically in relation to the enclosing case instead of horizontally, as in the ordinary time-piece. This clock has no hands, nor dial, yet it marks very plainly the hour and every minute as it passes Upon a vertical shaft are arranged two sets of disks, the upper one displaying the figure denoting the hour, and the other displaying the number of minutes. Suppose the time is 20 minutes after 3, or 3—20, as railway men would say. A minute elapses, and as the figures 20, by the action of the clock disappear, the disk showing 21 is displayed, and so on every successive minute, till 59 is shown. Then as the minute elapses, both sets of figures change precisely at once, and the hour 4 shows upon the upper disk, the lower or minute disk being blank and remains so till one minute goes by, then the time 4—1 is shown.

This unique clock, which is only matched by "Billy's" explosive match, is on display in the window of Sanderson's jewelry store, accompanied by Mr. Bunton's placard, "Watch the minutes fly," and large crowds are attracted by the novelty.

ANNIVERSARY OF GEORGE STREET CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Young a Former Pastor Will Preach To-morrow.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN MARINER.

Captain Henry McDonald Died on Friday After one Week's Illness.

The death occurred yesterday morning at his residence, 11 Wescott street, of Captain Henry McDonald, aged 56 years, a well known Master on the Calcutt Line of Steamers. The late Mr. McDonald had been sick only a week, and his death, which was due to pneumonia, is all the more to be regretted because of the suddenness with which it occurred. The deceased was of a very genial disposition and was very popular with the many persons with whom his business made him intimate. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Procter and one unmarried daughter at home.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

Mr. John Finlay of Norwood, was in town to-day.

Mr. Harry Finnigan, of Toronto, is a guest at the Oriental Hotel.

Mr. G. C. Carruthers has moved from his apartment in the Grand Central Block to 210 McDonel street.

Mr. J. McCarthy, Portage la Prairie, is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McCarthy, 137 Lake street.

Mr. J. Alex. Cuiverwell will read a paper on "The Enlarged Erie Canal adn its Relation to Canadian Waterways," at the meeting of the Engineer Club, of Toronto, on Tuesday, February 2nd.

The many friends of Mr. John Riddell, of South Monaghan, will regret to learn of his severe illness. His physician, however, states that he is doing as well as can be expected under a severe attack of typhoid fever.

A very enjoyable dance was held yesterday evening in the Oddfellows Hall, given by a number of the young ladies of the town. It was attended by an exclusive circle, and Mr. Jos. Halpany's orchestra supplied the music. The patronesses were Mrs. F. A. Lount and Mrs. J. A. Aylmer.

New York, Jan. 30.—Among the passengers who sailed to-day by the S. S. Graf Waldersee are Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough, with Mrs. Langfeldt and their little daughter Dorothy. Mr. Langfeldt will spend three months in Germany.

Mr. William Shea is severing his connection to-night with the firm of Gough Bros., to take a position as solicitor in town for the Great West Life Assurance Company, under Mr. R. J. Williamson, the District Agent. Mr. Shea has had practical experience in the insurance line, and is worthy of a hearing.

The popularity of Mr. W. Bunton, our esteemed up-town Grand Trunk ticket agent extends beyond local circles. He was selected to personally conduct an excursion from Toronto to New York, and returned last night. At the last meeting of the Canadian Ticket Sellers' Association Mr. Bunton was one of two selected to go to St. Louis, to arrange for the excursion of the Association to the World's Fair next May. This shows that Mr. Bunton possesses in a high degree the confidence of the Association, for the slowest members would not be selected for so important a mission.

A Peterborough correspondent writes to the Globe:—Despite the storm of Tuesday, the at home given by Mrs. J. Harris McClellan for her guest, Mrs. Frederick Duggan of Toronto, was a pronounced success. The pretty drawing-room, with its bright fire and artistic floral decorations in red, was a delightful contrast to the stormy elements outside. The decorations in the tea room were pink carnations and asparagus fern, and the table was exquisite in its dainty colouring and tasteful arrangement, the colour scheme being carried out in the ices, cakes and bon-bons. Those assisting in the tea room were, Mrs. Lount, Mrs. Fortie, Mrs. Grubbe, Miss Hall, Miss Alma McCollum, Mrs. Hughes-Charles, Miss Bradburn, Miss Pearce, Miss Hay, Miss Annie Hall.

POLITICAL VENOM.

A letter has been sent out from Toronto to several Conservative newspaper satisfaction that Hon. J. R. Stratton looks ten years older than he did a year ago. This amiable letter, adds that "The jaunty air which characterized him, stayed with him for a a time, but it is gone now. He looks worn, his hair is grayer than it was and not so well attended to. Personally he is not so well groomed." This delicate rubbish is adorned with headings showing still more gloating over assumed signs of personal deterioration. For instance one newspaper—the Ottawa Citizen, adorns the letter with this heading, "Mr. Stratton is Aging"—"Sunny Jim's Smile is Wearing off they Say." Such chivalrously delicate attentions to a public man reveal the nobler sides of our humanity and should rehabilitate our erring human nature in the eyes of the most cynical. One is surprised that these delicate inquisitions into the personal and private life and characteristics of a public man should not have extended to a falling off in the quality of his linen or his underwear, the brand of cigars or have included what the breakfast menu is. It must be admitted that Hon. Mr. Stratton is growing older. It seems to be a settled policy of nature that a man should grow older as time advances. It must be admitted that Mr. Stratton is ten years older than he was in 1894—this is an undisputed fact. It may also be quite true that as a member of a family where the hair whitens at an early age, "silver threads among the gold" are a little in evidence. The eagle-eyed correspondent of the reptile Conservative press must be credited with great perspicacity and a mastery of detail, in compiling the letter mentioned, which displays so much good taste, so affecting a regret in noting evidences of deterioration in a political opponent.

The letter mentioned represents the latest stage of the systematic attacks not altogether referable in motive to his obscurity in public affairs, that have been made upon Mr. Stratton. Last year this campaign was represented by charges, from which, under the most searching investigation possible, he was completely exonerated. Yet the venom which has pursued him in the form of the most violent series of slanderous attacks, that have ever disgraced the Legislature or the public platform, continue in varied form. Under these attacks Mr. Stratton has pursued the even tenor of his way, still alert and vigourous as of yore in prosecution of his public duties, and still as genial of demeanor, still as well qualified—and better by years of experience and matured judgment — to discharge the public duties whit which he is intrusted. His political enemies who have pursued him with such relentless ferocity would no doubt rejoice if their vindictiveness had resulted, as it has not done, in premature physical decay or shattered peace of mind. A political party must be indeed desperate that will resort to such means to undermine the influence of an opponent.

Even if Mr. Stratton does, in common with other men, show some signs of the effects of the strenuous life, the onerous and responsible duties of his department, the largest in the Government of the Province, his representative duty and his large business interests, all promptly and adequately attended to, would furnish a reasonable explanation to a decent man. In all these relations there are few men in public life who work harder and with better results than Mr. Stratton.

BABY'S DANGER.

The fact that so-called soothing medicines put children to sleep is no sign that they are helpful. On the contrary they are dangerous and distinctly harmful—the little one has been merely drugged into temporary insensibility, the seat of the trouble has not been reached. Never give a child an opiate except under the watchful eye of a competent physician, and remember that all "soothing" medicines contain opiates. When your little one is not well, when it has any little stomach or bowel trouble, or any of the minor ailments of little ones, give it Baby's Own Tablets, and it will be safe. This medicine is sold under a guarantee that it contains no opiate or harmful drug. Ask any mother who has used this medicine and she will tell you how her little one has thrived and grown well and strong after taking the Tablets. Mr. T. B. Mitchell, the well-known druggist, Oshawa, Ont., says., "I can safely recommend Tablets from the splendid results they have given my customers and from having used them in our own home." You can get the Tablets from any druggist or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., at 25 cents a box.

Special Services.

Evangelist Stephens, of Toronto, began a series of special services at Bethany Tabernacle Wednesday evening. The evangelist is a singer as well as a speaker, and has an aptness of presenting his subjects in a way that readily appeals to both heart and mind, and leads to definite action along right lines. Contrary to former announcements there will be a service to-night, also to-morrow morning, afternoon and evening, and each night next week.

HASTINGS HEARS A SOCIALIST LECTURE.

Mr. James Simpson Spoke to a Crowded House There Last Night.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Hastings, Jan. 30. — Mr. Jas. Simpson of Toronto, and President of one of the Socialistic Clubs of that city, delivered a forceful lecture here last night on Socialism,, and as a result it is very probable that a Socialistic Club will be formed. The lecture was free of charge, and was largely attended, Mr. L. F. Clarry occupying the chair. After his convincing talk the lecturer was assailed with questions, all of which he easily, and moreover, satisfactorily, answered.

The speaker was the unsuccessful candidate for East Toronto at the last Provincial election.

A CHANCE NOW FOR ARTIE EDMUNDS.

Pete Barry will Match Him for a Boxing Bout.

The Toronto Star last night had the following:

Manager "Billy" Breen writes from Peterborough that if Artie Edmunds is looking for a boxing bout he will match Pete Barry against him at 125 lbs ringside for $50 a side. Mr. Breen says: "This is business, not advertising, and if Mr. Edmunds doesn't desire the match it is open to anyone else in Toronto, first come, first served." Mr. Breen can be found at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough. Edmunds stated to-day that he would accept the challenge if the amount was raised to $100 a side and Mr. Breen posts his money in the hands of a responsible party. Edmunds says he is ready to fight or wrestle at 24 hours' notice.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough II and T. A. S. Played Close Game Last Night —The Late News of Canada's Winter Game.

PETERBOROUGHS WON BY NARROW MARGIN.

T. A. S. Team Gave Winners a Hard run for the District Championship.

One of the Fastest Games Played in the League This Season core was 2-1.

After a hard fight Peterborough II defeated the T. A. S. in a Trent Valley League game last night by the narrow margin of 2 to 1, thus becoming winners of this district. On the whole the game was very exciting and from start to finish it was a toss-up as to which would win. At the very beginning of the game the T. A. S. scored, and later in that half the Peterboroughs tallied again, the score at half time remaining at 1 all. Towards the latter end of the second half the Peterboroughs scored and at those numbers, 2—1, the game concluded. The winning team put up a great game, as they have in all their matches of the season, and they deserved to win.

THE GAME.

When the game began the two teams were facing each other as follows:

Peterborough II.		T. A. S.
	Goal.
Wasson		McCoy
	Point.
Glover		Meagher
	Cover Point.
McPherson		Crowley
	Rover.
Lee		Parnell
	Centre.
Morgan		Lynch
	Right Wing.
Renton		George
	Left Wing.
Ford		McGrath
	Goal Umpire
A. Smith		Picard
	Time-keeper.
Cavanah		Turcott

Play was opened by the T. A. S. rushing the puck into the Culls' territory and within the first minute Crowley had scored. This seemed to open the Culls' eyes, and when the rubber had been faced off it was immediately taken into the T. A. S. half where there was some hot work done for about five minutes, the Peterborough forward line being efficiantly kept in check by Crowley and Meagher, the former especially. From that on the puck travelled now into one end of the ice and then into the other while the middle ice was continually the scene of some tall hustling. Throughout the game the Peterborough team had a slight advantage. Although it was but little it was seen in the way which the T. A. S. were pressed. However the Culls had no cinch and that was very evident right from the first. The opposing forward line soon demonstrated their ability and from the first part of the half it must be confessed that the outcome was very doubtful, and was if anything in favour of the T.A.S.

The Culls' defense shined up in the way in which they played their game, keeping their positions and heads.

Wasson in goal had some tough shots to stop and the one that did go through was not his fault. In the second half especially his net was assailed with some high shots, all of which he successfully stopped and moreover, satisfactorily cleared. Many a brilliant save was noticed by the crowd and the goal keeper was cheered in accordance with his work.

Glover at point put up a grand defence and his long lifts were quite a feature of the second half. He watched the opponent forward line well and broke up many a little tricky rush.

MacPherson at cover did some fine checking and generally did good work. Always on the alert, he was able to check the T. A. S. forward men well and with visible effect.

Morgan at centre played an excellent game. His working was clean and his runs superb. His clever stick handling was a source of dismay to the opponents' defense.

Gordon Lee, as rover played a dashing game. Full of go, Lee set up a fast clip from the start and kept it up, frequently outskating the rest.

Ernie Ford and Renton at left and right respectively played some fast hockey, especially in the latter half, when they kept up the fast gait with great success.

The T. A. S. played equally energetically and great credit is due them, especially the forward line.

McCoy at goal had a hot time with the winners' forwards pelting at him, but he warded many an ugly shot off with marked success.

Meagher at point played a good solid game and although his work was not what is termed brilliant, on him was involved some heavy work.

Crowley's game was certainly excellent. It was very noticeable how he succeeded in intercepting many a pass thus breaking up from time to time some great combination on the part of the Culls' forward.

Parnell as rover put up a very strong game and did some very pretty and effective playing. He was fast and handled his stick excellently.

Geo. Lynch at centre showed up well of blood down his face showed up well in his position and for himself put up some fast hockey.

McGrath and George were also prominent throughout the game and the forward line as a whole was certainly a good one and worked well together.

The game was witnessed by a fair-sized crowd and excitement ran high.

Referee Roach gave good satisfaction on the whole.

During the game nineteen men were ruled off, ten being T. A. S. and nine, Culls.

PORT HOPE WON THE FAST JUNIOR GAME.

Locals Played There Last Night—Score was 7—6.

In the junior O. H. A. yesterday the Peterborough team was defeated by the Port Hope Hope septette at Port Hope, the score being 7 to 6. The game was very singular in some points. Port Hope began by scoreing four boals, but Peterborough went on by making five in succession, and the half time score was 6 to 5 in Peterborough's favour. However in the second Period the Port Hope boys completely broke up the visitors' forward line. It was the superb defense which they put up that won them the game. The locals played a good game and it is stated that the match was the fastest in junior hockey which has ever been played there. About the middle of the first half Bob Parker, of Peterborough was hurt and had to retire until the beginning of the second period. It was in the second period that they won and it is claimed that Referee Brown, of Port Hope, slightly favoured his team.

The Peterboroughs' team was composed of: Goal, Van Every; point, Paschal, cover point, Parker; forwards, Lang, Kennedy, Hall and Smith. Goal umpire, Thornton and time keeper, V. Hamilton. Referee, Geo. Brown, Port Hope.

PUCKERINGS.

In view of the fact that the Review hockey team has from the start blocked all efforts made by the noble Examiner septette's manager to arrange a date upon which to play the game between the teams, it is a little surprising that they should accuse the Examiner of flunking whenever they would suggest choosing a date. But in order to satisfy them (if such a thing be possible) the Examiner now announcing that the team representing this journal will be on the ice on Thursday night, February 4th, at 9 o'clock, prepared to meet the seven which the Review, after the most strenuous efforts and under the influence of all kinds of fabricated promises, has beena ble to get together. It is reported that Reginald Nehemiah Jolliffe, who has been appointed trainer for the team, gets the men on the ice near the Ashburnham shore of the Otonabee River every evening for a work-out. There are rumors however, to the effect that the players are rebelling against his lax methods of directing the nightly practices.

It has been suggested that a charge of te ncents be made to spectators of the game, the receipts to be given to the Children's Aid Society or to the Home for Incurables, for the benefit of the Review team.

* * * *

What would, no doubt, have proved a very exciting game of hockey was billed to come off from 10 to 11 between the Auburn Bouncers, a speedy aggregation from the north, and the All Saints' septette, the terrors of Little Lake. Notwithstanding the fact that the managers of both teams had agreed upon their men crossing sticks immediately after the T.A.S.-Peterborough II game, the All Saints failed to make an appearance, much to the regret of the Auburns and their supporters who, though not numerous were there ready to yell for their favourites. The men from the north were on the ice eager for the contest, and the non-appearance of the opposing team was a great disappointment. After the Trent Valley game the Auburns, who are a husky, well balanced bunch, indulged in an hour's stiff practice, during which they showed up in good form.

A PROTEST.

This afternoon Secretary E. S. Clarry received a formal protest from the T. A. S. against Morgan whom they claim was illegible to play.

CHALLENGE

The 5th Ward Juniors hereby challenge the Y. M. C. A. Intermediate team to a friendly game of hockey on Monday night, February 1st, on the latter's ice.

The Auburn Bouncers hereby challenge any of the local amateur hockey teams, T. Barrie's or Wm. Hamilton's preferred.—E. Belleghem, captain.

AS TO NICKNAMES.

Given Often For Absurd Reasons, and Generally They Stick.

"Wonderful how names stick to a person," said the observant man. "There were two nice little women in our village who came on us one evening, and we offered them popcorn which the children had just brought in from the kitchen. They refused, but not so emphatically as to keep us from giving them two heaping plates of the corn. We kept refilling the plates and they kept crunching all the evening. There was something so funny about it that I called them 'The Popcorn Ladies,' and the name has stuck to them so that the whole village knows them by it.

"I once knew a man who talked incessantly in a high pitched voice, and a bright girl dubbed him 'The Chirper.' The name was quickly passed around among the young people, and now the greater part of his friends know him by that name. A dignified young woman of my acquaintance goes by the name of 'Whont' to this day because when she was a little girl she used to call herself 'Mrs. Whont' when she played grownup ladies, and the family picked it up. She simply can't shake the absurd name.

"More than one red haired man is known by the name of 'Pink' and philosophically accepts the title. I have an acquaintance who holds a responsible position who is known by the name of 'Dotty.' It seems that one day a mischievous girl discovered that he had three prominent dimples. She promptly dubbed him 'Dotty Dimple,' and now he is known to all his associates as 'Dotty.' Another man of my acquaintance is always called 'Bluebeard' because he has such a white and thin skin that if he does not shave daily his beard shows blue through it. That name, too, came through a woman's quick wit.

"In a certain household a very feminine little woman is still called 'The Boy' because when she was a young girl she went through a serious illness which made it necessary to cut her hair short. Her younger sister said she was 'the boy' of the family, and the dainty lady is still called by that absurd name.

"An effeminate man was once called 'Viola' by one of the boys in the office, and now we know him by nothing else. Another one of the boys in the office is always called 'Chesty,' and, though he got angry at first, he has cheerfully accepted the new name now.

"Our bookkeeper is always putting in his oar when it is not at all necessary, and I think now he will be known until the end of time as 'General Butts.' A friend of mine who is always called 'Cheerful' does not know whether he is called that because his friends believe he has a cheerful disposition or because they consider him a cheerful idiot. But, at any rate, he can't shake the name." —Milwaukee Sentinel.

IN DELAY IS DANGER

A fatal ending often follows a neglected weakness of the kidneys. Watch their action, and as soon as it changes from normal, or you have any of the following symptoms:

Backache, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, Puffiness under the Eyes, Dropsy of the Extremities, Bowel or Urinary Irregularity, Rheumatic Aches or Pains,

Use Trade-Mark Bu=Ju

The Kidney Pill That Cures

All Kidney Ailments and Rheumatism. For rheumatism is due to excess of uric acid in the blood, which is expelled by Bu-Ju and the disease eradicated.

Dyspepsia, neuralgia and headache are often caused by disordered kidneys. These organs are the sewers of the body, and if they become clogged or weakened dangerous results follow at once. The poisonous matter re-enters the blood and passes through the entire system.

UNTIL THE KIDNEYS ARE MADE WELL, YOU CAN NEVER BE WELL

The latest product of medical experience and skill in kidney and allied ailments is found in Bu-Ju. All the old and tested remedial agents, and all the new discoveries, are utilized in its composition. It is the up-to-date remedy for kidney diseases and rheumatism of whatever character.

Bu-Ju is put up in red and green boxes; 50 pills, 50 cents. All druggists sell it. Do not accept worthless substitutes.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE BEATEN AGAIN.

Mary Malcolm's Life Was Measured by Days and Hours.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Had Her Able to be out in a Week.

Another Remarkable Cure Brought Out by the Collingwood and Elington Cases.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The interest in medical circles here over the cures of Mrs. Adams, of Collingwood, and Mrs. Philip, of Eglinton, of Bright's Disease, has been given fresh fuel by another and yet more startling cure of that same terrible ailment. This latest case is that of a young girl, Mary Malcolm, who lives with her parents at 199 Marlborough Avenue, this city.

DEATH SEEMED SURE.

This cure is little short of miraculous. Miss Malcolm was in the clutches of Bright's Disease from May until September, and had sunk so low that her life was measured by days if not by hours. Hope had given place to a certainty of death, and her friends had turned to the sad task of preparing her grave clothes. These last ghastly garments are now in the house, but Mary Malcolm is a strong hearty maiden who can look on them without even a shudder of fear. Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the change. Here is the story as told by the girl's mother, Mrs. W. Malcolm:

"My daughter, Mary, who is now fourteen years old, was taken suddenly ill with Bright's Disease in May, 1902. We had the doctor and continued with him till September, 1902, when he said he could do nothing more for her. She was so swollen with Dropsy as to be almost unrecognizable.

CURE WAS QUICK

"From a book dropped in at the door, we learned of Dodd's Kidney Pills and as a last resort determined to try them. They gave her relief from the very beginning, so much so that in one week we were able to take her out to Munro Park for an afternoon.

"After taking four boxes, she was entirely cured and she has never had the slightest relapse. We can never say too much for Dodd's Kidney Pills, as they certainly saved my daughter's life."

And Mary, the daughter on whom Bright's Disease had pronounced the sentence of death, now a picture of healthy girlhood, smiled a cheerful assent to her mother's statement and chimed in, "If I am ever sick again I will take nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is hardly necessary to add that proof piled on proof has convinced the public that Bright's Disease is curable and that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the cure; that if the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys the one unfailing remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Beaconsfield's "Don'ts."

An inquiring and aspiring person once asked Beaconsfield to tell him the secret of social success. "Never discuss the authorship of the 'Letters of Junius,'" was the reply.

Beaconsfield's biographer, Mr. Wilfrid Meynell, adds something positive to this witty negative rule for getting on in the world. A distinguished member of parliament begged the Victorian statesman to tell his young son something to remember, something that would help to make him an agreeable and popular member of society.

Beaconsfield hedged. "Model yourself after your father," he said to the lad.

This was not altogether satisfactory, and the M. P. insisted upon a definite rule of conduct.

"Well, my boy," said Beaconsfield, "be amusing. Never tell unkind stories. Above all, never tell long ones."

A Large Fish.

An Englishman visiting Lake Tahoe asked a native if there was any good fishing in the lake.

"Oh, yes, stranger."

"What kind of fish do you catch here?"

"Oh, all kinds, stranger."

"What is the weight of the largest fish you ever caught?"

"Waal, stranger, we don't take weighing machines when we goes fishing, and I am an honest man and wouldn't like to say how much that last trout I caught would weigh. But I tell you, stranger, that when I pulled that fish out of the water the lake went down a foot."—Birmingham Post.

Severely Practical.

"Don't you sometimes wish you could write your name on the scroll of fame?"

"I'm not worrying about that," answered Senator Sorghum. "The scroll of fame isn't the book that the bank cashier turns to when you want a check certified."—Washington Star.

THE RURAL HISTORIAN.

Consideration of Mr. R. W. Dillon's Paper on the Country Correspondent at a Meeting of the Press Association.

At a meeting of the Canadian Press Association Mr. R. W. Dillon read a paper to prove that there is a reason for the existence of the country correspondence, says The Mail and Empire. Is this not carrying the joke on the rural reporter a little too far? To be made game of by the wags of the evening press, to have his stuff snipped out of its native columns and served up as laughing-stock for polite readers, is something he is supposed to enjoy; but to have it calmly debated whether or not his usefulness is above zero is more than the most long-suffering butt can be expected to put up with.

His Function.

Since the country correspondent has being—and that, too, by the consent and for the purposes of the editors of local weeklies—it would be courteous and not illogical for these gentlemen to let it stand as postulated that he is not altogether uncalled for. Mr. Dillon, however, is not a man who is satisfied with empiricism. He determined to ascertain by rigorous scientific enquiry what function, if any, the country correspondent has. After the vivisection of a number of specimens, the editor from St. Mary's found that the country correIpondent has an office which there is nothing else in the newspaper organism to perform. The man who sends in news from the cross-roads is no mere vermiform appendix of provincial journalism. Nor is his part in the newspaper economy solely to furnish reprint, rich in incongruity, for the dailies whose shears lie in wait for stuff to fill their comic columns. Mr. Dillon finds that the country correspondent should survive and flourish, not altogether for the droll figure he cuts at a distance, but because he is a necessary evil.

Promotes Circulation.

Very commonly the country correspondent is a wit. He has an arch way of telling of the top buggy drawn by a white-footed horse, that was seen at an unnamed hour going up a certain road. He will perhaps add that a red-headed young man he knows of had better look lively, for faint heart never won fair lady. At such pleasantries, seen in their local paper, some of the people of the neighborhood will laugh, and some perhaps will express wrath. But the news will be understood, and more or less commented on. That is the main thing from the editor's point of view. He wants his matter to circulate among the people it concerns. A majority of the dwellers in a given hamlet may vote the correspondent an idiot, many of them may brand him as a liar, and not a few denounce him as a miserable eavesdropper, but if he is personal enough they will want to see what he writes. That is to say, they will have strictly local motives for reading the paper. As the editor is in business not so much for making money as to benefit the public, he is in most cases willing to add to his list the names of all who pay strictly in advance the very low rates he asks. A dozen local correspondents could swell at least the borrowing demand for the paper, multiplying the number of readers, whether or not they increased the number of subscribers. They could, too, if sufficiently enterprising, keep up a dozen separate ferments in one county. News makes news. Suppose the subject is a church row; it can be handled in a way to set by the ears the inhabitants of several thousand acres. If rivals in love are the theme of the writer's gifted pen, he can bring about family feuds, and perhaps divide the countryside into two warring camps.

His Influence.

What is a country place without a correspondent? Its people live in pastoral peace, and in a state of simplicity that would be thought hugely comical by some of our humorists. The first few artless paragraphs reported by the correspondent who finally installs himself in such a spot are usually so commonplace that they strike outsiders as irresistibly funny. If he is busy enough, he will soon waken the place out of its lethargy, and perhaps make some of the residents rue the day he began taking notes among them. He will have a moral influence that will make itself felt through his letters. Men who were never known to boast before will fall into the habit of bragging for publication. Every exceptionally big pumpkin raised will be weighed and described by the newspaper man. When Farmer X. sells his team of Clydesdales, the news will be bruited abroad, the team lauded, the cash consideration mentioned, and the farmer himself referred to by a shortened form of his Christian name. Vanity will be cultivated.

Is All the News Got?

A country newspaper that has a corps of good correspondents in the field of its circulation is always attractive. As sources of news the country places are by no means exhausted, even by force-pumping methods of the most active reporters. Much that would be exceedingly readable is rejected because it seems too little out of the common.

Reprinted in the dailies, some of the items gleaned from the country correspondents' columns have an incongruity that moves to mirth, though there may be nothing odd-looking about them in their own habitat. They are effective everywhere. At home they are news, abroad they are jokes, their humorous element being none the less enjoyable because the author is unconscious of it. From the siftings of country correspondence a volume could be compiled, whose interest would be by no means merely local or ephemeral. In the letters of the country correspondent of to-day the historian of the future will find pictured the manners and customs of rural life. But it is not the historian of the future the correspondent or his editor is supposed to be thinking about.

The Worship of Heavenly Bodies.

In central India both sun and moon are worshiped by many tribes, such as the Korkus, Khonds, Tungsees and Buraetes. The Khonds adore the powers of nature, as the gods of the bison, tiger, hill and cholera, but all these deities occupy a far inferior position to the heavenly bodies. In the Deccan some of the aboriginal tribes also acknowledge the sun and moon by an act of reverence.—London Standard.

Why Men Die.

Barring accidents, men live just as long as nature continues to supply the waste which is constantly going on in the human economy. We say "He died of old age," that just means that owing to failing powers, the waste exceeded nature's power to repair and death resulted inevitably. If people would live just right, eat just the right kind of food, work just hard enough, take proper exercise, clothe themselves just right and refrain from worry, nature could probably be depended upon to carry them to a ripe old age.

In these days, however, this ideal life is practically impossible and nature must have assistance to repair the extra waste entailed by modern conditions.

MRS. PEPPER'S TACTICS

By HARRIET WHITNEY

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

It was 7 o'clock Monday morning, and the smoke of Louisy Cottonwood's wash fire in the back yard was threading its blue haze into the fresh, early air.

Louisy's father, Lyman Cottonwood, striking out 'cross lots, lagged a little while he started his after breakfast cob pipe. His gaze dwelt ruminatively upon the big ash hopper a few moments, then traveled back to the form of his daughter just appearing from the smokehouse with a tub in her arms.

"Louisy!"

The young woman turned her head around, set her tub upon a backless chair and came forward, her low, flat shoes patting softly over the short "goose grass." Her figure looked skimp in its blue calico washing gown; her locks were hempy in color and not too plentiful; she had gathered them up high and twisted them so tightly that the outer corners of her eyes were drawn upward like those of a Chinese woman.

"Louisy," said her father, leaning an elbow on a corner of the hopper, "I was goin' to tell you an' furgot the Widder Pepper's a-comin' up today fer a basket o' windfall Spy apples to make dumplin's, an' I gotter be at Harris' all day helpin' thrash. You show 'er where the good ones is at, an' don't you sass 'er none; y' understand?"

"I ain't carin' how many Spy apples she gathers. Reckon apples wasn't the only thing you an' her was settlin' about yes'day evenin'."

"Well," Lyman looked off slantwise across the hopper, "I got 'er penned up es cloat es you ever kin pen a woman. The darned contrary birds won't never give you a square out 'yes' till atter the preacher's sent fer. But you kin count on havin' a stepma before pumpkins is ripe."

"I wouldn't think, then, paw," Louisy's voice became mildly reproachful, "seein' how happy you're a-goin' to be, you'd begrutch me—an'—an'—Sam"—

Her father came up from his lounging attitude with a jerk.

"Louisy Jane Cottonwood, how many times I gotter tell you that's diffrunt? Now, listen yere"—he ticked off his points with the forefinger of his right hand in the spread palm of the left—"I told you the whutfors an' whysos yes'day, an' that's nuff said. An' now listen at this: Ef I don't find Sam Dorkins at Harris' thrashin' today it's a sign he's over yere, an' ef he is you'll see me back, an' you'll see me bounce Sam over the fence into the bresh quick enough to jolt his ears crooked. Now, mind whut I've told you."

Louisy shed so many tears over her wash that morning that when the fat little Widow Pepper came with her basket she cast many sharply inquisitive glances at the red rims of the forlorn maiden's eyes.

"Looky here, Louisy Cottonwood," said she at length as the two trudged up to the orchard, "you ain't been actin' the baby 'cause your paw wants to marry ag'in, hev you?"

"Louisy shook her head.

"I wouldn't care a speck if he married tomorrow if he'd have the manners to leave me an' Sam Dorkins alone."

"Humph," said the widow. "Whut's he layin' up against Sam?"

"Nothin' particklar, but he 'lows there's no sense of me a-marryin' fer half a dozen years er so. He's countin' on takin' a lot of city folks to board of summers after you an' him air married, an' he says two women 'll be needed to cook fer 'em."

"Well, I say!" Mrs. Phebe Pepper brought the exclamation out with a chop. Then she stepped in the path and laughed with a heartiness that threatened to break her apron strings. Mrs. Pepper was short and wide, and her little round, dark face expressed a mixture of good nature, shrewdness and obstinacy.

"He's a curious old plant, your paw is," said she, "but I've jist got this to say: Ef any man o' mine ever takes any summer boarders he'll do the cookin' er else he'll hire it done."

Louisy shook her head dissentingly.

"You'll think different when paw gets you."

"He ain't got me yit," said the widow cheerfully. "Looky here, Louisy, how old air you?"

"Thirty-three," confessed Louisy, with a slight blush.

"The law me! An' you're scared to marry without your paw says you kin?"

The blush widened, taking in Louisy's ears.

"You don't know paw," said she dismally.

"Couldn't more than kill ye, could he?"

"Some folks' tongues is worse than killin'."

The widow trudged forward in silent self communion, which lasted until they reached the Northern Spy apple tree. Louisy began to fill the basket with the bright streaked windfalls, but Mrs. Pepper plumped herself down comfortably into the clover.

"Sam Dorkins is goin' on forty," said she meditatively. "He's a sight nigher to my age than yours."

Louisy paused suddenly in her task and looked questioningly at the widow.

"Oh, I was jest a-thinkin'," the latter observed carelessly, biting juicily into a big apple. "Me an' Sam was allers good friends. Better stop now, Louisy. That's many es I kin pack."

* * * * * * *

Lyman Cottonwood was in the narrow lane between his turnip field and his tobacco patch stopping a gap in the fence when a thudding of feet on the mellow earth drew his attention. A broad shouldered fellow was swinging briskly along with an ax on his shoulder.

"Hello, Unc' Lyme!" he hailed cheerfully.

"Here, you, Sam Dorkins." Lyman barred his way with belligerent elbows. "This yere lane's a private one, ef you want to know it, an' you've gotter keep 'way from Louisy Cottonwood, whether you want to know it er not."

"I ain't agoin' to tote the lane off with me, ner Louisy neither. I wasn't aimin' to stop yere. Didn't know es I'd spile the lane goin' through it to the Widder Pepper's."

"Widder Pepper's!" bawled Lyman frantically. "Whut business you goin' anywhere nigh the Widder Pepper?"

"Come, now, Uncle Lyme," grinned Sam, "don't hev a fit. Reckon I kin go chop a little stove wood fer a good lookin' widder without you floppin' up like a skyrocket. I've knowed the widder a many a year."

"I don't keer a con-taked turnip seed whut you've knowed," foamed Lyman. "The widder kin git stove wood without you a-cuttin' it. You take an' let that widder alone er you shuck off yer coat an' watch out fer me."

"Sure now," returned Sam, "you know I'm a younger man 'n you, Uncle Lyme; better not be too biggoty. You may think you're the only speckled bean in the hill, but widders is notionated an' kin fly about t'other way as easy es a flapjack. An' the country's free, es I've heard say. There's no statute that says two men shan't spark one widder, an' I reckon my chances is good es yours ef I choose to stake 'em right hearty. You kin fence me off from Louisy, but you can't fence me off from the widder."

"I kin send you flyin' over them rails," declared Lyman wrathfully.

"Well, now, I ain't right shore it 'd be good policy to tackle the job," said Sam argumentatively. "You got right smart of rheumatis, ye know, Uncle Lyme. Ye might pitch me over—an' ye mightn't. Now, I'll tell you whut: The widder's in need of stove wood. I shall go there an' cut it for her an' stay to supper, 'reise I'll loan you my ax an' leave you go cut the wood for her, an' I'll go in an' talk to Louisy a spell. Which 'll it be?"

Lyman leaned against the rail fence, his brain whizzing with new battery ideas. The desirability of the widow had increased tenfold since this bold rival had proclaimed himself so determinedly. What was Louisy in comparison? The ideas came to a focus. He stepped forward resolutely.

"Han' over the ax," he said briefly, "an' go 'long in. Louisy's ironin'. You an' her kin be es big fools es you want."

When Mrs. Phebe Pepper, looking from her doorway, saw Mr. Lyman Cottonwood coming up the walk with Sam's ax on his shoulder her black eyes sparkled with fun.

"I 'lowed that would fetch Lyme ef Sam worked it all right," she said to herself with a smothered chuckle, "an' mighty lucky thing fer Louisy Cottonwood her futur stepmaw's got a leetle grain o' gumption, seein' Louisy don't know no more'n a goslin' how to tend to her own love affairs."

February 2, 1903.

I was feeling bad; was sleepy all the time; as soon as I ate my meals I would fall asleep if I did not go out. Saw the doctor two or three times, but that did me no good. I was in the drug store and picked up one of your little booklets and read about Iron-ox Tablets being good for the liver; took about four boxes and that tired feeling was gone. I felt like a new man. Iron-ox Tablets cured me.

LOVE

Often leads to poverty. No real woman ever sold her heart for the luxuries of life. But many a woman who has gladly faced poverty for the man she loved, may well doubt her wisdom when pain becomes the mate of poverty. If she were rich, she thinks, she could find a way of cure.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"You have my heartfelt thanks for your kind advice to me," writes Mrs. Geo. Fletcher, of 196 Victoria Avenue, Galt, Ontario. "Was troubled with catarrh of uterus for over a year. The doctors said I would have to go through an operation, but I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also his 'Lotion Tablets' and 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories.' Now I am completely cured, after using six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am glad to say his medicine has made me a new woman."

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

Pickwickian Love Letters.

A book on William IV. recalls the fact that the love letters produced by Mr. Serjeant Buzfuz at the Pickwick-Bardell trial were patterned after letters actually used as evidence in the suit brought by the worthless George Norton against Lord Melbourne when he was prime minister of the "Sailor King."

Three letters from Melbourne to Mrs. Norton were discovered. They were as follows:

I will call about half past 4. Yours,
MELBOURNE.

How are you? I shall not be able to call today, but probably shall tomorrow.
MELBOURNE.

No house today. I will call after the levee, about 4 or half past. If you wish it later let me know. I shall then explain about going to Vauxhall.
MELBOURNE.

The actual comment on these alarming documents by George Norton's counsel is not less amusing than the interpretation of "chops and tomato sauce" by Serjeant Buzfuz. Sir William Follett told the jury:

"These notes seem to admit much more than the words convey. They are written cautiously, I admit. There is not passion in them. They are not love letters. But they are not written in the ordinary style of correspondence usually adopted between intimate friends."

One wonders if even an English jury could treat this gravely.

Without Prejudice.

Mr. Nesbit, who had painted a picture of the noble red man in war paint and feathers, wanted an unbiased opinion of his work. His wife said that the picture was the best thing of the kind that she had ever seen. His dearest friend, too, was decidedly enthusiastic. Both declared, in short, that any one would know at a glance that it was intended for an Indian.

"To tell the truth," said Nesbit, looking somewhat doubtfully at the picture, "I haven't a great deal of confidence in either of you. You always praise everything I do. Now I'm going down to the street to see if I can't find some person who can be depended upon to give me an absolutely unprejudiced opinion of this picture—a child, for instance. Children always tell the truth."

Five minutes later Nesbit returned with three small boys whom he had found playing marbles in the street.

"Now, boys," he said, "take a good look at this picture. I'll give each of you 10 cents if you'll tell me just exactly what you see."

"A rooster!" shouted the three boys simultaneously.—Youth's Companion.

Tame Tigers.

Seleucus Nicator, the king of Syria, used to drive a four-in-hand team of tame tigers, and the nabob of Oude had a pet she tiger that often was taken along on his journeys and had been taught to mount an elephant without making use of her formidable claws.

Newfoundland Fishers.

More than one-fourth of the inhabitants of Newfoundland are engaged in catching and curing fish for a livelihood.

Eddystone Lighthouse.

The smallest inhabited island in the world is that on which the Eddystone lighthouse stands. At low water it is thirty feet in diameter; at high water the base of the lighthouse, the diameter of which is twenty-eight and three-quarter feet, is completely covered by the waves.

Unless you hear it you cannot possibly conceive its most wonderful power. Whatever your age or mood—old or young, grave or gay—you will find that the Berliner Gram-o-phone will humour your caprice. It talks, sings, reproduces piano, violin, banjo, cornet or trombone; full brass band or orchestra, church choir or chime bells. It will play for you to dance to. It will sing hymns or repeat sermons. "A child can operate it." It is not only a source of pleasure, but of profit. It teaches you to appreciate and familiarizes you with the latest and best in music. All this in your own home and at a merely nominal cost. It would cost a fortune in time and money to hear in person one-tenth of the great artists who have made records for the Gram-o-phone—their voices and styles are yours, true to life, on the Gram-o-phone. TRENT CANAL CANADA'S NATIONAL WATERWAY.

REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES.

Would Not Only Prove of Incalculable Local Benefit But Would Assist in Developing the West—Its Early Completion Should Be Asked For.

The Trent Valley Canal, and its importance, both local and national, is being revived in interest by the fact that the Transportation Commission will, in all probability, make a report on it to the Dominion Government, and upon the nature of the report will depend the early completion of the canal. Peterborough business men and public bodies are recognizing as perhaps they have never before recognized, the great advantage to this town and county, the completion of the canal would be, and there is a growing feeling towards a concerted action being taken on the part of all parties interested towards securing a better understanding of the project by the public, first of all, in order that in the advocacy for its completion the public moral support may be secured. The national aspect of the canal is, of course, the most important, and it is upon this ground that its completion should be urged.

His Worship Mayor Roger, in his address at the Warden's banquet on Thursday night, made the remark that as he had studied the matter more he had become convinced that the future of Peterborough depended to a large extent upon the Trent Valley Canal, and he enumerated a few of the benefits which its completion would give to the town, which already was the premier town of Canada.

The opinion held by the Mayor with regard to the local importance of the canal are those expressed by every thinking person who has given the matter consideration. The Examiner has made enquiries of a number of the leading business men of the town to ascertain their views on the matter, and all express similar views to the effect that the canal was the one thing needful to the future progress and prosperity of Peterborough. The appointment of the Transportation Commission, the duty of which will be to study the transportation problem from every standpoint, and the belief that the recommendation made by this Commission will be adopted by the Government, has inspired those who have for years been agitating for the completion of the canal, with the hope that at last the time has come when the claims of the canal for serious recognition as a factor, and not an unimportant one, in the transportation problem of the country, will be considered.

Mr. Bertram, the chairman of the Commission, is conversant with the scheme of the canal, and there is reason to believe that he recognizes, as apparently few public men do, that the canal when completed will prove a tremendous boon to the trade of Canada. With this fact before them, those to whom the completion of the canal has been a thing dear to their hearts, new hope has been inspired, and there are signs of a concerted action on the part of the related interests to whom the canal would prove beneficial, to enter upon a campaign of education, in the course of which the facts with reference to the canal, both as a local benefit and a National necessity, will be spread broadcast over the country.

While, of course, the chief claim for recognition which the canal possesses is its national importance, still the great fact which makes its completion especially desirable to Peterborough, is that if it were completed the town, which otherwise possesses unequaled advantages, would, by reason of the additional advantages rendered, speedily become one of the greatest manufacturing centres in Canada. The Examiner in its issue of Friday gave two instances of manufactories which had been lost to Peterborough by the fact that the canal was not completed. The factor in deciding whether or not a factory shall be established in a certain place, is the shipping facilities available and possessed by the town, and it is no exaggeration to say that with the canal completed to Lake Ontario, Peterborough which already possesses all the other requisites to make it a manufacturing centre, would become, what nature intended it to be, "The Power-House of Ontario," and the home of more manufacturing establishments than any other city in the province. The statement was made also at the Warden's dinner that if the canal were to be completed speedily, a large manufacturing concern already located here would build an immense flour mill. This is undoubtedly true, and the Examiner was informed yesterday, by a gentleman prominently associated with one of the largest industries in Peterborough that not only would there be one flour mill erected, but there would be many, not only in Peterborough, but along the route of the canal. It was stated by a business man to whom the Examiner talked on this question, that in the State of New York, the greatest industrial development took place along the banks of the Erie Canal, small as that waterway was. The same conditions would, it is believed, prevail on the Trent Canal, only in a greater degree, because of the increased traffic which the greater carrying capacity of the canal would afford. The country through which the canal passes and that tributary to it is one possessing natural advantages in the form of water powers and raw materials easily accessible, so that through which the Erie Canal passed, so that in addition to the cheap freight rates which accessibility to the canal would give, there are the other advantages which natural resources render possible.

But, while the local benefits are very considerable, the chief claim which the canal has for recognition is the fact that it will provide a natural waterway for the cheap transportation of the western grain to the seaboard. The future prosperity of the great west is very closely identified with the Trent Valley Canal, and for the sake of the empire to the west of Lake Superior, the canal should be completed. This is not recognized as fully as it should be, and, consequently the importance is not appreciated. All authorities on transportation agree that wherever possible freight should be shipped by water in preference to rail, and the Trent Valley Canal is, all know, who have given the matter even the most cursory thought, provides the shortest possible water route from the upper lakes to the ocean, thus making it the great national waterway.

It requires no argument to prove that it is far more profitable for Canada to manufacture the wheat raised here into flour, and ship the finished product to England, than to ship the wheat before it is ground, and a gentlemen, whose name stands high in the milling trade, stated to the Examiner that the only way for Canada to profitably ship flour instead of wheat to England, is by the route of the Trent Valley Canal. The ocean freight rate on flour is, on an average, three cents per hundred pounds higher than on wheat, because of the fact that a given quantity of the latter can be packed into a smaller space than the former, and to offset this difference in freight rates, the millers here must effect some proportionate saving on the product before it reaches the ocean.

The prospects are bright for the early completion of the great national waterway, and Peterborough should be in the forefront in the agitation for the culmination of years of effort, the result of which will place this town in the front van of Canadian cities, and make it the Minneapolis of Canada.

This the Trent Canal would give, as perhaps it can be given in no other way.

It should also be remembered that the opening of the canal would mean a tremendous stimulus to the trade of Montreal. The more avenues through which traffic comes to the city, the greater will be the volume of business, and, Montreal, as the most advantageously situated seaport in Canada, will benefit greatly by the completion of the canal, which will greatly increase the tonnage of freight shipped from that city.

While Ontario and the other provinces are capable of still further development, the greatest increase in wealth and population of Canada must come as a result of the development of the west which has a wonderful future ahead of it. The certainty is that year by year the grain product of the prairies will increase, and the great problem will be as it is now, how to get it to the markets of the world. The railways will naturally secure a large portion of the trade, but some cheaper method of transportation is demanded, and the Welland route is too circuitous to be able to compete successfully with the other avenues of outlet.

That the United States has recognized the necessity for a water route to the sea, is evident by the fact that the sum of $100,000,000 has been voted by the State of New York for the re-construction of the Erie Canal, which, when that amount of money has been expended, will not be able to successfully compete with the Trent Valley Canal.

There is a growing necessity for some such waterway to the ocean as that which the Trent Valley Canal would afford, and the fact that the United States is spending the large amount stated above for the purpose of meeting, if possible, the competition which the St. Lawrence route is proving herself to be to the Erie Canal, should more than ever impress upon the Canadian public the great need of some waterway which would enable Canada to hold the place among the industrial nations of the world, which nature designed, and for the realization of which she is so richly endowed.

PARTNERSHIP

FORMED IN

The Fur Business

A partnership having been arranged between Mr. Ed. Hyland and the undersigned to take effect about the beginning of March next, our stock will have to be reduced to a certain stated amount before same can be effected. This means a turning into cash at once of about $25,000 worth of Manufactured Furs, Skins and Men's Hats and Furnishings.

Our present stock, totalling nearly $45,000, must be reduced to $20,000 before beginning of March. The next five weeks will consequently see some remarkable price offerings in Fur Goods, Hats and Men's Furnishings.

This sale being forced at a time when furs of all kinds have been ruling higher than ever before and no prospects for some years of prices being lower as far as the raw fur skin market reports, justify one in forming an opinion, gives the people of Peterborough and vicinity an opportunity to buy their fur wants for next season as well as the present time at old time prices that ruled years ago.

The following is a partial list of the Furs we offer and it gives an idea of the very special values presented in this sale.

You will note in many cases goods are offered less than cost of manufacture.

MARKET PRICES WERE ALL HIGH.

A Large Supply but an Equally Great Demand.

There was a large market this morning, and the hall was crowded all the time. The large supply did not however exceed the demand. Prices were high and remained firm. Eggs brought generally 30c., though some were asking only 28c. Butter remained at 22 and 23c., but fowl was dear, chickens bringing 75 and 80c; geese, 75, 80 and 85c., and turkeys from $1 to $1.40.

Y. W. C. A.

The Gospel service at 4.15 p.m., tomorrow, will be addressed by Miss Gibbs of Hazel Brae. Miss M. Godfrey will sing.

The headquarters of the association have for the present been moved up-stairs, and the entrance will be from 409 George street. The Sunday meeting will be held up-stairs this week, and on each succeeding Sunday.

Miss Hills, a teacher of cookery, of cookery, will give a free demonstration on Thursday evening, Feb. 4th, in the Y.M.C.A. building as an introduction to the course of lessons which she will begin immediately afterwards. Everyone is cordially invited to this demonstration, which will doubtless prove most interesting.

THE GOLDEN LION,——GEORGE STREET

"All is Well That Ends Well"

No words of ours could better characterize the happy results of our Eventful Dissolution of Partnership Sale, which ends to-night. Gratitude to our friends and patrons who have helped us to accomplish so much is now uppermost in our minds. We appreciate the preference shown the Golden Lion and take pleasure in saying so.

Our 21st Year

We are now embarking on our 21st year in business. Our Winter Goods are about down to the desired minimum, but we will continue to crowd them down still lower.

First of all every effort must be made to clear out the

which have accumulated during our heavy January selling. Wherever a broken assortment shows itself it is pulled from its place and thrown out for sacrifice. Irresistible values crop up all over the store which will boom business till after Stocktaking. Next week will, therefore, be even a better bargain-week than any of its predecessors. This is the quality store.

MRS. MAYBRICK LEAVES PRISON.

Released on a Ticket-of-Leave of An Unusual Kind.

London, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Maybrick has been released after serving fourteen and a half years' imprisonment. She left the Aylesbury Female Convict Prison at 6.45 o'clock last Monday morning, and since then has been recuperating in a private institution near London. The utmost secrecy was observed regarding her release and her departure from prison was carried out in the quietest possible manner.

At the United States embassy it was most emphatically declared that she had not been pardoned, and that she was still a prisoner. Reports from Aylesbury are to the effect that she has been removed to some institution at Cornwall.

The Home Office and the Governor of Aylesbury Prison refuse to make any kind of a statement on the subject.

The Daily Mail this morning says that Mrs. Maybrick is now in Liverpool, and that the following conditions attach to her release from prison: That she will not appear on the public stage or write a book of her experiences, and shall in no way endeavor to attract public attention to herself.

—The manufacturers Committee will meet to-night.

SUTCLIFFE'S CLOSE THEIR STORE AT 9 P. M. ON SATURDAYS

This Store's Whitewear

has attracted marked attention and caused enthusiastic complimentary remarks—not by one particular class of people, but by representative people of all classes. We dislike egotistical remarks and realize that the foregoing is unnecessary to those who have wandered admiringly through our display—but to those who have not yet become acquainted with the Amazing Variety, Superb Qualities, and the evident "under-reasonable" prices, we think the above representation only fair—fair to those who run the chance of overlooking the opportunity—fair to the store that deserves these pleasant enconiums.

Quality and Style

have always been the watchword of this store's Whitewear selection—but these do not necessarily mean high priced Whitewear. Big buying regulates that and this store's selling capacity enables us to buy largely—sufficiently large to have the best Whitewear makers confine their lines to us in Peterborough. "The Dorothy," a particularly dainty Corset Cover, bound to fit, was confined to us in Peterborough. Why? Because we purchased over 1,200 Covers in 4 styles alone. This style has been sufficiently good for two other stores in Peterborough to use the name—but the "Dorothy" description does not tally with "Dorothy" Covers. A comparison of them would prove it. The "Dorothy" is obtainable only at Sutcliffe & Sons'. As regards Quality comparisou—that's out of the question. There are none "just as good". We are perfectly safe in asserting such. A look through will please you and gratify us.

THE RUSSIAN REPLY

As Drafted Places Japan in An Embarrassing Position.

WAR, HOWEVER, POSTPONED

Both Russia and Japan Are Still Engaged in Huge Preparations For the Pending Struggle At Arms—Japan Secretly Mobilizing Her First Army Reserve—Britain For Peace.

London, Feb. 1.—Russian diplomacy has proved as skillful and astute as ever, and has succeeded in placing Japan in a difficult and embarrassing position. Although the reply made to Japan's last note includes the draft of a treaty substantially conceding Japan's demands as regards Corea, the effect of it on Manchuria is by no means so satisfactory. It nominally concedes China's sovereignty over the northern province, but also contains a detailed statement of Russia's claims and interests so stated that a recognition of them would practically concede to Russia a similar control over Manchuria to that which England now exercises over Egypt. Should this treaty be ratified it, in fact, gives Corea to Japan and Manchuria to Russia.

The question that now confronts Japanese statesmen is, Whether or not the position is such as to justify a declaration of war? Great Britain has thrown the weight of her influence on the side of peace, and the latest advices from Tokio indicate that her wishes are likely to be respected by the Japanese Government. It is felt, however, that the rupture is only postponed, and that the arrangement now proposed does not contain material for a permanent treaty of peace. But to avert the immediate outbreak of war will relieve the present tension and affords time for future negotiations and developments. This in present circumstances is a great gain, and seems to be pretty well assured.

Baron Hayashi on the Situation.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister to Great Britain, informed the Associated Press last night that his Government did not know what Russia's answer would be, and that it was, therefore, impossible to say whether war was probable or not.

A despatch received here from Tien Tsin says Russia is purchasing large quantities of Kaiping coal for immediate delivery at Port Arthur, where the stocks of coal are believed to be rapidly running low.

The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Chee Foo cables he has learned that the Japanese naval reserve was mobilized last week, and that the first army reserve was partly mobilized with great secrecy, the troops arriving at their destinations disguised as coolies. Over 100 transports have been requisitioned, the correspondent continues, and twenty-eight transports and thirty-eight warships are lying at Sasebo. Forty transports filled with the Kumanato division are lying in Takeshiki harbor, in Tsu Shima, ready for invasion. The destination of these latter vessels is believed to be Chung Yu, whence the isolation could be easily effected.

"The Russian and Japanese authorities," the same correspondent continues, "profess ignorance of the Argun incident, but I learn that the Japanese cruiser Chiyoda signalled the Argun to stop, and as no notice of this was taken, fired across the bows of the Argun, whereupon the Russian steamer, which was beyond neutral waters, stopped, and the Chiyoda sent a search party on board."

The correspondent of The Morning Post at Chee Foo cables that a British vessel and some others engaged in a regular service to Port Arthur had been stopped when about to enter that port.

Competent judges. The Post's correspondent goes on, predict the total failure of the Russian commissariat in the event of prolonged hostilities.

Japan Orders Biggest Yet.

London, Feb. 1.—Vickers, Maxim & Armstrong yesterday received formal orders to expediate the construction of two new battleships for Japan. These vessels are to be not only the most powerful afloat, but are ordered ready on the shortest time on record for ships of such dimensions. Each will be of 16,400 tons displacement, 19 knots speed and be able to discharge eleven tons of projectiles per minute in the main artillery.

Lawyer Loses $60,000.

London, Feb. 1.—Saturday evening a famous lawyer of the midlands of England, who represents the Duke of Newcastle, a brother to May Yohe's former husband, came to town with $90,000 in bank notes to buy real estate. He left $60,000 in a wallet in his bedroom while he went to get shaved. When he returned he found the lock of the wallet broken and the notes gone. The police asked him to give the number of the notes, so that they might prevent their being cashed. The noted lawyer replied: "Oh, yes! I took the numbers, but they were on paper among the notes."

Murder in Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Foul murder was committed in this city Saturday midnight. Pietre Carpentier, 52 years of age, and a furrier, was stabbed to death in St. Paul street by a companion from Old France, known as Parisian. The men were drinking together and a quarrel ensued, with the result as described. When the murderer was arrested he had the blood-stained knife still in his pocket.

THE NEW MINISTERS.

Return of Hon. I. P. Brodeur and Hon. H. R. Emmerson By Acclamation.

Marieville, Que., Feb. 1.—Saturday was a political gala day in this pretty little county town of Rouville. The weather was fine and mild, and hundreds of people gathered here from all parts of the country to attend the nomination of Hon. Mr. Brodeur as Liberal member for the Commons. The new Minister of Inland Revenue has represented Rouville county for the last fourteen years. By reason of his recent appointment to the Laurier Cabinet he had, of course, to seek re-election. His popularity amongst all classes of the population of Rouville, irrespective of party lines, his unfailing tact and sound judgment, combined with broad-minded and lofty patriotism, no doubt account for his re-election by acclamation, which was duly announced at 12 o'clock Saturday. No Conservative ventured to offer any opposition to the new Minister of Inland Revenue. At 2 o'clock Mr. Brodeur addressed a large meeting of electors in the public hall.

Mr. Emmerson Also.

Dorchester, N. B., Feb. 1.—The official nomination for the vacancy for the County of Westmoreland in the House of Commons caused by the appointment of Hon. H. R. Emmerson as Minister of Railways and Canals was held here at noon on Saturday. Mr. Emmerson (Liberal) was elected by acclamation. There were very few present. Mr. Emmerson spoke briefly, returning thanks for the honor done him.

Liberal Candidate in Chicoutimi.

Chicoutimi, Que., Feb. 1.—Dr. Edmond Savard of Chicoutimi has been nominated as a candidate by the Liberals of Chicoutimi and Saguenay for the Commons.

Boston City Disabled.

New York, Feb. 1.—The Wilson liner Colorado, Captain Cox, from Hull, while proceeding up the lower bay yesterday and while rounding the southwest spit, was in collision with the outward bound Bristol City line steamer Boston City, Captain Carey, from New York for Bristol and Swansea. A large hole was torn in the port side of the Boston City and her bridge was smashed. She began to fill rapidly and was run into shallow water to prevent her sinking.

Suits For Millions Against Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Personal injury suits amounting to $38,666,952 are pending against the City of Chicago, according to the report of City Attorney John W. Smulski. The Council, the Legislature and finally the people are appealed to for relief. Sidewalk injuries caused the majority of the suits.

Five Men Killed By Explosion.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Feb. 1.—Five rock men were instantly killed late Saturday night in the Maple Hill colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company by an explosion of powder in a steel cage.

Wright Laid to Rest.

London, Feb. 1.—Saturday afternoon the final scene of the burial of the body of Whitaker Wright was in a modest grave, but in the consecrated ground of Witley Churchyard. Many friends and hundreds of villagers from Witley and other neighboring towns stood around the grave in a steady downpour of rain.

Factories Shut Down.

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—The freight tie-up on the railroads is causing some manufacturers great annoyance. The Karn and Canada Furniture factories are closed down for want of coal, the Whitelaw Foundry is partly closed down, and some of the other industries have fuel enough for only a couple of days.

Murder in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 1.—Melville Orr, a brass worker, was killed yesterday by Edward Betting, a barber.

DEPLORED DEATH OF WM. JOHN MAXWELL.

Occurred on Sunday Morning at 286 Brock Street.

The death of Wm. John Maxwell occurred at his residence, 286 Brock street on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock after an illness extending over 7 years. The deceased came from Londonderry, Ireland, settling in Cavan in 1856. Twenty-five years ago he married Mary Ann Mabarry. He retired from farming 10 years ago, moving to Port Hope. A few years ago he came to town and was an earnest member of St. Andrew's church. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence, Brock street, to the 9th line Cemetery, Cavan.

CLOSING DAY OF COUNTY COUNCIL.

Committtes Presented Their Reports Which were Adopted.

Councillors Appreciate Kindness of Cereal Co.'s Officials—A Deputation to Go to Ottawa.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

The Council went into regular session at 9.30 this morning, the Warden, E. A. Peck, Esq., in the chair. All the members were present.

The Clerk read the minutes of the previous meetings, which were on motion confirmed.

Moved by Councillors Hunter and Fitzgerald, that we, the members of this Council, greatly appreciate the opportunity afforded us, by the Manager of the Ceral Company, of visiting the works, and we acknowledge the courtesy shown us by the gentlemen connected with the Company who accompanied us through the building and explained the machinery and process of manufacture. We express our recognition of the great advantages this county is deriving from the establishment of this important industry, affording as it does not only employment for a large number of oparatives, but also a ready sale of cereals at prices beyond those which the farmers of the county would, but for the operation of the Company, be likely to receive.—Carried.

COMMITTEE ON PETITIONS

Moved by Councillors Shaw and Monoghue, that the Committee on Petitions be allowed to report.—Carried.

The Committee on Petitions begs leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that a petition be sent to the Ontario Government praying that the matter of the collection of arrears of taxes be left as at present.

2. That no action be taken upon the petition from the County of Kent in reference to a House of Refuge.

3. That no further action at present upon the petitions from the Counties of Elgin, Kent, Northumberland and Durham and Victoria in reference to the proposed amendments to the Municipal Act as to the composition of County Councils, as this Council has already taken action in the matter at the session held in November last.

4. That a petition be sent to the Dominion Government in reference to Mechanics and Farm Labourers in Ontario.

5. That the matter of sending a delegation to wait upon the Ontario Government to act in conjunction with a like delegation from the County of Victoria, in reference to the proposed amendments to the Municipal Act, be left in the hands of Messrs. Moloney, Hunter, the Warden and the Chairman of this committee with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBT. SHAW,
Chairman.

Councillor Johnston read objections to sending the whole council as a delegation to Ottawa. He thought one man was as good as the whole council.

On motion of Councillor Shaw, seconded by Councillor Fitzgerald, the report was adopted, Councillors Johnston and Buck voting against it.

COMMITTEE ON PRINTING

Moved by Councillor Buck, seconded by Councillor Curtis, that the Committee on Printing be allowed to report.—Carried.

Councillor Buck, chairman, read the following report:

The Committee of Printing begs leave to report as follows:

1. That the clerk be instructed to grant to the Norwood Register, Lakefield News and Havelock Standard, alternately the printing of the lists of convictions and assessment schedules required to be published and printed, at the same price as last year.

2. That all other printing be divided by the County Clerk in as equal a manner as possible between the Peterborough Examiner, Peterborough Review, and Peterborough Times, save and except that the County Clerk shall apportion between the Lakefield News, Norwood Register and Havelock Standard whatever printing of letter heads, posters and other work he can conveniently give them.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. T. BUCK,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Buck and Shaw the report was adopted.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOLS.

Moved by Councillor Curtis, seconded by Councillor Buck, that the Committee on Schools be allowed to report.—Carried.

Councillor Curtis, chairman, read the following report:

The Committee on Schools begs leave to report as follows:

1. That no action be taken upon the communication from J. J. Hadley, of Anstruther in reference to a new school section as your committee are of the opinion that if matters are allowed to stand for a short time they will be adjusted satisfactorily by the township council.

2. Your Committee recommend that the report of the Public School Inspector be received and printed with the minutes of this council.

3. That on looking over a draft of the proposed changes in the public school course of study, we consider that bookkeeping should be made a compulsory and not an optional subject for the fourth form, and that nature study, manual training, and domestic science, while important are not desirable subjects to be taught in rural schools and should not be made such prominent features in the course as to a great extent to overshadow the subjects that must ever be the staples of a public school education, namely,—reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, composition and history, and that a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Minister of Education at Toronto.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. T. CURTIS,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Curtis and Monogue, the report was adopted.

COMMITTEE ON COUNTY PROPERTY.

Moved by Councillor Moloney, seconded by Councillor Crowe, that the Committee on County Property be allowed to report.—Carried.

Councillor Moloney, chairman, read the following report:—

The Committee on County Property beg to report as follows:

That the matter of repairs and supplies for the county buildings as may be required from time to time be left in the hands of the chairman of this committee with power to act.

2. Your committee recommend that the matter of the lighting of the court house and county buildings be left in the hands of Mr. Johnston and the chairman of this committee with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. MOLONEY,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Moloney and Crowe, the report was adopted.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

3. That Messrs. T. N. Gall, E. H. Scott, Wm. Spencer, S. R. Alcress and and Hy. Cross be granted one horse peddler's licenses free of cost for 1904.

4. Your committee recommend that no further sums be granted to men who enlisted in service for South Africa, and that no action be taken upon the application of Mr. Swan for a grant, as he was not a bona fide resident of the county when he enlisted, and that no action be taken upon the application of Mr. Morrison for a grant as he did not serve with the first or second contingents but was a member of the South African Constabulary.

5. That no action be taken upon the application of the Prisoners' Aid Association for a grant.

6. That no action be taken upon the application for the Sick Childrens' Hospital for a grant.

7. That clause 11 of the report of the Finance Committee adopted on the 31st day of January, 1903, be rescinded.

8. That the receipt be acknowledged of statements from the treasurers of the following municipalities in reference to the amounts paid by them to the county treasurer during the year 1903: North Monaghan, $3116.69; Smith, $4257.38; Asphodel, $2535.85; Northumberland and Durham, $101.92; Ashburnham, $1094.84.

9. That a by-law be passed to amend By-law No. 781, A By-law for Licensing, Regulating and Governing Hawkers and peddlers in the County of Peterborough, passed on the 23rd day of June, 1899, by striking out clause number 4 of the said by-law and substituting therefor the following clause:

"The sum to be paid for every license shall be according to the following schedule:

For every person carrying a basket	$25 00
For every person hawking or peddling on foot	25 00
For every person hawking or peddling with a push cart	25 00
For every person hawking or peddling with a one-horse waggon	40 00
For every person hawking or peddling with a two-horse waggon	50 00"

10. That the usual grant of $75 00 be given to the Peterborough Horticultural Society for 1904.

11. Your committee recommend that the county public school inspector be paid a salary of $200 per quarter as required by the amendments to the Public Schools Act, 1903, this sum to cover salary and all necessary travelling expenses.

12. That this council grant the sum of $50.00 towards the erection of the stand in front of the Court House, used in connection with the reception given to the Governor General and party on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough last summer.

13 That the payments set forth in the memorandum attached of accounts and monies paid by the treasurer on the authority of the Warden and under contract entered into be confirmed.

15. That the subscription to the "Municipal World" be renewed for 1904.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. M. HUNTER,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Hunter and Crowe, the report was adopted.

GERMANY'S AFRICAN WAR.

Kaffirs Effect Junction With Hereros and Trouble Increases.

Berlin, Jan. 30.—The commander of the German gunboat Habicht, lying at Swakopmand, German Southwest Africa, cables that he has received news from Lieut. Zuelow, in command of the German forces at Okahandja (a mission station eighty miles from Walfish Bay), that the Kaffirs have effected a junction with the Hereros who are besieging that post. As Okahandja was already hard pressed, the announcement has caused concern at the Colonial Office here.

"Okahandja, Jan. 20.

"Am holding Okahandja. Occupied it Jan. 15, with 200 men, after heavy fighting. Am waiting for guns from the Habicht. Ask for a division of artillery. Weak relief corps, with machine gun from Windhoek repulsed Twelfth and Thirteenth. Loss reported, eight reserves. In order to establish connections with the rear and bring forward military transports we attempted to-day with sixty men to reach Karibib by rail."

A later despatch, dated Jan. 21, says:

"Yesterday afternoon, near Kawatuerasane, there was a sharp fight. A division, about seventy men strong, sent forward by rail lost four dead and three slightly wounded. The enemy lost twenty to twenty-five dead. We can hold out for some time yet."

RAILWAY FATALITIES.

Last Year's Record in Canada Was Very Unfavorable.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—There were 90 more fatalities on Canadian railways during the year which ended on June 30 last than in the corresponding period of the previous year. The deaths for the former period were: Passengers killed, 53; employes, 186; other persons, 181; total, 420. During the year ending June 30th, 1902, there were killed: Passengers, 19; employes, 146; other persons, 165, total, 330. On electric railways 9 passengers were killed as against 8 in 1902.

Toronto Municipal Corruption.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The civic election charges have all again been adjourned, this time till Monday next. Twenty street railway employes will be witnesses in the quo warranto proceedings. It is charged that they were sent out to canvas in the interests of controller candidates and that a large amount of money was supplied for election expenses.

Aalesund Losses Are $5,000,000.

Berlin, Jan. 30.—The steamer Weimar has reached Aalesund, the town in Norway, which was destroyed by fire last Saturday. She is caring for 2,500 persons, of whom 500 are women, children and sick people who are sleeping on board. Representatives of insurance companies now estimate the losses at Aalesund at $5,000,000.

Caldwell Is the Man.

Almonte, Jan. 30.—T. B. Caldwell, woollen manufacturer of Lanark Village, was chosen as candidate by the Liberals yesterday.

Was Born in Canada.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Very Rev. A. Corcoran, provincial of the order of St. Viateur, died yesterday at Phoenix, Ariz. He was born in Rondon, Canada, 48 years ago.

COMMANDER IN CHIEF

Replaced in Britain by Army Council and Inspector-General.

WAR COMMISSION'S REPORT

Government Decides, With the Approval of the King, to Appoint An Army Council Similar to the Admiralty—A Complete Change of System By Which Greater Mobility and Efficiency Is Expected.

London, Feb. 1.—The report of the Royal Commission, known as the Lord Esher Commission, which was appointed last November to advise the Government concerning the creation of a board for the administrative business of the War Office, has been issued.

With the approval of the King, and upon recommendation of the Commission, the Government has decided to appoint an army council similar to the admiralty; to abolish the office of commander-in-chief of the army, and to create a new post, that of Inspector-General, whose principal duty will be to inspect and report on the efficiency of the military forces.

The report points out the necessity of greater permanence in the Defence Committee, in order to insure a continuous policy, and it suggests the addition to the existing Defence Committee of a permanent secretary holding office for five years, two naval officers selected by the admiralty, two military officers chosen by the Viceroy of India, and, if possible, other colonial representatives holding office for two years.

With regard to the War Office, the Commission suggests that the Secretary of State for War be placed in the same position as the First Lord of the Admiralty, directly responsible to the Crown and to Parliament. The constitution of the army council aims at decentralization of the individual members of the council being entrusted with different branches, such as armament, supply, finance, etc.

In this connection the report remarks significantly: "New measures demand new men; we therefore attach special importance to the appointment of military members not hitherto connected with existing methods, and who, therefore, are not likely to be embarrassed by the traditions of a system which is to be radically changed."

The commission consider the abolition of the post of Commander-in-Chief to be imperative, and it urges the divorce of the administrative from the executive department.

The Inspector-General is to be appointed for five years. He will report upon actual facts without expressing opinions on politics.

Constrasting the efficiency of the Admiralty with the inefficiency of the War Office, the report complains that the latter "has no thinking department."

Morning papers applaud the report and express the hope that the Government will execute the reforms with courage and promptitude.

Oil As Fuel For Navy.

London, Feb. 1.—The new British battleship Hibernia and sister ships, Britannia and Africa, are to be fitted for storage of oil as fuel in large quantities.

Wolseley's Mind to War Office.

London, Feb. 1.—Field Marshal Lord Wolseley, formerly commander-in-chief of the British army, has written again in reference to the decline in military recruiting in Great Britain. He reaffirms his belief in the superiority of the army of the United States, saying: "The American Government is wiser than ours. They pay their men well, with the result that the American army, so far as it goes in numbers, is the finest in the world. Until we adopt a similar method of obtaining recruits, our army never will be in a thoroughly satisfactory state."

Bazaar Nets $70,000.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—Ninety-two thousand rubles ($70,000) was the amount netted by the grand bazaar in Salle de la Noblesse, St. Petersburg, organized by the Grand Duchess Vladimir. Half of this sum was taken in by the Grand Duchess herself, and probably was the largest ever taken by one woman at any bazaar in the world. The Loteris Allegul Petus Chevaux la Roue also had large receipts.

Null and Void.

Caracas, Feb. 1.—The Federal High Court, sitting in full session, with ten judges on the bench, has finally handed down a decision in the long-drawn-out asphalt case. The court gives as its unanimous judgment the opinion that the claim of Messrs. Warner and Quinlan is null and void to the Felicidad mine.

30,000 Deserted Wives.

London, Feb. 1.—Another woman reported missing has awakened interest in the records of Scotland Yard, which show that London contains no less than 30,000 deserted wives.

Magistrate Dropped Dead.

Port Colborne, Feb. 1.—John P. McRae, police magistrate and owner of the American Hotel block in this village, dropped dead on the street Saturday evening.

Mother and Babe Burned.

Tonawanda, N.Y., Feb. 1.—Mrs. John Miller and her 8-day-old baby were so badly burned last night that both will die. A kerosene lamp exploded.

Embro Church Burned.

Embro, Feb. 1.—The Congregational Church in this place was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning.

DRANK STRYCHNINE

George W. Lewis of Toronto Poured Poison Into Whiskey.

THEN SWALLOWED IT DOWN

One of the Original Members of Hardware Firm of Rice Lewis & Son—Went to Niagara Falls to Commit the Desperate Deed—Said to Have Been Worth About $1,000,000.

Niagara Falls, Feb. 1.—George W. Lewis, a prominent club man and wealthy resident of Toronto, committed suicide at the Hotel Savoy here Saturday afternoon, shortly after 2 o'clock. Mr. Lewis arrived here Friday afternoon and took a room at the Savoy. It was observed by Proprietor Dickinson and attendants at the hotel that the man was acting queerly. He asked Dickinson if the bridge across the gorge was open all night, and when the hotel man replied that he could see nothing at night, Mr. Lewis said: "I can see all I want to see at any time."

He retired fairly early and was up at a reasonable hour Saturday morning. He announced that he would go to Toronto on the 10 o'clock train and paid his bill. He remained, however, about the hotel, acting in a very strange manner. He sat brooding, and shortly before 2 o'clock asked Landlord Dickinson for some paper, sealed it hurriedly and gave it to Dickinson to mail.

He then walked into the bar, asked Bartender Ingles for a drink of whiskey, took a small paper from his pocket, poured a white powder into his glass, mixed it up and drank it off. He turned, went to the hotel writing table, addressed an envelope, placed it in his pocket and stiffened back in his chair. Mr. Dickinson, who was watching the man, ran to him, but he slipped to the floor, and in a moment he was dead.

Dr. J. H. McGarry was summoned, but Lewis was beyond medical aid before he arrived. Dr. E. L. Kellam, city coroner, was called and took charge, after an examination of the body. Dr. Kellam announced that the poison used by Lewis was strychnine, and that he had probably taken eight or ten grains, as a dose of that quantity would produce death quickly.

On the envelope in his pocket was written: "This is my address, George W. Lewis, 90 St. George street, Toronto." The letter handed to Mr. Dickinson was addressed to Mrs. R. T. Gooderham, who is a sister of the deceased. This letter was opened to ascertain if it would throw any light on the cause of Mr. Lewis' rash act. It told Mrs. Gooderham that when she received it he would be dead. It gave instructions; told where his keys to his strong box at the Canada Permanent could be found, but threw no light upon the cause of the suicide.

It was learned yesterday that Mr. Lewis on Saturday morning made numerous attempts at the city drug stores to obtain strychnine to kill a dog, but was refused. It is thought he got his poison from the United States side.

Alfred Hoskin, the Toronto barrister; Mr. Lewis, solicitor, arrived with Capt. Mitchell, a relative, Saturday evening and took charge of the remains, which had been removed to Butler's undertaking room. They took them back to Toeonto on the Sunday morning train.

From an interview with these gentlemen, it was learned that Mr. Lewis has been suffering from melancholia for some time past, and his relatives in Toronto have been apprehensive of his safety. He left home at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon last and they have had two detectives hunting for him ever since. They failed to find any trace of him, however, and the first intimation they had was when Dr. Kellam telephoned them Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Lewis was well-known in the Toronto Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, both of which he was a member. He was independently wealthy, although it is thought he was brooding over money matters in some extent. He was a bachelor and lived a quiet retired life. He was the chief partner in the large hardware firm of Rice Lewis & Son when his father died. He afterwards disposed of his interests there and embarked in business in England. He was a man of about 60 years of age, and well preserved.

STRAIGHTENED HIS AFFAIRS.

Arranged His Will and Important Papers Before Going Away.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—The news of George W. Lewis' death confirmed the grave apprehensions excited by his sudden disappearance and the significant manner in which he had arranged his will and other important papers. When this was noticed immediate steps were taken to trace his movements, but no clue was obtained until the absence of a Grand Trunk time card suggested that he had left the city. This inference was soon proved correct, a telegraph message reaching the family at noon on Saturday, announcing the fact of the suicide.

Mr. Lewis, with his father, Rice Lewis, A. B. Lee and John Lee formed in 1867 the hardware firm of Rice Lewis & Sons, Limited. He left the firm in 1877, six years after his father's death, and did not thereafter actively engage in business. Of abstemious and quiet habits and cautious in financial matters, it is not thought that pecuniary or other troubles prompted the rash act, nor had he given any previous indications of mental weakness or aberration.

Mr. Lewis is reported to have been worth any way from $500,000 to $1,000,000. He never speculated and his money was all invested in gilt-edge securities. He was a director of the old Western Loan Company and when the Canada Permanent was formed became a director and a heavy shareholder. He attended the directors' meeting on Monday and seemed in excellent health and spirits.

His body was brought to the city yesterday. The funeral has not yet been arranged.

Swiss President's Son Shoots Himself.

Dijon, France, Feb. 1.—Arnold Comtess, son of the President of Switzerland, has committed suicide here by shooting. Comtess, who had been living here recently, drove out on Thursday to pay a visit to a woman of his acquaintance. Upon being informed that she was not in, Comtess re-entered his carriage and shot himself in the mouth with a revolver, the bullet penetrating his brain. He had been suffering from celebral derangement, resulting from malarial fever.

An Old-Time Editor Dead.

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Many Canadian newspaper men will be sorry to hear of the death of Molyneux St. John, usher of the Black Rod, which occurred here on Saturday evening. Mr. St. John was educated for the British army, and served as a lieutenant at the storming of Canton. In 1868 he joined the staff of The Toronto Globe, and accompanied the Wolseley expedition as special correspondent. He afterwards filled several offices in the Northwest, including that of sheriff of the Territories. Returning to newspaper work, he became editor of The Montreal Herald, and afterwards of The Winnipeg Free Press. In the Commons he was one of the most popular members of the press gallery, and was president of that body in 1888. Journalism lost an able and honorable man when he retired.

The Kaiser's Vow.

Berlin, Feb. 1.—Emperor William has published a rescript expressing thanks for the congratulations tendered him on his birthday. He concludes:

"While God grants me life and health I shall not cease to devote my energies to the service of the fatherland and to the welfare of the German people of all conditions and employments."

A Talker's Misadventure.

The following story sounds as if it could not possibly be true, yet true it is: A man who prides himself on having a knowledge that might literally be called encyclopedic was in the company of a set of men who work so hard as a rule that they do not take life very seriously in their hours of leisure. He began to address them on literature, and you will presently be able to imagine the sort of stuff he talked. It was not long before he touched on George Meredith and expressed opinions which might have caused an outburst. Instead of this, some one suggested deferentially that he talked too generally; that he would be better comprehended if he illustrated his views by a reference to any one of the novels. He thought the suggestion a wise one and left the choice of the book to his audience. The original proposer of this eminently reasonable plan immediately suggested "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and the other went ahead, obligingly accepting the choice. What he said does not need to be recorded, but it is rather notable that to this day he does not know the trick that was being played on him because he is being preserved for some future occasion. —London Post.

Choosing the Name.

"My dear, I have been reading up within the past week, and I think I have a name for the baby," said Mrs. Greening one day.

"You have, eh? What is it?"

"I read that Phœbus, the god of day, comes up bright and beautiful in the morning; that he lights the world; that without him"—

"Now, look here, madam; let's have no foolishness here. You can't call that child by any such name. Did Phœbus of history yell from 11 p. m. to 3 a. m. and intermittently from 3 to 7 o'clock? I myself am doing the god of day business in the matter of getting up, and I'm not going to divide the honors. If you want a mythological cognomen for that destroyer of rest I have it."

"What is it?" asked Mrs. Greening, with considerable asperity.

"Aurora!" brutally yelled Elisha. Then he left the house.

SALISBURY AND HAY.

Two Master Builders of the Anglo-American Concord and Amity.

New York, Feb. 1.—There were nearly 300 guests at the complimentary dinner given Saturday night by the Lotus Club to Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador in Washington. The Ambassador said:

"There is nothing in the world that I have desired more than to see England and America standing together. Not an alliance. That is not necessary. But what was wanted to come has come—to stand together and think together."

President Schurman of Cornell said in an address:

"I know nothing more remarkable in history or nothing fraught with more hopeful significance, than the development in the last half dozen years of the deep, genuine good feeling that now binds English and American people and Governments together.

"Two names there are which history will especially exalt as the conscious master builders of this temple of Anglo-American concord and amity, Lord Salisbury and John Hay.

"John Hay is one man without whose agency these friendly and cordial relations between the English and American peoples and Governments would not have developed to anything like the extent and intensity of which we are conscious. He is the fairest, ablest, the most sagacious and the most successful Foreign Secretary now living."

King Peter's Condescension.

Belgrade, Feb. 1.—King Peter's aide-de-camp, Col. Popovics, one of the leading regicides, will be replaced by an officer who was not concerned in the assassination of Alexander and Draga. It is hoped thus to satisfy the powers who have withdrawn their representatives from Servia.

No Reduced Fares For Clergymen.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 1.—To-day the Canadian Pacific Railway will put into effect, under a section of the new railway bill, an order cancelling certificates under which clergymen have been granted reduced fares on the railway.

"OUT OF SORTS"

That's the Way You Feel When Your Digestion is Out of Order.

This printer is "out of sorts." He is out of some of the letters needed to set this paragraph and it has been necessary for him to turn other letters upside down, to take their places which accounts for the black spaces in some of the words.

A Message of Interest and Value to All Who Are "Out of Sorts"

When the printer is "out of sorts" the proof appears "dirty" or imperfect.

When ones stomach gets "out of sorts" and digestion is faulty, it mars temper, comfort and health, makes life seem incomplete, imperfect and unsatisfactory as a printer's "out of sorts" proof sheet.

The stomach is a laboratory wherein is prepared elements suitable for the nourishment and renewal of every structure of the body. If it is "out of sorts" and gives down poorly prepared instead of nutritious chyle the imperfect material will correspond to the letters that the printer has placed upside down and appear as blotches and defacements on the page of life.

If to think ugly things is partly as bad as to say or act them, and the recording angel keeps tab on ones thoughts, what a "dirty" page must appear in the "book of life" against the one whose stomach is frequently "out of sorts" and whose type of nutrition thus necessarily becomes such as to keep mind and body irritable and upset.

The efforts of the skin to excrete, or throw out of the system, unripe or ill-prepared nutritional elements furnished by a stomach that is "out of sorts" frequently results in crops of pimples and blotches fully as unsightly as the impress of the upside down letters of the "out of sorts" print.

The best remedy medical science has been able to devise to keep the stomach from getting "out of sorts" or to right it when it has been allowed to get that way, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They give tone and vigour to the digestive organs so they will sort the materials offered them and prepare it a type of chyle that will build up fair and clean as a perfect print from one whose case is never "out of sorts."

Chyle is digested food ready to be converted into blood. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets insure good digestion; good food and vigorous digestion provide perfect chyle; good chyle makes pure rich blood; good nutritious blood builds bodily tissues that are firm, sound and free from defects as the full case printer's perfect proof.

Diseases are blotches on the fair page of life. A very large share of diseases can be traced to the stomach being "out of sorts." "Nine-tenths of all diseases" said Abernathy, the great English physician, "come from the stomach." Dr. Fothergill, another English physician of world-wide repute, once declared: "Of every ten men you meet on the street seven have stomach trouble of some kind." There are many cases of ill health, of which imperfect digestion is th suspected cause. Often there are none of the more prominent symptoms of dyspepsia, such as distress after eating, heartburn, waterbrash, belching of gas, etc., but there are other symptoms that may be really due to dyspepsia, but are not usually attributed to it by the sufferer, among which may be mentioned general nervousness and depression; tired, run-down, played-out, "out of sorts" feelings that cannot be accounted for; headaches; oppression about the heart; bad complexion, pimples, blotches, boils; dizzy spells; specks before the eyes; etc. Let the sufferer take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and these symptoms all disappear, showing plainly that they were due to the stomach being "out of sorts."

Mr. Thos. Seale, Mayfield, Cal., says: "Have used and recommend Stuart's Tablets because there is nothing like them to keep the stomach right."

Mr. E. H. Davis of Hampton, Va., says: "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets than in five years of the doctors' treatment."

Mrs. E. M. Faith of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says: "I have taken all the tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should been at rest by this time.

Phil. Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all kinds of dyspepsia, therefore they bring relief from all the varied symptoms that are manifestations of dyspepsia. To try them is to be convinced of their merits. They can be bought at any drug store for fifty cents a box.

WHY SPENCER NEVER WED.

Philosopher's Ideal Too High—He Hated Women Only as a Generality.

Personalia on the late Herbert Spencer are naturally plentiful just now, says a London cable despatch.

The most surprising fact connected with the great philosopher's boyhood is that he was inattentive and idle and fond of play, fishing, bird nesting and country rambles.

His father encouraged him in these wayward courses, only insisting that he should devote some portion of his time to the study of accurate drawing, probably with a view to the boy's following, as he afterward did, the profession of an engineer.

Another strange thing about Spencer was that he was never a voluminous reader and knew hardly anything of foreign languages. He was wont to say that if he were to read as much as other people he would know as little as they.

The sage remained a bachelor all his life. He was, in fact, a specimen of that rare animal, the woman hater—at least as regards the generality of the sex. His ideal woman was set on an almost inaccessible pinnacle.

In society Spencer was a great talker, prone to be argumentative and taking delight in the discomfiture of his victim. In all little matters he was fidgety, as became an old bachelor, and rather inclined to be brusque in his manner.

He constantly refused the numerous honors and distinctions proffered by the universities and other institutions.

Spencer's Curious Will.

Herbert Spencer's will is a curious document. It directs that his body shall be placed in a coffin with a loose lid and easily opened from below, and that the body shall then be cremated and the ashes buried, all without religious ceremony.

All rights and property in his books and investments are given to the trustees, with instructions to employ the yearly revenue "in resuming and continuing during such period as may be needed for fulfilling my express wishes, but not exceeding the lifetime of all descendants of Queen Victoria, who shall be living at my decease, and of the survivors and survivors of them, and for 21 years after the death of such survivor, the publication of the existing parts of my descriptive sociology and compilation and publication of the fresh parts thereof upon the plan followed in the parts already published."

Afterwards all copyrights and stereotype plates, etc., are to be auctioned, and the proceeds divided between a number of scientific societies.

The will orders that Herbert Spencer's autobiography is to be published simultaneously in Great Britain and the United States, and requests that David Duncan write a biography in one volume of moderate size.

Another interesting clause provides that Charles Holme, son of George Holme, be given Spencer's watch, in remembrance of his father having saved his (Spencer's) life when a boy.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Name.

A delightful story is that of Sir Arthur Sullivan's mother, says M. A. P. The Duke of Edinburgh used to visit her illustrious son, to have a duet on the violin with him.

One afternoon, when the Duke and Arthur Sullivan, having finished their duet, were sitting down to a homely "dish of tea," provided by Mrs. Sullivan, it suddenly occurred to her to start the subject of family names and titles, which puzzled the good lady considerably.

"Sir," she said, "your family name is Guelph."

"My dear mother," began Arthur, remonstratively.

"But it is, isn't it?" she persisted.

"Certainly," replied the Duke, much amused. "What's the matter with it, Mrs. Sullivan?"

"Oh, nothing," returned the excellent old lady musingly. "Only I can't understand why you don't call yourself by your proper name."

Arthur wanted to explain to her, but the Duke would not allow him to.

"There's nothing to be ashamed of in the name of Guelph, Mrs. Sullivan," he said gravely.

"That's exactly what I say," persisted Arthur's mother. "Nothing whatever, as far as I know; and, that being so, why you should not call yourself by it I can't understand."

Clyde's Output for the Year.

The Glasgow Times gives a complete list of the output of Clyde shipbuilders for the year. The vessels launched totalled 260, of an aggregate tonnage of 455,739, against 312 vessels of 518,270 tons the previous year. The reduced output of 63,531 tons was equal to fully one month's production. The blue ribbon for the highest output was carried off by Messrs. Russell of Port Glasgow, who launched 55,000 tons. Other outputs were: Messrs. Connell, Glasgow, 41,000; Denny, Dumbarton, 40,000; Henderson, Glasgow, 40,000; Barclay, Curle, Glasgow, 31,000; Fairfield, Govan, 30,000; Stephen, Linthouse, 27,000; Brown, Clydebank, 26,000. The feature was the marked progress of turbine-propelled boats. These included two launched at Dumbarton and one at Linthouse, while fine others are building at Dumbarton. A turbine steamer of 14,000 tons is also being constructed at Linthouse for the Allan Line Canadian service.

YULETIDE IN SERVIA.

The Poor Save For Months to Buy Their Christmas Pig.

In Servia they keep Christmas eve in a somewhat peculiar way. The father of the family goes into the wood and cuts down a straight young oak, choosing the most perfect that he can find. He brings it in, saying, "Good evening and a happy Christmas," to which those present reply, "May God grant both to thee and mayest thou have riches and honor." Then they throw over him grains of corn. Presently the young tree is planted upon the coals, where it remains until Christmas morning, which they salute by repeated firings of a pistol.

The national dish in Servia is pork. The poorest family in Servia will pinch themselves all through the year so as to have money enough to buy a pig at Christmas. Skewered to a long piece of wood, the pig is turned over a blazing fire until cooked, the guests watching the process with increasing interest. After dinner stories are told and songs sung. Santa Claus, who, in the person of an honored guest, is present to receive instead of to give presents, departs after the feast, decorated with a long ring of cakes around his neck and laden with such gifts as his friends can bestow.

A French Deputy's Pay.

A French deputy receives a salary of 9,000 francs ($1,800). He also receives free railway transportation and free luncheons at the bar of the Palais Bourbon, where many a lawmaker spends more time than he does in the Salle des Seances. Some are accused of taking all their meals at the free lunch counter. A deputy even gets, at reduced rates, a special brand of cigars which is called "cigare de deputes." With these cigars he treats his influential constituents. In spite of all these privileges, there have been many complaints that, unless he has a large personal income, a deputy cannot live decently. Therefore many members of parliament when they are not well to do have to make up for the insufficiency of their pay by contributing to newspapers or pleading in the courts.—Century.

GEORGE STREET ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Dr. Young, a Former Pastor Preached Eloquent Sermons Yesterday.

A Brief History of a Successful Church—Satisfactory Record of Progress.

Yesterday the anniversary services of George street Methodist church were held and the event was one of especial interest to the many members and adherents of that church. The feature which made the services of a more than ordinary character was the fact that the preacher for the day was a former much beloved pastor of the church, Rev. W. R. Young, D.D., at present stationed in St. Thomas, and who is now under call to the largest Protestant church in Canada, the St. St. James' street church, Montreal.

Rev. Dr. Young preached at both services yesterday, and his sermons were enjoyed alike by those to whom he ministered in his pastorate here, and many others who yesterday heard him for the first time.

George street church has filled an important place in the religious life of Peterborough, and its history has been long and most successful. That it is to-day the largest church in the town is due not only or altogether to the fact that some of the best men in the Methodist ministry have been pastors of it, but because of the fact that while this is true, the individual membership of the church has worked devotedly and unitedly for the success of the church.

It has come to be a universally acknowledged fact that the Methodist church is a great pioneering church.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.
Rev. J. P. Wilson, Pastor.

In all parts of Canada, the erection of a Methodist church of some kind, it may be but roughly formed of logs, but some place in which Methodists may worship, is among the first buildings to be erected in any new settlement, and to this spirit of enterprise, characteristic of Methodists, may be attributed to a marked degree, the great success which has attended the work of this great evangelical church. The oldest records available, give the information that a Methodist church has been in existence in Peterborough with a regularly ordained minister, since 1835, when, what was known as Peterborough circuit, was composed of Peterborough town, and the Townships of Smith, Otonabee, Monaghan, Ouran, Ops, Emily and Dummer, with two ordained Ministers to attend to the spiritual welfare of this scattered circuit. The first ministers were Rev. John Black and Rev. Wm. Deverell, who remained here one year, and were followed by Rev. John Armstrong and Rev. Hugh Montgomery, who also were here but one year.

In 1837 the circuit was given a third preacher, who was known as Presiding Elder, and who had as assistants, two circuit preachers.

The circuit in 1848 was again divided as it found that the growing town demanded the whole time of a preacher, consequently the town of Peterborough was given a resident minister and the three year term began.

From 1852 to 1854 Rev. John Gemley was pastor and under his ministry the church prospered to such an extent that it was found to be too small, consequently an addition was built in 1854. The church was then situated on the west side of George street, directly opposite the present site.

Following the enlargement of the church eight pastors filled terms of varying lengths in it, until in 1873 the town had grown to such an extent that even with the then large church on George street, it was deemed advisable to build another place of worship in the southern portion of the town, the result of the deliberation being that a church was built on Charlotte street, where it still stands, after additions having been made to it.

The first pastor after this change had been made was Rev. Samuel P. Rose, whose term was from 1873 to 1875.

For some years negotiations were being carried on with a view of obtaining a more suitable site for the George street church, and also of building a larger church, and one which would meet the needs of the congregation for a long period. The grounds upon which the beautiful church now stands were purchased and the erection of the present structure proceeded with, and completed in 1875. The building was then, and is still, a great credit to Methodism in Peterborough, and a worthy tribute to the grand men who undertook its erection.

Since the time of its erection and until the present, seventeen pastors have had charge of the church, among them the preacher of yesterday, Rev. W. R. Young, whose pastorate extended from 1893 to 1897. At this time Peterborough was supplied with two large churches, but still there seemed to be those who were not being reached, and, in keeping with the progressive spirit, which has always characterized the Methodist people, Grace church was built to supply a need in the outlying part of the town for a place of worship. In 1896 this church was built and dedicated.

Succeeding Rev. Dr. Young in the pastorate of the church, Rev. S. J. Shorey ably filled the duties during the year from 1897 to 1900, when the present pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, was called from Oshawa to assume the pastorate of the church, and has now almost completed his fourth year in charge of the congregation. The period since 1900 has been pre-eminently the most successful period in the history of the church, and under Mr. Wilson's guidance every department is in a most flourishing condition. The membership of the church is now considerably over 700, while that of the Sunday school, including the Home Department, is 1030, and for the year ending May 15th, 1903, the latest dates for which figures are available, the contributions for church purposes amounted to $8,400, which is a material increase over previous years. The spiritual growth of the church has also been very gratifying, and the success which the pastor's work among the young people has met with, is one of the most pleasing features.

Both services yesterday were largely attended in spite of the inclement weather, and Rev. Dr. Young preached two very able and eloquent sermons. At the morning service, the text was in Heb. 12, 2, "Looking unto Jesus," and from it the reverend doctor preached a sermon eminently practical and full of Gospel truth. "Simplicity," said the speaker, "is one element of greatness." This is true in all departments of life. It is true in mechanics, for the nearer any machine or apparatus can be brought to simplicity, the greater will be its efficiency. It is true in art, and when artists commence to embellish their art with decorations true art begins to deteriorate. It is true in literature, and Tennyson, whose forte is simplicity, has twenty readers to one of Browning, because the latter's poems are complex. But it is also true in religious matters. Christ, when he stood confronted with the scribes and Pharisees, and questioned as to the elements of true religion, as he preached it, said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, and thy neighbour as thyself."

The text is one of the many simple mottoes in the Bible, and contains the substance of Christian religion. Speaking of the reasons why the injunction contained in the text, "Looking unto Jesus," should be obeyed, he said that (1) Christ as the World's Redeemer was God's remedy for sin. Joseph was told, "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sin." The letters "I.H.S." signify words which mean, "Jesus, the Saviour of men." That the world needs a Saviour, said the reverend gentleman, is evident to every thoughtful man. The words of the ancient prophet, "The whole head is sick," expressed the situation to-day. No moral agency has yet been able to discover the remedy for sin, although many have theories as to means the employment of which they believe would have the desired effect. Some say, "Give us legislation for the extermination of sin." But legislation is but chrystalized public sentiment, and while public sentiment is content to accept a low standard of morals, legislation cannot effect a cure for sin. To get better laws you must raise the standard of public sentiment. Education is also advanced by some as the remedy. "There is not a true friend of education who would put upon it the task of redeeming the world," said the speaker. Greece and Rome were highly educated peoples, of which the writings of Socrates and Demosthenes are the evidence, "but where," said Dr. Young, "would you find greater moral filth than in these two countries at the time when these great writers lived?" Both Education and Legislation will fail to accomplish what all must greatly desire, but the prophet gives the remedy when he foretells the birth of Christ, to whom was given the task of redeeming the world.

(1) We should look to Christ as the Redeemer.

(2) We should look unto Him as our Example, teaching us how to live. Life is sometimes compared to a traveller on a road, and not knowing which turn to take. The Bible, God's word, is given to guide men through the journey of life. It is adapted to every age, and every nationality. Christ is not only the world's redeemer, but He is also the world's example.

Thomas A. Kempis' book, "Imitations of Christ," and Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," after the Bible, are the two most widely circulated books among Christians, yet in neither of these is Christ portrayed in such a way that He may be taken as an example. Dr. Young, referring to Sheldon's book, "In His Steps," which has been widely read, said that it was misleading. It asked the question, "What would Jesus do?" This, he said, was not a proper question to ask, with which to influence our action, because if Christ were in the world now He would do exactly what He did when He was here before—redeem it. The question which each should ask is, "What would Christ have me do?" God has a supreme plan in view for each person in the world, and our business should be to conform our lives to God's plan and work it out in our lives. We should look unto Christ as the pattern and pledge of complete victory. Nineteen centuries ago four men left the city of Troy on a lonely mission, without money or political influence, their mission being to conquer the world for Christ. They carried the message of the Cross, which spread from its place of inception to the island of the brave, and was with the first settlers to come to the New World, where it gradually worked its way Westward, until it reached the Pacific, which it crossed, and is now firmly established in Asia, and in a few weeks the culmination will be seen when the World's Sunday School Convention will be held in Jerusalem. A great sweep of victory has marked the progress of the Christian church.

At the present time said the speaker, we see a great host assembled, marching and counter-marching, and in the transparencies above them may be seen the motto, "Down with Organized Capital." On the other

ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCK M'F'G CO.

Year's Business is Very Satisfactory Being Largest in the History of the Company.

Plans Submitted for the Erection of Enlarged Buildings—The Retiring Board Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, was held this afternoon, when reports showing the volume of business done during the year were presented and adopted. The reports showed that the year's business had been most satisfactory, the volume of business being the largest in the history of the company, but profits being affected by the unfavourable conditions under which manufacturing was carried on, the inadequacy of the building, of which the site forbids extension, and the lack of direct railway connection.

A proposition was submitted, disclosing informally, plans for the erection of enlarged works, and discussed by the shareholders present.

The retiring Board of Directors were re-elected as follows:

President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
Vice-President — Mr. R. B. McKee.
Directors—Messrs. Aaron Cox, A. L. Davis and T. H. Fortye.

LATE JOHANNA O'BRIEN, FORMER DOURO RESIDENT

Died on Saturday Night—Lived in Town for 22 Years.

The death of Johanna O'Brien, relict of the late Dennis O'Brien, occurred on Saturday night at 11 o'clock, after an illness of six months' duration. The deceased, who was 74 years of age, came to this country in 1837, and settled in the township of Douro, with her parents. Twenty years ago, five years after the death of her husband, she came to live in town, and has lived here ever since, of late residing at No. 411 Downey street. She was the mother of eight children, four of whom are at home, and their names are, Michael, James, Mother St. Michael, St. Mary's Convent, and Lizzie, of town; and John F. and Morris, of Cloquet, Minn., Patrick W. of Chicago, and Daniel J., of Evanston, Ill.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at nine o'clock, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

CANDLEMAS DAY.

The Bear as a Weather Prognosticator —He Makes His First Appearance To-morrow.

A publication has recently been issued entitled "Weather Folk Lore," prepared under the direction of Willis L. Moore, Chief of the United States Weather Bureau, and from it the Examiner takes some extracts in reference to Candlemas Day, (to-morrow):

"The weather during the winter and spring seems to have been narrowly watched, and the chances of a good harvest, a fat pasture, or a loaded orchard inferred from the experience of previous years, combined with a fair reliance upon fortune. Some of these predictions, though not strengthened by modern observation are not to be altogether despised or thrown aside. The sayings of French, Scotch and English agree in many particulars—such, for instance as those referring to Candlemas Day and the early part of February generally.".

The bear comes out on the 2nd of February, (Candlemas Day), and if he sees his shadow he returns for six weeks.

If on Candlemas Day it is bright and clear the ground hog will stay in his den, thus indicating that more snow and cold are to come, but if it snows or rains he will creep out, as the winter is ended. (German.)

The shepherd would rather see the wolf enter his fold on Candlemas Day than the sun.

If a storm on February 2nd, spring is near; but if that day be bright and clear the spring will be late.

If the ground hog is sunning himself on the 2nd of February, he will return for four weeks to his winter quarters.

If Candlemas Day be bright and clear,
Corn and fruits will then be dear.
If Candlemas Day be fair and bright,
Winter will have another flight,
But if Candlemas Day bring clouds and rain
Winter is gone and won't come again.

The month that comes in good will go out bad.

January warm, the Lord have mercy! (January of this year, was anything but warm.)

There is always one fine week in February.

If February gives much snow,
A fine summer it doth foreshow

ACTING RECTOR AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Holah Preached at the Morning Service Yesterday.

Notwithstanding the storm without there was a fairly large congregation at the morning service at St. Luke's church yesterday. Prayers for the safety of Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, wife and family, while crossing the deep, were offered up, the acting Rector, Rev. Mr. Holah, conducting the service. He preached from Psalm, 11; verse 3,—"If the foundations be cast down what will the righteous do?" He prefaced his remarks by stating that it was a question that had been asked in all ages, bearing out his statement with many illustrations from both the Old and New Testaments, drawing very vivid pictures on each individual occasion. Passing on he said that the general consciousness of mankind decreed that right and wrong are realities of life and that by doing wrong the chastisement of God would be meted upon us. Passing on he dwelt at some length on the usual emptiness of churches and indifference in the worship of God. The personality of Jesus Christ is a reality and not a mere man or a divine personage as often imagined. In conclusion the urged that no matter how destroyed were the foundations and how dark the outlook, that we go to Him, who will rescue us and build up our foundations.

TO HELP INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION.

One of the reasons why our citizens regard the town of Peterborough with pride is the fact of the natural advantages it possesses to make it a great manufacturing centre, which very amply justifies the policy which the town has adopted and with which the people are in sympathy, of encouraging the enlargement of our manufacturing industries and their importance by every legitimate means. This policy can quite as fairly be applied to encouragement of the expansion of existing industries, when such encouragement will permit of great increase of capacity and operations under improved conditions, of increase in employment of labour and of a corresponding increase of the advantages which the presence of manufactories mean to the town.

The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company held its annual meeting of the shareholders to-day, and the reports showed that during the past year the company had done the largest volume of business in its history. The report also showed that the volume of business, while large, was done under disadvantageous conditions, and that the company's extent of operations has quite outgrown its present premises, which in many other respects, especially as to location, forbid the extension of buildings, made necessary by the expansion of operations which the business of the company demands. The impossibility of direct connection with the railways involves a very large expenditure in the laying down of raw material and manufacturing supplies, and the movement to the railway stations of finished products, a condition which very materially affects the profit of operation.

With a view of securing more suitable premises, during the past week, Hon. J. R. Stratton, the president, and the managing director of the company put themselves in communication with the Manufacturers' Committee of the Town Council and the Town Trust Commissioners, and presented a proposition for obtaining a site well adapted to the purposes of company, and affording, especially, the advantages of direct communication with both lines of railway. The site in question is the plot of land owned by the town, situated south of the C.P.R. track and between the tracks of the G.T.R., and at present, in part, occupied by Mr. H. P. Kennedy as stock yards. This plot of land is unoccupied, excepting partially, for the use mentioned, and is adapted to no other purpose as well as that of a site for the buildings of a large manufacturing industry, giving admirable railway facilities and the isolation from surrounding buildings desirable in the matter of industrial establishments.

The proposition submitted to the Council and Commissioners is, briefly, that the latter grant to the company the above plot of land as a site for new buildings. If this proposition is entertained the company will undertake, as soon as weather conditions will permit, the erection of substantial buildings, of modern character, to cost between $25,000 and $30,000. These buildings will be so constructed and equipped with protective appliances as to meet the requirements of the Underwriters' Association, decrease the risk of fire and lessen the cost of insurance. The buildings will be of a size, and be equipped with machinery and plant, permitting of adding one-half to the operations and output of the company, and of the employment of a proportionately larger number of hands, an increase required to meet the growing demands for the company's goods. If the grant requested is made, the company will agree to a fixed assessment of $12,000, a fair figure, compared with the fixed assessments of a similar nature.

Like many other establishments have had, this company now has exemption from taxation, except on $17,000 for school purposes, and if the assessment law is amended, as is proposed this year, to exempt machinery in factories, the proposed $12,000 fixed assessment on the new premises will be on buildings alone. The arrangement in regard to assessment proposed will bring about $100 more per year in taxes into the municipal treasury. Besides, the old buildings, when vacated, will come under the general assessment and will contribute their pro rata share of taxes; or, if occupied by a new industry, the town in pursuit of its policy in this regard, will doubtless be willing to grant a fixed assessment, for, being owned by the company, it will be to its interest to see that they are occupied by some industry to which they may be suited.

It seems that the proposition mentioned above is one that should be entertained. The policy of the town would doubtless lead to the granting of similar, and, perhaps, more favourable terms, to a new industry proposing to locate in town. The directors and shareholders of the local company are, for the most part, residents of Peterborough. They have for years been contributing to the upbuilding and prosperity of the town in other capacities, as well as in that represented by the operations of an establishment, which has been placed upon a sound and stable footing, ranking amongst our most substantial local industries; and they are certainly entitled to at least as much consideration as would be shown to a new concern coming to town. And, practically, a new industry, nearly equal in importance to the Lock Works, in their present flourishing condition, will be the outcome of the town entertaining the above proposition, for it involves the adding one-half to the capacity of the works and the consequent employment of nearly as much more labour as that now employed, to the advantage of our merchants and the general prosperity of the town. The town would be justified in meeting the reasonable and business-like proposition of the Lock Company in a reasonable and business-like way.

AFRICAN VETERAN DIED OF DIPHTHERIA.

Sad Demise of Trooper Albert Thompson, 6th C. M. R.'s.

The sad death of Albert Thompson occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday morning at 5 o'clock, after a short illness. He was taken to the hospital on Monday suffering from diphtheria and succumbed within the week, at the age of only 23 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Thompson, 69 Mcdonel street and leaves one sister and two brothers.

The deceased was formerly a trooper in the Sixth C. M. R's, and was buried at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the Little Lake Cemetery.

The following card of condolence signed by the South African Veterans, was forwarded to the bereaved parents and relatives:—

To Mrs. Robt. Thompson and relatives of the Late Albert Thompson:

We, the Peterborough comrades in arms of the late Trooper Albert Thompson, 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles, wish to express our sympathy with the family and friends in the great loss sustained in the death of our honoured comrade, in whose departure the service has lost a brave and faithful soldier, the family a dutiful son and brother, we, among his many friends a valued companion and, moreover, one who in all his associations in life did his duty as a soldier and as a citizen.

REASONABLE EXCUSE FOR WORKING ON SUNDAY.

Alleged Breach of the Lord's Day Act Attracted Clergymen.

At the police court this morning, Edward Packenham, Theodore Knore and Charles Wood were arraigned on the charge of working on Sunday, January 17th, the work, according to the prosecution, being neither one of charity nor of necessity. County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution, while Mr. R. M. Dennistoun defended.

The case attracted a very different kind of a crowd to that which is generally seen when a criminal case comes up, and several clergymen were present.

The three men are millwrights employed by the Cereal Company, and admitted doing work on the day in question, but claimed it was one of necessity, and was not a breach of the Lord's Day Observance Act. Packenham worked on the rolls from eight in the morning until Sunday noon. Knore was repairing pipes from eight o'clock in the forenoon until two o'clock in the afternoon; while Wood was engaged in fixing the package driers from 8 o'clock until 6.30 o'clock.

Alexander Macdonald was the first witness called for the defence, and testified as follows: I am the superintendent of the American Cereal Company's mills at Peterborough, and we have a large number of people employed, at present about 450. The mill begins to run at 6 o'clock on Monday morning, and works on until 6 o'clock Saturday night. To shut down the mill for an hour between that period would mean that our people would be idle for that particular time. The work that the defendants were doing could not have been done while the machinery was in operation. It was absolutely necessary that the work be done, and that the machinery should be overhauled at least once a week. Every mill that works from 6 o'clock on Monday morning until 6 o'clock on Saturday night has of necessity to do their tinkering on Sunday.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wood — These machines had not given out during the week, but they had to be overhauled in order to ensure their running satisfactorily for the next week. If we did the work on Monday our employees would be out of work for that day, and it is decidedly to their interest if we get a few men to do the work on Sunday, and thus let our general employees put in their full time.

Judgment was reserved for one week.

MEETING IN AID OF TEMPERANCE WORK.

Was Held Last Night in St. Andrew's Sunday School—Rev. Mr. Glover, the Speaker.

After the regular service at St. Andrew's church last night a union meeting of the churches of the town was held in the Sunday School room, in aid of temperance work. Mr. T. Glover, of New Zealand, addressed the gathering, taking for his subject the question, "Where are the Nine?" This subject was suggested by the judgment of a Sunday School convention held in England with which Mr. Cadbury, of Cocoa fame, was connected. The latter had made the following statement: "It is computed that only one in ten of the scholars in this country become members of the church and that fifteen millions in our land, a large proportion of whom have been Sunday School scholars, are outside of our churches." Rev. Chas. Garrett also made the same allegation. Boys, continued the speaker, give an excuse for not attending Sunday School, in that they are fourteen years old and in most churches we consequently see 25 girls to every five young men and boys. Mr. Glover then gave several illustrations bearing out this point. The great problem is, he said, "What is becoming of our young men?" They are needed all over—even in parliament, but they cannot be found to fill the places.

The speaker went on with a reference to the disrespectful manner in which children often speak of their parents, calling them "the old girl" and "the governor." He said that God did not command us to honour "the old girl and the governor," but to honour our fathers and our mothers and thus would our days be long on the land the Lord our God has given us. Passing on he earnestly appealed to Sunday School teachers to consecrate themselves more fully to their work. In answer to the question "What is it that is stealing the lambs away from the very fold of Jesus?" the speaker said that there was only one answer and that was expressed in the two words "strong drink." He said that it is not drunkenness that we have to contend with but "drinking." A criminal, who was sentenced to the gallows once said that it was impossible for him to commit a crime without whiskey to nerve him on—not drunkenness but drink. Referring to the Young Peoples' Societies, Mr. Glover said, that they could not fill the gap between the Sunday School and the church in regard to the unsaved, for these societies are for strengthening young Christians. They are very good in their place and are distinctly needed but united effort must be made along the lines pointed out in the address. The Independent Order of Good Templars are doing this work and a meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall on Tuesday evening in order to organize a society here. He extended a cordial welcome to all men and women to attend.

The closing hymn was "Rescue the Perishing," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. A. Wilson, of Paul's church.

THE CHURCHES.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

The Rev. J. H. Teney, of Omemee, preached two very forcible and instructive sermons to appreciative congregations yesterday. The morning text being taken from St. Luke, iv. chap., 18 verse; and evening from Isaiah i. chap., 18 verse. At the evening service the choir rendered the anthem "Give Peace Oh Lord," very effectively, Miss Mary Rush taking the solo.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

A baptismal service was held at the Murray street Baptist church last night, and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Bastow. There was a large congregation, and three on confession of faith, were baptized. The pastor preached eloquently on baptism, which he claimed was a command from God.

SALVATION ARMY.

At the Salvation Army barracks yesterday Brigadier Turner of Montreal, conducted the services, assisted by Ensign Macdonald of Campbellford, and Ensign Edwards. All the services were well attended, and were marked with special singing.

MONK CROWDED OUT

Leadership of the Quebec Conservatives is Vacant.

WILL MR. TARTE GET POSITION

Fact Became Known Friday Despite the United Efforts of Party Workers to Keep It Secret Until After the Bye-Elections on February 16—Hon. J. Israel Tarte's Shrewd Catering For Place.

Montreal, Jan. 30.—Mr. F. D. Monk has resigned the leadership of the Conservative party in the Province of Quebec. The fact became known yesterday, notwithstanding the united efforts of the party workers to keep it within the inner ranks until after the bye-elections on February 16th. The probability of a withdrawal on the leader's part has been no secret for some time; in fact ever since Hon. J. Israel Tarte appeared at a Conservative meeting held last autumn at Berthierville Mr. Monk's dissatisfaction has been commented upon by politicians of both colors. Before that time Mr. Monk was everywhere acclaimed as the leader of the Provincial organization, but since then this had been modified by the word "nominal."

Mr. Tarte is Shrewd.

Thereafter, as Mr. Tarte shrewdly worked his way into the Conservative camp, Mr. Monk began to give evidence of detachment, of a desire to shy away as if a wolf had come within the fold. Strenuous efforts were made to calm his fears, but, although on one or two occasions he was induced to appear on the same platform with the former Minister of Public Works, there were signs of open disruption that could not be concealed.

The Climax at Montreal.

The climax came Thursday night when Mr. Monk did not appear at the opening meeting of the campaign in favor of the candidature of Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, Conservative nominee in St. James' division of Montreal. The Provincial leader had been at Toronto, but it was understood that he would return in time to give his support at the outset of the campaign. In fact, he did return in time, arriving at 7 o'clock. He was immediately communicated with at his house over the telephone by the party organizers, and when he learned that Mr. Tarte was to be one of the speakers he begged leave to remain in the house and rest after the fatigue of the journey. That was accepted as a mild way of saying that the nominal leader of the Quebec Conservatives had decided to withdraw. Developments yesterday proved it.

Mr. Monk Is Reticent.

At his residence here last night the ex-leader observed that it was not for him to say whether or not he had resigned. If he had decided that the demands of his law practice made it necessary for him to retire from the active organization of the party, it would be only natural that his retirement should be announced and explained by the Conservative press. It was possible that he would make a statement through that medium. He wished it to be said, however, that all his dealings with Mr. Bordeu had been of a most friendly nature, and that he had a high opinion of the leader, both as a man and as a politician.

HERRING BOATS GO DOWN.

Fernwood and Nicholson Crushed in the Ice Off St. George's Bay.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 30.—The fishing schooners Fernwood and Nicholson, with cargoes of herring from Bay of Islands, Nfld., have been crushed in the ice floes off St. George's Bay. The crews abandoned the ships and walked over the floes to the land. The schooner Talisman is frozen fast in the ice in the northern arm of the Bay of Islands and will remain there until the spring. The present is the worst season ever experienced in the herring fishery, as so far eight vessels have been destroyed.

Want Duty on Natural Gas.

Welland, Jan. 30.—The agitation to prohibit the exportation of natural gas which has been incubating in Welland County for years, reached a climax yesterday when the County Council passed a memorial praying the House of Commons to place an export duty of 12 cents per thousand feet on natural gas. In past years town, township and village Councils have passed similar memorials, but the consent of the County Council could never be secured owing to the lobbying of the provincial Natural Gas Company, who are solely interested in the gas exportation. To-day the agitation is pulsing through the whole district and the action of the County Council is greeted with general satisfaction.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Chicago—Lake Michigan has at last frozen over. In most winters there is a wide stretch of open water in mid-lake.

St. Paul, Minn—Ex-Mayor Ames of Minneapolis, is a free man. The Supreme Court has quashed the indictment against him.

London—The Earl of Devan (Rev. Sir Henry Hugh Courtenay), rector of Powderham, Devan, is dead. He was born in July 15, 1811.

Detroit—Jeremiah G. Farwell, son of one of the most prominent capitalists of Detroit, is dead, from a bullet through his stomach, fired with suicidal intent.

Copenhagen—The Danish Atlantic Islands Association has been formed to arouse the nation's interest in the out-lying possessions and prevent the sale of territory under Danish sovereignty.

Pittsburg—As the result of an attempt to hurry a fire with carbon oil, Mrs. A. P. Gray is dead, a daughter, aged 12, probably fatally burned, and five others in the family seriously injured.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees domestic animals etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co. MR. SMART'S VIEW.

Average Britain Does Not Fully Appreciate, He Says, the Excellencies of the Dominion of Canada.

London, Jan. 30.—(C.A.P.)—James Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior for Canada, besieged by reporters, said the average Briton had not fully appreciated the superior advantages Canada enjoyed over the other countries of the world. The emigration of the British people to Canada would create a better feeling than any fiscal policy could accomplish. In twelve years Canada could supply Great Britain with all the wheat and flour she required.

Sir Edward Grey, M.P. (Liberal Imperialist) asked the Manchester Reform Club yesterday if they thought there was a single case of any country being benefited by retaliation. Instead of the protectionists being able to throw open the colonial markets to British goods, the colonies will instead simply raise their duties against the foreigner.

Counting Australian Noses.

Henniker-Heaton, M.P. (Conservative), figures that in the Australian Senate there are 24 members in favor of preferential trade, as against 12 opposed to it. The corresponding figures for the House of Representatives are 51 and 24. He says five-sixths of the Australian people are solid for Chamberlain.

One of the first questions which will be placed on the paper at the approaching session of Parliament will be—whether there is any precedent for a member of Parliament convening a commission to take evidence on a pending public question?

Campbell-Bannerman, M.P., speaking at Edinburgh yesterday, said with the example afforded by the result of the dispute between Canada and Germany, there was no need to go abroad in order to see what retaliation meant.

Lord Strathcona's View.

Lord Strathcona, speaking to the Newport Chamber of Commerce yesterday, said the colonies regarded Chamberlain as their best friend and he had done more for the Empire than any other man.

Joseph Chamberlain has written a letter to Edgar Wallace approving of the scheme to replace on the land agricultural laborers stranded in London.

Canadian at Durban.

London, Jan. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Durban correspondent of The Daily Telegraph announces the arrival of the Indian war canoe, Tilikum, 30 feet long, in which Capt. Voss, a Canadian, as the result of a bet of $5,000, is traveling round the world in order to outdo the United States mariner, Capt. Slocum.

Women to Canada.

London, Jan. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The British Women's Emigration Society is endeavoring to raise £2,000 in order to send 300 women out to Canadian factories.

Sham Battle on Snow Shoes.

Quebec, Jan. 30.—Feb. 6 will be a big military day. All corps in Quebec, permanent and volunteer, are expected to take part in a sham battle on snowshoes, which will take place on Bell's hill, the defending party taking up a position near the St. Foye monument. The 6th Artillery and 17th Regiment of Levis, as well as the Rifle Association, are expected to participate.

Belgians to Come to Canada.

London, Jan. 30.—The Canadian Government continental emigration agents have been in London to confer with James A. Smart. Mr. Decelo, agent of the Government at Antwerp, is of the opinion that a large number of Belgians will emigrate to Canada during the coming summer.

NO DIFFERENCE.

No distinction is made as to the kind of Piles that Hem-Roid cures. The names Internal, External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal remedy to remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally.

It is a permanent cure and no case of Piles has ever been found it failed to cure.

FATAL EXPLOSIONS.

Sad Fate of a Man Who Fired a Blast Prematurely.

Sudbury, Jan. 30.—A serious accident took place here after 7 o'clock yesterday morning on the C. P. R. construction work in which one man was killed and two others injured, one fatally. Thursday night one of the blasts did not go off, and Johnston, the Swede foreman, was driving a hole on top of the charge to put in another detonator to fire the hole, when he struck the one that had not gone off, resulting in an explosion. Johnston had the lower portion of his body completely torn off and died in a few minutes. Two Italians who were standing near were seriously injured and one so badly that he cannot live.

Six Killed By Explosion.

Rognonas, France, Jan. 30.—Six persons were killed and 14 were injured as a result of an explosion of gas in the cafe of the Hotel de France last evening. A dozen persons were sitting at the tables when an odor of gas penetrated the room. Mme. Martin, wife of the proprietor, lighted a candle and started for the kitchen to investigate. As she opened the door a terrific explosion occurred. When the body of Mme. Martin was found it was almost decapitated. Her husband, father and daughter also, were killed. It is feared that some of the injured will die.

Forgotten Dynamite.

London, Jan. 30.—Navvies working on the new railway line in Wexford came upon a forgotten charge of dynamite embedded in the rock. Patrick O'Leary, a Cork man, struck the dynamite with his pick, and it exploded, blowing him to pieces and injuring several of his companions.

Shot His Own Brother.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 30.—While shooting sea birds from a boat in the vicinity of Devil's Island yesterday afternoon, Maniel Gorehan, aged 17 years, was shot and instantly killed by his brother, Arthur, two years older. The shooting was purely accidental. Arthur raised the gun to fire at a bird, and as he did so the hammer struck the side of the boat and the charge entered his brother's breast, making a gaping wound, and he fell dead. Arthur, with a companion, rowed to the shore. An inquest was held and Arthur was exonerated.

Workers Scalded to Death.

Detroit, Jan. 30.—Three men were so badly scalded yesterday by the breaking of an iron elbow connecting the boiler and engine in the basement of the Hotel Metropole that they died a short time afterwards at the hospitals to which they were removed.

Brakeman Injured.

Welland, Jan. 30.—Brakeman Murray was injured yesterday in a collision on the M.C.R.

Watery Blood, Declining Health.

Strength and Vigor Can Only be Maintained by Means of Pure, Rich Blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

For many generations doctors have realized the importance of the blood as the source of life and health but it is only in more modern times that science has discovered the best means of forming new blood and so rebuilding the wasted tissues.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the result of careful study of this problem and has proved by far the most successful method of restoring weak, watery blood to a healthful condition.

Anaemia, chlorosis, nervous exhaustion and prostration, and each and every disorder which arises from insufficiency in the quality or quantity of the blood are readily cured by the regular and persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

By noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure you can prove beyond dispute that new firm flesh and tissue are being added.

Mrs. Smeaton, 191 Rubidge street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed with the Canadian General Electric Co., states:

"My little son was very much run down in health, had no colour in his face and was quite nervous. As his appetite was poor and he seemed tired and listless, we became anxious about him, and began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It was not long before I noticed a marked change in his appearance. His appetite improved, his appetite became better, and his health generally was very much better than it had been for a long time. I have much pleasure in adding my testimony to the hosts of others who are praising this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 10

WHERE JOURNEYS END

By CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

As the train came to a stop Howard Monroe glanced out of the window of the Pullman. "Twenty-four hours more," he murmured. "Well, it can't be helped. By George, that's a pretty girl! Nice old lady with her too. Hope they'll come in here."

Next moment his hopes were realized, as the two women entered the car, guided by an obsequious porter, who deposited a dress suit case and an umbrella in the section opposite. "Be here about ten minutes, ma'am," he said in answer to a question from the elder; "got to cut in some sleepers and a diner."

"Thank you. Better sit down, Aunt Bessie."

But the elder woman shook her head. "I do wish you had some one to go with you, Dorothy!" she exclaimed in tones Howard could not help overhearing. "I can't bear to have you go alone. Your uncle never would have let you if he hadn't been sick in bed. You're sure you don't mind?"

"I don't mind the least bit in the world, auntie. We bachelor girls have to learn to do for ourselves."

"Bachelor girls, indeed!" The elder lady sniffed, while Howard felt an unaccountable thrill of pleasure pass through him. "Old maids we used to call them. A girl's a girl, no matter what she says, and I don't like to see one traveling alone. It wasn't considered proper in my young days."

"I know," returned the girl softly. "But traveling has changed so since then, even down in this dear little out of the way corner of the south. Why, what could harm me?"

"Oh, nothing, I suppose, but I don't like it. You wouldn't even take a lunch with you," she added irrelevantly, her hospitable southern heart aggrieved. "It seems so inhospitable to send any one away without something to eat."

"You're awfully good, Aunt Bessie; but, indeed, it wasn't worth while. I'll get dinner and breakfast in the dining car and be in New York for lunch."

A sudden clanging made the elder woman start. "Gracious!" she exclaimed. "I'll be carried off! Goodby, Dorothy. Write as soon as you get to New York. I'll be anxious till I hear."

The two hurried to the platform, where the girl stood smiling and waving until the train was well under way. So well under way was it, indeed, that as she turned to enter the car a sudden lurch threw her violently to one side and made her grasp the rail to steady herself. As she did so her purse, hung to her belt by a chain, flew open and sent most of its contents at large through the yet unclosed doors of the vestibule.

Unaware of this, however, Miss Vernon walked to her seat, glancing around her just in time to see Howard watching her. Both were thinking of the good lady's anxious hospitality, and before they could recover themselves they had smiled squarely into one another's eyes.

With quickly stiffened lips Dorothy sank into her seat. As she did so her purse swung forward into her lap, exposing its emptiness to her startled gaze. With a gasp of dismay she seized and examined it. Her ticket was safe in an inner compartment, but every cent of her money was gone.

It did not take her long to decide on the moment of her loss nor the hopelessness of repairing it. Miss Vernon was a very independent young woman who on more than one occasion in the four years that had elapsed since she had begun to earn her own bread had seen her funds depleted nearly to the vanishing point, yet never before had she found herself entirely penniless. There was nothing to be done, however. To telegraph to Aunt Bessie for money would be to frighten that lady almost to death, and there was no one else on whom she felt at liberty to call. She must simply resolve to make the best of her journey, all twenty-four hours of it, without money.

Meanwhile Howard had been watching the girl out of the corner of his eye, admiring her more every moment. He had noted the look of vexation that froze the smile with which she had unintentionally favored him and had promptly averted his eyes, as if in hopes that the girl's wrath might glance off his broad shoulders. Thus, turned away, he had missed seeing her discovery of her open purse and her consequent consternation. When he had ventured to look again, she was staring straight ahead of her with what seemed to him a most inscrutable expression. In reality she was thinking of the luncheon she had refused and pondering the great truth that even a modern dining car is of little avail unless one had the price of a meal.

As the afternoon wore away Howard began to curse the conventionalities. Here he was within a few feet of this peerless girl, as he had already begun to term her, and yet to all practical purposes was miles and miles away. He had always been slow to scrape acquaintance, even with men, and, so far as he could remember, had never in his life done so with a woman. Unless Dorothy—he had heard her aunt call her Dorothy—should give him an opening he told himself sadly that he should never venture to address her.

After awhile a waiter passed through the car announcing dinner. Howard was hungry, but determined to wait until Dorothy should go in. The car might be crowded, and he might be compelled to sit with her at the same table, where he might hope that the chances of the meal might enable him to address her. But, wait as he might Dorothy showed no signs of budging, and long after the last call for dinner had been circulated he was forced to go in alone.

While dining he wondered over the situation. The girl had eaten nothing since she came on board the train, nearly six hours before. She had no lunch with her, not even a box of candy. She was a solid, healthy girl, not by any means one of those fragile beauties who live on air, and should have had an appetite to correspond. What the dickens could be the matter?

The next morning was the same. Dorothy sat motionless, looking in the eyes of the by this time besotted youth lovelier than ever. As a matter of fact, the lack of her morning coffee had given the girl a headache, while the lack of other food made her savage and miserable.

At last came a crisis. Just as the waiter passed through with his "Last call for breakfast in the dining car!" the train stopped, not at a station, but out in a field. After ten minutes had crept by without sign of movement, Howard, who had been waiting for breakfast as he had waited for dinner, went out to investigate. Soon he came back and went straight up to Dorothy with determination in his eyes. "I beg your pardon," he said, with a composure that astonished himself, "but we have been stopped by a wreck across the track and will be delayed at least six hours. They are going to cut off the diner and send it back as soon as breakfast is over. If you want anything to eat you had better get it now, before it is too late."

Six hours longer! The tears came into Dorothy's eyes, and her lids quivered pathetically. How could she bear it? "Thank you," she said as bravely as she could. "Thank you. But I'm not hungry."

Not hungry. Howard stared at her incredulously. To his certain knowledge she had eaten nothing for twenty-four hours. Not hungry! The thing was preposterous. He glanced at her white cheeks, then with sudden suspicion at her pocketbook. "I haven't had breakfast myself yet," he said. "Won't you take pity on me and be my guest? I can't bear to eat alone."

For an instant the girl gazed at him while a mist swam before her eyes. "Thank you so much," she said humbly. "I—I lost all my money overboard a few minutes after we started yesterday, and I'm nearly starved to death."

* * * * * *

A year later Mr. and Mrs. Howard Monroe in the newest of new clothes, were taking the same trip northward. Aunt Bessie had just left them, and they had settled themselves for the twenty-four hour trip before them.

Howard turned to his month old bride reflectively. "Just to think," he said softly, "if I hadn't spoken to you a year ago we shouldn't have been here today. I hesitated a long time before I ventured."

"A long time! I should think so." There was much emphasis in the words.

Howard appeared startled. "Too long, was it?" he asked. "If I hadn't spoken when I did what would you have done?"

"Done? Well," reflectively, "if you had delayed much longer I believe I should have asked you myself—and hated you ever afterward!"

"Instead of"— He paused questioningly.

Dorothy looked at him smilingly. "Instead of"—she repeated roguishly—"instead of—suppose you guess!"

NOW IS THE TIME.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil now. Not next week or next month, but now. You need it to put fat on your bones and strength in your body to stand the cold and trying weather of the next few months.

Nine-tenths of the population would be benefited by taking Scott's Emulsion regularly three times a day for a month or more every fall to fortify and strengthen the system against the cold and constant changes that occur through the winter. The benefit is particularly marked with young, delicate children. No food that they can take begins to compare with Scott's Emulsion.

Pure cod liver oil is scarce but if you get Scott's Emulsion you'll be sure to get only the purest and best oil.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

"Go West,

Ranch it and rough it and you'll soon get rid of that weak chest and that hacking cough." That is what the doctor said to a young married man with a wife and child to care for and a modest salary to support them on. He couldn't go West. Love and duty tied him to his desk in the city.

People don't have to travel to cure coughs or strengthen weak lungs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, weakness, emaciation and other forms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

"I will write you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me," says George H. Belcher, Esq., of Dorton, Pike County, Ky. "Thirteen years ago I was wounded by a ball passing through my lung. I have had a bad cough almost ever since, with shortness of breath, and it was very easy to take cold; the slightest change of weather would cause the cough to be so bad I would have to sit up in bed all night. Could not eat or sleep at times; was all run down; could not work at all. A few months ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Have not used more than two bottles, and now can eat, sleep, and work, and I feel like a new man. I cannot find words to sufficiently recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or tell the good it has done me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. The book has 1008 pages and over 700 illustrations. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PITH AND POINT.

In order to be popular forget to say a good deal.

Wisdom is always conceded to a rich man until he loses his riches.

Do not emphasize your own virtues by enlarging on the failings of others.

A safe way to judge a man is to ascertain just what friends he doesn't make.

A genius is a man who refuses to believe in the impossibilities of other people.

The claims to wisdom of owls and a multitude of men rest upon their looks, and nothing more.

To get rid of a bore ask him to repeat his longest and favorite story twice. Even he cannot stand that.

Only a smart man can conceal from a woman the fact that he isn't as smart as he would wish her to think he is.

One of the curious things about a man who wants to borrow money from you today is his eager determination to repay it tomorrow.

There are three stages in the existence of the average man when he is of particular interest to his community—viz, at his birth, marriage and funeral.—Success.

Forestalling Trouble.

Sam Tate at one time owned a big cotton plantation on the Mississippi river. Once Tate called on the governor of Arkansas and said, "Governor, if you're not too busy this morning I'd like to have a pardon."

"Who for?"

"For myself."

"Ah, for yourself! And what for?"

"Killing a nigger."

"When did you kill him?"

"Oh, I haven't killed him yet—thought I'd get a pardon in advance, so there wouldn't be any trouble about it."

Publicity Has Its Disadvantages.

"You weather prophets make a great many mistakes," said the man who sneers.

"Yes," answered the observer, "and if other people had all their mistakes published in the daily papers as we do I suspect that our record would seem pretty good."—Washington Star.

BURNING A WIDOW.

The Story of a Witness of This Cruel Indian Custom.

I had the opportunity of seeing a young widow burn herself by the side of her deceased husband. The funeral pile was about ten feet high. In the middle of the pile lay her deceased husband, an old and miserable looking man. The devoted victim was a young creature about seventeen, dressed in white, with all her jewels on. There was a confused noise of singing and shouting, intermixed with the sound of tomtoms and at intervals the hollow and sonorous sound of gongs and trumpets. The priests and her friends crowded round her, all speaking to her at once, apparently to distract her attention and to prevent her shrinking at the last moment from sacrificing herself.

There was a small tank of water close to the funeral pile. They led her to this. I was very near her when I saw her quietly take the jewels from her ears, her nose, unclasp her gold bracelets as well as the bangles from her ankles and every ornament she had on, which were received by her relations.

She then stepped into the water, divested herself of her clothes of pure white and replaced them with clothes of a yellow color. She then performed her ablutions, came out of the water and, unassisted, walked three times round the pile, followed by the priests and her friends, who at this period appeared to be more urgent and loud in their discourse to her to distract her attention. She then, unassisted, mounted the pile, laid herself down by the side of her husband and put his head under her arm, turning herself toward him.

Then they sprinkled large quantities of oil and straw on the pile. The fatal fire was then applied, and amid loud shouts and while the fire reached her I distinctly heard her utter the words "Nirva! Nirva!"

I was very near her during the different parts of the ceremony and could have saved her life by merely touching her, as she would then have been defiled and would not have been permitted to have the honor of sacrificing herself.

But in saving her life I stood the chance of being torn to pieces, and I certainly should have been brought to a court martial for disobedience of orders, for the English in those days were strictly forbidden to meddle with the customs and prejudices of the natives.—Georg Ebers' "Memoirs."

MEETING AN AUTHOR.

Robert Barr's Visit to His Friend Captain Mayne Reid.

Robert Barr, the author, told with glee how Captain Mayne Reid, who was a friend of his, came to London and sent his address to Barr. The latter started to call on Reid. He did not know the street and, asking a bus man if his vehicle passed such and such a street, was assured that it did. In due course he came upon the street. In his letter Mayne Reid said he had taken a corner house in this street and added that he had a delightful garden and a high wall. "When I got down from the bus," says Mr. Barr, "I found that the corner house had a high wall and doubtless behind it a delightful garden, which answered perfectly the description which Captain Mayne Reid had given me.

"I said to a policemen, because I wanted to be sure, 'Could you tell me where Mr. Reid lives?' And he answered, 'Do you mean Mr. Reid, the author?' And I replied, 'Yes.' So the policeman pointed to the premises I had already selected as the residence of my friend. Therefore I went through the gate without fear and rang the bell at the residence, which stood some distance back in the garden. I was admitted and asked if Mr. Reid was at home. I was told that he was and was shown into a room on the left hand side of the passage. Waiting there some time, an old, slippered man came in, whom I did not recognize.

"'Do you wish to see me?' he asked. I rose from my chair and replied, 'I have called to see Captain Mayne Reid.' 'I beg your pardon,' he said very frigidly. 'I am Charles Reade,' with which he turned his back upon me and left me there alone. That was the only time I had the pleasure of meeting one of England's greatest authors. Captain Mayne Reid had taken a corner house in a street of the same name in Maida Vale, some miles from where Mr. Charles Reade resided during his last days."

Malicious.

"What made her faint?" asked the sympathetic old lady.

"Madam," replied the sour faced misogynist, "there was a good looking young man standing right behind her."—Town and Country.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

THE PICTON TEAM PLAYED FAST GAME,

And Belleville had no walk Over to Defeat Them on Friday Night.

Friday night was a joyous time for the sporting man on the Belleville Intelligencer, and he breaks out into poetry when commenting on the game between Picton and Belleville. Speaking of the game the Intelligencer says:—

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen Allow us to present to you seven manly and stalwart young fellows, winners of the championship of group 2, intermediate series, O.H.A., and who, unless we miss our guess, will be "there or thereabouts" when the provincial championship is handed out. They played clean, clever and fast hockey last night, and fairly won the distinction of being the best team that ever performed on local ice. And they were not up against the easiest proposition in the world, either. No, indeed! Those Pea Canners had a forward line that was in the game all the way, but their defence was not what it might have been. Had the visitors defence been as strong as their forwards there would have been no story of "Nineteen to Nine" to tell. One might think, judging by the score, that the game was loosely played, but whoever thinks so is mistaken. The fact is, the play was so fast and open that chances to shoot on goal came to both sides every minute or two. Another fact is that the locals, having a long lead, got gay occasionally and took chances they would not have taken under other circumstances. Still, we would say nothing to belittle the work of the Picton forwards, who showed flashes of splendid combination, went right in on the nets in fearless style, and eluded the stonewall Belleville defence in a way that the much-praised Peterborough team was not able to do.

LOCAL LADIES' TEAM TO PLAY LINDSAY.

Will Go to that Town on Wednesday to Play a Game.

On Wednesday the Peterborough Ladies' Hockey team will go to Lindsay to play a game with the Ladies team representing that town. The Orillia team was to have filled the date in Lindsay, but were unable to go and the local team kindly consented to go and fill the engagement. The young ladies have been playing good hockey in practice and will doubtless give the Lindsay team a good game. Preparations have been made to give the visiting ladies a good time.

LAKEFIELD DOWNED FIFTH WARD SCHOLARS.

In a Friendly Game of Hockey Played Saturday Afternoon.

The hockey team of the Fifth Ward school, accompanied by Mr. Kelly, went to Lakefield on Saturday afternoon to play a friendly game with the McKenzie School team of that town. Although the Lakefield team were much heavier than they locals they had to work hard for their victory. The score at half time was 4-1 and at full time 8-2 in favour of Lakefield.

On the McKenzie team the lifting and shooting of Pearce and Rickard earned most of their goals, while Geo. Butcher and Norman Gaele scored for the locals. Gaele is a splendid stick handler, far the best on either team, and his brilliant rushes down the ice were a feature of the game. Herbert Faint played an excellent game in goal, while W. Mr. McKenzie was an impartial referee. Butcher's close checking kept back the rushes of Lakefield's heavy forwards. The teams lined up as follows: McKenzie,—Casey, Pearce, Rickard, Hilliard, Patterson, Greenwood, Young. Ashburnham,—Faint, Mercier, Chrowe, Gaele, G. Butcher, W. Butcher, G. Quartermaine.

THE IRON DUKES DEFEATED FORWARDS.

The Y. M. C. A. Wellingtons Won in a Fast Game on Saturday.

The Y.M.C.A. Wellingtons won their second game on Saturday on the Y.M. C.A. rink, when they defeated the North End Forwards. The game was rough and was played in a snowstorm. The Forwards are a slow Sunday school class bunch, but did not play at all as their name would indicate. The game was replete in tripping and slashing, on both sides. When the Forwards found they did not know how to play hockey they had to resort to their old game of shinney. The score was 1-0 in favour of the Y.'s. The only goal was scored in the last of the first half by A. Dawe. In the second half the visitors kicked against the work of the referee, and left the ice. The game was awarded to the Wellingtons by the referee. Crane, Dawe and Laing did the best work for the Y. M. C. A., while G. Hawley and E. Harrison played for the visitors. The teams lined up as follows: Goal, R. Thornton; point, W. Pratt; cover point, C. Moore; rover, A. Dawe; cenetre, S. Laing; left wing, H. Maguire; right wing, R. Crane. Forwards,—Goal; C. Stevens; point, E. Saxby, cover point, R. little; rover, S. Wade; centre, E. Harrison; left wing, G. Hawley; right wing, H. Harrison.—Com.

RING HOCKEY TO BE INTRODUCED.

A New Game Almost Equal in Interest to That Played on Ice.

The new game of ring hockey just introduced in the Y. M. C. A. promises to be very popular and the next best to the game on ice. The men are placed in the same positions as in regular hockey The puck consists of a large rubber ring and the hockey stick is round with a guard for the hands. The game originated in the Pratt Institute, New York, and has been introduced by Mr. Aplin, the physical director. The boys will play it at the exhibition, on February 1. This will be the first exhibition game played in Canada.

PUCKERINGS.

The Review and Examiner hockey teams will play a "sudden death" game at the Brock street rink on Thursday night, commencing at 9 o'clock. The Review team has at last consented to the repeated requests of the Examiner to meet them on the ice and help the latter demonstrate that they are the superior aggregation. The Examiner has in a straightforward manner announced the personnel of its team, but as yet its contemporary has failed to do this, and talks vaguely of "dark horses," etc., the inference of course being that they have a team which they fondly, but despairingly hope will be able to defeat the septette representing the Examiner.

Manager Ross, while he has confidence in the ability of his stalwart team to literally wipe the earth with the aggregation, if such a term can be applied to the seven individuals which Manager Samuel Samson Moore has gathered from the dark corners to carry the colours of the Review to —defeat will take no chances and is getting his men into shape.

It has been learned on good authority that the senior team players are quaking in their boots at the possibility of the Examiner seven challenging them to a game after they have "finished" the Review.

Miss Florence Scott will referee the game.

The junior Maple Leaves defeated the junior Bay Rats in a game of hockey by a score of 4 to 2. LeBar was the star for the Maple Leaves. The winning team was E. LeBar, W. Byers, F. Harper, E. Harper, L. Killingbeck, F. Hatcher, M. Armstrong; referee, H. McGill.

St. Andrew's Guild senior team do hereby notify the Young Snow Flakes that they have postponed the game, which was to be played this evening, till Thuraday at the same time and place. On account of the exhibition in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium several players are unable to play this evening.

The intermediate team do willingly accept the challenge of the Young Crescents, the game to be played one week from to-night on the Y.M.C.A. rink at seven o'clock.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. DeVine, secretary of the T.A.S. hockey team, Peterborough, 'phoned our secretary this morning, and in all probability the T.A.S. will play in Lindsay Friday night, Monday morning's mail will bring a definite answer.

• • • •

The T.A.S. was notified to-day by Lakefield that they would default the game scheduled to be played here to-night. They found it impossible to get a team together and had to default. This will be a disappointment to the local team, as it was hoped that the Lakefield team would be able to come.

Mr. Geo. Lynch is refereeing a game at Campbellford this afternoon between Campbellford and Warkworth in a semi-final game.

• • • •

The Uno Athletic Club Hockey team will practice from 6 to 7 to-night on the Y. M. C. A. rink. All members are requested to turn out.

• • • •

The senior team will practice to-night.

• • • •

Arrangements are being made by which the Marlboro or St. George senior O. H. A. teams will be here to play a game with the local team sometime during this week.

• • • •

The Clan-I-gals hereby challenge McPherson's Never-flinchers to a game of hockey to be played in Brock street rink as soon as the rink can be procured. No man allowed who has either played or practiced hockey this winter.—J. Deaneard, Manager.

The hockey arm is the latest. Like the bicycle face, which is worn by the steady rider, it affects only the devotees of Canada's great winter sport. Joe Hall, the Rowing Club's rover, discovered it and Manager Al Manning when informed of the complaint looked himself over and decided that he was afflicted also. The trouble is caused by carrying a hockey stick and consists in a cramping of the cords of the arm, shortening the reach perceptibly and preventing the person who is affected with it from straightening out the arm. Hall's right arm is crooked and he finds it an utter impossibility to remove the kink in it. The upper cord which stretches from the elbow to the shoulder is the cord which is responsible for the mischief. Hall says it gives him no pain whatever normally, and it is only when he tries to straighten the arm that he feels any ill effect whatever.—Winnipeg Telegram.

The Peterborough II. Trent Valley League team has decided to withdraw from the League and the secretary of the League has been notified to this effect. This action by the team will place the T. A. S. and Keene teams a tie for th championship of this district, as all games in which the Peterborough team has participated will be taken from the schedule. It is understood that the action of the T.V.L. executive in granting the permit to Harry Morgan will be sustained.

• • • •

The T. A. S. and Keene teams will play off at Norwood some night next week.

• • • •

The Peterborough Business College hereby accept the challenge of the P. C. I. to a game of hockey, date and place to be arranged later. E. A. Frowde, Secretary.

A very interesting game of hockey took place on Park street between the young Petes and the Colts. It was a rough game, the Young Petes slashing the Colts. The line-up was as follows: Colts; goal, Cronin; point, Whaley; cover point, J. Murty; right wing, C. Callaghan; left wing, M. Murty; centre, Lynch; rover, C. Morrow. Petes, goal, Picard; point, Hatrick; cover point Phelan; right wing, C. Hayes; centre, Halpin; rover Donoghue. Every Colt played fast hockey, C. Callaghan scoring in 12 minutes. Next to score was Whaley 10 minutes, J. Murty making a rush and passing it to Callaghan, who shot the puck, landing it between the flags. At half time the score was 2-0 in favour of the Colts and at full time the score was 3-2 in the Colts' favour.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Y.M.C.A. EXHIBITION.

The exhibition to be given to-night by the junior boys of the gymnasium classes promises to be very interesting. Nearly all the reserved seats are disposed of and a large audience of parents and friends of the boys is expected. The programme will commence at eight o'clock sharp as follows:

Instrumental ... ... Mr. McCoy
Marching, ... Junior School Boys.
Apparatus Work ... ... Leaders
Wand Drill ... ... Junior Business Boys
Mat Work ... ... Leaders
Apparatus Work ... ... Junior School Boys
Ring Hockey ... ... Senior Boy Leaders

At half time a club race will be run off, school boys vs. business boys.

The gymnasium and baths will be reserved for those taking part in the exhibition to-night. The admission to the exhibition to-night will be 10 cents.

A RELIABLE SPORTING ANNUAL.

One of the most complete and reliable books of the year is the "Police Gazette Sporting Annual" for 1904, which is a veritable mine of information, so far as sporting matters are concerned. It contains, within a small space, all the important boxing records, as well as records of the athletic world, and as a pocket encyclopedia, is invaluable. It is illustrated with fine halftone portraits of the champions of the ring, the turf and the field, while the cover is a particularly handsome one, printed in four colours. The price is ten cents.

Mr. Wesley R. Henders, salesman in Mr. A. H. Stratton's bookstore, Peterborough, spent Sunday in town with friends.—Lindsay Post.

FOOTBALL.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in the formation of a club and team to consist of Old Country players to attend a meeting on Wednesday next 3rd inst., at 8 p. m. at the Crown Hotel, opposite the Post Office.

THE PRESENTATION OF NEW BAND INSTRUMENTS

Will Take Place in the Salvation Army Barracks To-night.

The presentation of the new band instruments of the Salvation Army, will take place in the Army barracks this evening, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present. The chair will be occupied by Mr. R. R. Hall, while the actual presentation will be made by Mr. D. W. Dumble.

Brigadier Turner, of Montreal, will be present, and there will be some special singing. The army quilt will also be put up for sale this evening.

Only one Dr. Chase.

There is only one Dr. Chase of Receipt Book fame—only one Dr. Chase who is known the world over because of the great prescriptions he gave to mankind. His portrait and signature—A. W. Chase, M.D.—are on every box of his remedies. Imitators do not dare to reproduce these. They are the guarantee which protects you against fraud. Be sure theya re on the box you buy.

hand there is an equally large army marching and counter-marching, and on the transparencies above them are the words, "Down with Organized Labour," and unless some mighty force intervenes these two forces will come together with a shock which will shake the whole North American continent. The remedy for this is to apply God's plan for the redemption of the world, and to recognize all men as brethren.

Looking unto Christ the world will be redeemed.

Dr. Young said that standing on the platform, a flood of precious memories came over him. He saw in the congregation before him many whom he recognized; but there were many whom he missed. They had fought the fight, and by looking unto Jesus had been successful.

Rev. Dr. Young preached at the evening service when the church was crowded to the doors, his text being, Matt. 25; 29, "For unto every one that hath shall be given and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not shall be taken, even that which he hath." These words, said the speaker taken by themselves seem harsh and cruel such as one would expect where might and power without the restraining influences of justice and right held sway. But in the connection in which they are used they are right and just, for they are but the carrying out of the law of increase by use and decrease and ultimate loss by neglect. This law holds true in all phases of life, physical, mental and spiritual. Muscles which are not used, soon become useless; the faculty of the mind, memory, if it is not rightly used, in a short time fails to respond to any call, on the other hand use it and it developes. Natural history furnishes proof of the same truth.

Man has certain faculties and powers in which he is differentiated from the animals, while there are others common to both. The greatness of a creature is determined by the greatness of its wants. Inanimate objects are satisfied with but little, while animals of the lower order need certain conditions in which to live, and by so much as the wants are greater, by so much is the order of living greater. Man is possessed of a faculty, through which he desires to know God. This faculty is universal, and every place of worship in Christendom, every smoking alter in the dark corners of the earth and every idol in heathendom are evidences of this faculty. This cry is one that cannot be satisfied with science, for although science has proven that there is a God, science cannot him. The Bible, said the reverend gentleman, never proved the existence of God. It states the fact, and supposes that man is intelligent enough to grasp what is self-evident to every thinking man. To gratify this desire to know God He has been pleased to reveal Himself in the most attractive form, that of Christ. If this faculty is developed the result will be a growing desire to experience God in the life, but if it is neglected the result will be practical atheism.

Another faculty is that upon which God can write His messages, and make impressions of His will. The development of this faculty results in a realization of His presence, while a failure to use it results in a disregard for things sacred. God has sent messages to men on two notable occasions, those of the birth and resurrection of Jesus, but in neither instance was it repeated by the angels. The work of telling it was delegated to men, who had been constituted co-workers with God. In order to do this He has invested man with certain faculties and powers, every one of which may be used for the salvation of men.

God has given influences which He designed should be used for right purposes. He has coveted for every man a life of usefulness. In this the 20th century, the revelation is made that God is love.

The evening sermon, as was that of the morning's service, was a practical exposition of Gospel truth, and the large congregation listened eagerly to the eloquent words of the reverend doctor.

To-night the annual tea, will be held when the reports for the year will be presented. Rev. Dr Young will address the meeting.

The music at the services yesterday was a pleasing feature. In the morning, the choir sang for the anthem, "As Christ upon the Cross," and at the offertory Miss Kendry sang, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," with good effect. At the evening service the choir's contributions were "The Radiant Morn" and "The Peace of God," Miss Bertha Parnell taking the soprano solo in the latter. At the offertory Mr. A. L. Davis sang "The Beautiful Country."

has attracted marked attention and caused enthusiastic complimentary remarks—not by one particular class of people, but by representative people of all classes. We dislike egotistical remarks and realize that the foregoing is unnecessary to those who have wandered admiringly through our display—but to those who have not yet become acquainted with the Amazing Variety, Superb Qualities, and the evident "under-reasonable" prices, we think the above representation only fair—fair to those who run the chance of overlooking the opportunity—fair to the store that deserves these pleasant enconiums.

Quality and Style

have always been the watchword of this store's Whitewear selection—but these do not necessarily mean high priced Whitewear. Big buying regulates that and this store's selling capacity enables us to buy largely—sufficiently large to have the best Whitewear makers confine their lines to us in Peterborough. "The Dorothy," a particularly dainty Corset Cover, bound to fit, was confined to us in Peterborough. Why? Because we purchased over 1,200 Covers in 4 styles alone. This style has been sufficiently good for two other stores in Peterborough to use the name—but the "Dorothy" description does not tally with "Dorothy" Covers. A comparison of them would prove it. The "Dorothy" is obtainable only at Sutcliffe & Sons'. As regards Quality comparisou—that's out of the question. There are none "just as good". We are perfectly safe in asserting such. A look through will please you and gratify us.

ALEXIEFF'S ADVICE

Against Essential Concessions Believing War Preferable.

ONLY 15 DAYS MORE OF PEACE

Reported View of the Russian Ministry of War—Russia Prepared For Eventualities—Manchurian Reserves Have Been Mobilized—Japan Fixes War Pay—Russia's Answer Expected About 5th Inst.

London, Feb. 2.—A correspondent of The Times at St. Petersburg says a military officer of high position declares that war is inevitable. The Ministry of War is prepared to allow only fifteen days more of peace. The influence of Admiral Alexieff is still uppermost. He is strongly opposed to any essential concession, and advises that war is preferable.

Russia Prepared For War.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—In spite of the expressed hope of the Russian authorities that the present crisis will be passed and that a pacific solution of the Russo-Japanese negotiations will be reached, it is no longer concealed that Russia is practically prepared for eventualities. Yesterday the mobilization of the Manchurian reserves was announced.

It has been well known for months that Russia has been steadily strengthening her army and navy in the Far East, to meet the preparations which Japan was openly making. The available warships were despatched to the Far East, and the last division, which left the Mediterranean a month ago, is now nearing its destination. Quietly, but surely, it was necessary that Russia's preparations should keep pace with those of her diplomatic adversary.

Feverish activity of Japan during the last few weeks naturally increased the distrust of her ultimate intentions, and the Russian authorities have been pushing their precautionary measures with more vigor. It is understood that six or seven military trains daily have been going east over the Siberian road, and the charters of some ships cargoes for the Pacific have been cancelled because the water route was considered unsafe. The authorities now feel that the situation is secure, should Japan reject the efforts the Czar is making to avoid war.

Arrival of a Russian Division.

London, Feb. 2.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Nagasaki says in a despatch that Japanese refugees from Port Arthur, Dalny and Harbin report the arrival of one Russian division on the Yalu River.

From Tokio a correspondent of The Daily Mail cables that the Seattle Line steamship service of the Yusen Kaisha will be resumed February 10.

According to the Seoul correspondent of The Times reports have been received from Ping Yang, Corea, saying that armed soldiers have been guilty of robbery and public breaking there, and the missionaries declare the anti-foreign feeling to be increasing.

Japan Fixes War Pay.

London, Feb. 2.—The correspondent of The Times at Tokio says an ordnance was issued to-day fixing the war pay of the army and navy. It was also officially denied that any statement of the situation was recently made by Japan to the powers. Russia's answer is expected about the 5th inst. Meanwhile the public anticipates no concessions, though there is an easier feeling in some circles. Japanese residents are withdrawing rapidly from the Liautung peninsula. There is no official intimation of the cessation of commercial traffic on the railways.

What Germany May Do.

Paris, Feb. 2.—Although the officials here do not give the slightest credit to the recent report of Germany's alleged design to occupy Copenhagen and close the Baltic to both Russian and British warships in the event of Great Britain participating in a war in the Far East, it is believed the story has a certain political significance bearing on the Russo-Japanese controversy. The report appeared under a St. Petersburg date at the same time that Russia was seeking to impress the maritime powers with the danger resulting from Japan's fortifying Fusan and controlling the entrance to the Sea of Japan. Copenhagen has the same relative position to the Baltic that Fusan has to the Sea of Japan, and it is therefore believed that the report regarding Germany's alleged intention to occupy Copenhagen was put out as a means of impressing the maritime powers with what might follow from permitting Japan to control the entrance of the Sea of Japan.

The Dance Before Death.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—The court ball at the Winter Palace last night was the most brilliant event of its kind ever held here for years, and it marked the climax of the social season.

The Czar and Czarina and the Imperial family met the guests in the white marble saloon. The Czar led the Grand march with Lady Scott, wife of the British Ambassador, the Ambassador escorting the Czarina. Mrs. McCormick, wife of the American Ambassador, was escorted by Grand Duke Cyrille. The Czar did not dance the Russian mazurka, the feature of the court ball, but he moved about and conversed with the diplomats.

During the evening Count Lamsdorff, the Foreign Minister, drew M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister to Russia, into a window embrasure, where the two talked earnestly for half an hour. This incident attracted general attention.

A grand supper at which 3,000 guests sat down was held at twelve.

BALLOT BOX FRAUDS

Evidence of Crookedness in One Toronto Division.

DURANCE HELD FOR TRIAL

Twenty-Five Votes Cast After the Poll Was Closed—Last 25 Names in Poll Book Represent Bogus Votes—Poll Book in One Case Shows to Be Inaccurate—Durance's Bail Fixed.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Six hours of energetic investigation into the election scandal yesterday revealed sufficient crooked work to warrant Magistrate Denison holding Poll Clerk John Durance for trial, establishing beyond question that the ballot box in that division had been stuffed with twenty-five bogus votes after the poll closed and the submission of all the evidence of the Crown connecting ex-Controller William Burns with repeating. The efforts of Thompson's counsel supplemented by a physician's certificate of illness prevented the accused returning officer going to trial, but similar tactics on behalf of Durance failed to delay the Police Court proceedings.

The swiftness with which Magistrate Denison brushed all technicalities aside that were calculated to delay action and held to the one question of dispatch was a disturbing factor to the lawyer defending the election officials, though Messrs. Slattery and Robinette for Mr. Burns announced their readiness to proceed instantly. The vigorous language of the magistrate accompanied by the deliberate preparations for forcing a trial was equally significant to others accused and their friends present, and the seriousness of the whole affair was forecasted in the calling of the Durance charge in the face of all opposition.

From 11 until 5 o'clock was consumed in the Durance case, and the disposition to push the entire investigation was so strong as to induce the court to remain in session until 7 o'clock. Gradually the story was unfolded and the wholesale disfranchisement of voters in sub-division nine of Ward Four became a matter of police court record.

The verdict of the magistrate had been discounted, and little surprise was exhibited when Durance was held for trial. The crowd increased in proportions as ex-Controller Burns' case was called. The magistrate clearly indicated the state of his mind when the books of the divisions, where the defendant was accused of voting, were introduced, when he observed: "After the Crown has brought these twenty-one witnesses in here who swear they did not vote in the face of the fact that the records of the poll show they did, I must insist that it is scarcely sufficient to accept these books in other cases as conclusively correct."

Crown Attorney Curry, in the course of explanation, said to the court that he was prepared to prove that twenty-five votes were recorded as having been cast after the Cleary sisters left the booth; that all were bogus; that these ballots were marked by the same hand for Board of Control, and ex-Ald. Steve Burns and S. Alfred Jones, and I will urge your honor to conclude that nobody but the deputy returning officer and the poll clerk could have polled these votes or these gentlemen in combination with them."

This formal accusation caused a marked flutter through the crowd of spectators.

Mr. Curry observed that bail would be required in the Durance case. The magistrate said: "Bail, yes,

ANNUAL MEETING OF TURF CLUB

Was Held Yesterday Afternoon in the Crown Hotel.

The annual meeting of the Turf Club was held in their rooms yesterday afternoon with the President, Mr. R. H. Jackson, in the chair. There was a large attendance, but very little business was transacted because the meeting was unexpectedly adjourned. When it came to the election of a President it was found that the ballot box had been stuffed. There should have been 26 ballots but there was one more than that number. The vote was taken again but with no better result, and the President announced the meeting adjourned.

Candlemas Day.

—As this is Candlemas Day, and the day the bear comes out to make his first survey after his winter's sleep, it may be interesting to note that he was unable to see his shadow. If there is any truth in the old saw, spring is near.

—This morning the thermometer at day-break, was at 14 below zero, but during the night the self registering index had gone down to 27 degrees below, being, with one exception, the lowest reading of this most severe winter.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

The letter of Miss Merkley, whose picture is printed above, proves beyond question that thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries and womb are annually cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gradual loss of strength and nerve force told me something was radically wrong with me. I had severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation. I strongly objected to this and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found that my judgment was correct, and that all the good things said about this medicine were true, and day by day I felt less pain and increased appetite. The ulceration soon healed, and the other complications disappeared, and in eleven weeks I was once more strong and vigorous and perfectly well.

"My heartiest thanks are sent to you for the great good you have done me."—Sincerely yours, MISS MARGARET MERKLEY, 275 Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

The Kingston Freeman has the following:—

"Both political parties are now actively at work all over the Dominion in selecting the best material available for candidates. Judging by the names being brought forward by the Liberal party in Ontario, this Province will not again occupy its present position of sendings to Ottawa a minority of members in support of the present Government. So far neither party in Kingston have named their candidates and a session now being called the Conventions will likely be deferred for some time yet. One of the strongest names which has been put forward to redeem any constituency is that of Mr. R. R. Hall, who was unanimously nominated by the Liberals of West Peterborough a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Hall is a gentleman well known in this city, being a frequent visitor to Kingston in the interest of some of the many enterprises with which he is connected. He is known to the Freeman as a broad-minded, progressive native of this province, holding liberal views on all subjects which mostly occupy men's minds. A lawyer by profession and a member of a legal firm doing a business which would keep most men busy, Mr. Hall has found time to identify himself actively with many of the industries which have made Peterborough one of the best towns in the Dominion, and its population has so increased that it is now applying for incorporation as a city. Our advices are that Mr. Hall's nomination is equivalent to an election, but we would ask our readers of the riding of West Peterborough to give Mr. Hall their undivided and active support, so that he may roll up such a big majority on the Liberal side as will put West Peterborough in the Liberal column for a generation to come.

FOULING THEIR OWN NEST.

When Liberal newspapers object to the wholesale and coarse abuse of the Judges which has been heard recently from Conservative platforms they are told that they are false to their democratic principles and are proclaiming the doctrine that the judiciary is above criticism. No such doctrine has been advanced, nor does the Liberal party hold the view that a Judge is not amenable to criticism. Surely it is fair to demand, however, that the criticism shall be supported by reasons, and not be the mere revilings of an offender who has been hurt by a just decision. This is the aspect of it which must be faced.

If a malefactor who had suffered at the hands of the law should, after his release from custody, go up and down the country pouring unmeasured abuse on the Judge who convicted him the whole community would be scandalized. The members of the legal profession would be especially indignant. And yet we have a number of lawyers in the Legislature who hear Mr. Gamey rating the Judges in his barroom vocabulary and dragging the names of those who are very dear to them into his abusive discourses, but they treat him as a colleague, go about the country with him as if they were his fugleman or bottle-holders, and give him the countenance that induces decent people to go to hear him. The upholding of the honour and credit of the courts is something that every good citizen is interested in. Still more is this incumbent on the profession, and the lawyers in the Legislature are surely not exempted from this duty. Do any of them believe that Chancellor Boyd and Chief Justice Falconbridge cast any discredit on the Bench by their conduct in the Gamey trial? They cannot accept the benefit of Mr. Gamey's evil tongue and repudiate the means by which the political gain is derived. He is acclaimed one of the chief lights of the Opposition. Without the support of his Conservative fellows he would be a cipher. The indecent speeches he makes are made on behalf of the Conservative party. They are made with the knowledge of the Conservative lawyers in the House. They are made with the tacit approval and applause of men who practise in the courts, and the strongest proof of this is that no lawyer on the Opposition side in the Legislature has been heard to utter the slightest protest against the torrent of loose language which has become the central feature of the Opposition campaign. Has a single member been bold enough or man enough to say publicly that he disapproves of the wor of this man's utterances in Muskoka, Renfrew, Oxford and elsewhere?

Mr. Whitney, barrister, hears the name and repute of two of the Judges dragged in the mire. Language is used, which the Mail thinks it indecent to publish, language which, in the opinion of its editor, is too brutal for the readers of that journal. Mr. Whitney personally takes a part in the attack and adds his little stereotyped stock of abuse to the general heap. He counts on Mr. Gamey's vote and support, and accepts the questionable benefits to the party from his methods. Does Mr. Whitney protest? Does he object? Does he not approve, and aid and encourage and abet his friend and comrade? True, Mr. Whitney is one of those who pass by on the opposite side of the road, but he has to travel through mud to get there.

Mr. J. J. Foy, what has he said in defence of the Judges? What has he done to protest against the irrational abuse of two of the most eminent men on the Bench? Criticism is always allowable. Does Mr. Foy say that his friend Mr. Gamey criticises or blackguards the Judges? If the former, let him say so. If the latter, why does he not object? Mr. W. R. White, a leading Conservative lawyer, refused in no uncertain way, any compromise with the methods and language of Gameyism.

Mr. Lucas from Centre Grey, is another friend of Mr. Gamey. Has his voice been heard reproving his political companion for using the language of indecency? Has he sat and listened with delight to the new political methods by which the names of unoffending and high-minded ladies are made to figure in the brutal remarks of an infamous political adventurer?

And Mr. St. John, from West York, does he protest or object, or does he adopt Gameyism, as the certain road to power? Had there been a single word of reproof from this member of the Bar? Is he looking to the Government benches and assisting in the attacks on our Judges so that he may reach the goal of his ambition?

Mr. Hanna, the member for West Lambton, is another lawyer. What effort has he made to stop the flow? Has he endeavoured to dam the stream at the fountain-head of abuse? He is specially responsible, for was he not found at Buffalo restoring the courage of the fugitive when even his iron nerve collapsed under the flagitious load he had been carrying in the witness box.

With all these lawyers in the Opposition, one might reasonably expect some word of condemnation, but none has been heard. They are apparently willing that the Judges, the reputation of the Bench, the esteem and confidence of their fellows at the Bar, and every decent propriety, should be trampled under foot in order that they may play the political game.

As men, where do they stand? If foul attacks made upon men whose mouths are closed by reason of their position as Judges, constitute manliness, then these Gameyites are the perfection of manliness. If the use of the stiletto on unarmed men is chivalrous, then these supporters of Gameyism are the pink of chivalry. For the member for Manitoulin the excuse is made that he is inexperienced and passionate. No such excuse can be pleaded for Mr. Whitney, or Mr. Lucas, or Mr. St. John, or Mr. Hanna and others. They, by applauding and encouraging his vulgarity and blackguardism, have placed themselves with him under the same condemnation.—Globe.

ROADS AND BRIDGES AND APPOINTMENTS.

Committees Reported at Last Meeting of County Council.

A By-Law Fixing Hawkers' Business Amended—Auditors to Make Quarterly Reports.

At the closing session of the County Council the following reports on Roads and Bridges and Appointments were presented:—

COMMITTEE ON ROADS AND BRIDGES

Councillor Johnston moved, seconded by Councillor Buck, that the Committee on Roads and Bridges be allowed to report.—Carried.

Councillor Johnston, chairman, read the following report:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges begs leave to report as follows:

1. That Wm. O'Leary be authorized to purchase 300 lineal feet of cedar joists at two cents per foot for repairing the Mud Lake bridge.

2. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of Mr. Jno. Wilson for a grant of $25.00 to assist in repairing the road between Cardiff and Chandos, as this county has already expended $25.00 in repairing this road.

3. That no action be taken upon the communication from the Western Ontario Good Roads Association.

4. That the matter of the repairs to the Crowe River Bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Curtis and the chairman of this committee with power to act.

5. That the matter of the repairs to the Sullivans bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Moloney and the chairman of this committee with power to act.

6. That the matter of the repairs to the Indian River bridge be left in the hands of the chairman of this committee with power to act.

7. That sealed tenders be asked for the sale of the old Gannons Narrows ferry scow and cable and that the notices be published for three weeks in the Weekly Review and Weekly Examiner, tenders to be received up to the 15th of March next.

8. That the matter of the repairs to the Gannons Narrows bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Shaw with power to act.

9. That a grant of $200 be given to the Township of Burleigh and Anstruther for the repairs to the Burleigh road on condition that the Ontario Government grant $600 for the same purpose.

10. That a special grant of $75.00 be given to the municipalities of Harvey, the united Townships of Galway and Cavendish, and the Township of Chandos, for repairs to roads and bridges therein and that Mr. Shaw be commissioner for Harvey, Galway and Cavendish, and Mr. Menogue for Chandos, each to furnish a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such monies are expended.

11. That the salary of the caretaker of the Wallace Point bridge and the caretaker of the Bensfort Bridge be $45.00 each per year from this county on condition that the united counties of Northumberland and Durham raise their portion of the salaries to the same amount.

12. That a special grant of $100 be given to the Township of North Monaghan for repairs to roads and bridges therein and that Mr. Hunter be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

13. That a special grant of $100.00 be given to the Township of Douro for repairs to roads and bridges therein on condition that the Ontario Government grant $200.00 for the same purpose, and that Mr. Moloney be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

14. That a special grant of $50.00 be given to the Township of Dummer for repairs to the Lakefield road on the First concession line of the Township of Dummer and that Mr. Crowe be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

15. That a special grant of $100.00 be given to the Township of Smith for repairs to the Communication Road therein and that Mr. Fitzgerald be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

16. That a special grant of $200.00 be given to the Township of Belmont and Methuen for repairs to roads and bridges therein and that Mr. Curtis be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

17. That a special grant of $100.00 be given to the Township of Asphodel for repairs to the boundary line between the Townships of Dummer and Asphodel and that Mr. Buck be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

18. That a grant of $100.00 be given to the Township of Harvey for repairs to roads and bridges therein on condition that the Ontario Government grant $200 for the same purpose.

19. That a special grant of $200.00 be given to the Township of Otonabee for repairs to the Norwood road and that Mr. Johnston be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

20. That a special grant of $25.00 be given to the Township of Ennismore for repairs on the bridge on the road leading to the Gannons bridge and that Councillor Fitzgerald be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. J. JOHNSTON,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Johnston and Shaw, the report was adopted.

Councillor Monogue moved, seconded by Councillor Shaw, that the Committee on Appointments to office, be allowed to report.—Carried.

Councillor Menogue, chairman, read the following report:

APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE.

The Committee on Appointments beg leave to report, recommending as follows:

1. That the resignation of Mr. W. E. Roxburgh as trustee of the Norwood High School be accepted and that Mr. T. Fraser of Norwood be appointed to fill the vacancy caused thereby.

2. That Mr. W. B. Ritchie be re-appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.

3. That Messrs. E. A. Peck and R. C. Strickland be appointed members of the Board of Audit of accounts in connection with the administration of justice.

4. That Mr. John E. Belcher, C. E., be re-appointed county engineer.

5. That Dr. William Caldwell be re-appointed Gaol Surgeon at a yearly salary of $150.00 payable as formerly, the sum to cover all expenses heretofore charged.

6. That Mr. Henderson Nesbitt be re-appointed caretaker of the court house at a yearly salary of $175.00, payable as formerly.

7. That Mr. Thos. Flood be appointed caretaker of the Pigeon Creek bridge at a yearly salary of $25.00 payable as formerly.

8. That Mr. W. J. McIlmoyle be appointed caretaker of the Buckhorn bridge at a yearly salary of $5.00.

9. That the Warden and Messrs. Fitzgerald and Moloney be representatives of this county on the Board of Management of the Peterborough Historical Society.

10. That Mr. Edward Young be appointed caretaker of the Youngs Point Bridge at a yearly salary of $5.00.

11. That Mr. Wm. Lockington be appointed caretaker of the Nassau bridge at a yearly salary of $5.00.

12. That Mr. Wm. O'Leary be appointed caretaker of the Mud Lake bridge at the same salary as last year and that Mr. O'Leary be notified that he is not to order any material for repairs to the County Bridges or for any other county purposes unless authorized to do so by the warden, the chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee or the county engineer.

13. That Mr. J. C. Bates be appointed caretaker of the Burleigh bridge at a yearly salary of $5.00.

14. That the appointment of a caretaker of the Gannons Narrows bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Shaw with power to appoint a caretaker at a yearly salary of $30.00.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MENOGUE,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Menogue and Crowe, the report was adopted.

Councillor Shaw introduced a by-law amending bylaw respecting hawkers' and peddlers' licenses, as follows:

Clause 4 to be rescinded, and the following schedule of rates be substituted:—

"Peddler, carrying basket, $5, on foot, $5, with a cart, $5, one horse, $40, two horses, $50."

The bylaw was read a second and third time, and passed without further amendment.

Councillor Curtis introduced a bylaw confirming the appointment of George W. Bennett of North Monaghan, and William O'Brien, of Douro, as County Auditors for 1904, at the same salary as last year. The bylaw required that the auditors make quarterly reports in future.

The bylaw was passed.

Bylaws confirming the reports of the Committee on Appointments, Roads and Bridges, County Property and Finance received their several readings and were adopted without amendments.

Councillor Hunter introduced a by-law authorizing the Warden and Treasurer to borrow a sum of money amounting to $20,000 to defray current expenses of the County for the year 1904.

The bylaw received its several readings and was confirmed.

Councillor Curtis moved, seconded by Councillor Buck, that the County School Inspector and John Davidson of Norwood, W. E. Hill of Lakefield, and D. Walker of Peterborough, be appointed a Board of Examiners for granting school certificates, etc.—Carried.

On motion of Councillor Crowe, seconded by Councillor Fitzgerald, the Council adjourned at the call of the Warden.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

G. A. Putnam Appointed.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—George A. Putnam, secretary of the City Dairy Company, has been appointed superintendent of farmers' institutes for the province, to succeed G. C. Creelman. The salary is $1,500. The appointment was agreed to at a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon.

G. C. Creelman, the new president of the Ontario Agricultural College, leaves to-day for Guelph to take up his new duties. After the quarantine at the college has been raised he will return to Toronto to close up some matters.

Labor Program in Australia.

London, Feb. 2.—The New South Wales Political Labor League have adopted a legislative program containing measures advocating the establishment of a State bank, the abolition of the Legislative Council and the post of State Governor, and the cessation of public borrowing except for the purposes of redemption of existing debts. Additional measures are for the completion of authorized public works, and the imposition of a progressive land tax on estates of over £5,000 value.

Refused to Feed Travelers.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—The Provincial License Department is looking into a complaint of the Commercial Travelers' Association that delayed travelers were refused breakfast at the Windsor and Grand Central hotels at St. Mary's. The complaint has been referred to John S. Coppin, inspector for South Perth. Hotelkeepers who refuse food and accommodation to travelers are liable to a fine of $20.

Disappeared From Home.

Walkerville, Feb. 2.—Miss Ida Christian has disappeared from her home here, and it is thought by her father that she eloped with George Bogart of Detroit. The young lady sent a message home, stating that she was married.

Attending Bishop's Funeral.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier left yesterday morning to attend the funeral of Bishop Gravel of Nicolet. Archbishop Duhamel and Father Corbeil also left to be present at the funeral.

40 Killed in Explosion.

Lahore, Punjab, British India, Feb. 2.—Forty persons were killed yesterday by an explosion of ten tons of gunpowder at Fort Bhatinda, in the Punjab.

DIVISION NOW NEAR

Debate on the Address in Reply May Conclude Wednesday.

THE LIVE STOCK OF ONTARIO

Mr. Crawford Says He Thinks Its Quality Is Too Poor—Mr. Rickard Appeals to the Opposition to Abandon Unfair Criticism and Slander—The Conservatives Have No Policy.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Two more speeches were chalked off the score of the debate on the address yesterday. Mr. Thomas Crawford (West Toronto) and Mr. Wm. Rickard (West Durham) were the speakers. The end of the debate is now in sight, only about four more members on each side of the House being slated for speeches. Mr. Rickard had not finished at 6 o'clock, and moved the adjournment of the debate. The conclusion may be reached by to-morrow, a night session possibly being necessary in order to secure a division. Mr. J. S. Duff (West Simcoe) is expected to follow Mr. Rickard. Other speakers on the Liberal side will be Dr. Rutledge (East Middlesex), George P. Graham (Brockville), H. J. Pettypiece (East Lambton); and W. J. McCart (Stormont). On the Conservative side speeches are also expected from W. J. Hanna (West Lambton), R. R. Gamey (Manitoulin), and G. N. Kidd (Carleton).

Mr. Crawford occupied the attention of the House for an hour and a half, during which he took the Government to task for its attitude toward the demands of the temperance people and for the position it took in connection with the live stock industry. Upon the temperance question his criticism was the Government had used it to influence the independent Liberal candidate in N. Oxford to retire from the campaign on the promise of satisfactory legislation. The live stock industry, he said, had been sadly neglected, the dairying industry being promoted at its expense. The Government should send good cattle all over the Province of Ontario in order to improve the herds.

Mr. Wm. Rickard (West Durham), followed Mr. Crawford, and introduced himself as a back-bencher, saying that he thought the back-benchers should be heard more often. He paid a fitting tribute to the memory of the late Andrew Pattullo, and appealed to the Opposition to abandon unfair criticism and slander. They were hard pressed, and had no policy but the cry "It is time for a change." One argument after another had proved of no avail, and they seemed to have no policy but to repeat them, old and wornout as they were. He pointed out that Mr. Crawford had seen fit to attack the Premier's position on the temperance question, but had resumed his seat without enlightening anyone as to his own position upon the subject. He spoke of the campaign of the member for Manitoulin, reading from a Globe editorial criticizing the language of Mr. Gamey. The quotation brought from Mr. Gamey the assertion that he had used no language in Woodstock or anywhere else that would warrant the condemnation.

Col. Munro, the victor of North Oxford, will be introduced to the Speaker to-day.

Barbarous Surgical Operation.

For the Cure of Piles.

Is not only intensely painful, dangerous to life and very expensive, but in the light of modern medical research, and since the discovery of the Pyramid Pile Cure, wholly unnecessary. If you have any doubt on this point kindly read the following letter from one who knows that the claims regarding the merits of the Pyramid Pile Cure are borne out by facts.

"For a long time I suffered with blind piles. They gave me so much pain and uneasiness that they almost disqualified me for doing anything. I saw an ad. in the Atlanta Journal of the Pyramid Pile Cure, and ordered a fifty cent box, and they cured me. Oh, how glad that I am well again!"

"The Pyramids cured me and I am satisfied that they will cure anybody else who is suffering as I was, if they will use them.

"You may use this in any way you see proper if my experience will encourage any sufferer to use your Pyramids, I shall be glad. H. K. Hicks, Calhoun, Ga."

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at fifty cents a package, and its merit is so well known that the sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing if it Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within thirty days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against rheumatism—potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do, and I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity, so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will furnish you the book. Try my remedy for a month. If it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, box 947, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE.

Hon. Mr. Asquith Makes an Important Speech—London Times Most Favorably Criticizes the Address.

London, Feb. 2.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. H. H. Asquith, the principal speaker of the British Empire League Monday night, moved a resolution which was unanimously adopted, expressing satisfaction at the step taken toward Imperial military cooperation by the admission of Sir Frederick Borden to the deliberations of the committee on Imperial defence; that the congratulations of the council be offered to the Canadian Government upon the inclusion of one of its Ministers in an Imperial committee, and that the council appreciated this great advance towards Imperial union.

The problem of Imperial defence, said Mr. Asquith, was composite, not seperable like water-tight compartments, with one for Canada, and another for England, but they were interdependent. It was not imagined that any very important result would follow the step, but it afforded a precedent.

While the problem of Imperial defence was a single, though a composite, problem, yet each separate colony has its own local requirements, which it has to meet on the spot with its own resources, and in determining what was the best way to do this it was of the highest importance to be able to take counsel from the Imperial authorities. Mr. Asquith referred in this connection to Hon. Mr. Borden's acknowledgement, which hints at the training of Canadians for the Imperial service.

Hon. W. Reeves urged the necessity of having machinery provided for systematic rifle practice, making the statement that the different parts of the Empire should offer advice on all matters they regarded as of Imperial moment.

The Times calls Mr. Asquith's speech at the Empire League admirable and statesmanlike. There are few of us, it says, who do not look forward to the time when the British Constitution will comprise some body which will unify the policy of a number of independent military authorities without interfering with the international administration which helps forward our future Imperial constitution.

Other speakers were Sir Gilbert Parker, Sir Frederick Young and Sir Joseph West Ridgeway.

No Motive For Bribery.

London, Feb. 2.—(C.A.P.)—Col. J. A. McGillivray, grand secretary of the I.O.F., reached London yesterday. Speaking to the Canadian Press Association correspondent of the Montague case, he declared that no possible motive for bribery existed. The Premier, after an enquiry, had declared the I. O. F. reputable and gave it a license to proceed. Then the charge was made that Dr. Montague said to Peacock: "Have you a candidate I can help?" In gratitude Peacock is reported to have accepted bills on behalf of Mitchell. The present Premier is in full sympathy with Canadians. The jealousy of rival organizations was the cause of the whole trouble. Mr. McGillivray sails for Canada to-day.

Can This Be True?

London, Feb. 2.—(C. A. P.)—Winston Churchill, speaking at a free trade demonstration in Edinburgh yesterday, said that 200 Conservative members of Parliament were opposed to the policy of Mr. Chamberlain.

A Deep Scheme.

Mr. Deepe—I want you to sit right down and write to Mrs. Jenks inviting her to view the parade from our house.

Mrs. Deepe—I thought you said the route was almost sure to be changed, so that our house will be cut out?

Mr. Deepe—It will be changed, and the parade will pass her house now.

THE MIRROR TELLS THE STORY.

ANTI-PILL

REMOVES THE CAUSE.

When the tongue is coated or the breath tainted, when an out-of-sorts feeling, as of burning or feverish stomach, dullness and aching of back or hips, there is trouble in the stomach which may develop in malaria or other severe sickness. If you have Dr. Leonhardt's ANTI-PILL at hand, one at night and one in the morning will remove the trouble. It is the world's greatest system treatment. It is a guaranteed cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, or constipation. If you want to prove its merit, write WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample. Sold by druggists, 50 cents per box.

Judge Elliott Retires.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—The resignation of William Elliot, county judge for Middlesex, took effect yesterday, under the recent order retiring judges when they shall have reached eighty years of age. Judge Elliot is 86, and was appointed in 1869.

Slavs and Italians Fight.

Greensburg, Pa., Feb. 2.—In a furious race feud between Slavs and Italians at No. 3 plant of the Jamison Coal and Coke Company yesterday Peter Michael was killed and his brother, John Michael, probably fatally shot.

The Land of Promise.

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Homesteading returns for last week in the Territories in the west are being received at the local Government offices, and show a steady settlement despite season of the year.

Broke Both of His Arms.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—At 9.30 Saturday night Adam Walton, the G.T.R. signal man at the foot of Berkeley street, was found lying at the foot of the stairs of the signal house. Both his arms were broken below the elbows. He slipped from the top of the stairs leading into the box. Walton lost a leg some time ago in an accident.

A LIBERAL VICTORY.

Another Triumph Scored in a British Bye-Election—Formerly Conservative.

London, Feb. 1.—(C.A.P.)—The bye-election in the Ayr district of Burghs, which included various small towns in Ayrshire and Argyllshire, Scotland, resulted in the return of Joseph Dobbie, the Liberal candidate, by a majority of 44. He received 3,221 votes against 3,177 cast for George Younger, his Conservative opponent. The figures at the last general election showed 3,101 votes for the Conservative candidate and 2,511 for the Liberal, thus giving the Government a majority of 590. This is a Liberal gain, and as the bye-election turned largely on the fiscal question is a distinct rebuff to Joseph Chamberlain.

The Liberal press treat the Ayr Burghs return as another blow to protection. The seat has been Tory since 1890.

The London Standard says the election was avowedly fought on the fiscal question, and it is perfectly clear tariff reform has not strengthened the Unionist position.

The Times, referring to the Ayr Burghs' election, says this scattered Scottish constituency is proverbially fickle in distributing its favors.

Scandal at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 1.—The Michigan Soo appears to be on the eve of the uncovering of scandals in connection with municipal affairs that will rival those of other American cities. The police, it is claimed, have been accepting blackmail fram gambling houses and sporting houses which have been operating on a wholesale scale. The matter came to a head last week when the Board of Police Commissioners began investigating definite charges against the police, and as a result the resignation of Chief of Police Nelson A. Burdick was received Saturday and Capt. Frank B. Stevens was suspended, pending an investigation of the charges against him.

Diaz Entertains Sir William.

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—President Diaz gave a dinner Saturday at the National Palace to Postmaster-General Sir William Mulock of Canada. The British Club gave Sir William a banquet Saturday night, and social courtesies have been lavished on the Canadian statesman.

Died Aged 103.

Orono, Feb. 1.—Geo. Smith died at the residence of his son-in-law, Wm. Bradley, just five miles north of here, Saturday. If he had lived until the 4th of next May he would have been one hundred and four years old.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active (but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

Why Britain Dropped It.

Berlin, Jan. 30.—Correcting an English report that Germany had recently expressed a desire for a new commercial treaty, the London correspondent of The National Zeitung, says that the suggestion from this end came from Great Britain. Germany directed her attention to tariff agitation, the correspondent says, and subsequently Lord Lansdowne, the British Foreign Secretary, pointed out that this agitation concerned the future, whereupon Germany demanded that the matter begin with a modus vivendi with Canada, and Great Britain thereupon apparently dropped the matter.

BALFOUR A STUDENT.

Premier Balfour Has the Grip and Is in Bed Just Now.

London, Feb. 2.—The customary dinners to their supporters were given by the Parliamentary leaders in London last night.

Premier Balfour being confined to his bed with influenza, was unable to preside at his own dinner. He may not attend the opening of Parliament to-day. In this event Austen Chamberlain will take the Premier's place at state functions.

It was reported that Premier Balfour has been deligently studying strategy and military matters under the guidance of a well-known army coach, with the view of fitting himself for his important duties under the reformed war office plan, as chairman of the Defence Committee.

Collision in a Storm.

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—In the fierce storm raging a rear-end collision occurred at Fannystelle yesterday morning, the engineer of a passenger train having been unable to see a freight ahead through the driving snow. The caboose was badly wrecked, several freight cars left the track, and the passenger baggage car was overturned, the baggageman, Green, being hurt, but not seriously.

Laporte Swept Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 2.—Alderman H. Laporte has swept the city, and will be Montreal's Chief Magistrate for the next two years. His total vote reached 17,009, carrying every ward in the city and 370 out of the 375 sub-divisions. Mayor Cochrane polled 2,716 votes, while 4,419 were cast for U. H. Dandurand. Both of the defeated candidates will lose their deposits.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1904.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT NORWOOD.

Miss Margaret Elliott Married to Mr Alex Clark.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Norwood, February 2nd. — One of the prettiest and most pleasing events of the season, took place on Wednesday evening, Jan. 27th at "The Pines," the commodious home of Mr. George Elliott, Queen street, when his youngest daughter, Margaret L., was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Clark.

At the hour of seven p.m., to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. M. R. Callander, the bride, wearing a white silk gown, with bridal veil, and carrying a beautiful bouquet of roses, entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father, and took her place under a prettily decorated arch of evergreens. From the centre of the arch hung a large bridal bell, with smaller bells hanging on either side. Little Miss Bertha Elliott, a niece of the bride and dressed in pink, performed the duties of flower girl, while the little niece of the groom, Miss Beatrice Melburn, looking very sweet in her blue gown, carried the ring in a tiny basket of flowers. Rev. C. Parker officiated.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the dining room, where a very dainty repast awaited them. The room was prettily festooned with evergreens, caught with large white bows, while the bride's table was entirely in white.

The remainder of the evening passed very pleasantly with music and social entertainment, after which the bride and groom left for their future home in Asphodel.

Mrs. Clark will be at home to her friends on Feb. 17th, 18th, 24th and 25th.

CHURCH REPORTS SHOW PROGRESS.

Annual Meeting of George Street Church.

Church Debt Reduced to $7 000—Prospects of Still Further Reduction.

In connection with the anniversary services of George street church, which commenced on Sunday, the annual congregational meeting and tea was held last night in the Sunday School room, which was filled to overflowing. The reports presented by the different departments of the church showed that all were in a highly satisfactory condition, and the prospects for a successful year in 1904 were bright.

The pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, was chairman of the gathering, and in opening the meeting expressed his gratitude at the work done by the church during the year 1903, and his particular pleasure at welcoming back Rev. Dr. Young, a former pastor of the church, to participate in the anniversary services.

The first report presented was a verbal one given by Mr. A. E. Dixon, who told of the financial standing of the church at the present time. Mr. Dixon told of a most encouraging state of affairs. The debt on the church which four years ago was $21,000, now stood at $7,000, and with subscriptions due during this year the net debt at the close would be but $5,000. This is a record which the officials may well feel proud of, and one which must be particularly pleasing to the pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, during whose pastorate this large reduction in the debt has been made.

The next report presented was that of the Girl's Guild, which was as follows:—

The Girls' Guild beg to offer a report of what they have been doing during the year 1903.

Cash on hand at beginning of year	$ 1 99
Membership fees	8 50
Proceeds from our second annual bazaar after deducting all expenses	110 63
Total	$121 12

Out of this amount it affords us, as a society, much pleasure to hand over a cheque for $100 to the Trustees towards the church debt. This leaves a balance in the treasury of $21.12.

In referring to our bazaar we would like to make mention of the "memory table" upon which were gifts and letters of all descriptions from old-time friends who have been absent from our midst, some for many years. These tokens of their remembrances gave us much pleasure and a knowledge that their hearts are still with us encouraged us in our work. There was nothing in connection with our bazaar with so much attractiveness as this table; the profits of which netted us about $38.00 alone.

The members of the guild take this opportunity of again thanking all those who have rendered them assistance in any way during the past year.

Signed on behalf of the Girls' Guild,
LORETTA L. BOOTH, Treasurer.
BELLE GRIFFITH, Secretary.

The Treasurer of the Guild then presented the Trustee Board, through the chairman, a check for $100.

Following this Mr. D. W. Dumble, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, briefly reviewed the work of that Society during the year, stating that the church finances had been largely augmented by gifts from the Ladies' Aid.

Mr. Garnet Galley presented the report of the Young Men's Guild, which showed that this Society had been instrumental in increasing the revenue of the church, and that there was now a balance in the treasury of $133.85.

Rev. Dr. Young then addressed the meeting briefly, expressing his pleasure at being present, and at the kindly greetings he had received from his many friends here. The reports presented had greatly pleased him and he liked the spirit of aggressiveness and individuality evidenced by the members of George street church. He hoped to hear in a very short time that the entire indebtedness of the church had been wiped off.

During the evening vocal solos were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. McColl, Miss Kendry and Miss Clara Bellegham, Mrs. Mowat acting as accompanist.

Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of the church, assisted by the young ladies of the Guild and Epworth Leagues.

PLEASANT EVENING AT "Y" GYMNASIUM.

Exhibition Given by Boys of Physical Class.

The Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium was crowded last night when an exhibition was given by members of the class. The event was a most pleasing one, and the large number present thoroughly enjoyed the programme presented by the boys.

The work accomplished by the boys was a tribute to the excellent work of the Physical Director, Mr. Aplin, who has taken great interest in the boys, and the present state of proficiency reached by them must be exceedingly pleasing to him.

The feature of the evening which proved of especial interest was a game of ring hockey, the first ever played in Canada. It is played similarly to that on ice, the puck being substituted by a rubber ring about 6 inches in diameter, and hockey sticks are replaced by short straight sticks. The game was a most interesting one to witness, and the prospects are that it will become exceedingly popular here. Mr. Aplin is to be congratulated upon bringing to Peterborough the first exhibition in Canada, of a game which gives evidence of such popularity.

At half time Mr. Aplin gave a short address. He dwelt particularly on the Boys' Department, stating that one-third of the membership of the local branch of the Association were boy members. So great had been the progress in this part of the Association work that Mr. Ellis had come to take charge of their department. The attendance of the gymnasium classes had been excellent in the past and and the progress they had made spoke for itself. The fact that all the junior leaders had attended the classes regularly was very commendable and there was only one junior leader who had missed one class. He pointed out that the Y. M.C.A. gymnasium equipment was the best in the province, and that Mr. Sircar had remarked that the local building was the best he had seen in Ontario. Having dwelt with the physical part, Mr. Aplin went on with some remarks regarding the social and spiritual. He incidentally remarked that the increasing attendance at the Bible classes was larger than any in Ontario.

The programme was as follows:—

Instrumental ....Mr. McCoy
Marching ... .Junior School Boys
Apparatus Work ....Leaders
Wand Drill ... ...Junior Business Boys
Mat Work ....Leaders
Apparatus Work Junior School Boys
Ring Hockey .....Senior Boy Leaders

GOOD SPORT LOST TO PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. J. MacPherson of the Bank of Montreal, to be Moved to Amherst, N. S.

The intelligence that Mr. Jack MacPherson, ledger-keeper in the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has received word to the effect that he is to be moved to Amherst, N. S., will be received with genuine regret in Peterborough, where Mr. MacPherson in his twelve months' residence, has made a wide circle of intimate friends. The date of his departure is not known, but it will probably be in the near future. Mr. MacPherson has been especially active in sporting circles and his late conferers in Rugby and Hockey will feel a particular tinge of regret for it was in these lines of sport that he excelled. He was a member of the Rough Riders Rugby team in the City League, playing on the half-back line, where he proved his efficiency.

Mr. MacPherson is also captain of the Peterborough H. Hockey team, the team which practically won the championship of this district in the Trent Valley League. It was very largely due to the untiring efforts of the popular captain that this team has been able to make such a good showing. The team has gone through the season without losing a championship game, and no doubt had Mr. MacPherson been remaining in town it would have gone through the season and stood a good chance of winning the championship.

Mr. MacPherson's removal, while regretted by his friends here, is a step in advance for him, and all who have been associated with him here will wish him every success in his new position and feel assured that the qualities which made him popular here will work the same result wherever he may be.

MR. E. O. BRADBURN AND THE "TIMES."

Former Peterborough Boy has Started a Liberal Newspaper.

It is perhaps not widely known that Mr. E. O. Bradburn, formerly of the Review business staff, who went to Battleford, Sask., to take charge of the business department of the "Herald" of that town, has begun a paper of his own, "The Battleford Times," a Liberal organ. The first number appeared on January 23rd. It is a four page weekly edition brim full and overflowing with informatoin and the latest news of general importance to the Battleford district residents. Mr. Bradburn's enterprise is very commendable and the Examiner wishes the Times years of unprecedented prosperity.

INTERESTING MEETING OF Y. M. GUILD.

George Street Young Men Will Meet To-night.

A meeting of the George street Young Men's Guild will be held to-night, when a programme, which it is thought, will appeal to all young men, will be presented. Musical selections will form a part of the evening's programme, and refreshments will be served.

A talk on "The Trent Valley Canal and its Importance to Peterborough," will be given by one of the members. A discussion will follow, and all are invited to express their views on the subject.

All young men are invited to be present.

S. A. BAND RECEIVED THEIR NEW INSTRUMENTS.

Mr. R. R. Hall Officiated as Chairman at the Gathering.

In the Salvation Army Barracks Mr. D. W. Dumble Made the Presentation—Those on the Platform and Their Speeches.

The formal presentation of the new instruments to the Salvation Army Band took place in the Barracks last night in the presence of a crowded house. Brigadier Turner, of Montreal, conducted the devotional part of the services, Mr. R. R. Hall occupied the chair while Mr. D. W. Dumble made the presentation. Besides these there were on the platform Ald. Edgcombe, Ald. Batten, Rev. J. A. Wilson, Rev. J. W. Bennett and the Staff-Captain.

The event was marked by the many eulogistic remarks which the number of speakers made about the Salvation Army, its methods and motives, while another pleasant feature was the inspiring music rendered by the band. Mr. R. R. Hall made an excellent chairman and his opening remarks were very eloquent. The manner in which the representatives of the different churches spoke of the Army was a noticable pleasure and there is no doubt that all which was said has been fully deserved on the part of the Salvation Army in the past. The glittering instruments were arranged at the foot of the platform while to the left of that was the autograph quilt bearing the signatures of Salvationists of all parts of the world.

The ceremony began with devotional exercises led by Brigadier Turner, who in a few short sentences explained what was about to transpire, dwelling on the need which had been felt in the past, by the Peterborough Band, for new instruments.

Mr. R. R. Hall delivered a most eloquent and stirring address and was loudly applauded at each interval between his different themes. He began by stating the great pleasure it gave him in acting as chairman and continued with an expression of the interest he took in the Salvation Army and their successful work in the cause of religion. Many a home, he said, has been brightened and saved by the entry of the Salvation Army there, and the citizens of the town greatly appreciate this humane work. It has been my pleasure in the last few years to visit many cities in Canada and the United States and I have yet to visit the town where I have not seen the Salvation Army or else heard its work spoken of in exceedingly high terms. Not on this Continent alone is the Salvation Army heard of. In the City of London, England, from that centre of wealth and commerce goes out the fighting army of the Great British Empire. Every morning all round the globe can be heard the regimental drums of our fighting regiments and squadrons, and every night in every country on the earth can be heard the music of another fighting army—the Salvation Army. It is not the martial drum but the drum of charity. We find the despatches of the English Army are confined to the British Empire, itself, but the despatches of the Salvation Army go everywhere. The War Cry in about 32 different languages goes into homes all over the world. Passing on Mr. Hall said: I do not know of any force as great as music and I feel that these beautiful instruments are badly needed and will be appreciated by those who will hear the Salvation Army play on them. We know that the power of music has had a stirring effect, and men are drawn away from the evil temptations of the barroom. In conclusion Mr. Hall deemed that musical instruments were better heard than spoken of and called on the band for a selection which was given.

The next speaker was Ald. Batten, who after expressing his pleasure at being present regretted that he had been called upon so suddenly and consequently had nothing prepared. The sound of the drum and the cornet, he said, attracts men and women away from evil associations, and many have heard of Christ as the Great Saviour, by listening to the Salvatoin Army services on the streets. Many, he said, are genuinely affected, and revert from their evil ways. I hope that when the bandsmen blow these new instruments they will play them not because of the novelty of their being new, but for the salvation of men and women. In conclusion he hoped that the band would still further improve, although at the present time it was second to none in the country.

Mr. Batten's address was followed by a cornet duet from Deputy Bandmaster Northcote and Bandsman Wm. Ford.

The third speaker on the programme was Rev. Wm. Bennett, who began by expressing his surprise at being called upon to speak, but said it was a pleasure for him to do so. He thought that this was a very auspicious occasion to congratulate the Salvation Army on the present circumstances in which they are situated and said that he knew the Salvation Army better than they knew him, for he was a regular reader of the War Cry. He believed very strongly in the powers of music, for calling man away from sin and general wickedness, and fully endorsed all that had been said regarding the Army and the Army band. He compared with great effect the difference between the status of the Salvation Army of to-day and that of 25 years ago, and felt that the unprecedented progress was due to the good they were doing in the world.

The band followed with another selection, after which Ald. Edgcumbe was heard briefly. As had all the previous speakers Ald. Edgcumbe began by expressing his pleasure at being present and at seeing such a large attendance. He believed that God had blessed, and is blessing, the Salvation Army, and brought his remarks to a close by singing "Rock of Ages."

The next number on the programme was some club swinging by little Joan Montgome..., following which Rev. J. A. Wilson delivered some congratulatory remarks. He said that all Christians were engaged in the same warfare, and he was pleased to be one of the officers in the great army of the Lord. "We are all," he said, "journeying Zionward, and I am glad to extend the greetings of the church which I represent towards the Salvation Army."

Mr. Wilson's appropriate remarks were followed by another selection on the part of the band, after which Mr. D. W. Dumble presented the instruments, prefacing his action with a short speech in which he said that he felt the new instruments were certainly badly needed, and he hoped the band would fully rise to the occasion. He felt that any little outlay on the part of the citizens would be more than fully returned by the beautiful music which we would hear in the near future.

Brigadier Turner replied on behalf of the band. They appreciated all the kind sentiments expressed at the gathering and hoped that the highest expectations of the citizens generally would be realised. The Brigadier went on to speak of the work of the Salvation Army, after which address the Doxology was sung. Rev. J. A. Wilson closed prayer.

The Firth, Eaton Co.

Each member of the company is the greatest in their line. Mr. Eaton being America's greatest impersonator. Mr. Firth's singing was a revelation holding the audience entranced. While Mr. Eaton convulsed them with his sketches. Miss Higgins has a beautiful contralto voice of good range. Mr. Blachford is a perfect violinist.

Enjoy yourself and help mankind by going to hear this splendid combination this evening in Market Hall. Tickets 75c. and 50c., a few tickets for standing room at 25c.

Manufacturing Firm Wants to Leave Toronto.

Guelph, February 1.—Mayor Hamilton has received a letter from a Toronto solicitor, informing him that a prominent manufacturing firm are considering removal from Toronto, and asking what inducement the city will be prepared to give them to locate here. They employ upwards of 125 hands, men, young women and boys, who would be drawn largely from the locality in which the factory is located. Their present pay-roll amounted to more than $1250 per week. They would require a site 200 x 600 feet, convenient to the railway track, and would erect a building 75 x 300 feet.

Holmes' Fire Sale of Groceries.

We have a couple of thousand dollars to lose on our grocery stock damaged by the late fire, and we want you to come and help us. The salvage has been moved into the Metropole store, a few doors west of our burnt premises, where it will be sold for whatever it will bring. It consists of package teas, canned goods, spices, pickles, relishes, fruits, rice, cereals, soaps, soda, brushes, brooms, sugar, cured hams, etc., etc. We have simply to offer them to you regardless of original cost. It will be a surprise to see how little damage the goods have sustained after being in cold storage for over a week. Sale starts to-morrow morning. J. Holmes.

LENGTHY SESSION OF TOWN COUNCIL.

New Street Lighting Agreement Passed by City Fathers.

Question of Fixed Assessment for the Lock Manufacturing Company was Discussed---Referred to Committee of the Whole.

The regular meeting of the Town Council, held last night, lasted until a quarter of twelve and was eventful. Things ran smoothly enough until a report was presented by the Manufacturers' Committee recommending, among other things, that the Lock Company be granted a free site for new buildings and a fixed assessment of $12,000 for ten years. Ald. Best objected to this, pointing out that the company had just arrived at the expiration of a 20 year exemption, and that to grant privileges such as proposed would be unfair to other industries here. Ald. Clinkscale agreed with him, and they brought in an amendment embodying their views. An amendment to the amendment was brought in by Ald. Hicks and Ald. Johnston, that the company buy the lot from the town at a fair valuation and agree to a fixed assessment of $12,000 for ten years. Upon being submitted, the amendments and the recommendation of the committee were all lost. Later, on Ald. Morrison's motion, the matter was re-considered, the basis this time being a fixed assessment of $10,000 and purchase of the lot by the Company. After some discussion the matter was referred back to the Committee of the Whole. It was suggested by Ald. McWilliams that to obtain the necessary legislation a supplementary petition might be arranged later. A by-law was passed authorizing the execution of a contract with the Peterborough Light & Power Company, Ald. Best objecting. The Company will defend this bylaw if it is attacked. The Council will seek legislation for authority to grant exemption to a music hall, and agreed to the clauses in the town's application for legislation. A motion by Ald. Morrison advocating incorporation as a city was lost.

There were present at the meeting His Worship Mayor Roger, Aldermen Best, Adams, Scott, Hicks, Johnston, Rush, Morrison, McWilliams, Edgcumbe and Clinkscale.

The minutes of the last meeting were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Robert H. Adams, Charles McGinty and Joseph Stewart, members of the police force, asking for an increase of salary.—Supervision Committee.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, stating that the present uncertainty as to whether a valid lighting contract existed or not made it very difficult for the Light & Power Company to arrange for necessary changes and improvements in their plant and power house, which was being re-arranged. The suggestion was made that the Council take the course suggested by Mr. Justice Meredith and pass a new bylaw to take the place of the former one, and discontinue the appeal, which may not be heard for several months. In this event the Light & Power Co. would defend the new bylaw if attacked, and would indemnify the town against loss. The company were willing to execute the contract in the form proposed by the Town Solicitor, with the changes relating to a duplicate plant and free lighting of Victoria Park.—Received.

From the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., proposing that the town give them the lot lying between the G.T. and C. P. Railway track—the Kennedy stock yards—upon which the company will agree to erect up-to-date manufacturing buildings, to cost some $25,000, and agree to a fixed assessment of $12,000 for a term of ten years.—Received.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, enclosing their bill for $41 in connection with the annexation of Ashburnham and Peterborough.—Received.

From W. J. Green, secretary of the Industrial Exhibition, enclosing a resolution passed by the directors, urging the necessity that the street railway be laid as early as possible to the fair grounds.—Received.

From the Secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities relative to the necessity that as many as possible of the cities of Canada should contribute in proportion to population to the funds of the Union.—Committee of the Whole.

From S. R. Armstrong, enclosing a request from the Board of Health, that the council take action with respect to providing hospital accomodation the treatment of infectious diseases.—Committee of the Whole.

From the Otonabee Power Company, applying for the privilege of placing 12 poles on Rubidge street, from Sherbrooke street to the west side of Rink street, also one pole on Stewart street north of Simcoe, and four poles on Aylmer from London to Dublin streets.—Referred to the Board of Works and Franchise Committee to make temporary arrangement pending the arrangement of a new franchise by the council.

From J. H. Heaslip, Stewart street, making an application for the job of numbering the houses in the East Ward.—Board of Works.

From N. T. Laplante, acknowledging receipt of letter from Street Commissioner re his tenant on Hunter street.—Legal Committee.

From A. T. Smith, District Superintendent of Bell Telephone Co., regarding an improved fire alarm system, and stating that information regarding the matter would be furnished by the company if required.—Committee of the Whole.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, requesting, on behalf of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, that their application for fixed assessment be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Property Committee was presented by Ald. Rush, in the absence of the chairman, Ald. Batten:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the janitress of the town offices be paid at the rate of $6.00 per week.

2. That the chairman be authorized to offer the C. P. R. Co. $40.00 for the furnace in the office of the tax collector and town engineer and if the offer is accepted that the treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque to the Railway Co. for that amount.

3. That the chairman be authorized to purchase more chairs for the committee room.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOS. BATTEN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

LOCK COMPANY'S PROPOSITION.

The Manufacturers' Committee reported as follows through the chairman, Ald. Morrison:

Gentlemen,—Your Manufactures Committee begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That this committee be authorized to send one or two persons at any time to interview persons who propose locating an industry when the committee deems it advisable to do so, and that the treasurer be authorized to pay the expenses on the certificate of the chairman of this committee.

2. That the request of Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson on behalf of Mr. Robert Stuart that the time for the completion of the extension of the present street railway be Sept. 1st, 1904, be granted.

3. That the application of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. be accepted and that the Company be given the site asked for by them, and a fixed assessment of $12,000 for ten years on terms to be fixed by the Manufacturers Committee, and as nearly as may be on the same terms as the grant of a site to the Canadian Cordage & Manufacturing Company and that the necessary legislation be applied for to enable the town to carry this out.

4. That for the purpose of encouraging the erection of an Academy of Music, the council apply for legislation authorizing the council by a two-thirds vote to pas a by-law or by-laws granting exemption from taxation for a period not exceeding 15 years, any suitable building erected for that purpose on terms to be fixed by the by-law granting the exemption.

M. A. MORRISON,
Chairman.

On motion to adopt the report Ald. Best held that the property asked for by the Lock Company was worth $3500. The concern had already received an exemption for twenty years save for school taxes, and further had paid nothing for local improvements. The company admitted that they were making money, and why should they ask for more favours from the ratepayers? He did not see why they should not be assessed on the same basis as the Wm. Hamilton Co., the Peter Hamilton Co., or other concerns. He moved in amendment to this effect.

In reply to Ald. Best it was pointed out by Ald. Morrison that the company required the exemption as soon as their buildings were ready.

Ald. Best called attention to the fact that the Gurney-Tilden Company, engaged in a similar line of business in Hamilton, had no such exemption whatever, except that granted all manufacturers, and was to-day a money making institution. If it is necessary to obtain more room let the company sell out their present property, which they got for a mere song, after their last exemption was granted, and buy the site they require, said Ald. Best. We will assess them on the same basis as other industries. I am opposed to granting them the land, which is one of the best sites in the country, and is required for new industries.

QUESTION OF EXEMPTION.

Ald. Morrison's opinion was that Ald. Best argued in favour of the Lock Company. By the proposition submitted the concern would increase its number of hands by 50 per cent, and by an assessment of $12,000, the present returns from the property would be increased to $228 annually. The reason the Lock Company required a change of site was to obtain better shipping facilities, and to introduce better apparatus for fire protection, which was impossible in the present buildings, because they were scattered. There were many disadvantages which the company had contended against for some years. It would be a great misfortune for Peterborough if the industry were lost and anything within reason should be granted. He agreed that all industries should be placed on the same basis but it did not appear to be in the power of the council to do so. The assessment proposed was, he considered, a very fair one.

Ald. Hicks moved in amendment to the amendment, that in the event of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company purchasing the pro-

MEN SELL THEIR WIVES.

Cases in Police Courts Show the Practice to Be Quite Common and Public in England.

Readers of Mr. Hardy's novels have been reminded of the opening chapters of "The Mayor of Casterbridge" by the case at Marlborough street Police Court the other day, where it was shown that the defendant had got rid of his wife by selling her for a couple of shillings. For precedents for this commercial form of divorce some journalists have searched the records of a century ago, and produced numerous instances of wives being led to the cattle market and there knocked down to the highest bidder, says The London Globe.

But it is not necessary to go back anything like 100 years for such sales of wives. There are sufficient modern instances to maintain the assertion that wife selling is still a British custom. There are hundreds of people who still believe that to transfer a wife to another man for a cash payment is a legal transaction and a valid dissolution of matrimonial ties. As a popular error it ranks with the idea that if a husband or wife be absent and unheard of for seven years the other is free to marry again.

An Established Custom.

In Yorkshire generally, and in Sheffield in particular, this doctrine of wife selling is still so firmly established and frequently practiced that it has little less than the force of a local law.

Legends of Sheffield grinders who in drunken bouts sell their wives for a quart of ale are well known. But nowadays such transactions are no longer conducted off-hand. They are invested with formality, as witness this document which figured in a case at the Sheffield County Court in 1887: "At the Royal Oak, Sheffield, I, Abraham Boothroyd, agree to sell my wife Clara to William Hall for the sum of 5 shillings."

At Leeds Assizes, in 1895, Benjamin Gibbons was tried for bigamy. He admitted that he had married a woman while his first wife was alive, but he pleaded that as he had sold her he was entitled to marry again. She was a young woman and unruly; even though he constantly gave her good hidings, she troubled him, and, tiring of her, he sold her to a soldier for 3s. 6d. She went quite willingly, and had married her purchaser.

A Nominal Value.

In each case it will be noticed that the purchase money is small. This is not due to low valuation of the woman but a nominal sum is agreed upon to make the bargain an actual one. The legal doctine of "value received" is so far understood by the vulgar mind. The sale, indeed, is the poor man's divorce. His honesty in this matter is shown by his retention of the children of the marriage, and his maintenance of them.

In a case at Doncaster in 1896 the purchaser, instead of paying cash, agreed to take over the vendor's four children with the wife. This was the document which figured later in the police court: "New Conisboro, March 8, 1896.—I, Enoch Childs, is quite willing to take your wife and children as mine, that is your wife, Ellen Tart, and Sarah, John, Henry and Eliza. Signed, Ellen Tart, Enoch Childs."

Common Practice.

Though Lancashire is so kin to Yorkshire no sale of wives are known in the county Palatine. But in Alfreton, in Derbyshire, a collier sold his wife for fourpence in 1882. In 1873 there was a remarkable case at Belper; the wife of an absconding debtor had a halter placed about her neck and was led into the market-place on Saturday afternoon and offered for sale by auction as one of her husband's assets. But there were no bidders and no sale.

About four years ago Irthingborough, near Northampton, supplied a southern instance. A shoemaker paraded the streets with a bell calling upon all persons to know that he had that afternoon "sold and bequeathed" his wife to John ——. He proclaimed the names of two companions as witnesses to the transaction. The purchase money was two shillings. Baring Gould cites similar sales in the West country, and to go back more than thirty years would mean the extension of this subject to intolerable length, for a century ago wife selling was almost common.

That it is practiced as frequently as it is will come as a surprise to most readers. In addition to these northern instances many a wife is sold to-day in the east end of London, but of all such cases over the country only a few are revealed to public knowledge.

Simplicity.

Simplicity is the crowning jewel of all virtues. Great messages, great truths, great discoveries and great events are ever simple in their elements. Simplicity makes the great nobler and lifts the obscure to places of eminence. It is the bright charm of Innocent childhood and the radiant gem of the old and learned.—Maxwell's Talisman.

HERD BOOK RECOGNITION.

St. Louis World's Fair Board Will Now Concede This Point.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Yesterday Secretary Westervelt received a communication from the secretary of the St. Louis Exposition informing him that the fair board had decided to recognize the following herd books: Dominion Clydesdale, Shire, Hackney and French-Canadian; Dominion Shorthorn and Hereford; Canadian Ayrshire, Holstein-Fresian; French-Canadian; Dominion Swine Breeders. These are practically all the herd books of any importance used in Canada. This concession goes a considerable way to remove the just grievances of Canadian live stock dealers, after the announcement that a number of breeds that were placed low in the prize list would be raised; but there is still the difficulty with the customs regulations of the United States, which prevent Canadians from selling their stock for breeding purposes and shipping them direct from the Exposition.

COL. LUETWEIN LOST.

Feared He Has Been Obliged to Entrench Himself Against Tribesmen.

Berlin, Feb. 2.—Nothing has been heard for weeks of Col. Luetwein, the Governor of German Southwest Africa, who was making a long march from the Warmbad region toward his beleaguered forts northward. The natives who have besieged all the outlying stations are supposed to be in force between Windhoek and Col. Luetwein's column, of less than 300 men, which was returning from the campaign against the Bondelzwarts in the territory 450 miles south of Windhoek. No runner has passed through the lines.

It is feared that Col. Luetwein may have been unable to force his way through the hostile tribesmen, and that he has been obliged to entrench himself and await for the arrival of a rescuing expedition. The idea that he has been overwhelmed is rejected officially, but this apprehension is expressed in the newspapers.

IT BORDERS ON THE MIRACULOUS

What Dodd's Kidney Pills did Joseph Brown.

He was Paralyzed in every Limb—Doctors gave him up—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured him Completely and Permanently.

Oshawa, Ont., Feb. 1.—(Special.)—The story of Joseph Brown of this place borders so close on the miraculous that people would scarce believe it were it not substantiated in every particular. Mr. Brown tells the story himself as follows:—

"I was taken ill with what some of the doctors called Paralysis and others Nervous Prostration. The trouble commenced by a stiffness and soreness in the calves of my legs and gradually increased till I could not move my arms or legs, having lost all power in them. I couldn't have raised my arms to my head to save my life. For over four months I couldn't walk alone a single step.

"I doctored with many doctors, and was for four months in Toronto General Hospital. All was in vain, I only got worse. Twelve doctors there told me I couldn't recover.

"In this extremity and like a drowning man grasping at a straw I turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. The first box took the numbness out of my fingers. Continuing their use in two months I could walk a little. I used twelve boxes when I was cured. That is five years ago and I have not had the slightest symptom of trouble since."

CHILDREN ARE SANE.

But Grownup People, Most of Them, Are More or Less Insane.

There is one disadvantage which is involved in the very nature of education—that is, that we have to assume that grownup people are representative. We have even to go the length of assuming that grownup people are sane. When we talk about encouraging health in children and discouraging morbidity, when we talk of such and such a child being abnormal or interesting or neurotic or a genius, we are all the time taking for granted that we ourselves have attained to what is profitable and eternal in human nature. But there is at least something that may reasonably be said upon the other side. It may at least very plausibly be maintained that it is children who are, age after age, sane and reliable and grownup people who are, age after age, more or less fantastic and disconcerting. The great majority of grownup people in any age will be in all probability slightly insane; for since no human philosophy is perfect, and since every human philosophy naturally treats itself as if it were perfect, the chances are in every generation that the majority of educated people will be ecstatically certain of something that is quite untrue. Children, on the other hand, it might be maintained, represent the actual primary and untouched human nature. Whatever agrees with that is sane; whatever disagrees with it is eccentric. Children are always children, or, to limit the matter with more precision, babies, at any rate, are always babies. But few will be so paradoxical as to maintain that men are always men or women always women.

An Eloquent Peroration.

"And," said the rising young politician as he reached his eloquent peroration, "I predict that our candidate will, when the votes are counted, be found to have ridden to success upon a tidal wave of glory that will have swept all before it like wild fire breaking in flying spray upon the strand where the sun of victory shall blaze forth its most effulgent rays upon the close of one of the most noble, most memorable campaigns that have ever been launched upon the sea of politics to gather strength and carry all before it like the cyclone sweeping across the broad prairies from which even the orb of day has disappeared in terror."

HEADACHES AND RUSHING OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

APPETITE WAS GONE.

TRIED MANY DIFFERENT REMEDIES BUT

MRS. WALTER MARTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

VEGETABLE PORCUPINE.

Wild Cattle Eat Its Sharp Spines as With Ironclad Mouths.

The best hated cactus in America is the cholla. The Mexicans say that if you go near a cholla joint it will jump at you. Certainly if you touch one it will stick, and when you try to free yourself it will pierce your other hand as well. Each pendent joint seems to reach out for the passerby, and the ground beneath the broad cholla trees is strewn with fallen fragments, many of which take root and grow.

After one has felt the sharp spines through heavy boots and seen their needle points it is a source of continual wonder to see the wild cattle of Arizona quietly browsing on chollas. The phrase "cactus fed" as applied to Arizona is not a figure of speech. During the years of drought thousands of cattle carry themselves over until the next grass by eating chollas. With their leathery tongues and lips they strip the spiny joints from the trunk and leave the wide spreading cactus a bare and woody skeleton. It is only the range cattle, whose mouths have been hardened on the thorny mesquite and ironwood browse, that will undertake to eat cactus, and cattlemen therefore often burn the thorns from chollas and nopals in order to tempt their more fastidious animals to eat.

THE MODEL GUEST.

He Knows Just When, What and How to Do or Not to Do.

A really fine specimen of the guest who does his best has a spirit which cannot be broken by weather or weariness. He can manage to talk to any one, even if he should discover with a shock that he is sitting next to his worst enemy. He knows how to come into any discussion and how to keep out of it. He does not seek his own amusement, yet he never fails to show that he is amused. He is tolerant of every opinion, and though he may have many convictions of his own and may state them so as to do them justice he never tries to proselytize.

His visit is not a mission, and he never for a moment fancies himself on the hustings, in a debating society, a pulpit or a court of justice. Above all, he has a good opinion of himself. Good wine needs no bush. He has no desire to boast, but he is certain that he will not be slighted. If his hostess assigns to him a dull job he is sure it is because she thought he could do it well, and if he feels it to be really below his powers he takes her mistake into account not while he is under her roof, but when he next receives her kind invitation. He is not plagued by that craving of the oversensitive to be like their company nor does he belong to that race of born dissenters who would always rather be different.

But, alas, conscience and talent do not always go together. There are some high principled guests who are terrible bores. In their solicitude to be agreeable they never stop talking, but pursue their garrulous ideal like a dog following a carriage. To every interruption they give immediate but momentary attention and run breathless on.—London Outlook.

Evolution of the Folding Bed.

Mrs. De Flat—Have you anything new in folding beds?

Dealer—Only this, madam, and it really is quite a success. On arising in the morning you touch a spring and it turns into a washstand and bathtub. After your bath, you touch another spring, and it becomes a dressing case, with a French plate mirror. If you breakfast in your room, a slight pressure will transform it into an extension table. After breakfast, you press these three buttons at once and you have an upright piano. That's all it will do, except that when you die it can be changed into a rosewood coffin.—

She Won.

He was a philosopher and a talker. She was a woman of action. They stood together on the bridge and watched a tug that was hauling a long line of barges up the river.

"Look there, my dear," said he. "Such is life. The tug is like the man, working and toiling, while the barges, like the women, are"—

His wife gave him no time to finish the sentence. "I know," she said. "The tug does all the blowing and the barges bear all the burden."

MYSTERIES OF SAP.

How the Circulation From Roots to Leaves Is Maintained.

To illustrate the modern view of sap circulation, which is not thoroughly understood, it is necessary to explain that the chief food of the plants, consisting of inorganic salts dissolved in water, is absorbed from the soil by the roots. The root consists of a hollow tube or cylinder lined with several cells, the outer layer of which contains certain hairlike processes.

The water in the soil, containing the salts in solution, is absorbed by these root hairs and passes by filtration into the cells and capillary vessels. The activity of these root hairs and the concentration of fluid in the adjacent cells create what is called "root pressure," and this forces the sap into the general vascular system of the plant and up to its furthest extremities, or leaves.

This "root pressure" is further supplemented by "transpiration," or loss of vapor from the leaves under the influence of heat and light. Plants may be said to breathe or respire by their leaves, and this abstraction of water by transpiration creates a fresh demand for the vital fluid supplied by the roots. In this way the circulation, or "rising of the sap" from root to leaves, is maintained.

lips, his secretary. The Ambassador, in a silk hat and frock coat, alighted with his party at Wine Office court and proceeded to the Cheshire Cheese, where his arrival startled the only other diner at the place. The Ambassadorial party ate of the historic pudding and drank ale from large brown mugs coeval with the Cheese, obligingly set their names in the visitors' book and departed.

The Usual Cause Of Dyspepsia

And Indigestion is Constipation and Cure can Only Come when the Bowels, Liver and Kidneys are Regular and Active.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Digestion is not confined to the stomach, for by far the most difficult part of the process of digestion takes place in the intestines and depends on the activity of the liver in supplying bile and the regularity of the kidney and bowels in removing the waste matter.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring prompt relief and cure for dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation, because they have a direct and combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, making these organs regular and active in their work of cleansing the system.

Instead of merely aiding digestion they have a beneficial action on the entire digestive system. They remove the cause of trouble and ensure the healthful functions of the various organs of digestion and excretion. The cures they bring about are thorough and lasting.

Mr. James H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering. I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now, and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies. 11

HOW JIMMIE GOT HIS ENGINE

By WILLIAM WALKER HINES

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

It was the general understanding among all the employees of the Lawrenceburg division of the X. and Y. R. R. that when Jimmie Kincaid got his engine he would also get Nettie Oliver. But Jimmie's chance for getting an engine in the near future did not seem particularly bright. He was fourth on the list of firemen of the Lawrenceburg division, and that meant he must wait until four engineers died, reached the age of limit or were fired. Of course there was always the chance that he would be able to do something to attract the attention of the superintendent of motive power, and then he might get his engine at any time.

In the meantime Nettie had a fairly good position as telegrapher at Benson station, and Jimmie could get a chance to chat with her for a few minutes every day when his train, passenger No. 14, lay over on the siding at Benson to allow the limited mail to pass. When he had begun scraping an acquaintance with Nettie something over a year before Jimmie had used the pretext that he was thinking of learning telegraphy, and under her tutorship he had picked up a fair working knowledge of the Morse code.

Many a sly joke did the train crew of No. 14 crack at Jimmie's suddenly born ambition to learn telegraphy, but he bore all of these with equanimity and said that the knowledge might come in handy some time. After awhile it became understood among all the men that Jimmie's case was really serious, and then the jokes stopped. Even the head brakeman of No. 14, who had a reputation as a wit, forbore to make remarks about the connection between the Morse code and pretty girls.

Benson station is at the foot of Twelve Mile hill, and this hill is regarded by the engineers as the worst place on the division. The grade is so heavy that the track winds up the hill in two long loops. When you get to the beginning of the second loop you are only a mile from Benson station on a straight line, but it is six miles distant by the track. After he had mastered the rudiments of the Morse code Jimmie would take hold of the whistle cord when No. 14 came to the loop on the down grade and signal "Hello" to Nettie at Benson station in sharp blasts upon the whistle, which stood for the dots and dashes of the code.

So things went along for a year and Jimmie's prospects of promotion got little brighter. On the records of the office of the superintendent of motive power he was still merely James Kincaid, fourth on the list of firemen, with a good reputation and the prospect of succeeding to an engine in the course of five or six years. When business picked up in the fall a number of extra freight trains were put on, and he got his first chance to run an engine.

On the first trip it fell to his lot to take out the third section of freight train No. 106, east bound. The third section of No. 106 was made up of thirty-one heavily loaded cars, and none of these was equipped with air brakes. As he pulled out of Adairville the old yard master swung himself up into the cab of the engine and said:

"I think ye'll pull the engine all right, Jimmie, me bye, but for the love of the saints be careful when ye strike the top of the hill this side of Benson. Faith, it's a heavy train they've given ye, and if it should break in two going down that hill and thim cyars with no air brakes on to them there'll be the devil and all to pay."

Despite this warning, there was no fear of a "break in two" in Jimmie's heart as he nursed his engine along toward the top of the hill on the other side of which lay Benson. This is an accident which happens very rarely and which not even the most experienced engineer can successfully guard against. But as he struck the top of the hill and began to descend on the side toward Benson he felt a jerk which nearly threw him off his seat. Looking back, he saw that the worst had happened. A coupling had snapped in the middle of the train.

For the present there was but one thing to do, and that was to go down grade as fast as he could. Looking back, he could see that the rear brakeman, who was the only man on the cars which had been left behind, had made one ineffectual attempt to set the brakes and then had jumped to safety. Jimmie knew that if the fourteen cars running wild behind caught up with the forward half of the train there would be a wreck which would cause damage to the extent of thousands of dollars and blacklist, if not kill, the engineer responsible.

Faster and faster the telegraph poles on the side of the track flew past him. Jimmie's mind was working faster than it had ever done in his life. His orders directed him to wait on the siding at Benson station for the westbound passenger train to pass, and he knew that at any cost he must save the passenger. Away off to the farther side of Benson he could already see the faint line of smoke coming up from it, and he knew that it would arrive at Benson in just about ten minutes. He figured that his own train was going about a mile a minute and would reach Benson in seven minutes. If no alternative offered itself he resolved to put on all brakes when he got to the foot of the hill and deliberately wreck his own train. There was a straight track for three miles on the farther side of Benson, and the engineer of the passenger train would see the wreck in ample time to come to a stop.

This plan, if carried out, would probably mean death for Jimmie, but he analyzed the situation none the less coolly because of that. Death is something that engineers get accustomed to facing. But if he could only discover some way of letting Nettie know the condition of affairs it would be an easy matter for her to throw the derailing switch after he had passed and allow the rear half of the train to come to a safe haven in the cornfield beside the track.

Down at the station Nettie heard a sound which sent her rushing out to the platform. Away up, the hill she could see a freight train coming down at a terrific rate of speed. The whistle cord seemed to be in the hands of a lunatic, for the whistle was sounding in strange, unearthly shrieks. As she watched it something struck her as being strangely familiar about the way the whistle was sounding. All of a sudden it struck her there was method in the shrieks, and that, interpreted by the Morse code, they were saying, "BN, BN, BN," her station call. This was continued for a few seconds, and then began: "Broke in two! Throw derailing switch when first section is past station." Three times this was repeated, and then the engine went around the curve at the farther end of the loop, and she could hear the whistle only faintly.

But she heard enough, and when Jimmie's engine whizzed past the station with his white face pressed closely against the glass at the side of the engine cab he saw Nettie standing at the switch. When the last car in the part of the train which still remained intact had passed the frog he saw her throw all her weight on the switch handle, and the signals told him that every one of the cars which were following him would pile themselves ungracefully, but harmlessly, on the soft earth of the cornfield. Bringing his engine to a stop, he ran back to the station and on to the siding in ample time to let the passenger train pass him.

The train master examined Jimmie very closely as to the necessity of piling valuable freight cars on useful agricultural land and passed the case up to the division superintendent. He examined the papers carefully, made some notes on the bottom of them and referred the whole matter to the superintendent of motive power. When Jimmie walked out of the office he was a full fledged engineer and had been congratulated on his presence of mind. And the superintendent of motive power congratulated him again a month later when the railroad lost the services of the telegraph operator at Benson station and Jimmie got a wife.

Under the Apple Blossoms.

"How sweet, how pure, they are!" she said, breathing in the fragrance of the apple blossoms on the branch he bent down for her.

"Like your—like a maiden's love," he added, with designed sentimentality.

"And how quickly they wither and come to naught—another similarity," she said, with malice aforethought, heading him off.

"Or turn hard and sour and fill us with pain and anguish if, like silly little boys, we think we like them," he amended grimly, aware of her object.

For half a second she looked into his scowling eyes with a relenting twinkle growing in her own.

"But if we have a little patience they grow sweet and wholesome again, and—and delicious for domestic uses—pies, for instance," she whispered between a laugh and a sigh.

The scowl turned into a bewildered stare. Then Providence sent him a spark of intelligence.

"Mabel," he cried eagerly, seizing her hands—"Mabel, I adore apple pies."

"And—and, Jack, I make very good ones," she murmured demurely.

And then—all the apple blossoms flushed a delicate pink.

St. Elizabeth of Hungary.

It is curious that St. Elizabeth of Hungary should have spent only the first four years of her life in the country which always distinguishes her name. She was only just four when her father, the king of Hungary, sent her to Thuringia to be betrothed to the nine-year-old Prince Louis, and there she remained all through her childhood and married life until her death in 1231. Perhaps, says the London Chronicle, because she is one of the few saints whose holiness did not preclude love and marriage she always seems a particularly human saint, and the tales that are told of her—how, for instance, she gave away her toys and dolls to poor children when she was but a baby herself, how the food she was taking to beggars in a covered basket turned to red and white roses when her husband lifted the lid, how she heard a bird singing to her on her deathbed and sang to it in reply—all point to the poetry and charm which are associated with her name.

She Meant Dog, Not Husband.

The late Edwin Lord Weeks, the painter and illustrator, had always a great dislike for dogs. It was amusing, his friends say, to hear him harangue against dogs, and innumerable were the stories reflecting upon dogs in an unfavorable light which Mr. Weeks had on the tip of his tongue.

"I dined last night," he said one day, "with Blank. After dinner Blank and I went into the library to look over some John Leech prints. Blank was talking learnedly about Leech when he heard his wife in the next room say:

"'Where is my guardian angel?'

"'Here I am, my dear,' Blank called.

But his wife retorted:

"'Oh, I don't mean you. I mean Fido.'"—New York Tribune.

FAME.

There is a flame on the marshes, dear, do you know? Do you know?
A light on the misty marshes where the lotus lilies grow.
Where wandering, lost in the shadows, the dreamers with dragging feet
Follow and follow and follow and mix in the mass and meet.

There is a light on the marshes, as dreamers we know it by name,
For this is the fickle Fortune, the will 'o the wisp called Fame;
And as long as it leaps before us, as long as it burns above,
We shall none of us turn for riches, and none of us wait for Love.

There are some who have taken and touched it and found it a living flame,
And bound as a star on their temples, dear, this will o' the wisp of Fame,
To show to a world of toilers, heart-sick in a hopeless quest,
That the laurels across the marshes still grow on the lake of Rest.

What if the way seems weary, we are each of us stepping alone:
If the marsh is the world's for sharing the light is to each his own!
Let us dream through the drifting shadows and follow our beacon afar
Till we lose it at last as a phantom or find it at last as a star!

—Will H. Ogilvie.

Color Blindness.

Congenital color-blindness is due to an unknown condition of the retina, or the nerve centries, or both. Instead of three primary sensations of color being perceived, as in normal, one is absent, and people thus constituted are either red-blind or green-blind.

The seven colors of the spectrum, as seen in the rainbow, are violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange, and red. To a red-blind person the appearance of the spectrum is short at the red end, therefore the general impression is green, and blue for the other three; between these is a neutral band, which is white. To a green-blind person the spectrum is not shortened, but it appears yellow at one end, and blue as before, with a neutral band. So certain colors, as it were, drown the rest.

Professor Delboeuf, a Belgian, who suffered from this, and has written lucidly upon it, actually corrected his vision by inventing a wedge-shaped glass, with graduated scale, which he filled with purple fuchsine, or chloride of nickel, to tone down the excessive colors. He tells with what joy he saw for the first time the true colors of shrubs, flowers, and the landscape.

A Kidney Sufferer FOR Fourteen Years.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS THE BACK.

Could not Sit or Stand with Ease.

Consulted Five Different Doctors.

Doan's Kidney Pills

FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., the well-known Contractors and Builders, Welland, Ont., tells of how he was cured: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity the last five years. My most serious attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my back, floating specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood."

"I thank Dr. Pierce for the kind advice he gave when I wrote to him."

"I am thankful to the friend who first recommended your medicine," writes Mrs. Annie M. Brook, of Smithfield, Fayette Co., Pa. "We have a twelve pound baby, three weeks old. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' before baby came, and the time was only one hour and a half. Have had five children, and before this always had a severe time, lasting two or three days, and never was able to do any work for about two months afterward. Now I am doing all the work for four children. My friends say I look better now than ever before. We told one of my sisters to take 'Favorite Prescription,' which she did, and when her child was born the time of suffering was very short. She has better health now than since her marriage, some years ago. We cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines enough. I thank Dr. Pierce for the kind advice he gave when I wrote to him. Whenever I see other women suffering I tell them about your wonderful medicines."

The benefits resulting from a consultation by letter with Dr. Pierce are testified to by thousands of grateful women who have been made new women by his medical advice and fatherly counsel given absolutely without cost or fee.

Sick and ailing women, especially those suffering from chronic diseases, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the cure of womanly ills. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for maternity, giving the mother strength to give her child, and making the baby's advent practically painless.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

ARTIE EDMUNDS THREW NICK COLLINS.

An Interesting Wrestling Bout Held in Toronto on Saturday Night.

The Toronto Star says: "Midnight, the advent of Sunday morning, and the police put an end to one of the most interesting wrestling bouts that have taken place in Toronto in recent years. It was only a bout between a couple of welterweight wrestlers of no particular fame beyond their own neighbourhood or particular coterie of sporting friends, yet it drew a house of seven hundred people and kept the entire audience literally "on its hind legs" all evening.

The contestants were Max Luttbeg, a welterweight wrestler, who has been throwing all comers on the burlesque circuit, and Chas. Conkling of Hamilton, billed as Jack Tobin. The scene was St. Andrew's Hall.

In the preliminary bouts Hockey Jones threw McDonald in 41-2 minutes and Artie Edmunds won a handicap bout, throwing Nic Collins in 11 1-2 minutes, and and Farmer Burns in 4 1-2 minutes. Collins put up a very fair argument, but Burns, though he outweighed Edmunds, was easy money.

perty in question from the town at a fair valuation or any other property suitable to them be given a fixed assessment of $12,000 for ten years on conditions of their erecting a building as per their letter, Ald. Johnston seconded the motion.

Ald. Best said this was his idea only that the assessment be on a general valuation as in the case of the Wm. Hamilton Company. He made a motion to this effect. Ald. Clinkscale seconded it.

Ald. McWilliams considered that in the first place the aim of the Council should be to adopt a principle treating all industries alike. It was worth while assisting them to a certain extent, considering the benefits the town received. To a new industry a free site and exemption for ten years were granted and he held that an existing industry, making substantial enlargement, should have the same treatment as to the new part. If the Lock Company were offering as good terms as the Cordage Co., did, their proposition was a good one, if not, the Council should not consider it.

Ald. Best pointed out that the Wm. Hamilton Company had erected a large addition to their works, calling for the employment of forty skilled hands, but nothing had been heard of exemption.

Ald. Adams—How much was their taxes increased by the addition?

Ald. Best—That will come next year.

Ald. Rush referred to the fact that upon the present premises being vacated by the company, it would become taxable, and also available for another industry.

Ald. Best doubted that the Lock Company employed much skilled labour; it was nearly all boys and asked how the payroll compared with the Wm. Hamilton Company.

Mayor Roger's opinion was that outside of the Peter Hamilton and Wm. Hamilton companies, few concerns employed a better class of men in the same line of work than did the Lock Company.

Ald. Clinkscale held that the town had nursed the Lock Company for twenty years and if it could not stand on its bottom now, it never would. On the other hand, if its business was such as to require an enlargement, it should pay for it.

The Mayor put Ald. Hicks' amendment to the amendment, for which Ald. Johnston, Hicks and Scott voted Yea, and the remainder Nay. It was therefore lost.

Ald. Best's amendment was only supported by its mover and seconder and was also lost.

The vote on the adoption of the report was as follows.

Yea—Ald. Rush, Morrison, Adams and McWilliams.

Nay—Johnston, Clinkscale, Hicks, Scott and Best.

This practically killed the report but the Mayor asked if the expression of opinion referred to the entire report or merely to the clause under discussion.

Ald. Best took exception to the first clause. He said the town should not run after manufacturing concerns to the extent indicated as the great majority were looking after the largest bonus.

Ald. Morrison did not agree with Ald. Best. The committee could exercise some discretion in the case of any industry brought to their attention.

On motion clauses one and three of the report were carried.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee reported as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That in accordance with the recommendation of the Central Charity Board the salary of the relief officer be increased to $200 per year to date from Jan. 1st, 1904.

2. That the Central Charity Board be given a grant of $1,700 a year to date from Jan. 1st, 1904, payable in monthly installments of $200 in the months of January, February, March, November and December and of $100 in each of the other months of the year.

3. That a grant of $300 be made to the Children's Aid Society payable in equal monthly installments.

4. That the payment of $1,100 made by the treasurer to the clerk of the Legislative Assembly with respect to the town's legislation be confirmed.

5. That the accounts of the Central Charity Board be audited by the town auditors in the same manner as other accounts of the town.

6. That the collector of taxes for Ward No. 5 be instructed to deposit moneys received by him in the Ontario Bank to the credit of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and to give the Town Treasurer a certificate or receipt from the bank for the sums deposited.

LEGAL COMMITTEE.

The Legal Committee reported as follows:

The housewife who does not use

Cleveland's Baking Powder

is at a disadvantage. She cannot get the same perfect work from any other.

Gentlemen,—Your Legal Committee begs leave to report and recommend

1. That, having given instructions that the matter of the application of Meldrum and Peterborough in regard to the street lighting by-law be taken to the Court of Appeal, the treasurer was instructed to issue a cheque for $200 in the Court of Appeal as security and we recommend that this be confirmed.

2. That in view of the letter received from Mr. Dennistoun on behalf of the Peterborough Light & Power Company the appeal in the street lighting application be dropped and that a by-law be passed authorizing a new agreement with the Peterborough Light & Power Company for street lighting on similar terms, the Company to agree to supply light from a system of duplicate generators and furnish light free in public parks.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. F. McWILLIAMS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

The Board of Works reported as follows:

That the street commissioner be instructed to take charge of the street work in Ward 5 in the same manner in all respects as in the rest of the town.

That W. Breckenridge be paid $.80 for sand delivered on the order of the Town Engineer.

That John Allen be paid $6.80 for stone delivered on the order of the Street Commissioner.

That the release from Thos. McKee and others be referred to the Town Solicitor, and if it is approved of by him, that the money held back from S. Kennedy, contractor, for the Dublin street sidewalk on account of inequalities in the sidewalks be paid to the Peterborough Hardware Co. to whom it was assigned.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

LIGHTING BY-LAW

A bylaw to authorize a grant to the Central Charity Board and the payment of a relief officer, was passed.

Ald. McWilliams introduced a by-law to execute a contract with the Peterborough Light and Power Co. The contract is for ten years from January 1st.

Ald. Best moved, seconded by Ald. Clinkscale, that the bylaw be read six months hence. This was lost.

Ald. Best asked if the lighting contract carried with it the street railway franchise as well?

Ald. Morrison pointed out that at a committee meeting, Mr. Dennistoun stated that Mr. Stuart had determined to go on with the railway.

Ald. McWilliams contended that the question was being considered on its merits. It had been very carefully dealt with by the council and the people had expressed their approval by nearly two to one.

Mayor Roger also pointed out that the bylaw was practically carrying out the will of the people.

Ald. Best claimed that an intelligent vote had not been obtained, and that one of the most intelligent members of last year's council, D. O'Connell, the lawyer, admitted he did not understand the question. Ald. Best contended that the contract involved a bonus.

The bylaw passed its three readings and was signed and sealed.

Moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Scott, that the treasurer be instructed to pay to the Board of Education $4000 on Feb. 15th inst., as part of the usual requirement of the Board for this year, the Board to later make the full demand for the year in accordance with the statute.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Scott, that the matter of the diversion of the creek in Ward 5, as provided by bylaw of the village of Board of Works to act as speedily as possible.—Carried.

AGAIN CONSIDERED

Moved by Ald. Morrison, seconded by Ald. Hicks, that the application for exemption on behalf of the Lock Company, be re-considered. — Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrison, seconded by Ald. Hicks, that the Lock Manufacturing Company be granted a fixed assessment of $10,000, provided they buy the lot as indicated in their letter to the Council, and that the new buildings cost not less than $25,000, the price of lot to be fixed by the Town Trust Commissioners and the Company.

Ald. Morrison pointed out that the assessment named was as near as possible to those of other industries in town, which had purchased their own sites.

Such a clause was inserted in the resolution.

Ald. Adams said he spoke with diffidence on the question, but he considered that it was unfair to assess the Lock Company for exactly the same amount as the Hamilton Company, a much larger concern. The assessment, as fixed, was higher than what would probably be placed by the assessors, in view of what other industries, worth more, were paying. There should be a proportionate assessment.

Ald. Morrison considered it a serious matter to practically turn down a concern of this nature. Immediate action was necessary for legislation, and the Company wished to begin work in the spring.

Ald. McWilliams, in advising careful action in the matter, suggested that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole. A supplementary petition might be arranged for in connection with the application for legislation.

A motion was made to this effect and agreed upon, Ald. Morrison withdrawing his resolution.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Rush, that the Council memorialize the Legislature to grant Peterborough incorporation as a city.

The resolution was lost, Alds. Morrison, McWilliams and Rush voting for it.

The Mayor was authorized to sign and fix the corporate seal to the town's application for legislation, which was considered at last night's session, and the Council adjourned.

GIPSY GIRL IN STRAIGHT HEAT.

Won in a Matched Race with Looking Glass.

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—In spite of zero temperature and almost blizzard weather conditions, an immense crowd gathered at the Central Canada ice track today to witness the much talked of $1,000 match between Looking Glass, the speedy Uxbridge gelding and Gipsy Girl the pride of Toronto. The Gipsy won in three straight heats in 2.20, 2.21 and 2.24, and was never headed at any stage of the game, although the horse with the reflective name made heroic efforts, under great punishment in the last two brushes. He threw a hind toe calk in the first dash, and finishing strong was apparently done out for the last two heats. Both horses were out to win, and carried barrels of money. Hundreds of dollars changed hands in Ottawa and Mr. Martin, owner of the winner, said after the race that in the Queen City fully $35,000 was won and lost on the result. It was a great race, and, although, strange to say, Looking Glass was a favourite throughout, even to the last heat, it was a decidedly popular victory. The race was advertised to start at two o'clock, and long before that hour the horsemen and their followers were down at the fast half-mile track. Sharp at two o'clock Starter Smith of Buffalo called the owners to the stand and asked them to draw positions. Dr. Forest drew No. 2 and Mr. A. Martin the pole, which many thought meant the race. Still Looking Glass was a favourite at 2 to 1 in the pools and 7 to 5 on the books. George Martin drove Looking Glass and C. Kennedy Gipsy Girl. Al. Proctor of Gorrie and T. J. Hill, of Toronto, were judges respectively for Looking Glass and the Gipsy and jointly selected P. Wall, President of the Central Canada Association to act as third man.

PUCKERINGS.

To-night the T. A. S. and senior teams will practice, the former from 7 to 7.30 and the latter from 7.30 to 8.15. The seniors have given the T. A. S. the first half hour in which to get a practice.

* * * *

The Examiner has heard an unconfirmed rumor to the effect that the Review team has received a challenge from the champions of the Sidewalk League.

* * * *

Barrie's "Bedellas" will play the druggists on Thursday night at the conclusion of the Review-Examiner game. The Druggists have been wanting a dose from the "Bedellas" and the latter now propose to give it to them.

Owing to the fact that the "Bedellas" have been deluged with challenges from unknown teams they have decided to consider challenges only from teams which have attained a reputation by winning a few games.

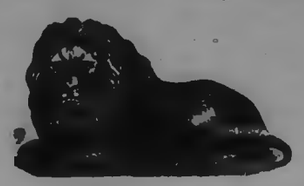
Brisk Business

IN

Remnant Sales

In spite of the astonishing sales of the past three weeks, at the Golden Lion, stock-taking discloses large quantities of winter goods which we do not wish to measure up. We would rather count cash than merchandise. For the sake of disposing of them to the last yard, a pittiless cutting of prices is the rule. The chances during these two weeks of Inventory-taking are the most extraordinary yet announced. If you don't buy to-day or to-morrow, don't say we didn't give you fair warning. It would be well to be around every day. You are in the most sensational buying season of your life for the purchase of serviceable gonds.



Remnants in all departments—Short Ends of Dress Goods, Silks, Flannel, Linens, Prints, etc.—Ends of lines in Underclothing, Outer garments, Gloves, Corsets, etc.—all contribute pleasing prices to thrifty shoppers.

AMERICANS MAY SUFFER.

The Bonding Practice Said to Be in Imminent Danger.

Boston, Feb. 3.—Unless some agreement is entered into between the United States and Canada, the long-time practice of carrying Canadian goods in bond to ports in the provinces without regard to the carrying vessel, must come to an end, and a lucrative business of American railroads and American steamships running from Boston will be shut off.

This has been established by the recent enforcement by the collector at St. John, N.B., of the Canadian regulation that goods passing to Canada from the United States shall be transported in British registered vessels.

The case at hand was that of a consignment of stoves from London Ont., to St. John, by way of Boston, the water transportation being by the Eastern Steamship Company, whose steamers carry the American flag.

Secretary of the United States Shaw has been asked to make some arrangement with Canada whereby the non-enforcement of the regulation may be brought about.

The weather is becoming a little milder as the self-registering thermometer only registered 12 degrees below zero in town last night.

SUTCLIFFE'S CLOSE THEIR STORE AT 9 P. M. ON SATURDAYS

This Store's Whitewear

has attracted marked attention and caused enthusiastic complimentary remarks—not by one particular class of people, but by representative people of all classes. We dislike egotistical remarks and realize that the foregoing is unnecessary to those who have wandered admiringly through our display—but to those who have not yet become acquainted with the Amazing Variety, Superb Qualities, and the evident "under-reasonable" prices, we think the above representation only fair—fair to those who run the chance of overlooking the opportunity—fair to the store that deserves these pleasant enconiums.

Quality and Style

have always been the watchword of this store's Whitewear selection—but these do not necessarily mean high priced Whitewear. Big buying regulates that and this store's selling capacity enables us to buy largely—sufficiently large to have the best Whitewear makers confine their lines to us in Peterborough. "The Dorothy," a particularly dainty Corset Cover, bound to fit, was confined to us in Peterborough. Why? Because we purchased over 1,200 Covers in 4 styles alone. This style has been sufficiently good for two other stores in Peterborough to use the name—but the "Dorothy" description does not tally with "Dorothy" Covers. A comparison of them would prove it. The "Dorothy" is obtainable only at Sutcliffe & Sons'. As regards Quality comparison—that's out of the question. There are none "just as good". We are perfectly safe in asserting such. A look through will please you and gratify us.

WHITEWEAR SPECIALISTS.

THE KING'S SPEECH,

Of More Than Usual Interest—British Parliament Opened.

WILL FIGHT FISCAL POLICY

British Opposition Gives a Plain Warning—Mr. John Morley Gives Notice of Want of Confidence Motion—Lord Lansdowne Contrasts Government's and Chamberlain's Policies—His Ultimatum.

London, Feb. 2.—The King's speech was read by His Majesty in a resonant voice yesterday. Touching on the Alaska decision, the King's speech said that on some points the verdict was favorable to the British claims, and on others it had been adverse. Much as this last circumstance was to be deplored, it must, nevertheless, be a matter for congratulation that the misunderstandings in which ancient boundary treaties made in ignorance of geographical facts are so fertile have in this case been finally removed from the field of controversy.

The Far Eastern Crisis.

The crisis in the Far East is touched upon briefly in the King's speech, as follows: "I have watched with concern the course of negotiations between the Governments of Japan and Russia in regard to their respective interests in China and Corea, and a disturbance of the peace in those regions could not but have deplorable consequences. Any assistance which my Government can usefully render towards the promotion of a pacific solution will be gladly afforded."

The Cotton Supply.

Another point of interest in the King's speech was a reference to cotton, as follows: "The insufficiency of the supply of raw material upon which the great cotton industry of this country depends, has inspired me with deep concern. I trust the efforts being made in various parts of my Empire to increase the area of cultivation may be attended with a large measure of success."

Foreign Relations.

The speech makes the usual references to the satisfactory character of foreign relations; touches upon the conclusion of the Anglo-French arbitration agreement as being "a happy illustration of the friendly feelings of the two countries," and refers to the Somaliland expedition, and to the Macedonian reforms, expressing the hope that the practical measures of these unhappy regions will be carried out during the present respite in the disturbances.

The Mission to Thibet.

Reference is made to the "political mission, which, with the concurrence of the Chinese Government, has entered Thibetan territory in order to secure due observance of conventions," saying that a Chinese official had been despatched from Pekin to meet this mission, and expressing trust that an arrangement would be reached to peacefully remove the constant sources of friction.

Cost of Defence.

The speech concludes with the warning, that, although the estimates have been framed with the utmost desire for economy, the burden imposed by the necessities of naval and military defence is "undoubtedly serious," and mentions some of the proposed domestic legislation, as already forecasted.

No suggestion of legislation concerning Ireland was contained in the King's speech.

Commons Discussion.

In the House of Commons the mover and the seconder of the speech praised the manner in which the Alaskan award had been received by Canada.

The Fiscal Question.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader in the House, followed. After expressing regret at the absence of the Premier, Sir Henry said he desired to question the Government regarding its attitude on the fiscal question, and asked was it a new Government with a new policy? The only way of dealing with the existing confusion, he added, was to appeal to the common sense of the electors of the country. Sir Henry severely arraigned the Government's attitude on the fiscal question, and announced that John Morley would in a few days introduce a more comprehensive amendment involving the whole situation.

Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, defended the Government, whose fiscal policy, he said, had been clearly stated by the Premier. All the Government asked for was freedom to negotiate, which would enable it to preserve the open door and freedom to trade.

The sitting was suspended at 7.30 p.m.

Will Fight Fiscal Policy.

Right Hon. John Morley, on behalf of the Opposition, gave notice that he would move an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne. The amendment is equivalent to a motion of want of confidence in the Government, and is in the following terms:

"It is our duty, however humbly, to present to your Majesty that our effective deliberation on financial services is impaired by conflicting declarations from your Majesty's Ministers. We respectfully submit the judgment of this House that the removal of protective duties, for more than half a century actively conduced to the vast extension of the trade and commerce and realm and welfare of the population, and this House believes that while the needs for social improvement are still manifold and urgent, any return to protective duties, and more particularly when imposed upon the food of the people, would be deeply injurious to the national strength, contentment and well-being."

Premier Balfour's attack of influenza is following its normal course. He was unable to attend the reassembling of Parliament. A bulletin issued by his physician says Mr. Balfour passed a fair night, that his temperature is lower, and that there are no complications.

Lords Adopt Address.

In the House of Lords, commenting on the Alaska decision, Lord Lansdowne said that although the tribunal was not, strictly speaking, arbitral, its efforts illustrated the possibility of settling by other than diplomatic means, long-standing, dangerous differences. The condition of Alaska might have brought Great Britain into a serious and acute controversy with the United States.

The finding of the tribunal doubtless was not entirely satisfactory to Great Britain, but no one expected it to be an entirely favorable verdict. Lord Lansdowne was inclined to find some consolation in the fact that the two islands in Portland Channel which had gone to the United States were not of any strategical value whatever.

Mediation Not Desired.

Concerning the Russo-Japanese dispute, Lord Lansdowne said it was an axiom in diplomacy not to offer good offices until they were asked for. Neither of the disputants had asked for it. It was an open secret that mediation was not desirable at the present time. But should the opportunity offer, His Majesty's Government would gladly avail itself thereof.

The Chamberlain Proposals.

Lord Lansdowne, referring to the fiscal question, declared that the policy of Mr. Chamberlain was not the policy of the Government. Premier Balfour had clearly defined the Government's policy.

Personally, he was in sympathy with Mr. Chamberlain's aspirations to draw the Empire more closely together and put the affairs of the nation on a more business-like footing.

The Government was prudent in declining to be misled into such proposals, in which if the reward of success was great, the punishment of failure was irreparable.

Justifies Thibet.

Lord Lansdowne congratulated the House on the conclusion of the Anglo-French and Anglo-Italian arbitration treaties, deplored the situation in the near and Far East, and expressed the hope that a pacific solution of the differences in both cases would be reached. Continuing, Lord Lansdowne at some length justified the Somaliland and Thibet expeditions.

The address was agreed to, and the House of Lords adjourned at 7.25 p.m.

ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES.

Dr. Routledge Says They Are "At Home Only in Opposition."

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Mr. Wm. Rickard (West Durham) concluded his speech in the Legislature yesterday, and was followed by Dr. Beattie Nesbitt (North Toronto) and Dr. George A. Routledge (East Middlesex). "It appears to me," said Dr. Routledge in commencing his speech, "that the leader of the Opposition is prepared to oppose anything progressive, or that has a tendency to build up this Province; he appears to be at home only when he is in opposition." Mr. R. R. Gamey (Manitoulin) moved the adjournment and will have the floor this afternoon when the House opens. There are two more Liberal speakers to be heard upon the debate, W. J. McCart (Stormont) and George P. Graham (Brockville). The other Conservative speakers will be G. N. Kidd (Carleton) and W. J. Hanna (West Lambton). A session is expected to-night and a division is just possible, though scarcely probable, before to-morrow afternoon. At the latest it is hoped for before 6 o'clock to-morrow.

At the opening of the House Colonel James Munro was introduced by Hon. Richard Harcourt and Hon. John Dryden, and took his seat as the representative for North Oxford, Mr. Munro, has been allotted one of the Liberal overflow seats on the Opposition side of the House.

ONE KILLED IN A C. P. R. WRECK.

Express Train Wrecked Near Halifax To-day.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, stock brokers, have received the following despatch: "Halifax, Feb. 3rd.—In a wreck of the C. P. R. express which occurred near here to-day, 7 persons are reported to have been killed."

Halifax, N. S.—(Correction). Later.—Only one person, Mrs. John Glassey, of Halifax, is dead, but about 25 persons are injured, several of whom may die. There were about forty persons on the train.

Action Against Prelates.

Paris, Feb. 3.—Premier Combes announced at a meeting of the Council of Ministers yesterday his intention of taking drastic action against certain prelates for addressing open letters to President Loubet, criticizing the proposed law further restricting teaching by members of the religious bodies.

Revoked Martial Law Order.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Feb. 3.—Governor Peabody yesterday revoked his order of Dec. 5 last, proclaiming martial law in Teller County.

Gen. Booth's Great Scheme.

London, Jan. 30.—Gen. Booth's emigration scheme is to take the unemployed in large numbers to Canada and Australia under conditions which would admit of their being sorted out and cared for and supervised till they were in a good condition to stand alone and become good citizens.

14 Killed in a Mine.

Monterey, Mexico, Feb. 1.—Word has been received from Victoria, capital of the State of Tamaulaips, that fourteen men were killed Saturday in a mine accident near that city.

How the Vicar Got Surplices.

The famous Vicar of Gorleston, whose originalities occasionally find their way into public print, decided recently that he wanted new cassocks and supplies for his choir. He announced that a recent Sunday collection at church would be devoted to his purpose.

"I think there must be a little misunderstanding between us," was his comment at evening service. "I did not ask you to give me a surplice, but the whole of the Gorleston parish choir. Thirty-two and six is the amount of your offerings this morning.

"That will not go far toward doing that. Now, quite frankly, I own that a surpliced choir is a luxury which is not in any way necessary to salvation. The churchwardens tell me you are too poor to provide surplices.

"I think otherwise, but when I'm poor I do without luxuries. You must do the same. Whether Gorleston has a surpliced choir or not depends entirely upon you."

It was a strange sight that greeted the astonished eyes of the congregation the next Sunday morning for the choir which is the pride of East Anglia, presented a spectacle of poverty and destitution terrible to witness.

Some wore surplices, some cassocks, some were clad in both and some had nothing on but their oldest week-day clothing. One man's surplice hung in tatters from his shoulders, another's cassock was in rags.

The music was cut down to the minimum; the chants were said and voices and boys alike almost failed.

Churchwardens could hardly stagger up to the chancel that night under the weight of coins the repentant congregation had poured into the plates. A few days later the Vicar, with a satisfied smile, came to London to buy a complete outfit for the choir.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM NORWOOD.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest from the Eastern Town.

Norwood, Feb. 2, 1904.

Miss M. Foster, of Picton, is home visiting her parents.

Mr. Herb. Stewart, of the Traders Bank, Lakefield, was home for over Sunday.

Mr. Charles Tucker left this morning on a three months' trip to Los Angles, Cal.

Mr. T. Crawford, of Lakefield, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. David Foster.

Owing to the resignation of Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, as Trustee of the Norwood High School Board, Mr. Thomas Fraser has received the appointment by the County Council, in his place.

The mammoth gray elm which was cut on the premises of Mr. Patrick Fallan, lot 14, concession 6, Asphodel, and is being taken to St. Louis Exposition to be placed on exhibition, was shipped from here on Saturday, Jan. 30th. The tree was sold to a purchaser in Ottawa and the price paid for it was $100.00. The tree was 65 feet; two pieces of it were shipped, each eight feet in length. The butt of the larger piece was 8 feet 10 inches; 5 feet 4 inches on top. The other was 4 feet 8 inches at butt; 4 feet at top. It took three men three days to cut the tree. Mr. Cunningham photographer took several pictures of it.

The young people of the Norwood Methodist League drove to South Dummer on Monday evening. After the service which was conducted by the Norwood Leaguers, a profitable and enjoyable social time was spent. Refreshments were served during the evening.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Young's Point, Feb. 2.

Rev. Father Phelan was made the recipient of two beautiful statues from one of his parishioners. One statute is erected in St. Mary's church here, and the other is erected in St. Paul's church, Lakefield.

Mr. P. Young, Jr., spent a few days with friends in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. James Kearney, of Emmismore, is at present visiting friends here.

Mr. Fred Young leaves this week for Rochester, N.Y., where he intends to make an extended visit with friends.

Mr. Walter Young, who for the past week has been laid up with a very severe attack of la grippe, we are pleased to see he is much improved.

A very interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lane on Tuesday evening of last week, when their daughter, Mary E. Lane, was united in marriage to Frances J. Devlin, of Dummer, by the Rev. T. W. Leggott, of Lakefield, in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Lottie Lane, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Gerald Crowe, of Dummer. After the ceremony the guests sat down to the usual wedding dinner, the evening being spent in a social manner. The bride was the recipient of quite a number of costly presents. The happy couple will take up their residence in Dummer.

A school meeting was held here last Saturday for the purpose of enlarging the school and engaging a second teacher, which was very successfully carried.

Mr. William Davis and a few more of the ratepayers back north are advocating the building of a new school on the 14th and 15th concession. They claim it is too far, especially in winetr, for the children to attend the school in the village.

DWYER'S CORNERS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Miss Bridget Ann Bolin, of Keene, has returned home after spending a very pleasant visit of a couple of weeks with her aunt, Miss Maggie Gilroy.

Mr. Joseph and James Collins, of Douro, are busy cutting their winter wood on the premises of John Dalton.

Mr. James Dalton is at present wearing a very broad smile. It is a daughter.

Mr. Patrick Kavanaugh has returned home after a four days' visit with friends in Galway.

A very social event took place on Monday at Balsam Hill, the residence of John Dalton. A surprise party consisting of about thirty-five, danced, waltzed, played cards, etc. The floor managers were Andy Allan and W. Kavanagh, while the music was furnished by Miss Eva Conroy, of Peterborough, and all danced until the the wee small hours.

Mr. John Barnes has erected another windmill on his barn in Douro. It is a Toronto make and presents a very neat appearance.

BLAIRTON.

(From our own Correspondent.)

While at a large gathering recently we were accosted by some parties as follows:

"Well, Mr. ——— we saw in the Examiner of the 28th January a piece under the heading of Blairton on stump-pulling, stump-blasting, stump-fencing, etc., and some hints given us, together with our judgment, leads us to believe you to be the writer."

"Well, if so, what about it?"

"Well, as to old fences, as the articles described, we all have beliboured for the cap that fits us; we will wear it as high price property, but having a lot more stumps to treat we want some further information. What depth should holes be bored in the side of stumps?"

"The article should have said one third of the stump's diameter—but it will depend on circumstances."

"Why bore a 2 inch hole for an inch and a quarter cartridge?"

"Because by splitting open the cartridge and putting contents in the hole, a little at a time, (not using the paper, which is no good, or harm). The charge, by packing slightly is contained so much nearer the bottom of the hole or the centre of the stump, that it is a saving of dynamite and also goes far to warrant greater success."

"What quantity of dynamite should be used in a hole?" was asked.

"It depends on the size of the stump, and if the roots very much entwine, as some do, a heavier charge will be required. There is no rule or guide for such in any kind of blasting, but one's judgment."

"We notice too that the article speaks of a log being put in the centre of a hollow and large stump; would two inches of a hole in the log burst such a stump?"

"No; the piece should say, 'A two inch hole bored 18 inches deep. Again, in the log practice, of occasionally one should need it, the small log must be lightly screed it, the log must be lightly secured in the stump, as the piece says, and the hole bored before or after, but as a matter of course and for safety's sake the charge in put in afterwards, as no one would dream of jarring this around a charge of dynamite."

"What about blowing stumps out of the ground?" we were asked.

"We fear no contradiction to the assertion that in land free of stone, and if stumps are whole, one can blow them out of the ground faster than two machines can pull them, but in order to avoid snagging with team such a heavy charge has to be used as to render the shattered parts next to useless for fencing, and there being no comparison between the amount of explosive required to part a stump when drawn and that necessary to hoist the larger ones clear of their deep-seated bed, makes the blowing out process too costly."

THE ANNUAL MEETING SHOWED GOOD RESULTS.

Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church Held Annual Meeting.

A Presentation to Mr. Brown, the Organist—The Pastor's Address.

(Special to the Examiner.)

The annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian congregation was held on Friday evening. The pastor, Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.D., occupied the chair. Encouraging reports were presented, and adopted from the Board of Management, Sabbath school and Session. The moderator, after referring enthusiastically to the cordial reception he had received from the home circles during his pastoral work, to the regularity of the attendance at the sederunt of worship of worship, to the spirit of reverence pervading all the services and to the sympathetic reception given to the pulpit's Gospel message, said I have also been greatly helped and inspired in our services by the efficient and painstaking efforts of the choir and by the beautiful Christian harmony manifested by its members the one for the other, and for the strong feeling of appreciation throughout the congregation for the services of the choir. Sometimes pleasant duties fall to the lot of the pastor to perform. One of these has crystallized into a real privilege to-night and that is for me in the name of the Session and the congregation, and members of the choir to ask our organist, Mrs. Wm. Brown, to accept this purse of gold as a token of our individual and united appreciation of your services as organist and with the prayer that a kindly Providence may long permit us to enjoy your services, and that when life is ended here we may, through Divine Grace, be permitted to continue our worship in that better land and to hear that "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Mrs. Brown gracefully accepted the purse and made the following reply:

Dear Pastor and Friends, — Being taken so much by surprise, it is with difficulty that I find words with which to express my thanks for this token of your kindness to me. I assure you it is unexpected and, I fear, unmerited. It would be impossible for me to tell you how highly I appreciate your gift and not only the gift, but also the feelings which prompted the giving of it. And this will be another of the many ways in which you will be kindly remembered by me and by which I will be reminded of the pleasant times we have spent together; and if my feeble efforts as organist have been of any benefit, or if I have assisted in the musical part of your services in any way I am pleased. Allow me to thank you again most heartily for this handsome gift.

After the rendering of a few selections by the choir, the ladies provided refreshments and all enjoyed a social hour and felt that the year just past had been marked by prosperity and that the outlook for the future was bright indeed.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others; but every stomach has its limit, and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juices and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong healthy stomach will and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal, and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interefered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try and get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would sufter as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

SON DEFENDED HIM

Austen Chamberlain Replies to Caustic Satire on Father.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN ANGRY

Most Prominent Figure in British Empire Sits As Private Member of the Commons While His Son Acts As Leader of the House, A Position to Which He Never Attained—Queer Situation.

London, Feb. 3.—"My right honorable friend, the member from West Birmingham," as Austen Chamberlain described his father, was the central figure in the drama that marked the opening of Parliament yesterday.

For the first time in years Joseph Chamberlain took his seat as a private member of the House of Commons, and was separated from his former colleagues in the Cabinet by the gangway. From this seat he saw his son act as leader of the House of Commons, a position which Joseph Chamberlain, with all his years of Parliamentary experience, never attained.

Bannerman's Satire.

Premier Balfour was unable to be present because of influenza. When Austen Chamberlain rose to reply in behalf of the party, of which his own father is supposed to be the most powerful member, the House was spellbound. It had been expected Sir Akers-Douglas would take the Premier's place, and interest was also heightened by the fact that Sir Henry Campbell-Pannerman, the Liberal leader, had just concluded a merciless satire on Joseph Chamberlain. The situation was without parallel in the recollection of the oldest politician, and all eyes were fixed alternately upon the father and the son.

Joseph Chamberlain, who had sat unmoved under the ridicule of the Liberal leader, turned nervously toward his son, who now takes precedence over him. With his monocle in his eye, an orchid in his buttonhole, and his hands clasped across his knees, the most prominent figure in the British Empire listened while his son defended him.

Austen Chamberlain spoke haltingly and under evident strain; yet, when he referred to his father, it was always as "the member from West Birmingham."

Joseph Chamberlain's Anger.

Now and again jeers greeted Austen Chamberlain, whereupon, with unmistakable anger, his father turned his glance in the direction of the offender, and occasionally Joseph Chamberlain cheered his son on. When Austen Chamberlain neared the conclusion of his defence of the attitude of Premier Balfour and his father towards the fiscal question, the interruptions grew more frequent, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer clutched the brass-bound treasury box, on which Gladstone was so fond of leaning, and addressed his remarks almost solely in the direction of his father. Defiantly Austen Chamberlain accused Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of attacking the Premier in his absence, and with a touch of pride he said: "The member from West Birmingham is here; he can speak for and look after himself."

A Weak Defence.

The House frankly expressed its relief when the speech was over and generally termed the proceeding as one of the most extraordinary personal situations that ever had occurred and the speech as one of the weakest defences of the Government's policy ever made.

On behalf of Premier Balfour, Austen Chamberlain declared the House of Commons must first decide whether or not it desired any change at all in the fiscal system and until that point was settled the Opposition demands for details of the Government's fiscal reform plan could not be granted.

The Dominion Grange.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The 29th annual session of the Dominion Grange opened at the Albion Hotel yesterday. Jabel Robinson, who has been Worthy Master for 21 years, presiding. He delivered his annual address and at its conclusion Mr. Robinson stated that he addressed the Grange for the last time as its Master. Fifty-seven Granges have reported, representing the eastern, northern and western districts of Ontario chiefly. At 5.30 the Grange adjourned to go into the several committees appointed to consider reports. An evening session was held to exemplify the unwritten work of the order. Business will be taken up at 9 o'clock this morning.

Convey Supplies on Rafts.

Lloydminster, Feb. 3.—As soon as the ice leaves the Saskatchewan River 2,500 Barr colonists will go down to Edmonton to purchase supplies for the colony here. They will drive down to Edmonton, and when they have bought all the lumber they require they will build it into a huge raft and load it with supplies and return to the colony down the river.

SCHOOL HYGIENE.

Medical Experts Confer on Health Matters For Provincial Schools.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Yesterday morning a congress of the members of the Provincial Board of Health and others interested in sanitary and educational matters convened in the Normal School on the call of the Minister of Education. Although few responded those who did were all experts in the subjects set for discussion, and as a result a movement was instituted which may have most important results in the educational system of Ontario. In order to produce some practical effect it was unanimously agreed that a committee be empowered to prepare a series of resolutions embodying the conclusions of the congress, and that these be submitted to the Minister of Education. Principal Scott, of the Normal School, nominated the following gentlemen to act upon the committee: Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health; Dr. Sheard, Medical Health Officer for Toronto; Inspector Hughes, and Mr. O'Dea of the Technical School. At the unanimous desire of the meeting Principal Scott's name was also added. The committee will meet on an early day on the call of Dr. Hodgetts.

King Edward a Hard Worker.

I was told the other day that the King actually had set to work to read Mr. Charles Booth's seventeen volumes on the poor of London! Now if this is not real work, I do not know what it is. I have glanced into several of the volumes, and it appears to me to be one of the great efforts of the age. The Encyclopedia Britannica devotes pages and pages to this work. It is so enormous in its grasp that one is fairly staggered at the mere physical power which the writer must have required to complete it.

Homeless, They Took Poison.

Saginaw, Mich., Feb. 3.—The wedding here last week of Corporal Charles Valois of Company M, 26th United States Infantry, home on furlough, and Miss Mabel Steiner, had a tragic climax last night, when the young couple took poison in a room at a rooming house on Franklin street. Mrs. Valois is dead and her husband is in a critical condition. The match met with the disapproval of the parents of each of them. They left a letter saying that their parents had turned them out and they had no place to go, and had decided to die together. Mrs. Valois died from a dose of carbolic acid and laudanum.

A QUESTION OF DAYS

RUSSIAN REPLY FORECASTED

Russian Fleet at Vladivostock Said to Be Stripped For Action—The Harbor Kept Open By Icebreakers—Composition of the Russian Fleet—Orders For Naval Mobilization Sent to Port Arthur.

London, Feb. 3.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says: The best opinion of the foreign Legations at Pekin is that the opening of war is only a question of days.

The Russian reply to the Japanese note of January 13th should reach Admiral Alexieff to-morrow. It is known to be unfavorable, finally rejecting the Japanese demand that Russia enter into an engagement to recognize Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria. The reply cannot be accepted by Japan, and is not meant to be accepted. Japan has not modified the irreducible minimum of her reasonable demands, but since they were first presented Russia has caused a material alteration in the situation by delaying her replies and proclaiming her advocacy of peace while pressing forward preparations for war.

Russian Fleet Equipped.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—A despatch from Vladivostock, dated yesterday and issued here by a semi-official agency, says the Russian fleet at Vladivostock has been fully equipped for immediate service and prepared for sea. All the wood fittings of the ships were removed Monday. The harbor is being kept open by ice-breakers.

The fleet consists of four cruisers, the Gromober (of 12,336 tons), the Rossia (12,130 tons), the Bogatyr (of 6,750 tons) and the Rurik (of 10,923 tons), and a transport, the Lena.

Prince Knilkoff, the Minister of Communications, started yesterday on a tour of inspection of the Siberian and trans-Baikan railways.

Orders For Naval Mobilization.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The correspondent of The Journal at Port Arthur cables that orders have been received for the mobilization of the Russian squadrons there and at Vladivostock, and that both are now ready to take to sea at a moment's notice.

EXTEND DAIRY SCOPE.

New Appointee Will Have Scope of His Work Enlarged.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The Minister of Agriculture proposes extending the scope of the work of the newly-appointed superintendent of Farmers' Institutes and Director of the Eastern and Western Dairy Schools. The idea is to have Mr. Putnam act as Director of Instruction for Dairy Syndicates throughout the province. Under the general plan adopted by Mr. Dryden a couple of years ago, the farmers have been syndicated and an instructor has been sent among them lecturing and demonstrating. Mr. Putnam will have a general supervision over these syndicates, and it is believed that much good will result from his personal attention to the work. The plans of the department are not yet worked out, but some radical changes will soon be announced.

Sir Edward Braddon Dead.

Launceston, Tasmania, Feb. 3.—The Right Hon. Sir Edward Nicholas Coventry Braddon, formerly Premier and Treasurer of Tasmania, and Minister of Lands, and latterly leader of the Opposition in the House of Assembly, is dead. He was born in 1829, served as a volunteer in the Indian Mutiny, was Commander of Excise and Revenue Secretary in Oudh, and acted for some time as Agent-General of Tasmania in London. In recognition of his services he was made K.C.M.G. in 1891 and became a Privy Councillor of Great Britain in 1897.

Cattle and Horse Breeders.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Yesterday the Holstein-Friesian Cattle Breeders' Association, the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, and the Harness, Hunter and Saddle Horse Society met here in annual session. The associations were all in good shape, and officers were elected. The first mentioned association passed a resolution similar to that of other associations against exhibiting at the St. Louis Fair, and they all agreed to send delegates to the first meeting of the proposed National Live Stock Association at Ottawa.

Stabbed to Death.

Glace Bay, N.S., Feb. 3.—During a quarrel in a shack at Dominion No. 2 last night Fried Materios was stabbed to death by Alex. Piccolo. Both are Italians. While the men were struggling, Piccolo plunged a stiletto through Materios' heart and he fell dead. During the excitement the murderer escaped and is still at large.

Tried to Kill Himself.

Windsor, Feb. 2.—William Parrish, an old British army pensioner of this city, lies in a critical condition at the Hotel Dieu as a result of attempting to commit suicide. Parrish drew a razor across his throat twice inflicting two gaping wounds, and may not recover. The man had been drinking heavily.

Suicide By Gas Route.

Galt, Feb. 2.—William Rutherford, 45 years of age, an employe of the Galt Gas Light Co., committed suicide by inhaling gas, being dead yesterday morning in his own house. He is said to have been drinking excessively lately. He leaves a widow.

Count Zeppelin Tries Anew.

Berlin, Feb. 2.—Count Zeppelin has begun the construction of a new airship. His call for financial assistance brought subscriptions amounting to $112,500.

Sir William in Mexico.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Sir William Mulock arrived in Mexico city on the 20th inst. He was welcomed at the railway station by several Canadians.

CONGRESSMAN LIVINGSTON

Says Pe-ru-na is a Splendid Catarrhal Tonic.

COLONEL L. I. LIVINGSTON.

Colonel L. I. Livingston, Member of the Industrial Commission and the leading Democratic member of the Committee on Appropriations in the House of Representatives, whose home is at Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I take pleasure in joining with General Wheeler, Congressman Brewer and others in recommending Peruna as an excellent tonic and a catarrh cure."—Col. L. I. Livingston.

Catarrh Cured.

All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peruna has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

Mr. Jas. O. Morin, 1179 Ontario street Montreal, Canada, writes:

"Peruna is certainly a great catarrh remedy. It cured me of catarrh of the head and I gladly indorse it. Canadians are peculiarly afflicted with this disease and for years the doctors have tried to overcome it with elixirs, powders and pills, but Peruna has solved the question and since the medicine has been established here hundreds of people have been cured of catarrh."—Jas. O. Morin.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

MR. MONK ATTENDED.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte Absent From Bergeron's Meeting Through Illness—Mr. Monk Did Not Refer to Retirement.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Another meeting in behalf of Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, Conservative candidate in St. James' division of Montreal, was held here yesterday. The chief interest lay in the fact that Mr. F. D. Monk was present, while Hon. J. Israel Tarte was absent, and that Mr. Monk delivered an address on general questions, without referring to his recent retirement from the leadership. Both Mr. Tarte and Mr. Monk had been advertised to speak, but the ex-Minister of Public Works sent a letter giving illness as the reason for his absence, and expressing the hope that he would recover in time to present his views to the electors of both St. James' and Hochelaga.

DEATH OF W. C. WHITNEY.

Cleveland's Secretary of the Navy Dies of Appendicitis.

New York, Feb. 3.—W. C. Whitney is dead. Mr. Whitney was taken ill at the performance of "Parsifal" last Thursday afternoon and was compelled to return to his home as his indisposition continued. Physicians were called in, and after a diagnosis it was announced that Mr. Whitney was suffering from appendicitis. An operation was decided upon, and it was performed on Saturday night.

William Collins Whitney, former Secretary of the Navy under President Cleveland, was a many-sided man, a man of many ambitions, most of which he had realized. He set out to be a successful lawyer, and he succeeded in that. He had always had a hankering after politics but he left that alone until he had made an independent fortune and could afford to take up politics without any thought of gain. He was instrumental in building up the Young Men's Democratic Club of New York, and his success along the same line for the county Democracy made him recognized as a power in organizing as well as directing. The only public offices he ever held were those of inspector of schools and corporation counsel for New York city until Cleveland made him Secretary of the Navy. Whitney set to work to build up the new navy, a work which has been carried on with energy ever since.

THE WORST KIND.

After Piles have existed for a long time, and passed through different stages, the suffering is intense—pain, aching, throbbing, tumors form, filled to bursting with black blood.

Symptoms indicating other troubles may appear to a thoroughly Pile-sick person.

This is when Hem-Roid, the only internal, the only absolute Pile cure, brings ther esults that has made its fame.

It will cure the most stubborn case in existence and bonded guarantee to that effect goes with each package.

Muddy Complexion.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood which will be entirely removed when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowles. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

BOVRIL IS INVALUABLE

as it contains all the nourishment of the best lean beef in the most concentrated and appetising form and is readily assimilated by persons of even the weakest digestive power. It is not merely a stimulant like ordinary meat extracts or beef tea, but a highly nourishing food.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

YOU CAN TRUST ME, CAN'T YOU?

Question of Queen Alexandra That Embarrassed a London Merchant.

London, Feb. 2.—For the first time in years Queen Alexandra went shopping at Windsor yesterday, like the humblest of her subjects, entering many shops, examining goods and asking prices. Usually merchants are summoned to bring goods to the castle and display them.

The Queen was accompanied by the Princess of Wales. Princess Charles of Denmark and Princess Victoria. Despite the rain she spent two hours visiting the shops afoot. Her Majesty bought photographs, bric-a-brac, antique furniture and curios. She did not disdain to carry the smaller packages herself.

Her Majesty didn't pay cash. She said to one merchant:

"You can trust me, can't you?"

The embarrassed merchant replied: "Oh, yes, ma'am, I know you're good."

The Queen did not trouble the merchants to wrap some of the purchases in paper, thrusting them in her coat pockets. The royal shoppers were not recognized by the throngs on the sidewalk.

East Lambton Campaign.

Sarnia, Feb. 2.—Both sides are putting up a lively campaign in East Lambton, and from now till polling day, Feb. 16, there will be meetings every night. R. L. Borden is expected next week for the nomination, and will address several meetings in various localities. M. K. Cowan, M. P., and W. S. Calvert, M. P., are now in the riding and are each billed for three meetings.

Care of Lighthouses.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—The work of location, equipment and management of lighthouses has been transferred to a constituted board known as the Lighthouse Board The Minister of Marine will be an ex-officio member, the other members being the Deputy Minister, Lieut.-Col. Anderson, Commander Spain, Capt. Salmon and a representative of the Montreal shipping interests, who has yet to be selected.

Soldiers Can Vote.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 2.—Three thousand soldiers have been added as voters to the Dominion and Provincial lists. The pay and maintenance of soldiers qualify them on income.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

Awful Possibilities of Radium.

The Spectator is greatly alarmed over the suggestion that the discovery of radium may lead to the effectual transmutation of metals It asks if we realize what this means. If it became possible simply and expeditiously to transmute lead and iron into gold or silver, the basis of our civilization would disappear. Wealth in kind would become the only form of riches. The stores of bullion at the banks would become simply heaps of scrap-iron. The great financial centres of the world, which owe their importance to their gold reserves, would lose the basis of their pre-eminence. A sovereign would become no more than a dishonored bank-note, representing, it is true, a certain amount of labor or produce, but incapable of realization in any known value, because the basis of value had fallen. Banking would come to an end; reserves of capital would cease to have any practical meaning; all forms of investment would cease; the gold-producing countries, like the Transvaal and West Australia, would be bankrupted; and the elaborate system of commerce which mankind has built up during a thousand years would crumble about our ears, for there would be no standard, no little rod, by which to measure prices.

SOMALILAND SITUATION.

Abyssinians Acting Passively With the Mad Mullah Now.

Rome, Feb. 2.—The situation in Somaliland is growing more serious. It has been learned that the Abyssinian army sent out to fight the Mullah did not proceed beyond the point where the water wells ended, and it is known that the Mullah sent emissaries to the Abyssinians, who seem to have succeeded in inducing them not to fight against their own race. It is not true, however, as the Mullah boastfully declares, that this Abyssinian force entered into an alliance with him; still their attitude has been changed from the active assistance expected from them into one of passivity.

Holmes' Fire Sale of Groceries.

We have a couple of thousand dollars to lose on our grocery stock damaged by the late fire, and we want you to come and help us. The salvage has been moved into the Metropole store, a few doors west of our burnt premises, where it will be sold for whatever it will bring. It consists of package teas, canned goods, spices, pickles, relishes, fruits, rice, cereals, soaps, soda, brushes, brooms, sugar, cured hams, etc., etc. We have simply to offer them to you regardless of original cost. It will be a surprise to see how little damage the goods have sustained after being in cold storage for over a week. Sale starts to-morrow morning. J. Holmes.

AN EPIDEMIC OF LA GRIPPE.

Peterborough now in the Grasp of a Mild Form of the Disease.

Peterborough is now in the grasp of an epidemic of la grippe, which has been equalled in extent perhaps but once in the history of that disease. When la grippe first made its appearance about ten years ago, its ravages were very general, and few households escaped. Almost the same condition prevails this year, although fortunately the attacks are for the most part but slight, and if reasonable precaution is taken no serious results have been experienced. The fact that the winter has been one of almost unprecedented steady cold has perhaps been responsible for the lightness of the disease, because it is recognized by all that a winter alternating between mild and cold weather, is much more prolific of sickness than a steady cold, even although it may be severe. The medical fraternity, while the present epidemic is furnishing them with an abundance of patients, do not anticipate any very serious results, if reasonable care is taken to prevent cold being taken.

HANDSOMELY PAINTED STAGE DROP CURTAIN

Is That Recently Painted for the T. A. S. Hall.

Those who attend the entertainment to be given in the T. A. S. Room to-night, will notice a great improvement in the stage equipment. A very handsome drop curtain has been painted by Mr. Fred Cook, which is a credit, not only to the artist, but also to the society. The scene depicted on the curtain is in the Vatican Gardens, Rome, and is a triumph of the painter's art.

With this curtain and the modern stage accessories, the hall will be equipped and suitable for the staging of almost any play.

THE FINAL MATCHES FOR ONTARIO TANKARD.

Peterborough Thistles Defeated by Collingwood Rink.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—(The Globe):—It was a big day for the lovers of the "roarin' game" yesterday, in fact the day of days, as the play in the Ontario Tankard, the chief event in the Canadian curling world, was in progress. In the morning the first round was played, Collingwood and Peterborough and Galt and St. Mary's battling at the Granite Rink, while on Queen City ice the Toronto Caledonians and Detroit and Dundas and Fergus were the competing clubs. Collingwood was up on both rinks, winning from Peterborough by nine shots. Galt won from St. Mary's by 14 shots, the Goldie quartette contributing 12 of the majority. Detroit did not succumb to the Caledonians without a struggle, R. Hutton playing a tie with T. Rennie, but champion Bob Rennie beat his opponent seven shots, giving the locals the victory. Dundas, winners of the Tankard last year, were beaten on the last end by Fergus. In the afternoon the Caledonians disposed of Fergus, the winning rinks in each case scoring 19 shots. Fergus made a hard fight, and it was not until the end that the Rennies pulled away. Galt at the Granite Rink won from Collingwood rather handily. The ice was keen and hard, although a little bit tricky. The finals will be played this afternoon at the Granite Rink, starting at 2 o'clock. The Caledonians are the favourites, but curling is a "slippery game," and it would not cause much surprise if the Galties, who, by the way, are nearly all juniors, came out on top.

COWLING-DRURY At the parsonage, Peterborough, on February 1st, 1904, by Rev. J. F. Wilson, B. A., Wilson Anthony May Cowling, of Toronto, to Elizabeth, daughter of Robt. Drury, of Peterborough.

DIED.

McDONOUGH.—In Montreal, on January 27th, 1904, Patrick McDonough, Jr., eldest son of Patrick McDonough, and dearly beloved husband of Lizzy Murphy, formerly of St. Marthe, Que. Funeral was held from his late residence, 394 Hibernia Road, Point St. Charles, on Friday, January 29th, at 7.30 a. m., to St. Gabriel's church, thence to Cote des Neiges cemetery.

LIVED TO PASS CENTURY MARK.

Mrs. Bridget Leahy Died at the Age of 104 Years.

Few persons live to attain the age which the late Mrs. Bridget Leahy, of Douro, reached when death came to her. She died on Friday, Jan. 29th, at the age of 104 years, at the residence of her son, Mr. John P. Leahy, on lot 7, con. 7, of Douro. She was the widow of the late Patrick Leahy, and her maiden name was Bridget Condon. The late Mrs. Leahy leaves one son, Mr. John P., and four daughters: Mrs. Barrie, Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Lynch, of Douro, and Miss Leahy, at home.

The late Mr. Leahy came to this country from Ireland 79 years ago, and settled then on the farm on which Mrs. Leahy died.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was very large, over 100 vehicles being in the procession. Interment took place in Douro Cemetery.

LAMENTED DEATH OF MR. S. CLANCY.

Was Taken Ill in Lumber Camp and Died on Tuesday.

A death which occurred under peculiarly sad circumstances was that of Mr. Simon Clancy, whose demise occurred yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Clancy was taken ill on Tuesday of last week, while at work in McDonald's camp, about eight miles from Buckhorn, and was brought home the following day by Mr. Eastwood of the Buckhorn Hotel, who has proved himself a true friend to men who take ill while employed in the camps.

Mr. Clancy was found to be suffering from appendicitis, and was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where on Monday an operation was performed. He was too weak, however, to stand the strain on his system, and died yesterday afternoon about four o'clock.

The deceased, who was 26 years of age was born in the fifth ward, Peterborough and was quite well known to the residents here.

Last summer while living in Toronto he was taken ill with appendicitis, but the disease was thought to have been cured.

Mr. Clancy was a son of Mr. Peter Clancy, and is survived by two brothers, Vincent and Cornelius, and one sister, Mary.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, and the interment will be at the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION IN PETERBOROUGH TOWN?

Annual Meeting of Orangemen in the Hall Last Night.

In the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, last night, the annual meeting of the West Peterborough County Orange Lodge, was held, and a large attendance of members was held. All the lodges were represented excepting Apsley Lodge, No. 1,073 and another, lodge or two in the Lakefield District, which, considering the fact that Apsley is distant some forty miles, and without railroad communication with the town of Peterborough, and also the almost impassable condition of the country roads, it is not surprising that Apsley did not send in its quota.

It was decided to hold the demonstration in Peterborough on the coming 12th of July, providing the local lodge receives sufficient encouragement from the citizens to warrant them in doing so.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

W. A. Kindred ....Co. M.
Dr. J. A. Burgess ... ...D. Co. M.
J. C. Daldie ....Co Chap.
W. H. G. Armstrong ....Co. Sec.

CHARITY CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS.

Talented Artists Received Ovation Last Night.

In the Market Hall—Mr. Blatchford Received a Tremendous Ovation—All Made Marked "Hits."

That the fashionable audience who gathered in the Market Hall last night on the occasion of the concert in aid of the Lady Minto Hospital Fund, was highly delighted, was evidenced in the fact that seven out of the ten numbers on the programme were ecstatically encored. And this alone without further comment should indicate the marked impression the talent made on their listeners. In every detail the entertainment was excellent and was one of those rare treats which it is the opportunity of the Peterborough music-loving public to be able to indulge in. Although the number present could not exactly be termed large, a great many bought tickets who knew that they would be unable to attend. Consequently the financial success was larger than would be imagined by a glance at last night's audience. The Market Hall was well lit up and warmed for the auspicious occasion, while the stage, which was situated at the south end, was beautifully decorated with flags and artistically arranged with luxurious furniture, and in every way the Market Hall made an excellent Opera House. What is more important is the fact that in every part of the auditorium the music could be heard perfectly. The talent taken both collectively and individually was excellent and that each made a "hit" has been said before. Mr. S. Homer Eaton's impersonations were delightfully funny and he kept his listeners bubbling over with mirth. His appearance on the stage attracted a smile for what was to come, and the audience fairly "screamed" at his burlesque "The Prima Donna Solo." Mr. Eaton was here last fall and his ability as an entertainer was well known to those present. Mr. Frank Blachford, violinist, played superbly. He played serious, elevated and reflective music, which was highly appreciated. His selections left no room for criticism and his most strenuous movements were never characterized with harshness. Miss Flora Higgins, soloist, was a distinct "hit" and scored heavily in her first selection, "Abide With Me." Mr. Frances Firth's singing is too well known to bear any criticism. That his true art was recognized was seen in the manner in which he was applauded.

There was some delay in the beginning through the trunks of the contributors to the programme being delayed and it was nine o'clock before the concert began. The opening number was a solo by Mr. W. Frances Firth, "Oh Hear the Wild Wind Blow," by Mattei. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Higgins. Mr. S. Homer Eaton followed with "Maria's Mouring," a humourous recitation from the Southern States. His effort was encored, he graciously responding. Mr. Frank Blachford's introductory selection was entitled "Hyrekati," by Hubay, for which he was enthusiastically encored. Miss Flora Higgins was next on the programme, she singing "Abide with Me," by Liddle. In reply to the encore which was demanded Miss Higgins sang a sweet lullaby.

The second part of the programme was opened by a solo from Mr. Firth entitled, "O, Father, Hear Me," of his own composition, with a violin obligato by Mr. Blackford, Miss Higgins accompanying on the piano. The selection was greatly appreciated, judging by the tremendous applause which followed it. Miss Higgins followed with the "Flower Song," Faust, and was accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Morrow. In this selection every tone of Miss Higgins' voice was shown up to perfection. Mrs. Morrow accompanied her excellently, and deserves more than passing mention. This piece was followed by a double number from Mr. Blachford, his selections being (a) "The Lament of the Swan," by Saint-Saens, and (b) "Mesurka," by Wieniawski. Both were well received, and for the encore Mr. Blachford played "Home Sweet Home," as perhaps none in the audience ever heard it played before. Mr. Eaton figured prominently in the last two numbers on the programme. The first of these was a burlesque, "The Prima Donna Solo," Mr. Eaton "taking off" the twentieth century prima donna to perfection. The last number on the programme was a duet in costume from the opera "Ernani," and "The Fencing Master," Mr. Eaton as the prima donna, and Mr. Firth as Charles V. This selection was certainly a fitting climax to the evening's entertainment, the general excellence of which it has been endeavoured to show.

In view of the fact that the talent seeing the concert was for charity, had come for half their usual charge, Mr. Hughes-Charles after the last number of the programme, moved a vote of thanks to them, which was carried amid great applause. After the selection, "Abide with Me," Miss Higgins was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Mr. Gliddon's orchestra was present, and during the evening rendered a pleasing programme of music.

The concert was concluded in the usual patriotic way with the National Anthem.

THE WOOLLEN INDUSTRY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The Peterborough Review, of January 22nd, giving a report of a Conservative meeting held in Peterborough, reports Mr. Kendry as saying that so far as the woollen business of this country is concerned, the Government has almost entirely ruined it. The cause is the preference which was given to England. To have to-day, says Mr. Kendry, less machinery than we had fifteen years ago in Canada; go back fifteen years, we wanted manufactories and we brought them here, but Sir Wilfrid gave to the Old Country a preference and one-third of the duty came off woollens. Now ninety per cent. of the woollen goods in this country comes from England and we have only ten per cent. No sir, I ask Mr. Kendry how this change has almost ruined it. What does he mean—the country or the woollen business. As we suppose, he was then speaking of both, and from his possession in the syndicate we judge he can show by figures how the change affects both the woollen business and the country: 1st,—How many hands did the syndicate employ in manufacturing these goods and what was their wages per day fifteen years ago? How many now and what is their day's wage? 2nd, —What margin did the syndicate receive fifteen years ago over cost of manufacturing, and what margin do they now receive. 3rd,—What per cent of the population of the country is engaged in the the manufacture of these woollen goods and (4th) has the change made the goods more or less expensive to the country? Has it been a saving or a loss? 5th,—Who has suffered the loss, the country, the syndicate or the wage earner?

Yours Truly,

EPWORTH LEAGUERS IN CONVENTION.

Bay of Quinte Conference League Meeting at Campbellford.

Peterborough District Presented Good Report—The Delegates Present.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Campbellford, February 3rd. — The sixth Biennial Convention of the Bay of Quinte Conference Epworth League is being held here. The first meeting was held last night, and was attended by a large number of delegates from all parts of the Conference. Preceding the public meeting the executive committee, of which Rev. H. B. Kenny, of Millbrook, is chairman, as president of the Conference League, held a meeting. In the general meeting, the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. B. Greatrix, of Campbellford, after which an address of welcome to the visiting delegates was read by Mrs. G. W. Hammond, in which pleasure was expressed that the town of Campbellford, had been chosen as the place in which to hold the convention. Rev. J. J. Rae of Oshawa, on behalf of the visitors, replied in his characteristic manner to the address of welcome, and assured the people of Campbellford that it was a distinct pleasure to the delegates to experience such a hearty welcome.

A number of musical selections interspersed the addresses.

This morning the arrivals of yesterday were largely augmented, and amongst those who came to-day were Misses Edna Hill, M. Detcher, and B. Frise, and Mr. George Robertson, of Peterborough.

The meeting this morning opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. W. Foley, B.A., B.D, of South Dummer, which were followed by a Bible study on "The Four Gospels and their Writers," conducted by Professor McLaughlin, of Victoria University, Toronto.

The election of the Nominating Committee was followed by the President's address, in which gratitude was expressed to the Divine Father for the prosperity of the Leagues in the Conference, and for the degree of success which had attended the work during the last two years.

The representatives of the District Executive then presented their report, and it was a pleasing feature to note that Peterborough District presented a most satisfactory record and one of the best in the conference.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, B.A., of Peterborough, conducted the opening exercises at the meeting this afternoon, and a number of papers were to be read and addresses given. The election of officers will also be held.

The meeting will be continued to-night and to-morrow, closing to-morrow night.

THE CEREAL CO'Y STATES ITS POSITION.

Does Not Manufacture Any Goods on Sunday.

INVESTIGATION BY THE EXAMINER.

Discloses Fact That Some Work of Repairs and Inspection is Absolutely Necessary---The Employees Endorse the Company's Actions.

The American Cereal Company, in order to set themselves right before the public on the question of Sunday work, have written a letter to the Examiner, in which the statement is emphatically made that absolutely not one pound of product is made on Sunday. A misapprehension has arisen in the minds of the public on this question, and in justice to the company the explanation is made, together with observations made by a representative of the Examiner, in a trip through the mills, by the kindness of Mr. McDonald, the manager, who frankly states the position of the company in this matter.

While no manufacturing of any kind is carried on during Sunday, the company finds it necessary to do some repair and inspection work on that day, because of the fact that the plant is in continuous operation from Monday morning, 6.00 o'clock to the same hour Saturday night.

The company has the reputation of treating its employees most generously and not one could be found who would state that he was asked to work when it was not absolutely necessary.

The American Cereal Company, in view of the fact that there appears to exist in the minds of certain persons a misapprehension as to the hours during which their mills are operated, writes the following letter to the Examiner, in which the Company's position is clearly stated:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — We wish to take this opportunity in placing ourselves right in the estimation of the public, viz., that we do not manufacture goods on Sunday. We have in many instances been asked the question why it is that smoke can be noticed pouring from our smoke stack every Sunday if it is the case that we do not manufacture on that day. In answer to this we have to say that the rules of the Fire Underwriters' Association of Canada are such that we must keep our fire pump under 100 lbs. steam pressure at all times, which necessitates operating a portion of our steam plant to do so.

We have also been asked the question why it is necessary to have the plant partially illuminated on Sunday nights, since we do not operate on that day. In answer to this we have again to refer to the rules of the Fire Underwriters' Association, which prohibits the use of lanterns by watchmen where where electric light is available, consequently we have to burn a sufficient number of electric lamps when the plant is not operating nights to enable our watchman to carefully patrol and examine each and every room for traces of fire.

We have also had enquiries from people in different sections of the country who find it would be to their interest to handle our goods, asking that providing they would favour us with their business would we guarantee to them that their orders would be filled from goods made during the week, and not from goods made on Sunday? In answer to this we have to say that if we were called upon to fill an order from goods made on Sunday, we could not do so from the fact that we only operate from 6 a.m. Monday to 6 p.m. Saturday. We never have been known to operate any of our plants on Sunday for the purpose of manufacturing. The only work we do on Sunday is that which cannot be done while the plant is running. The lines upon which we endeavour to operate is that which will best serve the interest of the majority. Anything and everything in way of repairs that can be done during the week, we find it necessary to have a few hands come out on Sunday for the purpose of carefully examining and adjusting the various lines of machinery, a work that can only be done when the machinery is standing still. In fact there are certain lines of machinery that cannot be adjusted under artificial light. There are also certain lines of our machinery connected with the process of drying and steaming of the product where the heat is so intense while in operation that it requires from 12 to 18 hours after the steam has been shut off for the apparatus to cool off sufficiently so that the necessary inspection and repairs can be made with safety. We make mention of this so that the people may clearly understand that the inspection and adjustment of certain lines of our machinery could not be attended to at this even if the opportunity offered. If we were to close the plant down during the week for the inspection and adjustment of such lines of machinery it would mean considerable of a loss of revenue to our employees which would no doubt work more or less of a hardship on many of them. In conclusion what we desire is that the general public become sufficiently conversant with our policy of operation so as to thoroughly understand that we do not, never have, nor never intend to perform work on Sunday that can be done during the week while the plant is in operation.

In connection with the above, and for the purpose of learning the true state of affairs in connection with the alleged operation of the plant on Sundays, a representative of the Examiner visited the Works of the Cereal Company on Monday, and spent ninety minutes in company with the local manager, Mr. A. McDonald, who explained the processes of manufacture, and methods made use of in the operation of the plant, in a most interesting manner.

Mr. McDonald was asked the question, which a number have been asking themselves recently: "Does the American Cereal Company operate its plant for the manufacture of product on Sundays?" To this question Mr. McDonald replied emphatically in the negative, stating, as in the above letter that the plant never had been operated on Sunday, and the Company never intended to operate it on that day.

The circumstance which raised the question in the minds of the public, is perhaps the fact that on Sundays smoke may be seen issuing from the chimney at the plant, and the natural inference was that the plant was operated. In explaining this Mr. McDonald pointed out to his interviewer, the fact mentioned in the letter, viz: that the Fire Underwriters' Association rules demand that a constant steam presure of 100 lbs. be kept on the fire pump which is located in a special building adjoining the power rooms, and in order to meet the requirements of the rules, it is necessary to keep a man on duty constantly whose work it is to keep the required steam presure. It is not from choice that this is done, but for the protection of the plant, as any fair minded person will admit is quite within what may be called work of necessity. This is the only purpose for which steam is kept generated on Sunday, and this explanation must be taken as a reasonable one to questions raised. In respect to the question as to why the plant is kept lighted on Sunday nights, if work is not done, the explanation made in the letter also should suffice. Rules made by the Fire Underwriters' Association are rules which must be obeyed, and in obeying these surely the Company cannot be open to blame, and especially, as in this case, no extra work is incurred by anyone.

Mr. McDonald in talking over the matter with the representative of the Examiner, discussed it in a pleasingly frank manner. Mr. McDonald stated, in modesty, and his statement is borne out by the words of hundreds of employees of the Company, that the American Cereal Company was distinctly opposed to Sunday work or overtime, and any work done either on Sundays or nights which was not absolutely necessary.

The only work ever done on Sunday, and Mr. McDonald said that there was a certain amount done, was that of repairs and inspections, and, in the trip through the works the Examiner representative saw enough to convince anyone of reasonable intelligence that in a plant of the magnitude, (and few persons have any adequate conception of the extent of the operations carried on,) of that of the American Cereal Company, which of necessity operates from 6 a.m. Monday morning to 6 o'clock on Saturday night, must find it necessary to do some work of repairing, adjustment and inspection on Sunday.

A battery of pan-driers, used for taking the moisture from the oats, before being ground, was seen, in which steam at ninety pounds pressure is kept from Monday morning to Saturday night, and on Saturday night the heat in them is so intense that it takes hours for them to cool off sufficiently to enable the men to get at them to effect the necessary repairs.

Again in the machines in which the actual manufacture of the Quaker Oats is carried on, a high pressure of steam is kept constantly, and the mechanism is so delicate that after running steadily for six days an adjustment is usually necessary. The millwright in charge of these machines states that it is an impossibility to do this adjusting by artificial light, consequently, unless the mill is closed on a week day, and the whole staff idle, the work has to be done on Sunday.

The machines mentioned are but samples of others seen throughout the mill, of which practically the same might be said. It is quite easy to believe that large 36 inch cylindrical grinders, running at a speed of 2,000 revolutions per minute, after keeping this speed for 132 hours, will need a certain amount of attention, and in giving that attention, the company is but taking a safeguard which if it were not taken, would leave them open to blame for culpable negligence, for if either of these grinders should get out of true line a trife, the amount of destruction caused by them flying apart would be hard indeed to calculate.

It is almost incredible to think that in an establishment of the extent of that of the American Cereal Company, where 20,000 bushels of grain are ground and manufactured into foods every 24 hours for 6 days in the week, and 3,500 cases of marketable products made each day, some work would not be necessary on Sunday, but the officials state, and the testimony of the few employees affected, confirms the statement, that absolutely no work is done on Sunday but what is made necessary in order that the plant may be kept in continuous operation during the 6 days of the week.

It is not reasonable to suppose that any more work would be done on Sunday than was necessary for the reason that all the work done on that day costs more than a corresponding amount of work done on another day.

Mr. McDonald stated emphatically, and all the evidence gained by the Examiner representative in a trip through the mill, supported the statement made, that the company did not manufacture goods on Sunday, and that all the work done on that day is work which those who are most anxious to preserve the sanctity of the Lord's Day, when all the circumstances are fully considered, would justify.

This explanation is made solely in order that the public may understand the position of the company, which evidently has been the victim of a mistaken belief, and the holding of which is doing the company a decided injustice. Of the hundreds of employees in the American Cereal Company Works, it is doubtful if one can be found who will say that the company has not treated their employees with the utmost consideration, and they are perfectly satisfied with the treatment accorded them.

Mr. McDonald stated that there were men on the repair staff, (which is the only staff affected by Sunday work,) who refused to work on Sundays, and their feelings were respected to the extent that they are not asked to do what they do not care to do, and they are not discriminated against in favour of others, who are willing to do the work required on Sunday.

In simple justice to the company these statements are made, with the hope that the misunderstanding existing in the minds of some people may be cleared up.

NORTH MONAGHAN RESIDENT DEAD.

Demise of Mrs. J. M. Davidson on Monday Night—The Funeral.

On Monday evening a respected resident of North Monaghan passed away in the person of Mrs. J. M. Davidson, after an illness extending over some years. The deceased was a native of Prince Edward County, her maiden name being Miss Mary Ann Wood. After her marriage in 1862 she lived for twenty years in the township of Seymour, afterwards removing to North Monaghan, in which township she died at the age of 61 years. There are four surviving out of six sons: Wm. Albert, of Belmont, Ont.; Ernestus, of Alemeda, Assa.; Elgin and Clarence at home. The three daughters are Mrs. Robt. Deck, Mrs. Thos. Deck, and Mrs. Jos. Bell.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, from the family residence, lot 10, concession 10, North Monaghan, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

A CALL EXTENDED TO REV. T. H. TENEY.

"He Will Accept" Said One of the Church Wardens This Morning.

A congregational meeting of All Saints' church was held on Monday night last, and the question regarding a new rector to succeed Rev. W. L. Armitage, was discussed at considerable length. It was unanimously decided that Rev. T. H. Teney, of Omemee, was the right man, and a call was extended to him. One of the Wardens of the church said to the Examiner this morning, "Yes, Mr. Teney was selected; we have not yet had a direct reply, but it is generally believed that he will accept."

Rev. Mr. Teney is well known in Peterborough, and should be a worthy successor of Rev. Mr. Armitage.

At zero Centigrade, crude rubber loses its elasticity and softness and becomes rigid and inelastic. When heated to 100 or 120 Centigrade, it gets soft, viscid and inelastic.

We have to treat crude rubber chemically to make it stand extremes of temperature and everyday wear.

We had a secret chemical process fifty years ago—it's a better one now, of course—as near perfect as can be—actual experience proves that.

It gives a toughness and pliability to the rubber that makes it outwear any other brand.

A GREAT DISTURBER.

ABBE M. MOVEUX, OBSERVATORY OF BOURGES, ON THE SUN.

Influence of Sun Spots in Recent Electrical Disturbances Again Show Him Supreme—Earth Bound to His Life—Registering Instruments Now Mark All the Varied Phases of His Existence.

The interesting communication of M. Flammarion on the recent electrical disturbances presumably connected with sun spots has shown the interest which attaches to studies of the sun. Not only is the sun the grand promoter of terrestrial accidents, but it is he who rules the life of planets and each of the tributaries of this giant world has its counter stroke on our tiny globe, in gravitation at a distance of thirty-seven milliards of leagues. We are then bound to his life and our registering instruments mark all the phases of his existence.

Many spots show themselves on the disk, of the greatest of which we give a picture taken in the Observatory of Bourges, measuring no less than 40,000 kilometres. It is a very beautiful formation, quite regular in form. It broke up some few days after photograph was taken.

From all parts clouds of fire seem to try to encroach upon them, but the fiery furnace, where above all masses of hydrogen and of unknown gases are burning, resists every threatened invasion.

Everywhere distorted tongues of fire, with ejections sparkling like gold infusion, dart their drops of gas, which are immediately consumed in contact with the mass.

On the 18th December it passed to the central meridian. That was the day on which one could expect some telegraphic troubles. The telephones alone implied a weak perturbation, but the magnetic needle, shaken anew as on October 12 and 31, showed oscillations measured in the observatory of the Val-Joyeux at more than one degree.

In the article of M. Flammarion,

TYPE OF CLOUDS OF FIERY MAIN INVADING THE SUN'S POLAR REGIONS AND GIVING RISE TO MAGNETIC STORMS ON THE EARTH.

mentioned above, the eminent astronomer asked whence proceeded these manifestations, and he concluded that neither the spots nor the rings have an exact coincidence.

Our sun is a variable star of the same class as the stars of this kind observed in the heavens. Before arriving at a definite condensation, at its final incrustation, each star seems to oscillate by emitting all kinds of rays, by successive strokes, so to speak.

In the heavens are found examples of all periods from a few hours up to years. A star in the southern Fly has a period of scarcely a day, while Mira Ceti shows a period of nearly a year.

As the stars grow older these vital pulsations seem to become weaker, as in an organic body, and the pulsations diminish while increasing their duration.

Everybody knows of the excellent apparatus, due to M. Marey, which registers the pulsations of the waves of blood. Well, the pulsations of the stars, considered proportionately, are of the same kind.

From time to time our pulsations increase, the heart beats faster, the temperature increases in our organs, it is the same way with the suns.

Our sun is a variable star of long period. The pulsations increase in amplitude about every eleven years, and the curves may be compared. At these epochs of maximum activity a sudden fever seizes upon our central star, and we have shown in the "Probleme Solaire" that the temperature undergoes the same increase. The labors of Sir Norman Lockyer have established these facts since then with an abundance of very convincing proofs.

Gaseous bodies in the sun in its normal state break up at high temperatures and give to the spectrum analysis new rays of substances unknown on the earth.

The dates of the last maxima of activity are 1848.1, 1860.1, 1870.6, 1883 and 1893, and the next maximum will occur in 1905.

The minima have been 1856, 1867, 1889 and 1901.5, and the next minimum will occur about 1912. The increases, as in cardiac pulsations, are more abrupt than the decreases. But a point that is very curious and toward which attention should be directed is that the sun is attacked every thirty-three or thirty-five years by a veritable fever of eruptions.

We know that together with the sun spots are noted phenomena quite as interesting and much more general. These are the protuberances, a kind of eruption probably of electric origin.

All of a sudden burning jets are projected from the solar surface, reaching in a few minutes almost incredible heights.

Protuberances have been observed 220,000 kilometres in height, and Young was successful in measuring a protuberance of 300,000 kilometres, having a velocity estimated at 267 kilometres a second.

Respighi has declared that he proved the fact that some velocities were as high as 600, 700 and even 800 kilometres a second. In general these great velocities were found in the equatorial region of the sun, where the spots are most abundant.

They accompany nearly always the greater spots and undergo marked recrudescence during the period of eleven years. At these moments of continual effervescence each point of the solar surface in the lower latitudes emits vapors analogous to those which arise from terrestrial volcanoes.

These are the strange and inexplicable eruptions in which prevail largely hydrogen, helium, calcium, iron, barium and other elements, all reduced to a state of incandescent vapor.

Little by little they cover a larger part of the sun, and sometimes they are observed in the direction of the poles of the solar body. They form then immense aigrettes, quite analogous to those which discharge themselves from the negative poles of electric machines.

During these intervals the condensation of the sun continues by successive degrees of impetus, and the three pulsations, so to speak, of phenomena of another kind appear in the polar regions.

To these phenomena the name of quiescent protuberances has been given, but they are really immense masses of clouds from which there descend upon the solar surface veritable whirlwinds and torrents of molten metal.

These phenomena, following the intermediary periods, attain vast proportions every successive thirty-three or thirty-five years. The last phase of this character occurred in 1870, and it is expected that its recurrence will mark the year 1905.

It is further a remarkable fact that these magnetic disturbances are all grouped together in the years which occur about one year before the maxima of sun spots.

These disturbances throughout the periods of thirty-three or thirty-five years are interrupted each successive period of three years or more. Thus there will probably be magnetic displays during 1904, 1905 and probably 1906.

Then the solar fever will decrease and greater atmospheric calm will probably prevail on our globe. Our meteorology itself proves this, and it is certain that the seasons will progress more in accordance with a normal standard. The pulse of the sun finally will assume a more regular beat, and natural order will be restored—for some years.—Abbe M. Moreux, Observatory of Bourges, France.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

Is the Cause of Most of the Misery in Everyday Life—Improve the Blood and Disease Will not Exist.

Among the many thousands who testify to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood and nerve tonic is Miss Mary Jackson, Normandale, Ont., who says:—"I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have derived such great benefit from them that I consider it my duty to let others know their worth. For upwards of three years I suffered from anaemia, and grew so weak that I could scarcely walk about the house. I had no colour in my face, my lips and gums were bloodless. I lost all ambition, suffered from headaches and dizziness, and fell away in weight till I weighed only ninety-four pounds. I doctored a great deal, but did not seem to do me any good. I was then advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them ten days I felt better and my people could see a change in me. I continued using the pills for some weeks and am now in the very best health. Every depressing symptom has passed away and I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. I think there is no medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I strongly commend them to all weak ailing girls."

Miss Jackson's experience should bring hope to all the weak, ailing girls and women. What those pills have done for her they will do for others. Every dose adds tone and vigor to the blood and nerves, brings a glow of health to sallow cheeks, sparkle to the eyes and a ruby redness to pallid lips. No other medicine has done so much to bring comfort and health to weak girls and women. If you are ailing give the pills a fair trial and new health and strength will be yours. Do not accept any pink coloured substitute. The genuine pills always have the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" printed on the wrapper round every box. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Another Way Out.

In one of Glasgow's finely laid out cemeteries a rich citizen, who was notorious as a skeptic, had erected a massive mausoleum on what he terms "his ancestral plot." One day he met a worthy elder of the kirk coming away from the vicinity of the imposing mass of masonry, so he said to him, "Weel, Dauvit, ye've been up seein' that gran' erection o' mine?"

"Deed, hiv I, sir."

"Grey strong place that, isn't it? It 'll tak' a man a' his time tae raise oot o' yon at the day o' judgment."

"Hoot, ma mon," said David, "ye can gie yersel' little fash aboot risin' gin that day comes. They'll tak' the bottom oot of o't tae let ye in' doon."—Spare Moments.

MAULED BY A LEOPARD.

Major R. G. Leckie's Adventure in Somaliland—A Hard Fight.

The British Canadian Review (London) of January 2, contains an interview with Major R. G. E. Leckie and Mr. Kirkpatrick, two well-known Canadian mining engineers, who recently reached London from Somaliland. Major Leckie had an exciting adventure in that country with a leopard, a brief mention of which was received by cable some weeks ago. To the representative of The Review, Major Leckie told the story, as follows:

"At Debrawein I met with an accident. When we arrived there we were told by the natives that they had been troubled by leopards prowling around the village. The leopards jump over the zarebas and steel sheep. I sat up one night in order to shoot one of the marauders, and I managed to wound him. In the morning I followed him up and shot him again. The Somalis who were with me and I myself thought he was dead, so we went up to him. All of a sudden he gave a coughing roar, and charged at me. I had no time to do anything except to raise my rifle and give him the muzzle in the neck as he sprang at me. That choked him, but he sprang at me again and dragged me down. We rolled down a hill together, and brought up at the bottom in the bed of a stream. Fortunately I was on top, but I had to keep fighting him with my left arm to prevent him biting me on the neck and head. I managed to get clear of him finally, but not until I had been clawed severely over the head. I was also badly bitten on the arm, and it is only getting better now. When I got clear of the leopard the Somalis rushed in very bravely, and one of them got a nasty wound on the leg. The leopard got off, though, and rushed down stream for some distance, then dropped mortally wounded. I brought the skull and skin home with me. I had to lay up in Debrawein for a month, but I was well looked after by Mr. Kirkpatrick, who was as good as a surgeon. He cleaned the wounds at once, so that blood-poisoning, which we were most afraid of, should not supervene. We had a very trying journey afterwards to the coast, from which we sailed for London."

Replying to a question by the interviewer, Major Leckie said they might have stayed a month or two longer if the accident had not occurred, but either he or Mr. Kirkpatrick would probably go back to Somaliland on a further tour of exploration.

In conclusion he said: "We consider the most valuable of our concessions to be the rights we have obtained over a portion of the eastern half of the Protectorate. In this district argentiferous galena occurs over a large area, and quicksilver and gold are reported. The natives have brought in many fine specimens of galena. We have also the concession of a large island in the Gulf of Aden to work for guano. We met several Canadian officers serving with the field force, including Captain Leslie, R.E.; Lieut. Syer, Bombay Lancers, and Lieut. Evans, R.E."

Advertising Canada.

The Interior Department have issued a colored book of cartoons to be used for the purpose of influencing immigration to Canada. The general theme of the illustrations is the enormous capacity of the Canadian northwest for wheat production and the possibilities which it holds for intending settlers. The idea that Canada is the granary of the Empire is well brought out, as well as the movement of farmers from the United States to the fertile prairie. One of the most striking illustrations depicts John Bull sitting down to a meal of exclusively Canadian viands. John is just about to attack his well-stocked table, but pauses to cast a glance at a beautiful map of Canada which takes the place of a vest.

The Yukon Trade.

For the four months ending October 31st the value of Canadian goods and duty-paid goods entering the Yukon district amounted to $2,790,827, as against foreign goods to the value of $956,124, showing that Canadians have secured and are retaining control of the bulk of the trade going into that country.

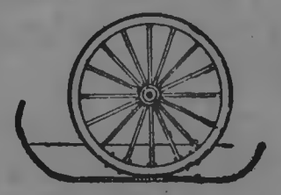
SNOWSHOES FOR WAGONS.

Wheeled Vehicles Turned Into Sleighs at a Moment's Notice.

Whether it is from the destruction of the forests or from some other cause, we do not seem nowadays to have good winter weather for very long at a time, and sleighing and skating are soon destroyed by a thaw. In many parts of Canada when a farmer or teamster puts up his wagons and gets out his sleighs for the first snow he has fairly good assurance that he will not have to change again until the spring thaw.



WAGON WHEEL ON RUNNER.

But in the vast area of lake shores of Ontario the man who drives may find himself riding through mud in a sleigh or slipping over a snowy road in a carriage, and it is to meet just such occasions as this that the invention shown in the accompanying picture has been designed.

There is already an arrangement by which the wheels of a carriage can be removed and runners mounted on hubs substituted, but with this outfit it is not even necessary to remove the wheels. A set of sheet iron shoes is provided, with steel runners, and perforated at intervals for the insertion of bolts. When there is a fall of snow the driver has only to put the shoes on the wheels and bolt them in position, and he is ready for a sleigh ride, with no worry over what the future state of the weather will be. The shoes are light enough to be carried in the wagon when not in use and should prove a great convenience to the man who has to drive every day.

The Sleeping Sickness of Africa.

The studies of the mysterious sleeping sickness of Africa are yielding interesting results. In all stages a parasite, a trypanosoma, is found to be present in the cerebro spinal fluid, but in certain fever cases a similar parasite has been discovered in the blood, though not in the cerebro spinal fluid. Sleeping sickness proves to be confined to a belt of country fifteen miles wide on the northern shores of the Victoria Nyanza. A tsetse fly is very abundant, and it is suggested that this fly may convey infection just as one conveys the species of trypanosoma to which the tsetse disease of horses and other animals is due.

Are You Inviting Pneumonia?

You Need Only to Neglect Coughs and Colds—The Great Safeguard is.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Like other people, you dread the thought of pneumonia, consumption, or any form of lung trouble.

Did you ever wait to think that if colds were not neglected there would be no consumption or pneumonia?

These ailments start with colds, and any cough or cold can be cured by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

"Oh, it will wear away," you say, and in the meantime the cold is fastening itself on your system, and gradually creeping down the bronchial tubes towards the lungs.

This word of warning may be of priceless value to you if you heed it.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has won the good will of many thousands because of its wonderful promptness in curing serious colds and lung troubles.

Mr. John Clark, coachman, Port Hope, Ont., states:—

"Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared it would develop into consumption. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proved very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 25 cents a bottle, (family size three times as much,) 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 12

RED MOUNTAIN NUPTIALS

By JOHN BARTON OXFORD

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

When the westbound stage drew up at Crawford's that April afternoon a solitary passenger alighted—a tall, strong featured young man who carried himself with an air of determination. Billy Crawford, lounging in the doorway of the barroom, languidly smoking a stubby clay pipe, looked at the arrival critically. He noted the man's face, of the chalky whiteness of unpolished marble, the dark rings under his eyes and the gaunt hollows in his cheeks, which made the cheek bones glaringly apparent.

Billy had seen many such arrivals before. Generally, though, they lacked the combativeness this man's bearing seemed to suggest. They were prone to wear a tired, hopeless, often frightened, look. Generally, too, they went back in a few months by the stage again—in a long box on the trunk rack behind.

Billy was mentally figuring how long it would be before this one went back in such fashion, when the young man strode briskly up the steps and accosted him.

"Are you the proprietor here?"

Billy "reckoned he was."

"Accommodate me here?" The young man shot out his questions with no waste of words.

"How long?" said Billy, removing his evil smelling pipe.

"As long as I like the place," said the other. "Maybe all summer, maybe a year, maybe longer."

Billy thought to himself, "Maybe four or five months at the most," but he said, "Guess so," replaced his pipe, and, picking up the bulging suitcase, led his guest within.

From behind the closed blinds in the second story of the little red shack—a stage station which Billy Crawford had christened the "Red Mountain inn"—some one else had watched the arrival of the stage, and that some one was Araminta Crawford, Billy's daughter. She saw the determined looking man, with his almost defiant air and his pale, sunken cheeks. As her father was showing the way upstairs she heard the man's spasmodic cough, and her heart was filled with sudden pity at the thought of his coming to that deserted corner of the world to die, for despite the reputation of the climate of the Red mountain district as a healer of damaged breathing apparatus Araminta had seen the long boxes on the trunk rack too often to put much faith in it.

At supper time the young man was the sole guest in the smoky dining room. Araminta was waitress as well as cook. When she came into the dining room the guest fixed his eyes upon her. She was good to look upon—dark, well formed, with a fullness of figure and an unstudied ease which youth and life in the open air had given her.

Crawford came into the dining room for a moment to inquire concerning his guest's comfort. He indicated his daughter with a wave of his hand.

"My daughter, Minta, Mr.—er—er—Mr."—

"Deming," the guest supplemented, turning to the girl. From that moment Jack Deming dated the beginning of his recovery.

In the days that followed Deming saw much of the girl. He found her frank, unaffected, good hearted, yet with a keenness of mind which accorded ill with the narrowness of her surroundings. Her father and the men who came to the inn were gross and coarse. Aside from the old negro woman who assisted about the place, there was not a woman within thirty miles. Yet the girl was womanly, quiet and possessed of a native refinement and a simple frankness which Deming found irresistibly charming.

The weeks flew past, and Deming improved. He was much in Minta's company, and the more he saw of the girl the deeper grew his interest in her. He showed her his diploma from Yale and told her of his life in the world outside, while she listened eagerly for every detail. They walked together, they fished in the stream at the back of the inn, they set up a target and tried his rifles, and the girl proved to be a far better shot than he. Meanwhile his lungs mended, and he developed a very common form of heart trouble, of which Minta was the cause.

There could be but one ending to it all. One October night Deming sought Crawford, who was smoking sleepily in the deserted barroom. Deming made known his intentions, and Crawford came suddenly from his somnolent mood and swore roundly.

"No," said Crawford. "Minta marry a consumptive—a tenderfoot consumptive? No, sir; she is going to marry the son of old Jones, who runs the stage route. That was arranged years ago. He's got money to burn and nothing the matter with his lungs."

Deming turned angrily on his heel and left the room. Outside in the moonlight he met Minta, who laughed when he told her of the interview, whispered a few words into his ear and then ran swiftly into the house.

Late next afternoon, when the stage drew up at Crawford's, Deming stood on the porch saying goodby to Billy.

"No hard feelin', I hope?" Billy was saying.

"None at all, I assure you," Deming replied, with a twinkle in his eye, for behind Crawford's back he saw Ed Dempsey, the stage driver, helping a woman into the coach.

Twenty minutes later, after the coach had rattled off toward Red Mountain, Billy called his daughter.

"Minta!" he bellowed through the house. "Minta! Where in tarnation is the girl?"

"I done seen her gittin' into de stage, suh," said the colored girl.

Far up on the stage road, which winds about Red mountain, you can look down a bluff and see the road twisting along below. Deming and Minta, looking down the bluff, caught sight of a solitary horseman riding madly along the rocky path. Deming leaned out the window.

"Crawford's coming up the trail," he shouted. "It's $50 in your pocket, Ed, if you land us at Madison Flats ahead of him."

Dempsey let out his team until the coach rocked and swayed, and the only other passenger, a thin, nervous man, clutched the seat and gasped.

Then they heard Ed shouting to the team. The pace slackened as he set brakes hard. Instinctively Deming opened the door and pushed Minta before him. At the same moment there was a crash, the coach toppled over, and he found himself pinned beneath the other passenger, who could not move.

Minta scrambled from the dirt by the roadside unhurt, and Dempsey cut loose and pacified the struggling team. Then together they ran to the coach. Neither man within was hurt, but both were pinned down in the coach.

An inspiration came to Ed Dempsey. He put his face close to the wrecked coach.

"Say, in thar!" he called. "Are you the new minister for Cedar Creek?"

"I am," was the response.

"Well," said Ed, "I reckon you've got your first job right here. You're layin' acrost the groom, an' the bride's here by me, an' daddy, madder 'n a wet hen, is comin' up the trail like thunder on a cyclone. Git together, everybody."

The imprisoned clergyman rose to the occasion.

"Can you manage to clasp each other's hands?" he asked simply.

Then with the bride on her knees in the dirt clasping the hand of the groom, across whom lay the officiating clergyman, the ceremony was performed.

As it finished Billy Crawford galloped up.

"What in thunder does this mean?" he gasped.

"It means," said Dempsey, "that you are just in time to help me git that doggoned couch off'n your son-in-law, John Deming, and the Rev. Mr. Whittes, who performed the ceremony somewhat infarmal-like about five minutes ago."

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

Are walked by the billiard player, as he moves around the table. That is the only exercise many a city man gets. It is this lack of exercise in the shut-in-life of the city, combined with irregular eating and indigestible dishes which tend to make the city man the victim of "stomach trouble."

When there is undue fullness after eating, with belching, sour risings and other distressing symptoms, a prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will effect a speedy cure. In the most extreme cases of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, the persistent use of the "Discovery" will result in a complete cure in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 1095½ Millin Street, Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken down with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out and I did so and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being, as I think, cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered book, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pale, Anaemic People

With thin, watery blood always suffer greatly from the cold as well as the sudden and violent changes of our Canadian winter. They are particularly susceptible to Chills, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, La Grippe and even Consumption. They should take FERROL, instead of which they usually resort to extra warm clothing and avoid the cold, fresh air as much as possible—a very great mistake. What they require is a coating of good, healthy fat, a supply of rich, warm, red blood and properly toned nerves and all this they may have with very little trouble or expense, by taking a course of FERROL (The Iron-Oil Food) which will infallibly enrich the blood increase the weight and tone up the nerves, making clumsy clothing quite unnecessary, and crisp, cold, fresh air a joy, instead of a thing to be avoided.

Preserving Eggs.

A number of experiments carried on in Germany in preserving eggs appear to show that the best results were obtained when eggs were either varnished with vaseline, immersed in lime water or in water glass solution.

DIVERS AFTER PEARLS.

Their Work Is Deadly, and They Do Not Live Long.

Pearl fishers do not live long. They often dive to a depth of 100 feet or more, and the strain wears them out before their lives are half over. From these depths a diver usually brings two oyster shells each "trip." It is on the mother of pearl in these that the European depends for his sure profit. Pearls are "plums," which only occasionally fall to his lot. Divers work for a wage, and all the shells brought up are the property of the employer. In "Studies In Brown Humanity" Hugh Clifford describes Malay pearl fishers. They anchor on the oyster beds or as near them as possible, he says, and the diving takes place twice a day.

"All the boats are manned at morning and evening, and the Sulu boys row them out to the point selected for the day's operations. The white man in charge always goes with them in order to keep an eye upon the shells, to resuscitate exhausted divers and generally to look after his own interests.

"Presently a man lowers himself slowly over the side, takes a long, deep breath, and then, turning head downward, swims into the depths, his limbs showing dimly in froglike motions until, if the water be very deep, he is completely lost to sight.

"In a few minutes he comes into view again, his face straining upward, yearning with extended neck for the air that he now needs so sorely. His hands cleave the water in strong downward strokes; his form grows momentarily more distinct, until the fixed, tense expression of his staring face is plainly visible. Then the quiet surface of the sea splashes in a thousand drops of sun steeped light as his head tears through it, and his bursting lungs, expelling the imprisoned air, draw in the breath which they crave in long, hard gasps. If the dive has been a deep one a little blood may be seen to trickle from nose and mouth and ears. At times even the eye sockets ooze blood, the result of fearful pressure to which the diver has been subjected."

A Glimpse of Tennyson.

Wilfrid Ward in "Problems and Persons" tells this, illustrating Tennyson's mixture of bashfulness and dogmatism:

If a stranger had come to see him the shyness and abstraction might last longer. I remember once going to Farrington with a friend—a true worshiper of his genius—and after the first words of greeting he seemed to be entirely in the clouds until, after long waiting, we hit upon a device to arouse him. A picture by Edward Lear hung in the room, and under it were four lines from "The Palace of Art:"

One seemed all dark and red, a tract of sand,
And some one pacing there alone,
Who paced forever in a glimmering land,
Lit with a low, large moon.

We were looking at the picture, and I said to my companion, "Read the lines." She read them, giving them a kind of metrical jingle. In a moment Tennyson, who had been standing alone at the other side of the room, stepped rapidly across, seized her arm and said, "Don't read them like that," and went on with his deep, sonorous voice to read, or, rather, chant, them himself with the roll which was so well known to his friends.

Wonders of Wales.

The wonders of Wales are: (1) Snowdon, the highest peak of southern Britain; (2) Overton churchyard, Flintshire, with its yew trees of great antiquity; (3) the fine peal of bells of Gresford church, Denbighshire; (4) Llangollen bridge, in the beautiful vale, built by Bishop Trevor in 1345, a singular structure of four pointed arches, the two center spans being smaller than the two ends; (5) Wrexham church tower, a richly decorated structure of six stages, 135 feet high, on three sides of which are rows of saints in canopied niches; (6) Pystyl Rhaydr waterfall, Radnor, almost destroyed by alterations in the river bed in 1780; (7) St. Winifred's well, Holywell, around which cluster endless traditions.

St. Winifred was martyred by Caradoc in the seventh century, and a chapel was built to her memory by Margaret, queen of Henry VII., in 1490, whither pilgrims have resorted from the earliest times, even down to 1894, leaving behind them votive offerings in the shape of crutches and invalid chairs.

WAS TROUBLED WITH PAIN IN HER HEART FOR SIX YEARS.

Expected Her Friends Would Find Her Dead.

Mrs. C. Bondreau, Campbellton, N.B., was completely cured by MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

She tells of her experience in the following letter: "I was troubled with a pain in my heart and weakness for six years. Most of the time I could not lie on my left side. I consulted a doctor but got no relief and was completely discouraged. I did not think I would live long and expected my friends would find me dead. A friend brought me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I took them to please her, not thinking they would do me any good. I had not used half the box when I commenced to feel myself getting better and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured, and can recommend them to all sufferers from heart trouble."

The British expedition into Thibet, under command of Colonel Younghusband, with the purpose of compelling the grand lama to live up to his agreements, awakens the hope that ere long that "great closed land" may be opened to the world. The English invasion likewise call attention to the fact that since 1846 but one white man has entered the sacred city of Lhassa.

This daring traveler, who succeeded where Sven Hedin failed, is a young Russian, M. Ovche Narzounof.

M. NARZOUNOF.

who recently returned to civilation with a large number of photographs of Lhassa and its queer inhabitants. M. Narzounof entered the city in the company of Mongol, Buriat and Kalmuk pilgrims, Russian subjects of the Buddhist persuasion, who make a yearly journey to Lhassa, for which facilities are accorded them by the Czar. At certain times the pilgrims in Lhassa number over 10,000.

The Thibetans have broad mouths, thick noses (which are, however, often aquiline), large feet, coarse hands and light brown skins which frequently are nearly white. Rosy cheeks are not uncommon among the maidens, which points to a Caucasian element mingling with the Mongol.

The Thibetan beast of burden is the yak. This animal is very sure footed and a good one will carry a load of over 200 pounds safely along the steepest hillside. The yak can exist on the scantiest grass, but grain food suits it for a few days only. Eight miles a day is good average work for the yak. Sheep are also plentiful and supply clothes and food for the Thibetans. They are slaughtered by suffocation, the butcher inserting his fingers in the poor beast's nostrils.

TORTURING DISFIGURING

Skin, Scalp and Blood Humours

From Pimples to Scrofula From Infancy to Age

Speedily Cured by Cuticura When All Else Fails.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in Eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete local and constitutional treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning, and scaly humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all else fails.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

KEENE CONFIDENT OF A VICTORY.

Feel Able to Take a Fall out of the T. A. S. in Norwood.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, February 3rd.—It is absolutely certain that the locals will have to go up against the T. A. S. in Norwood again. We would like to have taken a throw out of the Peterborough Culls but were denied the chance. However the T. A. S. are foemen worthy of our steel and we will try their winning powers on the big ice at Norwood. The best of feeling exists between the two clubs now and chances are about even. Nevertheless we will try and put them under.

RUMOURS OF "RINGERS" ON REVIEW TEAM.

A Good Practice Held Last Night in Which Were Exciting Incidents.

Last night at the Brock street rink an unique spectacle was seen by the fortunate few who were there as spectators. The manager of the Examiner hockey team secured the ice to allow his men to get a work out, in preparation for the game on Thursday night with the Review. Mr. Ross' men had no sooner got on the ice than a horde of Review employees and ringers from all parts of the town, swarmed on to the ice. This was something which was entirely unlooked for on the part of the Examiner manager. However, he kindly allowed his team to play a practice game with the team made up of a few Review employees and a number of "ringers," the result of the 45 minutes play being a score of 12—1 in favour of the Examiner's team, the members of which played clean, scientific hockey, despite the questionable tactics of the opposing team, the point player on which was the chief offender.

In the game to-morrow night, however, it is elieved thtat the fair referee will not allow any dirty work, such as was perpetrated on the Examiner players last night.

But what our manager objects to more than all is the attempt being made by the Review team to play ringers. After scouring the office from the stoke hole in the cellar to the dark corners in the bindery, they have failed to get together a team which they have confidence enough in to trust the questionable honour of the Review team with, they are endeavouring to play ringers, who are it is believed professionals of the most pronounced type.

The Examiner has announced in the most straightforward manner the personnel of its team but so far the Review has failed to do this, and while this team does not object, nor will it object, to playing any team which the Review can get together from the staffs of the different newspapers of the town, it does object to playing ringers taken from almost every walk in life.

Meanwhile the team which Manager Ross has gathered up is getting into good shape, and will be on the ice to-morrow night at nine o'clock prepared to uphold the honour of the team.

PUCKERINGS.

Mrs Green accompanied the ladies' hockey team to Lindsay to-day as chaperone.

• • • •

The Peterborough ladies' hockey team left for Lindsay to-day on the 11.45 train where they will play the "Mintos" of that town to-night. The teams will be:

Goal, Miss Jean Scott; point, Miss M. Davidson; cover point, Miss Linda Hall; forwards, Misses Lulu Scott, Gwen Hall, captain; Madge McGill, Florence Scott.

Mintos.—Goal, Miss Kit Watson; point, Miss M. Koyle; cover point, Miss Polly Maunder; forwards, Misses Ruby Laidlaw, Katie Milne, V. Laidlaw, J. Milne.

There is a tie in the Peterborough district of the Trent Valley League, the teams being T. A. S. and Keene. The secretary of the league has instructed both sides to play off in Norwood on Monday night next and Geo. Brown, of Port Hope will referee.

• • • •

There is a three-cornered tie in the Warkworth Norwood Campbellford district of the T. V. League, those three teams standing even. Norwood has been arranged a bye and Campbellford and Warkworth will play off in Norwood on Friday night.

• • • •

The public are warned not to put up any money on the Druggists as Barrie's Bedellas intend trotting out a few "dark horses" to-morrow night. The Beds will again have the valuable services of Charlie Sargeant at cover point. He is second to none in the league. Little Joe Carey the "midget wonder, will defend the nets for the Bedellas in his marvellous style.

A Mayoral Candidate's Record.

Mr. Joseph P. Nannetti, M.P., one of the candidates for the Mayoral chair of Dublin, does not spend the recess in quest of health, but goes back to his position as foreman overseer on a Dublin evening paper, where, he declares, he is much happier getting out editions one after another than in sitting in St. Stephen's hearing Saxon speeches. In his youth he was a Fenian, trusted in the inner organizations, and in less exciting times helped to found the first Home Rule Association in Liverpool. For years he has been associated with the Labor party in Dublin, which he will probably split if Ald. Dowd, another Labor representative, comes forward as a candidate for the Mayorality. Mr. Nannetti succeeded Mr. J. L. Carew as member for the College Green division when the latter broke with his party over attending a levee by the Prince of Wales.

ONTARIO'S BIRTH RATE.

Satisfactory Increase During the Year 1903—A Comparison With Quebec.

Ontario's birth rate for the year 1902 shows an increase of 1,735 as compared with a decrease of 66 in the preceding year. This satisfactory statement is contained in the annual report of Dr. Bryce, registrar of births, deaths and marriages, which he is preparing for the perusal and edification of the Legislature.

The births in 1902 were 47,796, making a rate per 1,000 of the population of 21.7. Thirty counties show an increase of 2,344 and 14 counties a decrease of 609. Eight cities show an increase, five a decrease and one went neither backward nor ahead. The decreases were: Ottawa, 55; Belleville, 46; Hamilton, 28; St. Catharines, 18. The increases were: Toronto, 599; Kingston and Chatham, 32; Woodstock, 19; Guelph, 17; Stratford, 12; London, 2. Here are the registrations of births in the cities of Ontario: Toronto, 5,044; Hamilton, 959; Ottawa, 1,594; London, 709; Kingston, 352; Brantford, 46; St. Thomas, 214; Guelph, 255; St. Catharines, 190; Belleville, 101; Stratford, 185; Windsor, 164; Chatham, 164; Woodstock, 190.

Comparing Ontario's birth rate with that of Quebec, the report will say:

"That there is in Quebec the operation of the law of decreasing birth rate with the urbanizing of its population may be seen from the fact that while in 1898 there were 60,345 births and 31,871 deaths, or a population increase of 28,474, in 1901 there were 55,398, or nearly 5,000 fewer births, and 32,218 deaths, or 348 more than in 1898. In other words, by the operation of the two factors the population increase of 1901 was 5,295 persons less, or a gross deduction of 19 per cent., while that of Ontario shows a slight increase in the rate per 1,000 of births over deaths, it being 9.1 as compared with 8.9 in 1898. It seems apparent that the increase in urban population, when the relative age periods are taken into consideration, does, under the stress of modern life, tend directly to a lessening of population increase when compared with the same people occupied in the more simple and health-giving employments of rural life."

There were 18,072 marriages, an increase of 27, making a rate of 8.2 per 1,000. Essex County has a rate of 26.7 and Rainy River of 5.8. In 14 cities the rate was 12.2. One-ninth of the marriages were made in June. Methodists claim 33.4 of the whole, Presbyterians 20.3, Anglicans 16.1, Roman Catholics 15.3 and Baptists 6.8.

The record of the cities: Toronto, 2,258; Hamilton, 595; Ottawa, 571; London, 377; Kingston, 163; Brantford, 156; St. Thomas, 129; Guelph, 112; St. Catharines, 94; Belleville, 116; Stratford, 100; Windsor, 1,060; Chatham, 151; and Woodstock, 87.

The high rate in Windsor is accounted for by the fact that hundreds of couples cross the river from Detroit. They favor Canadian laws, believing them to be more binding.

There were 27,864 deaths, compared with 29,608 in 1901, a rate of 12.6. This is a lower death rate than in any part of the United Kingdom or Europe. The cities report the number of deaths as follows: Toronto, 3,234; Hamilton, 775; Ottawa, 1,188; London, 582; Kingston, 301; Brantford, 261; St. Thomas, 147; Guelph, 142; St. Catharines, 165; Belleville, 128; Windsor, 201; Chatham, 173; Woodstock, 133; all showing a marked decrease except Brantford, Windsor and Chatham.

Cancer caused the death of 1,048, a slight decrease; while tuberculosis claimed 2,694 victims, a rate of 90.6 per 1,000 deaths. In 1901 the rate was 109.5.

Forgery and Vertical Writing.

A Boston bank official declares that the new vertical writing fad is breeding a race of forgers. He has protested against its adoption in the public schools because it destroys individuality in handwriting for purpose of identification, thus causing infinite trouble to bankers and business men. It is alleged that under the system of vertical training one person can write the signature of another vertical writer so accurately that the owner of the name cannot distinguish the difference himself.—Ottawa Citizen.

Partnership Sale

It's a warm proposition! Nothing like Furs for genuine Canadian winter like this one. Such cold weather calls for the warmest of clothing, and for warmth what will compare with Fur? It keeps the heat of the body in, and conserves it longest. It looks well—is not cumbersome—is durable and decidedly stylish if properly cut and made.

"But what about the price," says some one. All we have to say is that Prices were never Lower.

We are compelled by our partnership agreement to reduce stock by the beginning of March to about $20,000. this means the sale of about $25,000 worth of Furs, Hats and Furnishings by that time.

In fact as one woman said on looking through last week, "I consider I have saved $75.00 on the purchase I have made ($125.00)—having looked at the stocks offered me in Toronto only last week." You can do the same. Come in.

Accidents in Ontario.

The report of the factory inspectors for the Province of Ontario, in course of preparation, shows that in 1903 there were 634 accidents in factories with 27 fatalities, as compared with 382 accidents with 19 deaths in 1901.

The abnormal increase is not believed to be a greater proportion of accidents, but rather to an improvement in the system of registration. One hundred of the accidents reported were caused by saws, 21 by gears, 40 by burns and scalds, 6 by boiler explosions, 18 by buzz planers, 7 by shaper machines, 13 by elevators, and the balance from miscellaneous causes. In the western district there were 397 and in the eastern district 237. In 1901 the west contributed 196 accidents and the east 186.

The Work of Dr. Parkin.

Dr. Parkin, upon whose shoulders have fallen the arduous responsibilities of the arranging of the Rhodes bequest, is again in England, looking bronzed and hearty after his journey round the Empire, and full of enthusiasm regarding the prospects awaiting the completion of his work. Happily Mr. Rhodes left his executors with powers adequate to the occasion. My readers will be amused to learn that, as usual, Germany is the first in the field, and the Kaiser's subjects are the first to begin their studies at Oxford under the terms of the will. The bequest was more definite in their case than in the others. Thus the reason of their getting there first. Next comes a batch of students from Rhodesia, and it is fitting that this should be so. The newcomers will be scattered through different colleges. The decision of the executors to "catch 'em young" does not find universal favor. One business in Rhodesia refuses to allow her boy of eighteen to go to college seven thousand miles from home, no matter what the vaunted attractions and advantages. Another in Western Australia refused point-blank to sacrifice her son's "future" by keeping him at school or college a day after he was sixteen.—Lally Bernard in The Globe.

LATEST EASTERN NEWS IS ALARMING.

Viceroy Alexieff Given Power to Declare War on Japan.

Russia's Last Word---If Japanese Government Does not Accept the Conditions Proposed in Russia's Response, an Imperial Manifesto Declaring War is Expected—Far East Situation "Very Threatening."

London, Feb. 4.—A despatch from St. Petersburg to Reuter's Telegraph Company, dated Tuesday, and forwarded by way of the frontier, says the Russian general staff has given Viceroy Alexieff authority to declare war and open hostilities on his own responsibility, if circumstances render it necessary.

The despatch adds that an Imperial manifesto declaring war is expected if the Japanese Government does not accept the conditions proposed in Russia's response, which, it is asserted, will be Russia's last word.

To Throw Onus on Japan.

London, Feb. 4.—Baron Hayashi, Japanese Minister to Great Britain, describing the situation in the Far East, said the situation was "certainly very threatening," but said that everything depended upon Russia's reply, which will be announced on Feb. 5.

"It is highly improbable," the Minister continued, "that Russia will make any aggressive move before the Japanese Government has received and considered the Russian reply. What Russia wishes to do is to throw the responsibility of taking the initiative upon Japan."

The foregoing utterances were provoked on being shown the threatening press despatches from St. Petersburg.

Britain Has No News.

London, Feb. 4.—Just before the adjournment of the night session of the House of Commons, a member asked the Government whether it had any information concerning the rumor that Russia had declared war. To this question Home Secretary Ackers-Douglas replied: "None whatever."

Russian Fleet Moves.

Port Arthur, Feb. 4.—Important naval and military movements have been effected here in response to the Japanese war measures. Seven battleships hitherto inside the harbor have joined the outside fleet, consisting of nine other battleships.

Only eight ships remain inside now. Simultaneously the 3rd Brigade of Siberian Rifles and two batteries of artillery started for an unannounced destination from Liao Yang, south of Mukden. Altogether about 9,000 troops have departed, leaving 10,000 men at Port Arthur, exclusive of the troops manning the fortifications.

War Correspondent Jailed.

New York, Feb. 4.—Jack London, the writer, who went recently to Japan to report the threatened hostilities, has been imprisoned, according to an American despatch from Tokio, charged with photographing Japanese fortifications.

C. P. R. TRAIN DERAILED.

One Woman Killed and Several Others Probably Fatally Hurt—Many Others With Less Serious Injuries.

Halifax, Feb. 4.—The C. P. R. Montreal express, leaving Halifax at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, met with disaster yesterday one mile from Milford, the second car breaking away and all the other cars going off the track.

The dead: Mrs. John Glassey, Halifax.

The injured: Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. Campbell, slightly injured; they were married in Halifax in the early morning and were on their bridal tour. Miss Ethel Bentley, organist of the Truro Methodist Church, leg broken; E. J. Hudd, body injured; G. W. Marsh of Toronto, a fruit merchant, injured about the head; an Armenian pedlar, probably fatally injured; Mrs. Vance, wife of Conductor Vance, Truro, and Conductor Vance's mother, slightly injured; Mr. Halstead, cut about the head; Mrs. Morrison and child, bound for British Columbia, slightly injured; A. B. Barton, express messenger, St. John, slightly injured; Joseph Frawley, St. John, leg broken; F. A. Bustin, express messenger, St. John, leg broken; Conductor R. D. Duncan, head cut; J. E. Blair, Truro, cut on head; W. H. Hilchey, Stewiacke, cut about face; two Italians, names unknown, one with broken rib, other had scalp wound; T. Appleby, news agent, cut in head and shoulder; P. Kelley, brakeman, cut face, leg injured; G. Bessett, St. John, traveler for Manchester Allison, ribs broken; John Redford, traveler, head cut; James S. McDonald, Halifax Herald reporter, cut head and shoulders; Mrs. Picke, Jeddore, on way to meet husband in Vancouver, injured about limbs; sister-in-law of Dr. Archibald, Musquodoboit; Hutley, traveler for Perfumery Company, London, Eng., cut about face. Conductor Duncan may not recover. Car Porter J. B. Simmons had a miraculous escape. Forty persons were on the train.

All the six cars of a heavy vestibuled train were derailed, went over the bank and are piled in heaps of debris. One of the passenger cars rolled down the embankment, and is half submerged in the river alongside.

The train was in charge of Conductor Robert Duncan, the oldest employe in the Intercolonial service. Relief trains with wrecking crews and corps of doctors were sent from Halifax and Truro, and the injured and dead were brought to the hospitals in this city.

The cause of the wreck is believed to be the spreading of the rails, a result of Tuesday night's severe storm. The engine passed safely over and did not leave the rails.

A HUNTER SHOT.

Kicks String of Loaded Rifle Planted on the Trail.

Port Arthur, Feb. 4.—William Snyder, with two companions, was out hunting Tuesday, following a hunter's trail. He inadvertently kicked a string which crossed the trail and was attached to a rifle suspended in a tree at full cock. The rifle was discharged, the bullet entering Snyder's leg. He was carried through the bush to the railway track and brought into Port Arthur Hospital.

Driver Killed By Train.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—James Dillon, who lived at 49 St. David street, was killed yesterday by a C. P. R. engine at the foot of Church street. Dillon was a driver for the Elias Rogers Coal Company. While driving his load of coal across the tracks the train ran him down. He and the horse were thrown a considerable distance. The deceased leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter. Coroner Grey opened an inquest last night and adjourned until Friday.

In Moving Peril.

Barrie, Feb. 4.—Alexander McLaughlin, an elderly hardware traveler from Hamilton, while attempting to board the moving North Bay Express, slipped and fell backward. His foot caught and he was dragged on his back almost under the wheels of the following coach for nearly half a mile. When the train was stopped, and he was extricated from his terrible position, it was found that the only injury he had sustained was a slightly sprained ankle.

Took Strychnine Pills.

Hamilton, Feb. 4.—Arthur Truman, the young son of Arthur Truman, the East King street barber, got hold of a box of strychnine pills yesterday morning, and swallowed three. The doctors at the City Hospital said at a late hour last night that he would not live till morning.

LOVERS OF THE HORSE.

Canadian Association Holds a Banquet—Sectional Association Elect Officers.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Two hundred prominent horsemen attended the banquet of the Canadian Horse Breeder's Association here last night. The feature of the evening was an address on the registration of stallions by W. J. Sparks, of London, Eng., and it was one of the most practical of discourses.

The Hackney Breeders' Association, the Shire Horse Association and the Canadian Pony Association all met in annual session here yesterday and elected their officers. They all had increases in membership and carry cash balances over.

MRS. LANGTRY'S COURAGE.

Jersey Lily Proposes Toast to the Coolest Head During Danger.

Salt Lake, Feb. 4.—While her private car was off the track and bumping along at a frightful rate Tuesday, Mrs. Lily Langtry held on the tea table and pledged this toast to the frightened members of her company, who were being knocked down like ten-pins by the swaying car: "Here's to the one who keeps the coolest head." After running down a steep grade for a quarter of a mile the train was stopped. Mrs. Langtry, who had been thrown against the side of the car, fainted when the danger was over.

Weather Probabilities.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The general outlook is for cold weather, with no break in sight. Throughout Canada east of the Rockies the tendency is to still lower temperatures. Since the beginning of the month pressure movements have been extraordinarily rapid, and another cold snap is brewing in the Northwest. Dawson City yesterday had 46 below zero, with a maximum of 38 below. Qu'Appelle and Winnipeg were each 28 below, and Kingston and Parry Sound tied at 16 below. From Toronto east zero and colder was the rule. British Columbia keeps mild at 44 above. Buffalo had five inches of snow last night, with a 84-mile-an-hour gale.

Two Galt Boys Acquitted.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—In the trial of Warner, O'Donnell and Hull of Galt, and Rollinger of Berlin, for shop-breaking and theft, Police Magistrate Weir honorably discharged the first two, but found the last two guilty and remanded them until Saturday for sentence.

—A chimney fire at Mr. Little's house, on London street, gave the brigade a short run a few minutes before 2 o'clock this afternoon.

DON'T BELIEVE IT.

The Toronto Mail and Empire has one inventive genius on its staff, probably more. From time to time the organ startles its readers with some tremendous invention, and the louder the headings, and the larger the type used, the greater the ingenuity displayed, and the less probable the story. This sort of thing occurs so frequently, that it has also come to pass that if one sees a start-statement relating to politics in the Mail, it is dollars to doughnuts, that it is not true—pure invention, if not fabrication. Of this order is the announcement made on Wednesday, with all the flourish of scare-heads and advertising column type, that as soon as the present session of the Legislature was over, Premier Ross will kick out the members of his Cabinet, reorganize his Government, take them back again, and make this an excuse for dissolving the House, and calling a general election. All this unfounded rubbish is stated as fact, as if based on assured foundation. The statement is not protected by any saving clause, such as "it is probable," "credibly informed," or any timorous hedging, and the invention concludes with this line, "The next Ontario Provincial election will"—not, probably, but —"will take place in May or June." It's a perfectly safe thing when you see anything regarding political matters in the Mail and Empire, to promptly disbelieve it. This will not only save a severe tax on your credulity, but avoid disappointment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The proposal of Mr. J. H. Pettypiece to clap additional taxes on railways is little short of cruelty. Any one who travels these days realizes that the railways are already taxed to their full capacity.

The Kingston News virtually admits that Mr. Whitney could not make a very presentable Cabinet out of the material about him in the Legislature. It quotes the precedent made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "When Mr. Whitney come in," it says, "it is to be expected that he will search his party through for the best Ministers it can produce." Sir Wilfrid had the Provincial Governments to draw from, and called Sir Oliver Mowat, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Blair, and Mr. Sifton to his counsels. Mr. Whitney could not go outside the province. He might draw from the former Ontario members of the Dominion Cabinet, Dr. Montague, Mr. John Haggart, Mr. J. C. Patterson, etc., for they are the only Ontario politicians who have had official experience. It is perhaps fortunate, therefore, that there is no probability that they will be called on.

The national spirit of the Conservatives seems to be trammelled by considerations of party advantage. The Grand Trunk Pacific railway in their eyes seems to lose all its self-evident, justification as a great and necessary national work from the simple fact that it is not the project of the Opposition. There are, however, some Conservatives who recognize a higher allegiance than that of mere party. The retiring president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, a leading Conservative, is one of these. In the course of a speech on Tuesday he insisted upon the building of a line like the Grand Trunk Pacific, as a necessity in developing the great North-west and increasing its prosperity. These circumstances involve the prosperity of the whole country. The more the North-west is peopled and built up the greater the trade with the new country and the industrial east of the Dominion.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Montreal has a technical education scheme on hand. The cost of it is placed at $250,000, of which $100,000 is available, and the Herald calls upon the prosperous manufacturers to furnish the balance. It argues that the benefits to them will be so direct and so great that subscriptions to that amount will be in the nature of an excellent investment. Our Montreal contemporary says: "Thousands of workmen are employed in our factories and it is to be confessed with regret that the very highest mechanical positions are generally filled by men who have been brought here from the United States, or by Canadians who have been trained abroad. The managers of factories say the explanation of this lies in the fact that Montreal gives no opportunity for a craftsman to learn the theory of his business." There is a great deal of truth in that. The youthful apprentice in many shops gets but little real teaching. He gathers what he gets by experience. This is a very effective kind of teaching as far as it goes, but it is expensive; and it wastefully ignors the scientific theories and the recorded experience of the ages, or leaves each to discover them anew for himself.

The advantages of a thorough technical training to the mechanic would be as great as the professional training to a lawyer or physician. The man who has a thorough grasp of the principles of his trade or profession, and who does not merely imitate some shape, form, method or action, but originates by applying those principles, is equipped properly for his work. And to so equip our artisans we need technical education.

For obvious reasons—among them the youth of the pupils, the cost of equipment and teachers—this education cannot be given in all the Public Schools. We need a well-equipped technical school in each manufacturing centre, where old and young could receive a thorough education suited to their needs, with night classes for those who, although they had to earn a living, might be still eager to better their qualifications in spare hours.

Peterborough should have such a school. No city in Canada offers a better field. Nowhere would the results be of more benefit. Surely the young men who are paying out thousands to foreign correspondence schools would gladly avail themselves of its advantages.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot affard to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

DAIRYMEN MAKE CHANGES IN METHODS.

Factories Grouped Into Districts and Syndicates.

The Eastern Dairymen's Association Board of Directors, has issued the following circular:—

"The Board of Directors of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, made some changes during the year 1903 in its management of the dairy business, and among the most important was a change in the method of instruction. The various factories in the Eastern District were formed into groups or syndicates, and an instructor was placed in charge of each, whose duty is as herein outlined.

"First, to instruct the patrons upon the care and handling of milk to make the finest cheese. Second, to look after and urge upon the owners of factories the improvement of their buildings and surroundings, and to persuade them to improve the sanitary conditions thereof. Third, to instruct the maker, when necessary, to improve the manufacture of cheese. Fourth, to test the milk of the patrons of the various factories, when found necessary, and to endeavour to improve the product of the factories over which they had control.

"While everything in connection with the working of this syndicate was not as satisfactory as we had hoped, yet the trial has been made, and the results are so convincing that we are adopting the same system with few modifications for this year.

"We again have associated with us Mr. G. G. Publow, who will be chief instructor, and with him at the head and the co-operation of the patrons, factory owners and makers, we hope to make greater progress during 1904 than in any previous year.

"Factory owners wishing to become members of the various syndicates in their respective districts will kindly notify the secretary as soon as possible.

"D. Derbyshire, President. R. G. Murphy, Secretary."

CLYDESDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The roads in this section are almost impassable. However the farmers are striving manfully to keep them open. Some are drawing tan bark to Coe Hill and others are drawing logs to Loon Lake. Amongst the latter are Messrs. Trotter and Co., and Messrs Gouley and Hobbins.

We were pleased to see Mr. Thos. Trotter back again from Peterborough, looking well after his visit. He is now hauling logs for Mr. Alex. Trotter. He says he would rather remain in town than haul logs on such roads as we have now.

Mr. Alex. Trotter has been exercising his fancy team this week.

Mr. D. McPherson went out to see his swamp but he thinks the snow is too deep for a lone man to start in.

Mr. Fred Rimmington is now canvassing for Chase Brothers' nursery.

Our sympathy goes out to Mr. J. Monague and family in their severe loss—burying two of the family in one week.

Mr. R. Fitzsimmons has returned home to Peterborough after a couple of months with his brother.

Mr. McCously and wife have returned to Belleville after visiting friends.

Mr. Simon Mahoney has his own time getting the teacher to S. S. No. 1 these days.

Mr. Callahoon is now measuring logs for the Rathbun Co., and overseeing operations.

Mr. John Trotter and wife are visiting south this winter.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Mr. H. J. Stuart and Mr. Theo. Crawford spent Sunday in Norwood visiting friends.

Mr. James Craig, who has been visiting friends in Port Hope, has returned to the village.

Mr. F. E. Darcy, the genral manager of the skating rink, is holding a masquerade carnival on the evening of Feb. 16th.

Mrs. R. Tate, who has been visiting in Toronto for a few days, has returned to the village accompanied by her friend, Miss Morrison.

Mr. Wm. Gray, of Peterborough, is spending a few days in the village owing to an attack of la grippe which prevents his resuming his work.

Dr. Robert Fraser, of Toronto, nephew of the late Dr. Duncan Fraser, has decided to locate in Lakefield for the purpose of practising medicine. Dr. Fraser is a young man and likely to work up a lucrative practice in the village and surrounding country.

A jolly crowd of ladies from the telephone office, Peterborough, drove to Lakefield Friday evening last and partook of an oyster supper at the Craig House, after which they visited the open air curling rink and enjoyed a friendly game among themselves.

Mr. Brady of Toronto, was in the village Tuesday.

A regular monthly meeting of Clementi Lodge A.F. and A.M., was held in their lodge room on Tuesday evening, Feb. 2nd.

The citizens of Lakefield are looking forward with interest to the erection of the proposed new post office which along with the much talked of cement walks will add much to the appearance of our front street.

Mr. R. Johnson is adding to his large stock of drygoods a line of groceries. The grocery department will be in full swing by the 15th.

Mrs. Stephenson, of Galt, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Peter Baptie, returned to her home on Wednesday.

Miss Fox, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Cox, Jr., of the village.

Miss G. Young, of Peterborough, who has been visiting Mrs. Kennedy for the past week, has returned home.

Miss Grahamn, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, Queen street.

Mr. Nathan Nicholls is fitting up a new barber shop on the corner opposite Mr. Casement's hardware store. Mr. Nicholls expects to move into his new quarters shortly, and will then have a shop to compare favourably with a high class city shop.

La grippe is very prevalent in this vicinity at present and the doctors find it difficult to meet all the demands for medical attendance.

SPRINGVILLE

(From our own Correspondent.)

Considerable interest is being taken in the attempt to obtain electric light and power. The agitation reaches all along the route to Millbrook, where there is a good opening for some enterprising company. Sufficient light and power could be contracted for along the route to pay good dividends on the investment. This should be a sufficient guarantee to induce some enterprising company to dispose of its surplus power in this way. An inducement could be made to capitalists to develop power by rebuilding the Lockie dam, where power could be obtained at a nominal cost.

The forming of a Board of Trade is the latest organized attempt to develop our resources; particulars later. This is a move forward, and should prove beneficial. The telephone communication so recently established is proving of so much convenience that many new subscribers are expected along the route.

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Keene, Feb. 2, 1904.

Miss Lillian and Agnes Campbell have gone to Toronto to pursue studies in music. They were accompanied by there mother, Mrs. Wm. Campbell, who spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Cruikshank.

We regret to report that Miss Reid is confined to the house with an attack of la grippe.

The "at home" given by the young men of Lang in their hall on Friday evening last, was a decided success. A number from Keene attended.

Miss Edith Henderson spent a few days in Peterborough last week.

Mr. Herb Quinn, of the Peterborough Business College, has been at home for several days with a severe attack of la grippe. Mrs. P. Quinn also is suffering from the same malady.

Miss Adeline Hope is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Cleary.

Miss L. Blezard spent Thursday with a number of her friends here.

HALL'S GLEN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A very profitable and practical discourse was delivered in the Zion Methodist church last Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Small of Manitoba.

Mr. A. Carveth has accepted the contract of hauling logs from Mr. D. Crowe's woods to the lake, and is making satisfactory progress. He has several of the farmers' teams in his employ and consequently is executing the necessary duties with alacrity.

The members of the H.G.L.S. have decided to discontinue their regular meetings until spring at which time they will re-open and proceed as formerly. Since the institution of this society some three months ago the membership has rapidly grown, and prospects of a still larger increase are evident.

The home of Mr. Wm. Carveth was the scene of considerable excitement on Saturday evening, the 23rd ult. A sleigh load of young people, after enjoying a pleasant drive, spent a profitable evening, participating in various amusements, games, vocal and instrumental music, etc.

The unusual quantity of snow, which prevails in this vicinity, is playing havoc with several buildings in the neighbourhood. The destruction of Mr. William Batten's large frame barn was the most noteworthy, and which was almost frustrated from the concussion of snow on the roof. Fortunately no serious injuries were inflicted otherwise.

Mr. E. Carveth is now in the employ of Mr. F. W. Payne, who is hauling cedar to Stony Lake. The employer who has been carrying on an extensive business in this line for the last few years, is making remarkable progress this winter.

The roads in this vicinity are in a very bad condition due to the heavy and frequent snow storms of the past few weeks. Many of the private roads are completely blocked and consequently several of our neighbours have been obliged to expose themselves to unusual hardships in opening the roads.

A very cordial reception was extended to Mr. D. Dixon by his many friends on his return from South Africa, where he has spent some time in military service.

Mr. J. Crowe, who is stationed at Apsley, conducted the services on Sunday in the absence of our pastor, Rev. Mr. McQuade.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE TO END OF 1903.

Canada's foreign trade for the six months ending December 31st, amounted to $257,960,918, against $239,023,476 for the same period of 1902, being an increase of $18,887,442. This statement includes imports for consumption, exports of domestic and and foreign products, and coin and bullion. The total exports, domestic and foreign are about the same as for the year previous. Domestic exports show a decrease of about $2,000,000, but an increase of about $2,000,000 in exports of the mine. Fishery exports are less by $800,000, and products of the forest by a million and a half of dollars. Exports of manufactures are better by about $500,000. There is a decrease of about a million dollars in the exports of cattle and $3,000,000 in wheat. As regards the two last mentioned items it is believed to be due to the fact that the farmers are holding their wheat and cattle for a rise in prices, which, in these prosperous times, they can well afford to do.

Imports, Six Months.

Dutiable goods	$84,562,161	$74,380,966
Free goods	39,619,513	47,142,983
Totals	$103,201,614	$121,523,008
Duty collected	$17,214,116	$20,472,142

Domestic Exports, Six Months.

Products, mine	$18,618,617	$20,535,150
Products, fisher's	6,839,775	6,007,286
Products forest	22,607,946	22,066,479
Animals and produce	45,173,795	43,496,963
Agriculture	21,516,896	21,843,982
Manufactures	9,634,070	10,083,206
Miscellaneous	56,457	10,370
Totals	$126,201,466	$122,983,984

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

It upsets the nerves.

It poisons the system.

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill increases the necessary supply of gastric juice in quantity and quality to insure perfect stomach action. It has similar action on bile formation. Anyone can prove this for himself by addressing WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample.

GAMEY CALLED DOWN

Stopped Several Times for Using Offensive Language.

HE MADE PERSONAL ATTACKS

The Editor of the Globe, the Premier and Mr. Stratton All in Turn Assailed, But the Speaker Finally Stopped the Man From Manitoulin By the Rules of the House.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The man from Manitoulin spoke for nearly two hours in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gamey had taken particular care that the performance should be properly advertised, and as a result all the galleries were jammed long before the Speaker took the chair. Indeed, so far as the audience went, all the records of last session were easily beaten. So tightly were the people squeezed into the Ladies' Gallery that newspaper men arriving after 3 o'clock were unable to force their way through the mass in the passageway leading to the Press Gallery. The sensation that Mr. Gamey had heralded in North Oxford proved to be personal attacks on those who have undertaken to criticize the vagaries of this member extraordinary. The editor of The Globe was first roundly abused, and then the Premier became the subject of epithets regarded as so offensive by the Speaker that he felt compelled to interfere and call his attention to the fact that he was transgressing all Parliamentary rules. Mr. Gamey, scarcely heeding the hint, proceeded to assail the Provincial Secretary, until Mr. Stratton rose and emphatically stated that he had already sworn a denial of the charge being made against him, and it ought not to be repeated in the House. Mr. Gamey was ignoring this denial, when the Speaker again rebuked him, and he then started to discuss matters that were very thoroughly thrashed out in the Legislature last year after the report of the commission had been presented. The Speaker once more broke in to say that, while he was prepared to give Mr. Gamey considerable latitude, he must keep within some law, and must not refer to matters previously voted on by the House without moving an amendment, which he could not do until the amendment to the amendment then before the House had been disposed of. Mr. Gamey declared that he would certainly move such an amendment if he could find words to "stick into it," and, by way of advertisement, said that he had much to say that would greatly interest the Province on the accusation that he had brought against the Ministers, and would say it then. After declaring that either he or the Ministers were not entitled to sit in the House, Mr. Gamey resumed his seat. It was a thoroughly characteristic speech unique in the annals of the Legislature.

In the early part of his speech Mr. Gamey discussed with considerable force the needs of New Ontario.

The other speakers were Messrs. McCart and Duff, and at the evening session —the first since the opening of the House—Mr. Graham delivered one of the best speeches heard since the debate commenced. Referring to the argument that Mr. A. E. Dunlop could not legally sit for North Renfrew, Mr. Graham contended that the House was supreme, and would certainly find some way of overriding a technicality that threatened to deprive a member of the seat that rightly belonged to him.

Mr. Hanna moved the adjournment, and will conclude the debate this afternoon, a division then being taken on the amendment. Mr. Henry Carscallen of Hamilton, who is ill, and who, it is said, will probably not be able to appear in the House at all this session, has been paired with Mr. J. R. Barber of Halton.

Municipal Ownership.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Secretary Emil W. Ritter of the Referendum League, has informed the City Council that the petition for submission of the following question to a vote of the people were filed yesterday: Immediate municipal ownership of the street car lines; licenses to operate instead of franchises. These questions appeared on the "little ballot" at the April election. Mr. Ritter says the number of names he will file exceeds 100,000.

Increase in Mounted Police.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—In view of the largely increased sphere of operations of the Northwest Mounted Police, and the immense area of territory which they now have to patrol, the force is to be augmented by 100 men. At present the police number 800, of whom 500 are in the Northwest and 300 in the Yukon.

Live Stock Show O.K.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

If You Have These Symptoms

Send for My Book.

If you want to feel better,
If you want more strength,
If you lack ambition,
If you can't do things like you used to,
If you lack confidence in yourself,
If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you,
If you lack vim, vigour, vitality,
If something is eating away your constitution, write to me for the book you need.

The book tells of my discovery. Tells how after thirty years I found the cause of the symptoms given above—and of many others.

The book tells how by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside, the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation.

Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures in five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now by any sick one

DR. SHOOP'S RESTORATIVE

Can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial.

Use the restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist "It did not help me" that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me.

This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick.

If you have a weakness write me.

If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—to-day.

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

COMMITS MAGUIRE AND LOUDEN.

Magistrate Demands Bonds For Their Appearance—Assessment Department.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The announcement of Special Investigator Riddell that he would not close the examination into the Assessment Department until all the evidence had been received in the other branch of the trial before Judge Winchester, the issuance of subpoenas for first witnesses to be brought before Judge Morgan to-morrow, and the selection of A. F. Lobb as the assistant to Mr. Riddell, were new features in the scandal yesterday. The holding for trial of Deputy Returning Officer Maguire and Poll Clerk Louden for irregularities in the third division of the Third Ward, and the preparation to try Cahoon, the Grays and the Giannellis yesterday, were the developments in the police court end of the case yesterday. Samuel Thompson is still protected by the physician certificate, and may escape trial until Monday.

When the counsel for Maguire and Louden suggested that the accused be released on their own bond when held to trial, the court replied very promptly that he would do no such thing, and placed each at $600, or two sureties of $300 each. Alfred and Thomas Maguire signed the bond for the returning officer, and Geo. Briggs and Wm. Hassard for Louden.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST LA GRIPPE

Keep your Stomach Right by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—A Bad Stomach Means a Weak Body Unable to Fight Disease.

These are the days of la grippe. It is the substitute for a bad cold, but in the old days of less hurry and good stomachs it was not looked upon as being so catching or so dangerous.

Did you ever stop to think of the reason. It is when the stomach is out of order the different parts of the body do not receive the nourishment they require. The body becomes starved and weak and is not able to ward off disease or fight against it once it has taken hold.

The safeguard against la grippe is a good stomach; the best and most lasting cure for la grippe is a good stomach. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets ensure a good stomach. Thousands of people will tell you that out of their own experience, and those thousands haven't got la grippe either.

Marie Ann Bujold of Maria Cap, Bonaventure County, Quebec, says:—"The cures of dyspepsia by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are wonderful. For two years my life was a burden. I could not take the simplest food without a pain across my stomach. One box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured me completely."

Provincial Board of Health.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health interrupted its routine business yesterday for the purpose of presenting Dr. Bryce with a grandfather's clock. Much regret was expressed on Dr. Bryce's removal to Ottawa. Dr. Hodgetts presented his report, giving a general review of the infectious disease cases dealt with during the past year.

THE DOMINION GRANGE.

Officers Elected and Installed—Deputation Waits on Premier.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The Dominion Grange closed is annual meeting last night, at the Albion Hotel, after installing the newly elected officers, as follows: Henry Grose, reeve of Innisfil, W. Master; Thomas MacMurchy, Loree, W. Overseer; W. F. W. Fisher, Burlington, W. Secretary; James Fallis, Newbridge, W. Treasurer; John Cowan, Vine, W. Lecturer; William Oke, Whitby, W. Chaplain; Walter Ralston, Lefroy, W. Steward; Eben Todd, Lefroy, W. Assistant Steward; William Martin, Innisfil, gatekeeper; Executive Committee, A. Primrose, George E. Fisher; auditors, James Bowman, Vine; W. J. Goodfellow, Craigvale. Lady officers: Ceres, Miss Cowan, Whitby; Pomona, Miss L. Bowman, Whitby; Flora, Mrs. E. Brown, Whitby; L. A. Steward, Mrs. Warnica, Painswick.

Premier Ross was waited on by a large deputation from the Dominion Grange and asked to make Mr. Pettypiece's bill for the taxation of railways a Government measure.

The Premier after listening attentively, in reply, said the new bill would contain some advantage to the municipalities.

The first American directory was issued at Philadelphia in 1785 by Francis White. It comprised eighty-three pages, with 3,570 names, and was sold at half a dollar.

Muddy Complexion.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood which will be entirely removed when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowles. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

FORMER GOVERNOR OF CANADA

Says Lord Spencer Is Unjust and Defends the Colonies.

London, Feb. 4.—(C. A. P.)—The Duke of Argyll, in a letter to The Times, declares that Lord Spencer is unjust to the colonial preference given the Motherland. Lord Spencer does not understand the necessity felt by a colony to foster its territories. Manufactures were bred in Britain also under a tariff. Canada, New Zealand, Australia were all pressing forward in the lines of the conference of Premiers. Instead of minimizing colonial efforts towards preferential trade within the Empire, "we should acknowledge the hearty brotherhood which in peace and war desire to work with us," The Duke adds: "Booth's five per cent. preference against foreign manufacturers is quite enough to show our good will and withdrawal would not be resented if it was proved that it harmed home interests."

Liberal Unionists Stand.

London, Feb. 4.—(C. A. P.)—The Liberal-Unionists at a meeting of their executive council held here yesterday, decided to maintain their organization. The meeting was called to discuss the situation arising from the publication Jan. 11 of the correspondence between Joseph Chamberlain and the Duke of Devonshire, former Lord President of the Council. Mr. Chamberlain presided and made a speech setting forth the necessity of the existence of the association. Only two members voted against the resolution providing for the maintenance of the association.

Bounty of Wheat.

London, Feb. 4.—(C. A. P.)—The Standard this morning says it understands that the Government and Joseph Chamberlain are considering a suggestion which has been made that instead of a duty on foreign wheat a bounty should be given on wheat grown in Great Britain and the colonies, as a proposal less objectionable than a protective tax.

Duplicity Was Present.

London, Feb. 4.—(C.A.P.)—The Glasgow Herald (Unionist) says the action of the American Government in the Alaska case suggests an amount of duplicity it is not pleasant to impute, either to nations or individuals. It is certain that in any future arbitration, whether the Dominion Government obtains the treaty-making power Sir Wilfrid Laurier sought or not, it will drive such a bargain as will give duplicity no chance.

Foster New Markets.

London, Feb. 4.—(C. A. P.)—At Friday's meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce a resolution will be moved urging the Government to foster by every possible means the systematic creation of new markets by enabling emigrants to be drafted to free homesteads in Canada.

Smart Gone to Paris.

London, Feb. 4.—(C.A.P.)—James A. Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior, says the prospects for a very large increase of Scottish emigration during the year 1904 are exceedingly promising. Mr. Smart went to Paris yesterday.

SUCCESSES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

German Garrison Relieved By Forces With Two Guns.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—The following cablegram has been received from Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa, from the commander of the German gunboat Habicht:

"The garrison at Windhoek and Okahandja have been relieved by Franke's company with two guns. The relief of Okagandja occurred Jan. 27, Emperor William's birthday, and was without losses.

"On Jan. 28, there occurred a terrific battle between the gallant little German force and the enemy, who numbered thousands. The engagement lasted for six hours and ended with the storming of the main camp of the enemy, situated on Kaiser Wilhelm Mountain. Four Germans were wounded.

"After this defeat the enemy withdrew to the Otjistangati Hills. The enemy devastated all the farms and railroad stations in the Windhoek and Okahandja district, a portion of the Karibb and the barracks of the mountain battery at Johana Albrecht's Heights.

"The losses so far are known to be forty-four settlers, including women and children, killed, and in most cases the bodies were mutilated. The military losses amount to twenty-six and there have been fifty other fatalities.

"It is probable that Gobadis has been beseiged since Jan. 16. The march on Omaruru will begin tomorrow. Col. Luetwein, Governor of German Southwest Africa, is expected here by steamer on Feb. 5. Lieut. Winkler has arrived here with supports from the steamer Ernst Woermann."

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is an antiseptic and unequalled as a quick healing liniment for cuts, bruises and burns. For sale by all druggists.

Rector Objected to "Fatty."

Windsor, Feb. 4.—Rev. D. H. Hind of Sandwich, rector of St. John's Church, administered a sound beating to an insolent passenger on a car in which he was riding Tuesday night. Dr. Hind is short and corpulent, but was a trained athlete in his younger days. The man addressed Mr. Hind as "Fatty," and followed up the remarks with others of a more insulting nature.

McDougall Case Again Adjourned.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Alfred McDougall, who is accused of embezzling funds of the Government, did not appear to answer the charge. His physicism claimed that he was too ill to appear, and stated McDougall's condition was such that it would not be wise to take him out of the house. Judge Winchester further adjourned the case until May 18.

Conference Without An Agreement.

Indianapolis, Feb. 4.—The joint conference between the operators and the mine workers has adjourned without an agreement. A sub-committee of one miner and an operator for each State has been appointed to fix a date for a future conference.

Obeyed Instructions.

The city editor summoned the photographer of his staff. "Colonel Welligan's house is burning," he said, "and I want a picture of the fire. Get out there as quick as you can with your camera and take a view of what's left of the building from the inside of the fence corner."

"But," said the photographer, "if"—

"That's the point I want it taken from—right in the corner."

"But I think there's"—

"I don't care whether there's a better point or not. You know what I want. Hurry up. You are losing time."

The photographer took his camera and departed. A few hours later he came in with the proof of a picture he had taken from the desired point of view.

"What is this?" said the city editor.

"That is a photograph of the ruins of Colonel Welligan's house from the inside corner of the fence near the street."

"I can't see anything of the house."

"I couldn't, either," responded the photographer. "I tried to tell you there was a big tree standing between that corner and the house, but you wouldn't let me."

Tibet, the Strange Land.

It is a wonderful country and a strange people. Think of a tract of land where hot springs abound, round which the deposits are of such rainbow tints as blue, purple, green, red and yellow. It is easy to imagine that the landscape effects of such coloring are wondrous. The social customs of the people are scarcely less astounding. Polygamy is common where the men are rich enough, for wives seem to be a question of wealth. When poverty compels them, several men will have one wife in common. Brothers usually enter into those strange partnerships. The people rarely wash, finding it warmer to be dirty. The men anoint their faces with butter, while the women stain their countenances mahogany color with wood chips and lacquer the bridges of their noses jet black. Cleanliness is an unesteemed practice.—London Outlook.

A Small Fire.

Last night a chimney in the Dolan block caught on fire, not the one of the C.P.R. ticket office, as reported "on the street." The presence of the dense smoke caused the fire alarm to be sent in to the station. The brigade quickly turned out, but experienced a little difficulty in getting at the fire. However, the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Fire! Smoke! Water! Ice!

Every day people who have bought groceries at Holmes' fire sale, come back for more. This shows the values we are giving. Don't be deterred by the crowds it—there's plenty of soaps for all. Although the goods went through the fire—just near enough to call them "damaged"—most of them are as good as ever. Boxes of soaps, prunes, and matches, etc., bags of rice, cans of vegetables, fruits and fish, hogsheads of vinegar, molasses and syrup, chests of tea, barrels of herrings, sugar and salt, quarters of cured pork, packages of teas, cereals, etc., all at prices scorched out of recognition. Sale goes merrily on in the "Metropole" store, a few doors west of our burnt premises. J. Holmes.

SEVEREST WINTER OF VERY MANY YEARS.

Last Night Mercury Stood at Fifteen Below Zero.

It is only the grizzled old pioneers who hewed out their homes in the bush, which used to cover this district, who can recall such a severe winter as the present one—a winter during which such extremes in both snow and the temperature have been experienced. And within the last few weeks such heavy snow storms have fallen over Peterborough County that traffic has been seriously, almost disasterously impeded, The present week has not brought with it such snows as the week previous, but the town is void of the fur wrapped farmer and the market of his farm products. On Tuesday a party of several started to drive to Bobcaygeon. Leaving here at 1 o'clock they did not arrive at their destination until nearly 8 o'clock at night, taking seven hours to cover a distance of about 25 miles. By 'phone they described the roads as "awful," and are now snowed up in Bobcaygeon. The few farmers to be seen state that the roads to the north are absolutely impassible, being highly barricaded by the drifted snow. The temperature of the last week has not been the lowest yet, but on Monday night the thermometer touched 27 below zero, while although it was only 15 below last night, the mercilessly biting wind, made it feel far colder.

The trains of the past few days have generally been from one to two hours late, those from the west as a rule being more overdue than those from the opposite direction.

This morning dawned severely bright and was quite a contrast to yesterday, and to-day the storm bound housewife was able to do her own shopping "down town."

SHAKSPERE'S MACBETH.

The Subject of an Admirable Address by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick.

The lecture room of the T.A.S. was last evening crowded to its utmost capacity by an audience that assembled to hear Rev. Father Fitzpatrick on Shakspere's masterpiece "Macbeth," and the admirable manner in which the subject was handled by the reverend gentleman showed that he was a close student of the productions of the immortal Lord of Avon.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick took up only three acts of this celebrated drama during the evening and his description of the different characters which has made the play famous, as well as the plot, was an intellectual treat which is rarely enjoyed. The reverend gentleman has a happy faculty of holding an audience interested to the finish, and his descriptive powers as well as the chaste diction in which his address was clothed, made the evening's discourse a delightful one. In concluding the speaker urged upon his hearers to read and study the productions of Shakspere, but above all to take up Macbeth.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended the reverend gentlemen at the close, and short congratulatory addresses were made by Rev. Fathers McColl, Dr. O'Brien and Galvin.

During the evening an excellent musical programme was introduced by the chairman, Mr. Frank Pope. It consisted of selections by T.A.S. orchestra, instrumental duet by the Misses Dorris, vocal solos by Misses L. Halliday, L. Clancy, M. Young, and Messrs. E. Plouffe and T. J. Begley, and a recitation by Mr. James Dorris.

MISS HILLS IN COOKING LECTURE.

Will Give Interesting Demonstration To-night in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

An event which will doubtless be of special interest to ladies will be the demonstration in cooking to be given in the Y.M.C.A. Hall to-night by Miss Hills, under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. Miss Hills is a graduate of the Toronto Technical School, and her lecture and demonstration will be most interesting.

Demonstrations in plain cooking will be held on Tuesday and Friday evenings at nine o'clock, in household cooking on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at three o'clock, and in superior cooking on Monday and Thursday mornings at ten o'clock.

WILL REMOVE TO UNITED STATES.

Messrs. Hartley and Chowen Will Manufacture Warping Reel Attachment.

THE INVENTION A SUCCESS.

From 4 000 to 6,000 Reels in the United States Upon Which the Attachment may be Used—The Reward of Industry.

Quietly and unostentatiously two Peterborough gentlemen have been working on the perfecting of a warping reel attachment which men who are competent to judge, said after its completion and trial that it would practically revolutionize the weaving trade. Messrs. Hartley and Chowen, both employees of the Auburn Woollen Mills for many years are the inventors, and they have now decided to leave Peterborough for the United States where they will engage in the manufacture of this attachment, after having been assured that it will be adopted generally by the weaving mills in that country, of which there are a great many, from 4,000 to 6,000 reels being in use.

The inventors will probably locate in Lowell, Mass, and commence the manufacture of this attachment there, as it is in the centre of the textile district, and manufacture could be carried on profitably there.

Mr. Hartley and Mr. Chowen are extremely modest over their achievement, which promises so much, and refuse to say anything about themselves.

A statement was made in these columns some months ago to the effect that patents had been granted to Messrs. Wm. Hartley and Rich. J. Chowen on a warping reel attachment, and that Mr. Hartley, one of the inventors had gone to the United States to arrange for the disposal of the patent rights. While Mr. Hartley did go to the United States, as stated, he did not sell the right, and the net result is that the inventors will leave for Massachusetts in a few days where they purpose to engage in the manufacture of the attachment themselves. After an investigation of the conditions which Mr. Hartley found prevailing in the textile trade in the United States, Mr. Chowen and he decided not to try to sell their patent as it was believed that more profit could be obtained by manufacturing the attachment than by selling the patent right. The Davis-Furber Company, with whom the inventors had been in communication, gave the machine a thorough inspection and Mr. Hartley had the attachment placed in use in one of the largest woollen worsted mills in the United States, located in North Andover, Mass., with the result that both the Davis-Furber Company and the proprietors of the mill in which it was placed, were highly pleased with the work which it did, and Mr. Hartley was assured that once the attachment could be placed upon the market, a ready sale would be found for it.

While on his trip Mr. Hartley visited the Lowell Textile Schools, an which the art of textile manufacture, woollen, worsted and cotton is taught. These schools are attended by 1,000 students from all parts of America, and cover an area of ground as large as that covered by the works of the C. G. E. Co., here. The head of the weaving and dressing department was shown drawings of the attachment of which Mr. Hartley and Mr. Chowen are the inventors, and was highly pleased with it, saying that he considered it a great improvement and one which would prove of great benefit to the weaving trade. Mr. Hartley also visited one of the largest worsted mills in the United States, where 4,500 hands are employed, and here also the attachment proved to be a great attraction to the proprietors, who were delighted with the working of the machine. Mills in Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester and other places were visited by Mr. Hartley and in each of them the attachment was well received, and the opinion expressed that its use would greatly improve the quality of goods manufactured on machines upon which the attachment was placed. Mr. Hartley however learned enough on his trip to convince him that his invention would be adopted by the largest mills throughout the country, and this statement means more than the ordinary person realizes.

The population of some of the New England States is engaged almost entirely in the weaving trade. In the city of Lawrence, with a population of 44,000, fully two thirds of the population is engaged in mills, in which cottons or woollens are manufactured. In the cities of Lowell and Lawrence, the streets in the factory districts are almost impassible for fully half an hour after the whistles blow at noon or night, the number of employees coming from the mills is so large.

It will thus be seen that there is a large field for the development of the use of the attachment. In the United States there are from 4,000 to 6,000 reels on which the attachment could be used, including those engaged in the manufacture of cotton, worsted or woollen goods. Even if the inventors succeeded in placing them on but one third of the possible number, it will pay them handsomely.

The encouragement which Mr. Hartley met with on a trip through a part of the textile manufacturing district has influenced he and Mr. Chowen to go to the United States, and manufacture and place on the market this attachment. While they have not decided definitely it is probable that they will locate at Lowell or Worcester, Mass., which are right in the centre of the weaving district, and the machines could be manufactured there more advantageously than in any other place. The inventors will commence manufacturing on a small scale at first, and increase the output as the demand for the attachment grows. While Messrs. Hartley and Chowen would much prefer to remain in Canada and manufacture their machine here, such a course is not practicable, as the Canadian market is a comparatively small one, and the demand limited, while to supply the United States trade from Canada is impossible, rendered so by the duty of 45 per cent. on machinery going to the United States, the addition of which to the cost of the machine would make its manufacture in Canada out of the question. Then, too, castings can be purchased in the States cheaper than in Canada, all of which combine to make their manufacture in the States much more advantageous than in Canada.

The inventors of this attachment, both men well known in Peterborough, are extremely modest about their achievement, and information as to the success of the invention has to be gained from other sources, but it has been learned by the Examiner, although the inventors themselves refused to discuss it, that the attachment has proven a great success, and one which promises to be most profitable to the inventors, who have spent years of work in perfecting the attachment. Both men have been employees of the Auburn Woollen Mills for a number of years. Mr. Hartley is boss dresser and has worked in the mills here for twenty years, with the exception of a period of one year when he was off the staff. Mr. Chowen has filled a position for eighteen years with the company, and for a number of years has been master mechanic. Both are valuable men and the company will be the loser by their departure from its staff. They have, however, the best wishes, both of the company and their fellow-employees for the success which their skill and integrity deserve. They will probably leave town in about ten days for Lowell, Mass., and will immediately make arrangements to commence the manufacture of this attachment.

RETURNED FROM B. & M. I. U. CONVENTION.

Chairman J. J. Hartley of the Education Board Get Good Pointers.

Mr. J. J. Hartley, who was a delegate to the 38th annual convention of the B. & M. I. U., of America, which convened in Trenton, N. J., on Jan. 11th, returned home yesterday. Mr. Hartley says the convention was the largest and most successful ever held, there being about 400 delegates present. After the convention adjourned Mr. and Mrs. Hartley spent a couple of weeks visiting friends on the American side. They visited New York, Philadelphia, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Batavia. As the last named city is noted for its educational advantages and advancement, Mr. Hartley visited some of the schools there and got some good pointers in regard to school matters, which the local board will get the benefit of.

FALL ON ICE CAUSED DEATH.

Mr. Wm. Jackson Died This Morning From Injuries Received.

Fatal results have attended a fall which Mr. William Jackson sustained about seven weeks ago at the post office. He was alighting from a sleigh when he fell on the ice, breaking his arm and suffering internal injuries. From these he never recovered, and for the last four weeks has been confined to bed, and died this morning at his late residence 2 Lansdowne avenue.

The late Mr. Jackson was 75 years of age, 35 of which he spent in Peterborough, coming from Kingston here. He was born in Glasgow, and came to Canada when 25 years of age. He was well known in Peterborough, having worked at his trade as a machinist for the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company for 17 years, during a part of which time he hold the position of foreman. He was also engineer for a time on the Calcutt line of steamers. He had lived in the house where he died for 34 years.

The late Mr. Jackson leaves five sons and one daughter, his wife having died eight years ago. The sons are William of Pontypool; James, Andrew and Archie, of Peterborough; and the daughter, Mrs. James W. Kane of New York.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at a quarter to eight o'clock, to the G.T.R. station, from where the body will be taken to Kingston for interment.

Mr. T. W. Glover to Speak in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

All who desire to hear Mr. T. W. Glover, "the man from New Zealand," must attend at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow, Friday, evening at 8 o'clock when he will give his lecture on Temprance and New Zealand, for the Good Templars. The admission is free and the lecture will be illustrated by a series of stereoptican views prepared for and presented to the lecturer by the Governments of New Zealand and New South Wales. Mr. Glover leaves on Saturday for the west.

AN I. O. G. T. LODGE WAS INSTITUTED.

Officers Will be Elected at a Meeting To-morrow Night.

One of the results of the visit of Mr. T. W. Glover to Peterborough is the formation of a Good Templars Lodge, the organization meeting for which was held on Tuesday night. A number became members, and at a meeting to be held to-morrow night it is expected that the number will be increased, and at this meeting officers will be elected.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF EDUCATION BOARD

Held in Secretary's Office George Street Last Night.

Large Attendance of Members Present Standing Committees for the Year Were Appointed.

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education was held in the secretary's office, George street, last night at 7 o'clock, when there were present, Messrs. J. J. McBain, Jas. Stevenson, H. P. Kennedy, R. Fair, Dr. Burnham, J. Crane, W. Pringle, F. J. Jameson, W. H. Wrighton, V. Eastwood, W. G. Ferguson, R. B. Rogers, L. M. Hayes, H. W. Morgan, J. J. Hartley and the secretary, Mr. W. G. Morrow.

The first business of the evening was the election of a chairman, the vote being taken by ballot. Mr. J. J. Hartley was chosen and took the chair.

He thanked the Board for the honour bestowed upon him and dwelt at some length on the manner in which the Board members had worked with him in the past year. He hoped the confidence in him for the next year would not be lost. He spoke of the important duties before the Board this year, mentioning in passing, the municipal ownership of text books, and the need of a new Collegrate Institute building. In conclusion he again thanked the Board for their confidence placed in him in the past and sincerely hoped that by the end of the year it would not be lost.

It was moved by Mr. Crane, seconded by Dr. Burnham, that Messrs. Kennedy, Ferguson, Pringle, Hayes and Jameson be a special committee for the purpose of striking the Standing Committees.—Carried.

After having retired the Committee reported as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee appointed to strike the Standing Committees for the year 1904, begs leave to report as follows:—

Finance—L. M. Hayes, J. J. McBain, W. H. Wrighton, R. Fair and Jas. Stevenson.

Property—V. Eastwood, H. P. Kennedy, W. G. Ferguson, F. J. Jameson, R. B. Rogers and J. Crane.

Supervision—W. Pringle, W. H. Hill, Dr. Burnham, H. Morgan and P. Hamilton.

That the Committee on Appointments be the whole Board.

That the Visiting Committee be the same as last year with the addition of Messrs. Rogers and Morgan added.

All of which is respectively submitted.

W. G. FERGUSON,
Chairman.

Of the two new members of the Board, Messrs. Morgan and Rogers, the former was elected for two years and the latter for one.

The next business of the evening was the election of chairmen for the various committees and resulted as follows:

W. H. Hill, Committee on Appointments; L. M. Hayes, Finance Committee; V. Eastwood, Property Committee; W. Pringle, Supervision Committe.

The Board then adjourned.

For Stomach Troubles.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation," says Mrs. S. Geiger, of Dunkerton, Iowa, "but never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets." For sale by all druggists.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough Ladies Defeat Lindsay by 10--0—Galt Won Ontario Tankard.

LADIES' TEAM WON FROM LINDSAY.

Defeated Home Team Last Night by 10-0.

The Peterborough Ladies Hockey team has played its first game for the season and won. Last night the local ladies' septette played the Lindsay team on the latters' ice, defeating the home team by 10—0, in a game which, despite the large score run up by the visitors, was fast. The Lindsay ladies played a good game, but the defence of the visitors was too strong, and they failed to locate the nets. The visiting team played an excellent game; and received rounds of applause from the rink full of spectators for their good playing.

The score at half time was 9—0 and in the second half the home team played defence, with the result that only one goal was scored. Miss Lulu Scott was the star player, scoring 6 of the 10 goals.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Peterborough — Goal, Miss Jean Scott; point, Miss M. Davidson; cover point, Miss Linda Hall; forwards, Misses Lulu Scott, Gwen Hall, captain; Madge McGill, Florence Scott; Goal umpire, Miss Mona Cavanah; Time-keeper, Miss Helen Hall.

Mintos—Goal, Miss Kit Watson; point, Miss M. Koyle; cover point, Miss Polly Maunder; forwards, Misses Ruby Laidlaw, Katie Milne, V. Laidlaw, J. Milne; Goal umpire Miss Perkins; Time-keeper, Miss Watson.

Referee—"Goosie" Taylor.

The ladies are much pleased with the entertainment provided. After the game a delightful dance was held in their honour, at Mrs. Milne's, at which there were in addition to the ladies compriaing the team: Messrs. MacPherson, Cavanah, Bowes and Laird, from Peterborough.

Mrs. W. J. Green accompanied the ladies as chaperon.

OLD COUNTRYMEN MET TO FORM TEAMS.

An Enthusiastic Gathering in Crown Hotel Last Night.

Notwithstanding the short notice which had been given there was a large attendance at the meeting held in the Crown Hotel last night for the purpose of forming a football and cricket club to be constituted of Old Country men. The meeting in every detail was most enthusiastic and there is every indication of the formation of first class teams. The main business of the evening was the discussion of Association football, while cricket will be taken up at the next meeting. On motion it was resolved that the name of the club be the "Old Country Wanderers," and that it be impressed on the public generally that this is not entirely an English team, all men from England, Ireland and Scotland and Wales being invited to join.

The next meeting—when it is hoped that all true lovers of sport will attend, as all are heartily invited—will be held at the Crown Hotel, opposite the Post Office, next Wednesday evening, Feb. 10th, at 8.30 p. m.

CROSS-COUNTRY RACE SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Belland and Burns Will Run 5 Miles for a Medal.

The Examiner is in receipt of the following post card from Toronto:

Dear Sir,—I am sorry that I cannot come down and see Mr .D. Belland run on February 6th, 1904, but all the same Dave is a good man and it takes a good man to beat him, and the people of Peterborough ought to be proud of him. Dave beat me once in New York City.

Yours Truly,
SPLINTER.

Mr. Belland is getting into condition for his cross country race with Burns on Saturday afternoon, and the prospects are good for a keenly contested race. The winners will start from the Oriental Hotel and the course will be to Downer's Corners and return.

GALT CURLERS WON THE TANKARD.

Defeated the Caledonians in a Close Match.

Toronto Globe.—Galt's bunch of youngsters did the unexpected yesterday afternoon at the Granite rink when they defeated the Toronto Caledonians in the final game for the Ontario Tankard. It was generally conceded that the Caledonians, who are veterans at the game, would triumph, but the "Kindergartners" from Galt, displayed superior ability and pulled out on top half a dozen shots to the good. The winners played carefully although missing few shots, and very seldom failed to do the right thing at the right time. They were confronted with a hard proposition at the early stage of the game, the Caledonains securing a big lead, but the Galties stuck to their guns nobly and soon overhauled their opponents.

PUCKERINGS.

To-night the long looked for game between the Review and Examiner teams will take place, commencing at nine o'clock. The game promises to be the fastest (?) played on local ice this winter, and some startling developments are looked for. Manager Ross has his team in good condition and is confident of victory, although the opposing team has been doing considerable boasting of the prowess of its players. Miss Florence Scott has very kindly consented to act as referee for the game and her presence on the ice is a guarantee that it will be free from questionable tactics. Manager Ross' team will be as follows:

Goal,—GILLMAN.
Point,—LA PIERRE,
Cover Point,—HUTCHINSON,
Rover,—R. LONG,
Right Wing,—H. HENRY,
Left Wing,—RICHEA,
Centre,—REID.
Goal Umpire,—M. BRAND.
Time Keeper,—H. A. LITTLEDALE.

The original team chosen to represent the Examiner has been slightly changed because of the intention of the Review team to play rugers unless Manager Ross dropped his best man, and, Mr. Ross who is willing to do anything in reason, consented to the unprecedented request. The game will start sharp at nine o'clock and through the kindness of the rink management, spectators will be admitted free.

An exciting game of hockey was played on Wednesday afternoon on Sam Kitchen's rink, between the Northern Lights and the G. F. Co. It was a very interesting game all through, as there was a lot of rough playing done. The line-up was as follows: Goal, L. Hogan; point, J. Revoy; cover point, Bunty Evans; forwards, J. Coughlin, L. Miller, D. Smith, R. Brookbank. The forward line played a very interesting game all the way through and played their places well. L. Hogan, the wooden man, let every shot go in, but there were not many. The bull of the ring, J. Revoy, played pretty well for a greenhorn and he had all kinds of hockey socks on. The score was 3 to 5 in favour of the Northern Lights. G. Hamilton was referee.—Com.

To-night at ten o'clock, at the conclusion of the Review-Examiner game the Druggists will play Barrie's Bedellas. The prospects are that the game will be a fast one, as neither team has been defeated this season. The Druggists will line up as follows:

• • • •

Barrie's Bedellas have decided to place the following team on the ice to-night against the Pill Pounders. The Dan Spence memorial ambulance has been engaged to cart the remains of the Druggists to the morgue for medical inspection.

Goal, J. P. Carey, midget wonder; point, W. W. Armstrong, "dark horse"; cover point, Sir Chas. S. Sargent; rover, rover, A. E. Brundrette, robin; centre, W. McCormach, torpedo; right wing, Hon. Frederick Clancy; left wing, A. Vanderwater, flying Dutchman.

• • • •

• • • •

The "Office Bunch" of the American Cereal Co. hereby challenge the office staff of the McAllister Milling Co. to a game of hockey at any time rink can be procured.—Will G. Cochrane, captain.

• • • •

Chaucer Elliott, in his official report of the Belleville Picton match, states that the score was 20 to 8 and not 19 to 9, as sent out in the modest despatches from Belleville.—Kingston Whig.

Mr .Herb o'Flynn, of Madoc, is receiving no end of praise from the U.S. papers. In the report of a recent match between the Crescent Athletic Club, of of Brooklyn and the New York Hockey Club, the Brooklyn Daily Eagle says: "O'Flynn, the little Canadian, was strong on the defence. Without rough body checking he managed to stop his man and the puck on almost every occasion he was called upon to do so. He often secured possession of the puck and took it the entire length of the rink, passing it to the anchor man. Several times he was the direct cause of a score through a brilliant burst of speed.

A special practice of the senior and intermediate teams will be held to-night at eight o'clock.

TURF.

The Port Hope Guide, commenting on the race between Gypsy Girl and Looking Glass, says:

The widely advertised race between those two flyers, Gypsy Girl, and Looking Glass for $1,000 a side at Ottawa, has every appearance of being a huge fake, as neither of the side-wheelers made anything like the time made by Looking Glass elsewhere, and the fact that the old Port Hope favourite was flogged with a chain is evidence enough to convince the knowing ones here that it was a put up job. Lew Bennett, mine host of the Queen's, the once owner and driver of Looking Glass, says that the old horse always sulks under the lash, and won't try to win. $35,000 is said to have changed hands over the race and some of our town sports bet on the old favourite, notwithstanding Lew Bennett's warning that they would lose their chekels. To ourselves it looks about as mean to fool the public in a fake horse race as it is for our Winnipegers to steal the money off the collection plates.

CURLING.

The Toronto Telegram, writing on the tankard matches says:

In the meantime on Granite ice Collingwood, the cocks o' the north, were showing Peterborough Thistles, the conquerors of Lindsay, the way they curl up among the snow drifts. And surely those Collingwood chaps played a great game. They developed streaks of brilliancy that made the good old Peterborough plodders look blue, and finally finished both rinks up, Wynes beating Knapman 18 to 13, while Noble tallied 18 to Neill's 12. This gave Collingwood stock a boom that did not collapse till their game with Galt got fairly under way in the afternoon.

All curlers are requested to be in attendance at the rink to-morrow night at nine o'clock when a business meeting of importance will be held.

BASKET-BALL.

It is expected that the senior team of the Toronto Y. M. C. A. will visit Peterborough on or about the 16th inst. to play the local "Y" team. In view of this fact the first and second teams will practice on Friday evening at 9 o'clock.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

About twenty of the young ladies and gentlemen of the town drove up to Norwood last Friday evening where they enjoyed a skate on the rink. As they arrived rather late the management kindly let them skate a half an hour longer than the usual closing time.

A sad event was the death of Mrs. Jas. Laing, who passed away Saturday morning at the young age of twenty-eight. Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mr. Laing for his bereavement. Mrs. Laing was a member of the English church and the children of the Sunday school sent a beautiful wreath in token of their former teacher.

A number of new members were initiated into the Workmen last Monday night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Village Council was held Monday night, Feb. 1st. Those present were Mr. J. Know, Reeve; J. Campney, J. Thompson, Wm. Cooper and F. Haig. The following business was transacted:—

Moved by Messrs. Campney and Haig, that the following accounts be paid: — Mr. R. J. Graham, constable's monthly salary, $33.50; Michael Ryan, shovelling snow, $1.75, C. Menzies, wood, $10.50; Thompson Bros., supplies for diphtheria patients, $7.10; clerk, registering deaths and marriages $14; Phillips Bros., Hardware account, $11.24.

The collector's time for completing roll extended to Feb. 15th.

A deputation consisting of Mr. T. Hubble and Mr. Fred Taylor addressed the council in reference to the sidewalks at the east end of the town not being cleaned by the snow ploughs. They were informed that the walks would receive proper attention in future.

The clerk was instructed to get prices of hook and ladder wagons and ladders. Council adjourned to meet again on the 15th inst., at 7.30 p.m.

A number of young people are preparing to go up to the carnival at Norwood on Friday evening.

A Moving Picture

Entertainment will be given in St. Andrew's school hall on Friday evening, February 5th, at 8 p.m., when two thousand feet of excellent animated moving pictures will be shown including the Coronation, war on sea and land, battle ships in action, charge of Rough Riders, reception of Lord Roberts, the Gordon Highlanders, beautiful water scenes, high diving, naval reviews, and a lot of amusing and other films. IN MEMORIAM.

Lines written in memoriam of the late Robert Harrison, who died Dec. 15, 1903, aged 88 years, by his granddaughter -

There's a vacant chair by your fireside,
Vacated by one we loved.
His spirit has fled and is risen, we trust
To the home of the blest above.

His dear worn hands are laid on his breast;
His chair set gently away.
His flesh needs the care of our hands no more,
For it has returned to clay.

And dear aged Grandma is now without
Her companion of many years,
In vain we may try to comfort her;
For deeper than any she grieves.

Yet, friends, it is only another sheaf gleaned,
So full and so thoroughly ripe
Laden with years of kindness and love,
And the deeds of a noble life.

Let us cast down our burden of sorrow,
Down at our Saviour's feet,
For we shall welcome our loved ones in Christ,
When God's plans are complete.

Though with hearts full of grief we'll look up and be glad.
For the joy of our dear one afar,
For the peace and the rest waiting those who are Christ's
After they've crossed the Bar.

THE "MISSING LINK."

SAMUEL P. VERNER GOES TO FAR CORNERS OF "DARK CONTINENT."

Hopes to Settle, Among Other Things, a Much-Disputed Point in Darwin's Theory of the "Evolution of Mankind"—Found the Batwa Pigmies on the Lunda Plateau of the Zambesi.

An eminent American scientist and explorer left London recently for some of the most remote corners of the "Dark Continent," where he hopes to settle among other things a much disputed point in Darwin's theory of the "Evolution of Mankind." The scientist in question is Samuel P. Verner, anthropologist, professor in Stillman Institute of the University of South Carolina, Fellow of Yale University, missionary, discoverer of the strange tribe of Batwa Pigmies, and author of the recently-published "Pioneering in Central Africa." The professor sailed for the Congo Free State, from Antwerp, with the Belgian Governor of that territory, which he will make his headquarters, and penetrate from thence into the interior for the study of the primitive races of mankind there to be met with. There is to be a great congress of scientists at St. Louis, U.S.A., next year, and to add to the information of the Anthropological section Prof. Verner has, aided by the United States Government, now completed all his plans for his special exploration.

As already stated, Professor Verner found the curious tribe of Batwa Pigmies on the Lunda Plateau at the headwaters of the Zambesi in 1897. Much scientific discussion resulted from the discovery of these remarkable little people, and some theorists contended that they were indeed Darwin's long-sought Missing Links. Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper's representative, who found the modest professor in his London hotel recently, was favored with some particulars of his intentions, and during the conversation asked the savant whether he was really going to solve the mystery of the Missing Link at last. "I am going to make that question part of my study," was the reply, "and though I do not expect that I shall establish whether the Missing Link actually existed or not, you can at least expect, on my return next July, a solution of the problem whether these pigmies can be the beings demanded by one evolutionary hypothesis. The pigmies, being accessible, present the most concrete object of study I can get hold of. I do not think the pigmies are the Missing Links because although they possess all the organs and powers of ordinary human beings they are the only ones that approximate in size to apes. The relation of the Pigmies to the human race is a most interesting problem. It appears to be a fact that the Pigmies were the Aborigines of Africa when the higher races came down from Asia, and now the great question at issue is, "Have the Pigmies degenerated from these higher races, or, are they, according to Darwin, the result of evolution from apes?"

Turning from the subject of Missing Links, Professor Verner proceeded to relate some of the prospects of what he considers the more important objects of his mission, in the acquisition of knowledge of the barbarous and primitive African races for the purpose of comparing them with civilized humanity. The president of the American Anthropological Association, in saying farewell to Professor Verner, said that if he succeeded he would have effected one of the greatest scientific achievements of recent years. The district he intends traversing on the great Congo Divide is about the least known part of Africa, and he expects to visit a few towns where white men have never been before. "In general terms," he said, "I wish to bring away specimens of everything that these primitive peoples make—their houses, their manufactures in pottery, iron, copper, their wheat cultivation, textile fabrics, weapons, etc. Then I will group together the produce upon which the people live, with a particular reference to the many herbs and vegetables they use for medicines and which they get out of the forests. Many of their herbs are very little known to white men, and it is possible there may be some medical discoveries of importance to be made. The point of anthropological, comparison between these people and present civilized races is that the Central Africans have now reached the Iron Age, which Booker Washington stated was the condition of the Anglo-Saxon race at the time of Caesar's conquest of Gaul and entry into Britain. The character of these people is of great interest to anthropological science. Who are they? This is one of the most important questions that have arisen since the theories of Darwin and Spencer."

Professor Verner believes that the next hundred years will see a great colonization of Africa, signs of which he indicates in the efforts now being made to cultivate cotton in Central Africa and the like. It is not yet settled among scientists whether white men can live in Central Africa. Professor Verner's opinion is that the elevated regions are all capable of white colonization. "It is a curious fact," he adds with a smile, "that all those elevated regions are under the dominion of the British Empire."

BESTS WERE BEATEN

SOME OF THE PHENOMENAL RECORDS OF THE PAST YEAR.

World's Record of Civilized Man Reaching Land in Latitude 80 Degrees 17 Minutes South Was Made in 1902—Cedric Biggest Ever Launched—H.M.S. Commonwealth Largest in World—Ariadne's Unerring Gunner.

Commander Scott, of the Discovery, together with some of his officers, reached land in latitude 80 degrees 17 minutes south, last year, and thus establishes a world's record. The news was brought by the relief ship Morning, which reached Lyttleton, New Zealand, at the end of March last.

In February last the biggest vessel ever launched, either from the United Kingdom or any other shipyard, started on her first voyage. This was the Cedric, built by Harland & Wolff at Belfast. The displacement of this leviathan is 37,-870 tons. She is 700 feet long and 75 foot beam. She will carry 3,000 passengers and 18,400 tons of cargo. It costs nearly £1,000 a day to feed and provide for the passengers and crew. But the Cedric by no means holds all the shipping records of the past year. The German Kaiser Wilhelm II., though of 11,800 ton less displacement than the Cedric, is six feet longer and much more powerful. Her engines are of 40,000 horse-power, and her speed nearly 24 knots. She has five decks for passengers, and no less than half a mile of cabin passenger accommodation.

Deutschland Not Beaten.

So far, however, she has not beaten the speed record of the Deutschland, of the Hamburg-American line. In September last this vessel beat the world's records for a western passage by three minutes. Her average speed for the whole voyage was 23.15 knots an hour, and her best run for 24 hours was 283 miles.

May last was notable for the fact that a turbine steamer for the first time on record crossed the Atlantic. This was Mr. George Gould's chartered turbine yacht Emerald. In spite of bad weather, the engines worked to perfection.

It was in May also that the largest warship in the world was launched from the yard of the Fairfield Company at Glasgow. She is H.M.S. Commonwealth, a first-class battleship of the Edward VII. type. She is 425 feet long, 78 foot in beam, and displaces over 16,000 tons. She is not only the largest, but the most heavily armoured of England's or any other navy. She has four 12-inch guns, four 9.2, ten 6-inch, and a host of lighter weapons. She will carry a complement of 775 officers and men, and steam at 18½ knots. Another record which this ship holds is in rapidity of construction. She was brought to the launching stage within ten months of the time that her keel was laid.

Ariadne's Unerring Gunner.

A naval record well worth mentioning is that which H.M.S. Ariadne achieved last spring. The Ariadne is flagship of the North American squadron. At target practice one of her gunners—Howe, captain of a 6-inch gun—fired ten rounds in one minute, hitting the target with all of them. Later in the year the American battleship Indiana claims to have beaten all records with the 8-inch gun. Seaman Treanor made four bull's-eyes at 1,600 yards in 2 minutes 16 seconds.

Railways have not produced the usual number of records. The one notable exception is the speed of 126 miles an hour on the new German military electric line near Berlin. This was, of course, purely experimental.

About the same time that this record was set up Captain Deasey, late of the 16th Lancers, achieved a much more interesting and useful motor record.

He left the Automobile Club in Piccadilly at ten minutes after midnight on Saturday, and drove straight to Glasgow, covering the 450 miles in 21 hours and 20 minutes, without a single stop of any kind.

This is the longest motor run without a stop to date in the United Kingdom.

Possibly because the weather, and consequently the ground, has been so bad, the athletic records of the year have not been numerous. At the London Athletic Club's meeting in September Alfred Shrubb set up a new amateur record by winning the mile and a half handicap in 6 minutes and 47 seconds.

This was the more meritorious as the track was in a very loose condition. Had it not been so, this wonderful distance runner might have rivalled Cummings' world's record of 6 minutes 43⅘ seconds, which has stood now for no fewer than twenty-three years. A little time previously, at Kennington Oval, he lowered Walter George's figures for the two miles.

Heather Bloom's Jump.

Animals have had their share in the setting up of world's records. The most marvellous quadruped performance of 1903 stands to the credit of an American horse, Heather Bloom, the property of Mr. Howard Willets, which cleared a bar at the height of 7 feet 9 inches at the Bryn Mawr horse show in September last. No other horse ever jumped so high.

One hundred and fifteen thousand four hundred letters of application for allotments in the Transvaal Loan, weighing in all over two tons, were received by the Bank of England in May last. Each letter had to be opened, applications for less than £2,000 eliminated, the sum to be allotted in each case to be calculated.

Then the forms had to be made out, and the letters prepared for the mail. Three hundred clerks did the whole work in just forty-eight hours. This is a record of its kind which will probably stand for a long time.

The Edinburgh corporation are responsible for a very big thing. They lately opened new gas works at Granton, of which the retort house is the largest of its kind, and carbonizes one thousand tons of coal a day.

The cost of the works was £600,-000 but so complete are the labor-saving appliances that expenses will be reduced by £50,000 a year, as compared with the old methods.

Another Scottish city, Glasgow, has recently effected a record accident policy. This is to insure the city against all claims incurred at the working of the tramway system, and the annual premium amounts to the immense sum of £15,000.

Fatal Precaution.

A farmer in Cumberland county was driving across a railroad track when a train killed both his horses and knocked him about ten rods off his course. In the resulting suit for damages the plaintiff was on the witness stand, making out a good case, when the defendant's lawyer asked him:

"Did you take any precaution before driving upon the track?"

The witness seemed reluctant to answer, but, being pressed to do so, finally stammered out:

"Waal, squire, I took a little—just a couple of swallers, that's all."

This started a new line of defense, and it turned out that the couple of swallows were the last in a pint flask that had consoled the honest old farmer along the road. This put a new face on the situation.

Ruined by a Receding Sea.

Castle Rising is an instance of decay brought about by a receding sea, the town, once a place of considerable importance, giving way to King's Lynn as the waters retired. A memory of the former relative positions of the two places is kept alive by the lines:

Rising was a seaport town
When Lynn was but a marsh;
Now Lynn it is a seaport,
And Rising fares the worse.

But, though it lost its commercial value, it retained its political status, returning two members down to the reform act of 1832. At that time it had three voters on its poll list, but the only person legally entitled to exercise the right of voting was the rector.—London Chronicle.

Professional Mourners.

In ancient times funerals were followed by professional mourners, who simulated the appearance of the wildest grief. The custom survives in the valley of Sondrio, in the Alps. There the women do not follow the funeral, but they group themselves at the entrance of the cemetery and burn, in honor of the dead, candles which vary in size, according to the remuneration. They are as prodigal as were the mourners of ancient times in their simulation of excessive grief.

Six Doctors Failed to Cure Him.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM WAS THE TROUBLE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

DID MORE THAN SIX DOCTORS COULD DO.

Mrs. Theo. Newell, Argyle Sound, N.S., expresses her opinion of this wonderful blood remedy in the following letter:

"It is with the greatest gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. For years my husband suffered terribly with Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. He was so bad at times that he could no sleep on account of the itching and burning. He had been under the care of six different doctors, but they failed to do him any good. I had read different times of the wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so advised him to give it a trial. He did so, and after taking five bottles was cured without a doubt. I would strongly advise any person troubled with blood disorders to give B.B.B. a fair trial for I am sure it will cure them."

The Broken Down Nervous System.

Often Found in Persons Who are Apparently in Good Health—Extraordinary Effects of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is not always the pale and bloodless who suffer from nervous exhaustion, and when a person of apparent good health finds himself almost helpless he gets little sympathy from physician or friends and not infrequently his ills are attributed to the imagination.

A tendency to put off the duties of the day, indisposition for exertion or concentration of the mind, depressed spirits, wakefulness at night, indigestion, headache, feelings of fatigue, and lassitude, dizziness, specks before the eyes, noises in the ears and irregularities and derangements of the sexual organs are among the most common symptoms of nervous exhaustion and prostration.

Nervous diseases are slow in coming on and patience is necessary in their treatment. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is absolutely certain to be of benefit to anyone suffering from exhausted nerves, for it supplies the very elements of nature which go to create new nerve cells and instill new vigor and energy into the nervous system.

Mrs J. Hatcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton foundry, states:—

"I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism which left me in a very run-down state of health, and in fact my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep and at times the pains in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms I was unable to attend to my housework, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved of very great benefit to me. I am able to do my work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

LORD WOLSELEY AND THE REDSKIN.

Reminiscence of His Earliest Service in Canada 44 Years Ago.

I shall conclude with a Canadian reminiscence. Some 44 years ago now—then almost at the commencement of his military career—Lord Wolseley was serving in Canada. Like the majority of newcomers to the "Great Lone Land" the young officer was imbued with an ardent desire to see a Red Indian at close quarters and study him in his own surroundings. For a long time, however, his ambition seemed to stand no chance of being fulfilled, for all the natives who visited the various military outposts at which Lord Wolseley was quartered were either so highly civilized or else so seriously under the influence of too much "fire-water" as to be completely divested of the ennobling attributes usually accorded to the child of the forest. At length, the future head of the army met with an opportunity that seemed to promise well for the gratification of his wish. An expedition into the interior of the Dominion was being arranged and an appointment on the staff was offered him.

Delighted at the prospect of at last achieving his ambition, Captain Wolseley—as he was then—said good-bye to the attractions of Quebec, and accompanied the party into the backwoods. After a fortnight's hard traveling word was brought to the camp one night by a guide that a small band of bona fide Indians were bivouacking a few miles ahead. Thereupon Lord Wolseley rode forward to interview the chief, whom his fancy pictured as being of impressive demeanor, and clad in the conventional garb of feathers and war-paint. To his undisguised dismay, however, the individual to whom the guide presently introduced him turned out to be an extremely ordinary-looking person, robed in nothing more romantic than a discarded dress-coat and a pair of very dirty flannel trousers. Concealing his disappointment as best he could, however, Lord Wolseley entered into conversation with him. At the end of five minutes or so the guide hinted that the noble Redskin would not be adverse to drinking his distinguished visitor's health. Thereupon Lord Wolseley presented him with a florin, rather wondering if the insult would entail his being tomahawked. Any fears that he may have had on the subject, however, were promptly dispersed by the forest chief's plaintive query, "Couldn't you make it half a crown?"—M.A.P.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

DRUSILLA'S GARDEN

By TEMPLE BAILEY

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The garden was really only a box on the fire escape, but there were pansies in it in the spring, and later a tiny rosebush bloomed. Then geraniums held full sway until winter, when Drusilla took the box into the house and raised a few pale violets.

Every morning Drusilla picked off the withered blossoms, and in the evening she watered her plants, for Drusilla was busy all day, polishing and filing the nails of the patrons of the manicure establishment in which she worked.

When a typewriter was first placed at the window of the big office opposite the fifth floor of the tenement in which Drusilla lived and a dark young man seated himself in front of it the young girl watched the installation over the heads of her purple pansies.

But when the young man looked across and smiled Drusilla stepped over her threshold and shut the door with a slam.

"Impertinence!" she ejaculated in the dimness of her room, but her lips smiled in answer to the look that the young man had given her.

But the blossoms cried out for water, and presently Drusilla's fair head, adorned with a perky black velvet bow, bent over the pansies. The hands of the young man remained suspended over the keys. Then he rose and walked to the window, but Drusilla picked off some dried leaves and brought out an infinitesimal watering pot. She made a cool picture in her white shirt waist. A little whiff of damp earth blew across, cooling the heated atmosphere.

The evening hour grew to be an important one to Drusilla, for she arrived home at 6, and the dark young man did not leave until 7. She sat up late nights to finish a certain blue lawn that had a train that trailed over the iron steps of the fire escape, to the further undoing of the infatuated young man over the way. She hummed little tunes that caused the complete cessation of the "clickety-click-click" of the machine opposite.

But still she kept her eyes to herself, for Drusilla had a full sense of her dignity as a workingwoman. There were certain conventions that could not be dispensed with in her circle, and one of these was the formal introduction.

"He's a dear," she confided to Marie Dunn as the two girls arranged their little trays and got out their shining instruments and the pink powder and creams. "But I'm not going to let him think I'm easy."

With which rather inelegant summing up of the case Drusilla showed that she was a true conqueror of men.

So for many weeks Juliet on her balcony remained cold, while Romeo at the typewriter sighed in vain. He threw small balls of paper in among the pansies, and Drusilla brushed them calmly into a neat little dustpan, but when the dark young man had gone she picked them out carefully and read the fervid messages:

"You are my pansy blossom."

"There's only one girl in the world for me."

Only once, however, did she condescend to an exchange of civilities.

On a certain damp morning the young man coughed. That night he coughed again. Drusilla was worried. Finally she retired into the obscure recesses of her room. When she reappeared she had a bottle in her hand. She set it on the fire escape shelf. In huge letters on the label was the admonition:

"For Coughs Take Spear's Specific."

Then before the young man could nod enthusiastic response she whisked back into her room, leaving him alone with her suggested remedy.

The next morning a similar bottle adorned the young man's desk, and he took a dose conspicuously, standing close to the window while he measured it into a spoon.

But the cough continued, and the next day Drusilla wrote on a slip of paper:

"Shut your window."

The young man clicked off something rapidly on his machine and planted his reply carefully on the ledge:

"I would rather die."

"Well, he is devoted," said Marie Dunn, "if he won't shut a window between you. But maybe if you talked to him you might get him to be careful of himself."

"I guess I am not responsible if he is a fool," was Drusilla's sharp comment as she soaked her finger tips in warm water preparatory to giving them a treatment.

But that day the sun came out, the dry, soft air of the spring was like balsam, and the cough stopped. So stopped also the exchange of courtesies, and the young man sighed for illness or worse if it would only bring a look of warmth to his lady's eyes.

And worse came.

It happened one day at half past 6. Drusilla's shade was down, but the dark young man knew that she was in her room, for once her pink tipped fingers had adjusted the curtain and a savory odor told of her supper cooking.

"Clickety-click-click," went the typewriter, and then suddenly "Clang-clang," deadened by its distance to the fifth floor, came the ring of the fire engine bells.

The dark young man leaned out. Far below him he saw great crowds gathering. The smoke floated up from the puffing engines. Then all at once he caught his breath sharply. The windows of the third floor of the tenement were lighted with a golden glow, growing redder as he looked.

The smoke poured out and joined the smoke of the engines, while the black masses drifted up the fire escape and over the blooming little garden.

The young man shouted hoarsely.

"You," he began. What should he call her? He had never heard her name. "Young lady, little girl!" he shrieked. But there was utter silence across the way.

Then he began to cough. "Help!" he gurgled. "Help!" This brought Drusilla, in a pink wrapper, with a little frying pan in her hand. She opened the door and looked out anxiously.

"What is it?" she demanded, coming to the railing.

"Look!" shouted the young man.

Already the flames were working up. Firemen were crawling up ladders like flies, and shrieks came from the people within.

"Run down; run down," ordered the young man. "It's the only way to save your life. Down the fire escape. Go at once," he continued peremptorily as Drusilla wavered.

So down she fluttered, frying pan and all, looking like a pink blossom as she grew smaller in the distance.

Then the young man, watching her, saw her turn and come back. As she reached the floor where the flames were raging she swerved aside and ran desperately up the steps.

"My garden, my garden!" she gasped as she saw the terror in his face. "I couldn't leave it to burn."

But the young man did not stop to hear the end. Like a madman he ran to the elevator. Then he sped to the street and began the climb toward Drusilla. Far above him she was staggering with her heavy burden, half blinded by the smoke.

At the fatal third floor she stopped. Across the iron fire escape swept waves of flame. Two firemen just below, unconscious of the girl above them, were trying to turn a stream of water on a window. The noise was deafening. The dark young man shouted frantically, and at last his voice reached them.

"Turn it this way; turn it this way!" But they saw the motion of his hand and the pink gowned girl above them and comprehended. As the water played for a moment over the blistering iron the dark young man plunged through and dragged Drusilla to safety.

They were all drenched—Drusilla and her rescuer and the little garden. When they reached the street the dark young man led Drusilla to a secluded niche in the doorway of the big office building. All about them raged the excitement of a terrible catastrophe, and Drusilla, safe in the little haven, quietly proceeded to faint away. The dark young man caught her in his arms and mopped her face with his wet handkerchief. Then she opened her eyes and saw the informality of his attitude and blushed.

"We haven't been introduced," she reproached faintly, but she did not draw away from him.

"As if that mattered," said the blissful dark young man.

Elastic Marble.

In one account of Rome the author mentions five or six slabs of elastic marble as being in the possession of the Prince Borghese. Being set on end they bend backward and forward. When laid horizontally and raised at one end they become curved. If placed on a table and a piece of wood or any other substance is laid under them they fall into a kind of curve, each end touching the table. The Abbe Fortis was told that they were dug up near the town of Mondragon, in the kingdom of Naples. The grain is like that of fine Carrara marble or perhaps of the finest Greek. They seem to have suffered some attack of fire. A slab of marble similar in every respect to those described and highly polished has been exhibited for years at the British museum. M. Fleuvian de Belvas succeeded in making common granular limestone, a granular quartz, completely flexible by exposing it to a certain degree of heat. In Lincoln cathedral, England, there is an arch built of white marble which is quite elastic, yielding to a heavy tread and returning or rebounding to its original position on true elastic principles.

Two Convincing Reasons.

Lord Peterborough, who lived in the reign of Queen Anne, was very frolicsome, and one day, seeing from his carriage a dancing master with pearl colored stockings lightly stepping over the broad stones and picking his way in extremely dirty weather, he alighted and ran after him with drawn sword in order to drive him into the mud, but into which he of course followed himself.

This nobleman was once taken for the Duke of Marlborough and was mobbed in consequence. The duke was then in disgrace with the people, and Lord Peterborough was about to be roughly handled. Turning to them, he said:

"Gentlemen, I can convince you by two reasons that I am not the Duke of Marlborough. In the first place, I have only 5 guineas in my pocket, and in the second they are heartily at your service."

Preferred Arrest.

A thief broke into a large mansion early in the morning and found himself in the music room. Hearing footsteps approaching, he hid behind a screen.

From 7 to 8 o'clock the eldest daughter had a lesson on the piano.

From 8 to 9 o'clock the second daughter took a singing lesson.

From 9 to 10 o'clock the eldest son had a violin lesson.

From 10 to 11 o'clock the other son took a lesson on the flute.

At 11 o'clock all the brothers and sisters assembled and studied an ear splitting piece for piano, violin, flute and voice.

The thief staggered out from behind the screen at half past 11 and, falling at their feet, cried, "For mercy's sake have me arrested, but stop!"

Kean and Macready.

When Edmund Kean and Macready, intense rivals, played in the same pieces at Drury Lane it was usual to consult them in the course of the evening as to what they would appear in next. One night when the prompter was sent to ask Mr. Macready what he would play with Mr. Kean the great tragedian frowned upon him till he blushed. "Sir," he roared, "how should I know what the man would like to play?" The prompter retired to seek the desired information from Mr. Kean. "Sir," said Mr. Kean sharply, "how should I know what the fellow can play?"

Doan's Kidney Pills.

THE WELL-KNOWN SPECIFIC FOR

Backache, Sideache, Diabetes, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, and all Kidney or Bladder troubles.

Read of how a whole family got cured by using these wonderful Pills.

Mr. Henry Hedrick, South Woodslee, Ont., says that Doan's Kidney Pills are far ahead of doctor's medicine.

He writes: "I have tried Doan's Kidney Pills and can honestly say that I never used anything better. I was so bad with my kidneys I could hardly raise myself up without help but Doan's Kidney Pills cured me.

"My wife was always complaining of a lame back, and they completely cured her.

"Our son was also troubled with his kidneys and as your pills had done us so much good we got him to try them and they cured him as well. They are far ahead of doctor's medicine, and I advise a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills for all sufferers from kidney trouble."

CANADIAN STREAMS.

"O, rivers, rolling to the sea
From lands that bear the maple tree,
How swell your voices with the strain
Of loyalty and liberty!

"A holy music, heard in vain
By coward heart and sordid brain,
To whom this strenuous being seems
Naught but a greedy race for gain.

"O, unsung streams—not splendid themes
To lack to fire your patriot dreams!
Annals of glory gild your waves,
Hope freights your tides Canadian streams!

"St. Lawrence, whose wide water laves
The shores that ne'er have nourished slaves!
Swift Richelieu, of killed fame!
Niagara of glorious graves!

"Thy rapids, Ottawa, proclaim
Where Daulac and his heroes came!
Thy tides, St John, declare La Tour,
And, later, many a loyal name!

"Thou inland stream, whose vales, secure
From storm, Tecumseh's death made poor!
And thou, small water, red with war,
Twixt Beauharnois and Beauejour!

"Dread Saguenay, where eagles soar,
What voice from the bestrewn shore
The tale of Roberval reveal,
Or his mysterious fate deplore?

"Annapolis, do thy floods yet feel
Fain memories of Champlain's keel,
Thy pulses yet the deeds repeat
Of Poutrincourt and d'Iberville?

"And thou far tide, whose plains now beat
With march of myriad wee-tering feet,
Saskatchewan, whose virgin sod
So late Canadian blood made sweet?

"Your bulwark hills, your valleys broad,
Streams where De Salaberry trod,
Where Wolfe acclieved, where Brock was slain—
Their voices are the voice of God!

"O, sacred waters! not in vain,
Across Canadian height and plain,
Ye sound us, in triumphant tone,
The summons of your high refrain."

—Charles G. D. Roberts.

She Knew the Reason.

He was smoking and musing over the ways of the world. "Odd, isn't it," he said at last, "how few people attain their ideals in this world?"

"In what way?" inquired his wife suspiciously, for she was not a woman to be caught off her guard.

"Well," he replied slowly, "I was thinking of Wilmer when I spoke. He had an ideal woman that he was always talking about when he was in college. She was tall and stately in his dreams, and he seemed to have no place in his heart for a small woman, and yet—and yet"—

"Well?"

"Why, he finally married a little thing who hardly comes to his shoulder. I wonder why it was?"

"Perhaps, Fred," she said very slowly and distinctly, "he is like the majority of other men and was afraid to take any one of his size."

He changed the subject.—New York Times.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, sickness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 25 Years in Detroit. 250,000 Cured.

DEMANDS HOME RULE

No Alternative Acceptable Declares Mr. Redmond.

SAYS LAND ACT IS A FAILURE

The Irish Party Will Not Support the Government, Declares the Irish Parliamentary Leader, Unless Legislation Which Will Advance Home Rule Is Foreshadowed—Mr. Wyndham's Reply.

London, Feb. 4.—"For the Irish party there is no such thing as an alternative policy to Home Rule," declared John Redmond, the leader of the Irish Parliamentary party in the House of Commons yesterday as he resumed the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Mr. Redmond proceeded in a speech of great length to detail the various grievances of Ireland, incidentally informing the Liberals that it was a delusion to suppose they could count on Irish support by promising an alternative policy to Home Rule. Because the Irish obtained a valuable act last year remedying some of the evils of past Government some persons seemed to think that the Irish question was shelved, but no concession could weaken the demand for self-Government. On the contrary, every concession they had obtained or might obtain would be used for the furtherance of the contest for Home Rule. The Irish would rather govern themselves badly than be governed well by another nation.

Referring to the land question, Mr. Redmond said the failure of last year's act proved that this Parliament had neither time nor capacity to legislate satisfactorily for Ireland. The act must be amended forthwith, alike in the interests of the tenants and the landlords. It would be the duty of the Irish to oppose the Government unless the latter foreshadowed some appreciable advance on the road to Home Rule.

Mr. Wyndham, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in reply, announced the Government's intention to introduce an act to amend the Irish Land Act, and clearing all the doubtful points.

With reference to Mr. Redmond's demand for Home Rule, Mr. Wyndham said Mr. Redmond's object seemed to be to prove that he was the real head of the third party in the House of Commons, and that it demanded a separate Parliament for Ireland. The Chief Secretary denied that he ever had proposed Irish legislation with the view of giving Home Rule to Ireland, or as a concession for the purpose of changing the views of the Nationalists. He also denied that he had any understanding with the Irish party for any purpose. He had been careful not to delude the Irish by rosy, ambiguous periods, but he would insist that Ireland derive a fair share of the financial resources of the Empire.

Mr. Wyndham did not believe the Irish question would be settled for at least fifty years. Even if Ireland had her own Parliament she could not, in the present state of the money market, find $750,000,000 for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Land Act.

The debate continued until the sitting was suspended at 7.30 p. m., a number of Irish members participating.

At the night session of the House, Joseph Devlin bitterly denounced the Government as "double-faced and hypocritical," and said the only remedy for the Irish grievances was a measure of self-Government.

E. J. Saunderson replied that the greatest difficulty of supporters of Home Rule was explaining their attitude of the last 10 years, during which the Nationalists had shown their loyalty by rejoicing at every British reverse.

Mr. Redmond said the present Government of Ireland was a dismal failure.

What Mr. Blake Wants.

London, Feb. 4.—(C.A.P.)—The Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, said he wanted to see a university in Ireland agreeable to the bulk of the Irish people. Instead of the views held in the Londonderry quarter, home rule did not mean Rome rule. It would remove the differences of religious beliefs, make Ireland united and change the whole front of the national life

ANNUAL REPORT OF FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

A Valuable Contribution on This Subject of National Importance.

Ontario's Fire Ranging System—Reports of Practical Value.

The fourth annual report of the Canadian Forestry Association has been published, and is a most interesting publication of over 100 pages. The rapidly increasing demand for lumber supplies in Europe, which will be supplemented by the requirements of Eastern Asia makes the position of Canada very important in view of the fact that the ability to supply the demand is on the decrease practically everywhere in the old lands, and the position of the United States is fully set out in the in the address of the President of the Association. (Page 8, paragraph 2.)

The conditions of the different Provinces of Canada are dealt with in various papers. New Brunswick is dealt with by the Lieutenant-Governor of that Province (page 19,) and Nova Scotia by Messrs. F. C. Whitman and W. A. Hendry (pages 20 and 30.) The Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands for Ontario, Mr. Aubrey White, gives a history of the fire ranging system in that province (page 31). The comments of leading lumbermen, such as Messrs. J. R. Booth and Hiram Robinson, on this paper, are very significant, (pages 42 and 43.) Forestry work in Manitoba is described by Mr. A. P. Stevenson, of Nelson, (page 61.) The results of the experiments in the growth of forest trees at the experimental farm, are given by Mr. W. T. Macoun, curator of the arboretum. The data thus gathered are very valuable (page 61). For information in regard to British Columbia, see page 83, a paper by Jas. Leamy, the Crown TTimber Agent. Forestry Education for Canada is a matter of special interest and is considered by Prof. W. L. Goodwin, (page 87.)

The questions dealt with in this report are all of practical moment and the discussions thereon are by business men. There has been no room in the Canadian Forestry Association for the exploitation of fads and theories, but the effort has been made throughout to approach a great problem of business relating to the public well being in a serious and business-like way, and the information gathered together in its reports will be very useful in determining the development of forest administration in Canada.

The Question of Baldness:

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Doreenwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

It Rains Every Seven Days.

If it rains on the first Sunday of the month it is morally certain to rain on two or three of the other Sundays. Why it is so no one knows unless it be that rainstorms in this country come at intervals about seven days apart, and if the rain happens to hit the first Sunday the other rainy Sundays follow as a natural consequence. The coincidence has been noted too often to doubt that it really exists.

A QUIET-LOOKING MAN.

Criticised Lord Curzon on One Occasion, But Had Knowledge and Experience—Leader of Thibetan Expedition.

Some of us still remember that evening at the Royal Geographical Society when Lord Curzon—though he was not a peer in those days—read to a vast and greatly interested audience his remarkable paper on the Pamirs and the sources of the Oxus—and read it in his own brilliant, persuasive and inimitable way.

At the close of that paper there arose from the benches in the lecture theatre a quiet-looking man, with a singularly soft and pleasant voice. At first there seemed nothing particular to distinguish him from a hundred other men in the room. He was of the middle height—clearly a soldier, though tending to stoutness in his figure and to ease in his carriage; his features were regular, his moustache heavy, his chin strong and his jaw square—apparently, I say, he was just one more of the many soldiers which the Geographical Society gathers into its fold.

But as he spoke he became changed. Deep below his heavy brows his large, clear eyes gleamed with a singular intelligence, and though his voice was so softly modulated and his manner so simple—so full, perhaps, of the reserve of strength—he proceeded to apply to Lord Curzon's brilliant paper a criticism sharpened and pointed at every turn with personal experience. And it was all the more scathing and severe because it was spoken in a conversational tone, with slow, deprecatory gesture, and so evidently without either passion or prejudice.

Hero of a Great Journey.

The speaker was Frank Younghusband, then of the Indian staff corps, and the hero of the great journey from Pekin through the heart of the Asiatic continent—a journey which led him for months through the Desert of Gobi, the Himalayas, the Pamirs and Chitral, won for him the gold medal of the Royal Geographical Society, and established his reputation for an intrepid daring and resource that come to few. And it is a pleasant sequel to this memorable evening to recall that when Lord Curzon became Viceroy of India he did not forget his critic.

It is, indeed, an open secret that he was strongly opposed to the withdrawal of Younghusband from Chitral. "Had he remained there," declared the viceroy subsequently, "I believe the outbreak would never have occurred." As soon as he had the power he sent Younghusband to Indore, and he has now entrusted to him the delicate and difficult task of negotiating with the Thibetans for that commerce and those relations which have been long promised and as long denied.

To such a brain he allies an indomitable will, and this will he tempers with inexhaustible patience and fact. There you have the elements that go to make the ideal administrator in the ancient and changeless East, and it is as a political officer, part diplomat, part administrator, as the man with the iron hand in the velvet glove, that Col. Younghusband has won his way to eminence in the service of the Indian Empire.

To that service he was in a manner born. The son of a general who wore the blue and white riband of the Star of India, and the younger brother of that "Younghusband of the Guides" whose military record is a household word in India, Frank Edward Younghusband came of a race which had specialized in Indian service.

Inherited Lust of Wandering.

His lust of wandering he inherited from his maternal uncle, Robert Shaw, whose travels in the Northwest are still remembered.

In 1886 he began with Manchuria, and having explored and ascended the famous "Ever White Mountain" he turned south to Pekin, and then began his famous march to India, in the course of which, with great difficulty and in constant danger, he crossed the Gobi Desert, penetrated through Turkestan to Kashgar and Yarkand, pierced the heart of the Himalayas, surmounted the Mustagh Pass—19,000 feet above the sea level—and finally arrived at Srinagar in Kashmir. This was in 1887, and again in 1889 and in 1890 and 1891 he was active and as successful in exploring Hunza and the Pamirs.

Such a man could not be neglected. In 1892 he was appointed political officer in Hunza, and in the next year was transferred to a similar post in Chitral. Although he was recalled from this in 1894, it was not long before he was back again, for he took part in and acted as The Times correspondent in the Chitral Expedition, and during 1896 and 1897 he acted for the same journal as special correspondent in the Transvaal and Rhodesia.

The Core of Unknown Asia.

To-day he goes northward once again into the core of unknown Asia, and he goes, we may be sure, with the keenest will. Col. Younghusband is just the man who would gladly give years of his life to look once upon Lhasa and to be face to face at last with the Dalai Lama. That he will do so I have no doubt. His will is indomitable and his temper perfect for dealing with the Asiatic. Thibet presents no physical features which can compare with those he has repeatedly overcome, and the Thibetan no trait of cunning or duplicity which he has not already met with again and again, and countered.

At the moment it is interesting to remember Col. Younghusband's ideas on this point. "If once the European gives up his higher moral standard," he has said, "and descends to intriguing with Asiatics, the chances are very much in favor of his being worsted. On the other hand, where real influence has been gained by the European over Asiatics, it has been due to his straightforwardness and strength of moral character, and not to any original mental superiority."—London Correspondent.

Sir Colin Campbell's Commission.

When the Duke of Wellington was in India he "discovered" the soldier who afterward became Sir Colin Campbell. That dashing warrior was in the commissariat service and had volunteered for an assault on a hill fort. The duke saw a little round man up a ladder, and, receiving a pike thrust at the top, roll down like a ball to the bottom. He was, however, up again in an instant, and, running up like a squirrel, was the first or among the first in the place. The duke laughed, inquired about him, and procured him a commission.

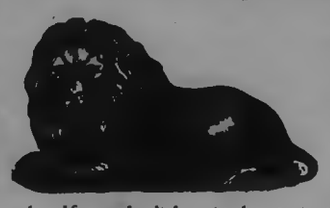
Remnant Sales

In spite of the astonishing sales of the past three weeks, at the Golden Lion, stock-taking discloses large quantities of winter goods which we do not wish to measure up. We would rather count cash than merchandise. For the sake of disposing of them to the last yard, a pittiless cutting of prices is the rule. The chances during these two weeks of Inventory-taking are the most extraordinary yet announced. If you don't buy to-day or to-morrow, don't say we didn't give you fair warning. It would be well to be around every day. You are in the most sensational buying season of your life for the purchase of serviceable gonds.



Remnants in all departments—Short Ends of Dress Goods, Silks, Flannel, Linens, Prints, etc.—Ends of lines in Underclothing, Outer garments, Gloves, Corsets, etc.—all contribute pleasing prices to thrifty shoppers.

COOL CURING OF CHEESE IS VERY PROFITABLE.

A Dairy Meeting Held in Town Council Chamber.

Mr. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, Gave a Profitable Talk—Mr. Ed. Elliott Occupied the Chair.

A meeting in the interests of dairying was held in the Town Council Chamber, but on account of the bad condition of the roads the audience was small. The speakers were Mr. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, and Mr. Burgess, of Woodstock, both connected with the Government cool curing station at these places.

The chair was occupied by Mr. E. M. Elliott, President of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, who in opening, made a short address, trying to excuse the people of Peterborough district for not coming out to a meeting of so much importance to farmers. But although the number was small he thought some good would be accomplished by the addresses of the gentlemen present. He then introduced Mr. Somerville.

Mr. Somerville on rising to speak said, although he found it hard to speak to a small audience he would do the best he could under the circumstances. The farmers who come out to such meetings are not usually the men who need the most instruction along the line of dairying. Some farmers think their bright boys should be doctors or lawyers, and the duller ones farme This should not be as w nt the best and brightest men o e farm, with a few engaged in the atest paying industry today—t cheese and butter business. Durin 903 we exported $26,000,000 worth of cheese, $9,000,000 worth of butter nd $15,000,000 worth of bacon, a grand total of $45,000,000. This, Mr. Somerville hoped, if every man will do his duty in 1904, would reach $50,000,000. Providence had favoured us in the last two years with ideal weather for cheese making and curing, and we have learned lessons of great value from it, and found that by keeping the milk below a temperature of 60 degrees it was in a finer condition for making cheese, and by curing at a temperature of below 65 or 70 degrees in an ordinary curing room our cheese went on the British market in better condition than it had before. The Government had also taken up the system of cool curing and in handling in their cool rooms, in 1902, 2,900,000 lbs. of cheese, they prevented a shrinkage of 31,403 lbs. of cheese, amounting to $3,139 in 1903, a saving on 3,738,000 lbs. of cheese of 46,022 lbs., worth $4,813. This was a clear profit, as the shrinkage alone was responsible for the loss, and if all the cheese made in Canada in 1903 had been cooled in cool curing rooms, Canadian farmers would have received $3,000,000 more money. Other countries were catering for the British market, and Canada would have to put forth an effort to still further improve the quality of the cheese, if they want to hold the position they do at the present time. In New Zealand they have an ideal climate for cheese making, having an average temperature of from 58 to 63 degrees.

A word about the care of milk before closing. Milk the cow with dry hands, having brushed off the udder before starting. Strain through two thicknesses of cheese cloth, and cool down to below 60 degrees. Keep in a covered stand in a clean pure atmosphere, and send to the factory in good condition, and also see that your maker is a competent man. Pay him a living price for working and making and work together in harmony to make your factory the best in the province.

The instructors' report this season showed that out of 14,300 samples of milk tested only 359 were adulterated but out of 10,693 samples tested by fermentation test, 9020 were tained, 90 per cent of the milk being poor flavoured. In an experiment, by taking the same quantity of good milk in one vat and gassy milk in another vat, it took 10 1-4 lbs. of good milk to make one pound of cheese, and in the gassy vat 14 1-4 lbs., thus showing the great saving in sending good milk.

Mr. Burgess was then called on but on rising said that as Mr. Somerville had covered the ground well, he would devote his time to answering questions. The meeting then adjourned.

AN APPEAL FOR PUBLIC SUPPORT.

The Horticultural Society Asks Citizens to Help Beautify the Town.

The Horticultural Society has done and is doing a work which should meet with the hearty approval and active support of all citizens who desire to have a well-kept, and beautiful town. In the past the public has not given as much attention to this work as its importance warrants, and in the hope that an increased interest may be kindled, the society has issued the following circular:—

"To the Public:—

"The Horticultural Society desire the assistance of the citizens in arousing an increased interest in the culture of vegitables, plants and flowers, and in the development of taste in the maintenance of public and private grounds. The annual Horticultural Show is believed to be an effective agent in cultivating an honourable competition amongst those who interest themselves in the ancient and noble art of horticulture. Every year it is found that a large number of persons who grow good stuff either from modesty or neglect fail to exhibit and so fail in a duty to assist an art which has their approval.

"The Society asks citizens to undertake this spring to help them by growing for competition either flowers, plants or vegetables. There is plenty of time to get fine seeds. A copy of the prize list will be sent by Mr. Beal, the Secretary, to any applicant. Grow something with the aim that it shall win a prize. This year the Society will send to your homes for whatever you may desire to exhibit and will return it after the exhibition. A united effort and a spirit of competition will ensure pleasure to the grower, a successful show and benefit to the community."

LARGE CONTRACT FOR LOCAL FIRM.

C. G. E. Company to Manufacture Turbine Engines.

Two Engines of 2,500 Horse Power Each —For Toronto Electric Light Company.

The engineering trade in company with all other trades and professions has undergone changes and one of the most notable advances made in the profession is the introduction of steam turbines to replace the piston stroke slide valve engines. The turbins were first introduced for use on ocean steamers and their use was heralded as the greatest step in advance since the discovery of the steam engine. A thorough test has proven their greater efficiency and not only have they been adopted in all the newer ocean steamers, but are being introduced on lake boats, a new Government patrol boat being manufactured by the Polson firm for use on the upper lakes, being the first boat on inland waters to be equipped with this class of engine. It has been recognized that perhaps the class of machinery which could be most advantageously driven by the turbine engine is that of electric dynamos because of the fact that in a reciprocating engine there is a certain amount of vibration which is detrimental to the efficiency of the electric generator. Turbine engines have never been used in Canada to any extent until now, and to a Peterborough firm has come the honour of manufacturing the first large turbine engine to be made in Canada. The Canadian General Electric Company has the Canadian patents for the Curtis engine, and the probabilities are that there will be a large demand for these engines when their advantages have been demonstrated. The Toronto News says:—

The Canadaian General Electric Company have received an order from the Toronto steam turbine generator units, of a capacity of 2,500 horse power each. These, are now being manufactured at the Peterborough Works of the company, and mark the beginning of the manufacture in Canada of Curtis steam turbines the Canadian General Electric owning the patents for Canada.

The new plant will be installed at the Electric Light Company's works at the foot of Scott street, a new building for it having been erected during the past season.

Electric light business has increased so rapidly of late that the company has found it necessary to provide for increased power, before the power from Niagara will be available. Mr. Frederic Nicholls states that even after such power is available in Toronto, such large machines held in reserve could be promptly put into operation in case of accident to the Niagara power service.

DESPONDENT AND ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Bachelor Living Near Kendal Tried to Cut His Throat.

A man was brought to jail on Saturday last, for attempting to commit suicide. It appears that Jas. Douglas, aged 62, a bachelor, living alone, and the owner of a 100 acre farm near Kendal, on Friday last went to the home of Samuel Achison, in Cavan township. He asked leave to remain, as he did not feel well. A short time after this he was discovered cutting his throat. He had not touched the jugular vein, and was prevented from doing himself any further harm. He was lodged in gaol, and Dr. Douglas, gaol surgeon, put in the necessary stitches. — Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Requires Treatment Which Acts in Harmony with the Female System.

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary medical treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by derangement of the female organism, and which while it causes disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar utero-tonic effects as well; in other words, a derangement of the female organs may have such a disturbing effect upon a woman's whole system as to cause serious indigestion and dyspepsia, and it cannot be relieved without curing the original cause of the trouble, which seems to find its source in the pelvic organs. As proof of this theory, we call attention to the letters from Mrs. Maggie Wright and Mrs. Emma Sawyer, who was completely cured by the use of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I suffered more or less with dyspepsia, which so degenerated my entire system that I was unfit to properly attend to my daily duties. I felt weak and nervous, and nothing I ate tasted good or felt comfortable in my stomach. I tried several dyspeptic cures, but nothing seemed to help me permanently. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a different woman. Seven bottles completely cured me, and a dozen or more of my friends have used it since."—MRS. MAGGIE WRIGHT, 13 Van Voorhis St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will write and let you know how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I cannot express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I was taken last May with nervous prostration, also had female trouble, liver, stomach, kidney and bladder trouble. I was in a terrible condition.

"The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse. I got so I was not able to do any work. Was confined to my bed most of the time, and thought I would never be able to do anything. People thought I would not live. I decided to try your medicine. I have taken twelve bottles of Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly, for I know it will do all and even more than it is recommended to do.

"I will tell every suffering woman about your medicine, and urge them to try it."—MRS. EMMA SAWYER, Conyers, Ga.

Many women whose letters we print were utterly discouraged, and life lacked all joy to them when they wrote Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., without charge of any kind. They received advice which made them strong, useful women again.

A SAFE GOVERNMENT.

There seems to be a little discussion in the press these days in regard to tariff conditions. Some speakers prominently related to the Liberal party, have been referring to possible tariff changes. This need cause no anxiety in any quarter, for these remarks have been accompanied by the assurance that no existing interest would be endangered. This assurance is all the more steadying because it is in line with similar promises that have been carried out. Previous to gaining power by the elections of 1896, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, stated that his policy in regard to the tariff was not to practice any revolutionary revenue that would endanger the industries of the country. The result has been that the Liberal revision of the tariff has resulted in, not only, not injuring our manufacturing interests, but in actually largely advancing them. By wise remissions in favour of raw material, our manufacturing industries have been enabled, the great bulk of them, to prosper as they never have done before. We all know that there has been a notable increase in both output and export, the latter showing that our industries under favouring conditions are able to compete with those of much older countries in the markets of the world. Since 1896 Canadian exports of manufactured articles have increased by $11,259,583, the figures being in 1896, $9,365,384, and in 1902, $20,624,967. According to the census returns it is shown that in the last ten year period—1891-1901, the number of Canadian manufacturing establishments employing five or more hands has increased by 971, or nearly 100 per year. In the same period the value of manufactured products increased $117,896,578—the figures being, 1891, $330,156,797 and in 1901, $481,053,875. It will thus be seen, that judged by results the manufacturing interests of Canada are safe in the hands of the Liberals. Mr. Borden, the leader of the Conservative Opposition, declares for a policy of "adequate protection," which means according to past experience of the application of Conservative tariff methods, protection by pampering and coddling, and consequently, weakening. The Liberal policy is for protection, if that word is desired, represented by helping manufacturers to help themselves, creating favourable conditions, thus making them self-reliant and strong, and furnishing the elements of permanent and substantial prosperity. The Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not only safe in its seats, but safe as the custodian of the best interests of Canada.

A FAMILY MATTER.

The Mail has singular theories in the matter of responsibility. It began by making the Globe a public criminal, because the latter published, merely as a terrible example, the brutal language employed by Mr. Gamey in North Oxford, in the recent contest. The Globe was the only sinner, the political free-lance who used the disgraceful language, not in the organ's optical organs, being in any way to blame. From this position it has been for the Mail, an easy transition to the position that Mr. Gamey did not say what he did say. This attitude places the opposition in the situation of being willing to take advantage of all the political benefit that may accrue from the member for Manitoulin outraging all considerations of decency on the public platform, while they are ashamed of the man and his methods. Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, accepts for his political larder all the fish that may come to him from Mr. Gamey's net, yet he avoids, as he would small-pox, the platform where his lieutenant appears. He even refuses to allow Mr. Gamey to assist in introducing to the House the new members he gives the latter credit for electing—ashamed of the tool, but proud of his work. It is unfortunate and disgraceful that Mr. Gamey should have used at Woodstock the offensive language he did use towards Judge Falconbridge and his family, but it was fortunate that the Globe reported these disgraceful utterances, for the public now know more largely than ever before the manner of man the Opposition delights to honour, and public opinion is in a better position to know how to deal with him, and the party which aids and abets him—the party which accepts and converts to its own use, the stolen goods, while it repudiates the purloiner. Gameyism is getting to be a heavy load for the Opposition to carry. Gameyism has lost whatever force it may have gained as a nasty novelty by the passing whim of popular favour. Gameyism has now become a matter of mere family concern to the Conservative party of Ontario.

RAILWAYS AND STORMS.

Newspapers and people who are kicking up such a row about railway trains not running on schedule time during the past few weeks, seem to forget the fact that this has been perhaps the coldest and stormiest winter ever experienced since railways began to run in Canada. There have been many heavy falls of snow, and not a sign of a thaw to remove the accumulation, with the result that there is a greater depth of snow on the ground than has been seen for many years. In some parts of Western Ontario a depth of from from five to nine feet of snow is reported. The wonder is that under such circumstances trains are able to get through at all. The Grand Trunk service has come in for what seems to us, uncalled for and unfair criticism. The officials of the line are always anxious to give the best and most regular service possible, and as far as the eastern division between Toronto and Montreal is concerned, have done very well considering the unprecedented difficulties in the form of cold and snow that they have had to contend with. People have been so accustomed during recent years to luxuriously equipped trains running sharp on time, that when under adverse conditions, such as have prevailed this winter, there is sometimes a little wait at a point of embarkation, or delay in reaching their destination, they become unreasonable critics, and the officials of the railway, who are doing the best they can, are often most unjustly blamed. The railway companies have nothing to gain by not running sharp on time, but from the way some people talk, one would think they were keeping the trains late on purpose. If Canadians would only take the trouble to investigate they would discover that they are faring just as well, if not better, than their neighbours across the line on the great railway systems running into New York, Boston ,and other places. There, for some time, trains have been running from one to ten hours late, and traffic outside the passenger service is practically tied up. And the American railroads have not half the snow nor nearly the extreme degree of cold to contend with that the lines in Canada have.

Keep easy, gentlemen; give the railways a chance; they are doing the best they can under the adverse circumstances.—Brockville Recorder, January 29.

NEW SETTLERS' GUIDE FOR LAKE ST. JOHN.

Well printed and bound, and compiled in an excellent and attractive manner by the Lake St. John Repatriation and Colonization Society, the "Settlers' Guide" for the use of intending settlers in the Lake St. John Region is to hand. The booklet is issued by the Society with the aid of the Department of the Interior, through Honourable Clifford Sifton, Minister, and Mr. Smart, Deputy Minister.

It is most profusely illustrated, and sets forth the climatic, agricultural and industrial advantages of that rich country to the north, in a most exhaustive manner. The country, as everybody knows thereabouts, is rich in agricultural and industrial resources. There are thousands of acres of choice land awaiting settlers, hundreds of square miles of wooded territory suitable for lumbering and pulp industries, while the natural water power is almost unlimited. Full information as to this as well as to the grain crops, cattle herds, cheese and butter making and other industries is to be found in the booklet. A table giving the names of successful colonists together with the results of their labours, etc., is also included, and cuts are reproduced of harvesting scenes, cattle herds and many of the principal industrial establishments as well as the thriving and pretty settlements. Maps are also included, and the booklet is a complete one for information.

The method of colonization pursued in opening up this new territory has been as well devised as it is interesting. In the first place the Lake St. John Railway Company have since a number of years past carried all bona fide new settlers and their effects to destination, free of charge. Every year each rural clergyman in the Province is authorized to send two delegates of his parish to examine and report upon the country. At intervals during the year, and especially at the harvest season, farmers' excursion trains are run, by means of which every farmer in the Province has an opportunity of visiting the district at a nominal price. To aid in choosing the settlers and in locating and helping them, a Colonization Society has been formed in connection with the railway which is certainly the most active of its kind in the Dominion. This Society now comprises over 1,200 paying members and has its head office in the Lake St. John Railway Station at Quebec, with guides in charge of the immigrant buildings at Roberval and Peribonca to direct the settlers to destination, and agents in every parish in the Saguenay district, in the New England States and in Europe. With such an organization, and such a liberal policy the really wonderful movement of colonization to this new district is not surprising, and one has only to turn over the pages of this pamphlet, to look at the photographs of harvest scenes, large industries and prosperous settlements, to read the testimony of the delegates from Canada, the United States and Europe who have examined or settled in the country, and the statistics of the wonderful success of many of the new settlers, to be convinced that we have at our doors a territory quite as important as Manitoba.

This issue of the "Settlers' Guide" is for distribution in Europe and the United States, for the purpose of encouraging immigration to the Lake St. John district. Setting forth the many advantages of the district to the settlers and industries seeking location, in such a clear and convincing manner, it is sure to meet with success. Copies of this new Guide can be obtained from the Secretary of the Society, Mr. Rene Dupont, Quebec.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

Ironworkers and C.N.R.

Port Arthur, Feb. 4.—Disagreement exists here between Superintendent Doe of the Barnett and Record Company and the iron workers employed on the C.N.R. elevator. A meeting of the iron workers will be ordered, and if the firm do not grant concessions, a strike will be ordered on the Milwaukee works. Union men here are all out on strike, only the non-union men working.

Kingston Without Cars.

Kingston, Feb. 4.—The deadlock between the citizens of Kingston and the Kingston, Portsmouth and Cataraqui Electric Railway Company has been precipitated sooner than was expected, and the result is that the car service has been discontinued. There is every probability the cars will not start running again until spring.

C.P.R. Must Pay.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—The Canadian Pacific Railway officials announce that the company has been condemned by a British judge in Hong Kong to pay to the Chinese Government £96,000 sterling for running down a Chinese gunboat with one of their steamships, the Empress of Japan.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

NO HOPE FOR PEACE

Answer From Russia Has Been Sent to Tokio.

WILL ANSWER BE WAR?

Actual War Moves Accredited to Russia—Commander of Vladivostock Warns Japanese They Had Better Leave—Movements of the Troops—A Rupture of Relations Between Russia and Japan Is Imminent.

London, Jan. 5.—The news that Russia has already despatched her reply to Japan has not yet reached the English newspapers, which are beginning to believe that Russia has no intention of sending a reply. The most pessimistic views are taken of the situation.

Reports are current that prominent commercial houses having relations with Japan have received private despatches intimating the belief that a rupture of relations between Russia and Japan is imminent, but nothing of an official character is obtainable, the alarmist views of this morning being based solely upon the reports of yesterday of the sailing of the Russian fleet from Port Arthur and the rumored Japanese move on Corea, which are repeated from different points in the Far East.

The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Chee Foo says a Russian fleet comprising all the battleships excepting the Sebastopol and six cruisers and two destroyers, is cruising along the coasts of the peninsula.

Movement of Russian Troops.

The Seoul correspondent of The Daily Mail says that a Russian army is moving south from Mukden, while the correspondent of the same paper at Port Arthur says that both Russia and Japan have placed an embargo upon coal shipments.

A telegram received here from Copenhagen declares that eighteen foreign steamers have just been chartered by Russia to convey war material from Odessa and Libau to the Far East.

No confirmation of the alarming war reports current here could be obtained at the Japanese Legation here last night, and Legation officials profess ignorance of any new decision on the part of the Japanese Government or fresh departures in the negotiations. The officials admitted, however, that the Legation had received official confirmation of the reports of the greatly increased Russian naval and military activity in Manchuria.

How Russia Sees It.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 5.—The feeling here is that Russia has offered substantial concessions, but that she cannot meet Japan's wishes regarding Manchuria, or agree to Japanese fortifications in Southern Corea. It is intimated in certain unofficial quarters that if Japan should offer a counter proposal, that Russia guarantee China's Manchurian treaties, irrespective of the ultimate sovereignty of the province, there might be a chance of reaching such a compromise. It is argued that this settlement would safeguard the existing conditions of all the powers in Manchuria, and it is contended that if Japan demands more in the last resort this would betray to the world her ulterior ambitions in Asia, which would be inimical to the interests of not only to Russia but of the very powers which now sympathize with Japan.

Much anxiety and doubt prevails here with regard to the future, but one thing is certain, Russia will not declare war, nor will she initiate hostile action if the negotiations break down. Russia will remain quiescent until attacked.

The postponement of the war impost in Japan is interpreted favorably.

The Novoe Vremya says that America is the real foe screened behind Japan. The British, the paper continues, have assumed the task of betraying Europe by truckling to the United States and speeches at the recent banquet of the Pilgrims' Society are cited as examples of British servility. In conclusion, The Novoe Vremya says:

"When Great Britain has quite gone over to the United States, the rest of Europe will realize the urgency of united action against America."

No Hope For Peace.

London—A despatch to The Reuter's Telegram Company from Tokio says: "The general impression here is that all hope of peace is gone. The Elder Statesmen had a conference yesterday afternoon, at which the Emperor was present. It is believed a weighty decision was reached."

London.—A despatch from the Central News Agency from Seoul, Corea, says that about 6,000 Russian troops have sailed from Port Arthur, and will endeavor to land at Chemulpo, the port of Seoul, to-day.

London—The ominous rumors circulating here of the imminence of hostilities in the Far East caused the rates on war risks at Lloyds to bound upward from 40 to 70 guineas per cent.

Reply on the Way.

St. Petersburg—The Russian response to the latest Japanese note was sent to Tokio last night.

Tokio—The Government has been informed that the Russian fleet has left Port Arthur. Its destination is not known.

Tokio—The Japanese commercial agent at Vladivostock was notified Wednesday by the commander of the Russian garrison that he might at any time, in accordance with orders from St. Petersburg, have to proclaim a state of siege.

How the Wind Blows.

Port Arthur—The Russian fleet left the harbor and was manoeuvring. It was reported, against 60 Japanese warships against Wei-Hai-Wei. This report was put afloat as an attempt to see "how the wind blows." The quarantine against Che Foo has been annulled. The fleet under Admiral Stark put to sea at dawn, Feb. 3. It has taken up its anchorage outside the harbour.

Get My Book, if Sick.

Don't Send a Penny.

Don't send a penny.
Just wait till you see what I can do. Let me take the risk. Let me prove up first what Dr Shoop's Restorative can do. The Restorative will gain your friendship, your endorsement, if you test it. And for a whole month you can use it without the slightest risk.
I will tell you of a druggist near you who will furnish six bottles of

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

A MONTH ON TRIAL.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say, "It did not help me," that ends it as far as cost to you is concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt that this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr Shoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy could not stand a test like this. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere. Thousands are accepting my offer and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it. 39 out of 40 get well and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is upon. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Don't let a sick friend stay sick because he knows not of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself, sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure him. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now.
Do not delay.

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

WAR OFFICE REFORM.

Heads of All the Departments in Britain Are Dismissed.

London, Feb. 5.—In pursuance of the army reforms all the heads of Departments of the War Office yesterday received letters of dismissal and were notified that they will be employed elsewhere.

Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces.

Lieut.-Gen. Grenfell, commanding the Fourth Army Corps.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir John French, in command of the First Army Corps, and Sir Wm. Butler, commanding the west district, have been invited to join the new Army Council.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others; but every stomach has its limit, and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juices and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong healthy stomach will and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal, and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interefered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try and get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

W. H. Allison, K.C., Dead.

Picton, Feb. 5.—W. H. Allison, K. C., died here yesterday in his 67th year. He had been in poor health for a number of months. Mr. Allison had been a Liberal. He was clerk of the court and registrar of the Surrogate Court to which office he was appointed in 1893.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—About 800 head of butchers' cattle, 6 calves and 80 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The continued severe cold winds and bad weather had a depressing effect on trade and as pretty high prices were asked the butchers bought sparingly in hopes of more liberal supplies next week. Three prime steers were sold at 5c per pound; good mediums sold at 4¼c to 4½c; ordinary mediums at about 4c and the common stock at 2½c to 3½c per lb. while some rather lean cows were sold at about 2½c per lb. The calves were all small and sold at about $3 each. Sheep sold at 3½c to 4c and lambs, at about 5c per lb.; good lots of fat hogs sold at from 5⅝c to 5½c per lb. Two loads of good western cattle, which had been detained on the road arrived late for to-day's market and were put into the stable to recruit before being offered for sale.

Profit in Municipal Store.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 5.—The first semi-annual report of the manager of the municipal grocery store operated by the City of Kenosha for the support of her dependants, was filed yesterday afternoon and shows the city has received a profit of more than $2,000. The store is the first thing of the kind ever known in Wisconsin and is under the direction of Ald. Peter Jacobs.

Belongs to Canada Now.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Acting Secretary of State Loomis transmitted yesterday to the House a memorial from the Wales Island Packing Company of New York praying for relief on the ground that the decision of the Alaskan boundary tribunal placed their canning plants on the Canadian side, which, it is contended, will prevent the continuance of the business of the concern.

To Grind Canadian Wheat.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Representative Stevens yesterday introduced his much-talked-of bill for the improvement of trade with Canada. The bill provides that when wheat is imported into this country to be ground in bonded mills and then exported as flour, bran and other by-products may be withdrawan for domestic consumption after the payment of such duties as would have accrued had these by-products been imported direct. Treasury agents are to appraise the duties. Mr. Stevens statement is significant because he represents in Congress the Minnesota section of the Great Red River spring wheat belt.

The King Approves.

London, Feb. 5.—King Edward has consented to be patron and the Prince of Wales to be president of the Colonial Exhibition.

This is the season of the year when Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work. Fortifying the system against the ravages of winter is one of the most effective uses of Scott's Emulsion; it builds up the strength of the whole body and puts one in a healthy, vigorous condition.

Weak lungs, throat troubles or bronchial affections get more positive help and relief from Scott's Emulsion than from any other source.

Cod liver oil itself is very scarce just now; cheap adulterations and mixtures of inferior oils are offered everywhere.

This is why Scott's Emulsion should be insisted upon. It never varies from the high quality and absolute purity that has made it the standard for thirty years.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Doronwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

AN ACCIDENT AT NEW POWER HOUSE.

Mr. Simmons, of Pittsburg Injured by Flying Chain.

An accident occurred this morning at the new power house of the Hydraulic Power Company, by which Mr. Simmons, of Pittsburg, who is superintending the installation of the electrical equipment for the Westinghouse Electric Company, was injured, though the exact nature of the injuries have not yet been ascertained.

A large piece of machinery was being raised preparatory to being placed in position by means of a chain fall lift. The chain broke, and one end of it struck Mr. Simmons on the left arm.

Dr. McNulty was consulted, and placed the arm in splints. It was not known whether the bone was broken or not, as Mr. Simmons is a very muscular man, and the fingers might possibly be used even though the bone were fractured.

Mr. Simmons will be off for some little time, although no serious results are anticipated from the accident, which is one that might occur under any circumstances, and for which no blame is attached to anyone.

THE NEW COLOURS TAKEN FROM CUSTOMS HOUSE.

Duty Raised by Militia Order—Grand Specimens of British Workmanship.

The new colours for the 57th Regiment have by an order raising the duties been taken from the Custom House, and are now locked up in the Registry Office vault.

They are above the highest expectations of even those most prominent in their purchase. The contract was filled by Holson & Sons, of London, Eng., makers of the colours of the Imperial Regiments, and are more than creditable to that firm. The flags are two in number. The capitals are of gilt steel, and the work is excellently done, each being surmounted by a lion. The silk of the flags is of a quality which it would be impossible to procure in Canada, and is of a texture which will stand the climate of this country. One of the flags is a Union Jack, with the regimental crest and device embroidered in the centre. The other has a field of Imperial purple with a small Union Jack in the right hand top corner, and the motto and crest worked in the centre. Both are heavily fringed with black and gold. It is the intention to present them to the Regiment on May 24th.

QUARTER CENTURY'S SERVICE REMEMBERED.

Mr. R. J. Chowen Presented with Cane by George Street Choir

On the Eve of His Departure From Peterborough—25 Years of Pleasant Association.

After an association of a quarter of a century with George street choir Mr. Richard J. Chowen, is severing his connection with it, because of his intended departure from town. Mr. Chowen has been a member of the choir longer than any other member now associated with it, and has seen it grow from very small beginning to what it is now, the largest, and one of the best choirs in town.

Last night on the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Chowen, the members of the choir met at their residence to spend a social evening prior to Mr. Chowen's departure, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

During the progress of the evening Mr. Chowen was presented with a handsome ebony gold-mounted engraved cane, by Miss Laura Gray, on behalf of the members of the choir, with whom the recipient has been associated so long.

The following address, which accompanied the gift was read by Miss Butcher:—

Dear Mr. Chowen,—Seldom in the history of any organization similar to that of George street choir, do the members find themselves in the position in which we are placed to-night. While the membership of choirs fluctuates with the change of circumstances, it is seldom that a musical organization meets to do honour to a member who has completed a quarter of a century's service as you have done. Not only has your association with the choir been long, but your interest and efforts on behalf of the organization have been of very material benefit to us. We can assure you that it is with utmost regret we learned of your intended departure from Peterborough, and not the least source of regret is the loss that the choir sustains in the severance of your presence and assistance which we have by years of pleasant association come to depend upon.

We trust, however, that in the severance of an association which has lasted a quarter of a century the material elements of success may be yours, and in wishing you God speed we ask your acceptance of this cane which we hope may prove a pleasant remembrancer of the period in which you were a member of George street choir.

Signed on behalf of the choir,
MRS. T. J. MOWAT,
JAS. EDGCUMBE,
W. G. MULLIGAN.

The gift was a complete surprise to Mr. Chowen, who was visibly affected by the action of the choir in making the presentation. He responded briefly, thanking the choir most sincerely for the remembrance, and for the spirit which prompted the gift. He referred to the years during which he had been a member of the choir, and during this period his relations had always been of the pleasantest. He felt a great regret at leaving Peterborough, and one of the chief causes for regret was the fact that departure from town meant a severance of the relations with the choir. It was a distinct pleasure to meet the choir in a social way, and he thanked them most heartily for the beautiful gift, which he should prize very highly, both for its value and for the sake of the givers.

Before separating, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. and Miss Chowen.

Mr. Chowen, as was noted in these columns yesterday, leaves Peterborough in a few days, accompanied by Mr. Wm. Hartley, for Lowell, Mass., where they may commence the manufacture of the warping reel attachment upon which they have been granted patents, and the use of which has proven so advantageous to weaving machines. Needless to say Mr. Chowen carries with him the best wishes of his late associates in George street choir in addition to those of all his many friends here.

MANY LADIES ATTEND COOKING DEMONSTRATION

Given in the Y. W. C. A. Rooms Last Night by Miss Hills.

There was a large attendance at the free cooking demonstration given last night in the Y.W.C.A. rooms by Miss Hills, a graduate of the Toronto Technical School. In an interesting talk Miss Hills outlined her courses, which are three in number, Plain Cooking, Household Cooking, and Superior Cooking. Lessons in plan cooking will be given on Tuesday and Friday evenings at nine o'clock, and the cost for the entire course of ten lessons is $2, individual lessons being 25c. In the second course of Household Cooking hot breakfast and luncheon dishes will be taken up and will also comprise some lessons in bread making. The course may be taken for $3, single lessons being 35 cents. These lessons will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 3 o'clock. The Superior cooking lessons will be given on Monday and Thursday mornings at 10 o'clock, and will include fancy deserts, ices, creams, afternoon tea cakes, relishes, entrees, etc. This course of lessons can be taken for $4, the individual lessons being 45 cents.

After the course in Plain Cooking the class will give a formal dinner, and a small charge will be made to cover expenses.

Fire! Smoke! Water! Ice!

Every day people who have bought groceries at Holmes' fire sale, come back for more. This shows the values we are giving. Don't be deterred by the crowding—there's plenty of soaps for all. Although the goods went through the fire—just near enough to call them "damaged"—most of them are as good as ever. Boxes of soaps, prunes, and matches, etc., bags of rice, cans of vegetables, fruits and fish, hogsheads of vinegar, molasses and syrup, chests of tea, barrels of herrings, sugar and salt, quarters of cured pork, packages of teas, cereals, etc., all at prices scorched out of recognition. Sale goes merrily on in the "Metropole" store, a few doors west of our burnt premises. J. Holmes.

DEPLORED DEATH OF MRS. A. W. GODARD.

Occurred Yesterday—She will be Buried in Grafton To-morrow.

The death of Annie C. Godard, relict of the late A. W. Godard, occurred at her residence, 174 McDonel street, yesterday, after a protracted illness. The deceased, who was born in Devonshire, England, came to this country in the year 1824, settling at Grafton. She was married in 1853 at St. John's, N. B., living there until 1867, when she went with her husband to live in Grafton. Nine years ago, after the death of her husband, she came to Peterborough, living here ever since. She was a member of the English church, and is survived by five children, whose names are Mrs. M. F. McNeil, Grafton; Mrs. W. C. Brown, town; Mrs. R. H. Reid, Bridgenorth; Mr. W. A. Godard, Cobourg; and Mrs. E. H. Porah, Detroit, Mich.

The body will leave Peterborough to-morrow on the 11.45 G. T. R. train for Grafton, where the funeral will take place. A service will be held in the house at 10.30 in the morning.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE GAMES AT NORWOOD.

T. A. S. Will Play Keene on Monday Night—Will Run Special Train.

Two Trent Valley League games will be played in Norwood during the next few days. To-night Campbellford and Warkworth will play the first of a series to decide a three-cornered tie in that District, and on Monday night the T.A.S. and Keene will play the game to decide the championship of this district. A special train will be run from Peterborough leaving here at 7 o'clock and returning, will leave Norwood at 11.30, arriving here before the midnight train leaves.

The Norwood rink management has made all preparations to handle the crowds, so that all may be assured of getting into the rink, and seeing the game in comfort.

Mr. DeVine will be on the train and will cash all C. G. E. Co. pay checks presented for payment of fares.

This will be a good fast game and no doubt will be witnessed by a good crowd.

"BEDELIAS" FILLED A "PRESCRIPTION."

Defeated the Pill Pounders Last Night by 4—0.

The following account of the game in the Brock street rink last night, between the Bedelias and the Druggists has been supplied to the Examiner:—

DIED. — In the Brock street rink, between ten and eleven o'clock last night, the Pill Pounders Hockey Team, from stage fright. The remains will be interred on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Funeral private.

This was the result of the game between Barrie's Bedelaias and the Druggists last evening, the Bedelias winning by a score of 4—0. The Druggists had prescribed a large-sized dose but were forced to take it themselves, as the Bedelaias struck a winning gait. The Pill Pounders are a team of some notoriety — especially in rough play — having beaten the Pig Irons and Cressman's, therefore the Bedelias can now be styled champions of the Merchants' League.

The game was fast from start to finish, although considerable rough play occurred on the part of the Druggists. For the Bedelaias, little Joe Carey in goal, proved to be better than the best, while Armstrong at point excelled himself. Sir Chas. Sargent at cover was a regular stone wall, breaking up their opponents rushes whenever the occasion required. Clancy, McCormack and Vanderwater on the forward line did some very fast work and some fine stick handling. Captain Brundrette for the winners, scoring three of their goals. Eddie Harrison, trainer, deserves much credit for the way he looked after his team, while mascot, J. O. R. DeChesigoy, as always ready with extra sticks. As for the Pill Pounders, one was was as good as the other.

THE REVIEW SEPTETTE MET THEIR WATERLOO

In Their Match With the Examiner Last Night.

"Winning Team the Better" Said the Referee—An Attendance of Four Hundred—Score 3-1 for the Exams.

Sacred to the Memory of Review Hockey Team.

"SHINE" WILSON
"SHORT STOP" MOORE
"DARK HORSE" HULF
"GUMDROP" JOLLIFFE
"STORK" CANNIFF
"OH GEE" MOWRY
"BROOKLYN" BUTCHER

Ding! — Ding! — Ding! — Hark! Did you not hear the funeral bell tolling with measured beat? It was a sudden death which the Review met last night.

At nine o'clock last night the Review went on the ice to meet the Examiner hockey team. The final score of 3—1 does not tell the whole story, for the Examiner swept (in reality) the ice with the Reviewists, and the latter certainly lost their breath. This was effected time and again by the cover point of the Exam. tickling one or two fellows under the fifth rib with the big end of his stick. The gasps Jolliffe would make when going through the operation, were like a Grand Trunk engine letting off steam, and his distress was painful to behold. At such a time a look of pathos would fill his eyes, which plainly said, "What did I do? What did he do?" And then he would sit down on the ice until the music of the fair referee's bell revived him. And then when play had begun again, Moore would accidentally run in on La-Pierre. The first concussion was so fierce that for ten minutes Samuel Sampson Moore thought he had accidentally jumped into the crater of a volcano during the course of eruption. On one occasion he thought the crack of doom had come. However it was only his head striking the fence, and, by the way, the fence suffered "Moore" and Moore was the sufferer also—and so the game went on.

The Examiner septette showed the results of energetic practice in the press-room and in the cellar, and put up a good game. The combination of the winning aggregation was excellent. Thanks to Manager Ross' ceaseless admonitions the team was in winning shape, and they struck a fast gait from the very beginning. Gilman, in goal, had very little to do, but that little he did well. The one goal which the Review alleges it scored, was really put in by Gilman. At the time no less than five of the Review team were on exhibition on fence, and the Examiner goal keeper put the puck through himself, in order that the losing team might regain hope. The half time score was 2—0 in favour of the Examiner, the Review net having been punctured by Richea and Henry. Lapierre, in a brilliant rush in the first part of the second half scored the Examiner's third goal.

At the conclusion of the game the victors adjourned to McCallum's restaurant, but only two Reviewists put in an appearance. They were Messrs. Moore and Jolliffe.

After a sumptuous feast, Mr. Hutchinson, of the Examiner team, proposed the health of the Review team, which was honoured with "For they are jolly good fellows." In respone, Mr. Moore said: "There is no question regarding the fact that we were out-classed, and the Examiner deserved the victory. The Review team played well, but they cannot face the Exams."

The toast to the referee was also honoured and a most enjoyable time was spent.

The teams were:

NOTES.

Did you hear about it?

Just trebled the score.

"Oh, Gee!" did you see him go?

It was "pi" for the Examiner bunch.

The "dark horse" of the Review put up a good game.

Printers know what it means to be "off their feet."

Some of the tactics indulged in by the Review team, left a bad "impression."

Printers ought to make good hockeyists. They are excellent "stick" handlers.

The managerial staffs of the different newspapers were interested spectators of the fray.

When the "forms" of Moore and Hutchinson became "locked," they went down in a heap, and saw ****

Charley Reid of the winning team played a clean fast game, and was right in it from start to finish.

Though our modesty is proverbial, we might remark that the referee acknowledged that the better team won.

Mascott Leonard for the Examiner performed his duties to the satisfaction of every member of the winning team.

The game was witnessed by four hundred spectators, who were for the greater part of the time convulsed with laughter.

A person remarked to-day of a certain player on the Examiner team, "That man plays hockey better than anyone I ever saw."

A traveller who has seen hockey games in all the large cities, said that he had never seen any that he enjoyed as much as that last night.

Judging from the number of times the Review players collided with the ice, it would be wise in future games to have their "forms" underlaid.

Nehemiah Jolliffe, who was supposed to be the star of the Review, was simply and literally speaking "up in the air" all the time.

The white plume in the helmet of Navarre was not in it for a minute with the striped socks and red garters of the stalwart cover point of the Examiner bunch.

The Review was never weary singing of the superior prowess of the Review hockey team. Even during the dog days of last July that organ would insinuate that the Examiner couldn't play hockey "for sour apples." Is our contemporary satisfied now?

The Examiner bindery girls are seriously considering issuing a challenge to the Review bindery girls to a game of hockey. Manager Ross has been endeavouring to persuade them to issue the challenge to the regular Review team instead, as he thinks their chances of winning would be better.

Last night's Review-Examiner game was unique in at least one respect. As far as the Examiner can learn, it is the first game of hockey ever refereed by a lady, and the "fair" and impartial manner which characterized her decisions, was made the subject of many complimentary remarks by both spectators and players.

PUCKERINGS.

Mr. Will Cochrane disclaims all knowledge or responsibility for the challenge contained in the Examiner yesterday in which the office staff of the McAllister Milling Company was challenged to a game by the American Cereal Company. Mr. Cochrane hands the honour of having issued the challenge over to Mr. J. E. Sullivan.

LINDSAY LADIES CLEARLY OUTCLASSED

By Peterborough Team in Opinion of the Lindsay Post.

The Lindsay Post, in commenting on the game played there on Wednesday night between the Peterborough and Lindsay ladies' teams, says:—

"The skating rink last night was filled to the doors, the attraction being an exhibition game between the ladies' team of Peterborough and the local ladies' team. It was the largest crowd of the season out to see a hockey match, and while some patronized the game for the sole purpose of of seeing the fair ones chase the puck others attended for curiosity's sake. The score at the finish was 12—0, a rather one-sided game. The playing may be judged by the score. That it was not pleasing to the four or five hundred spectators, everyone will confess. It was anything but a good exhibition, consequently there was a total lack of the excitement which usually characterizes the game.

"The visitors—a pretty evenly matched team—appeared on the ice attired in white sweaters and black skirts reaching to the ankles, and were a pretty and modestly attired seven. Their style of playing is nice and they skate gracefully. They know the game and play it well, and had their opponents been anything like equal to the occasion, the spectators would have seen a good match. The Lindsay girls played the best they knew how, but as some of them are just learning to skate, they were excuseable. It would have been wiser for them to have waited a couple of weeks longer until they had got in some good practice work, before bringing on a game, and permitting their opponents to outclass them at every point, much to the disappointment of the crowd.

"The red-stockinged and be-ribboned seven had the rubber a couple of times, but before they could get away, the Peterborough defence players were on hand to check them, and at no stage of the game did they get an opportunity to storm the Peterborough nets. Mrs. 'Goosie' Taylor refereed and gave satisfaction. The game was over by nine o'clock."

MISCELLANEOUS.

The K. O. T. M. Carpetball team would like to arrange a friendly game of carpet ball with the team representing the Sons of England, at the formers' hall on Tuesday night next.

AUTONOMY OF THE COLONIES.

Colonial Secretary Littleton Not Disposed to Interfere With It.

London, Feb. 5.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Alfred Lyttleton (Colonial Secretary), informed Dr. Shipman yesterday that the Agents-General of the colonies possessiong responsible Governments were entirely under the control of colonial Ministers, and that in matters falling under colonial Governments' consideration he was not disposed to interfere.

No Tax on Land Values.

London, Feb. 5.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. W. H. Long, M. P., President of Local Government Board, yesterday informed the representatives of the Association of Municipal Corporations that he had learned of no arguments as yet nor was their any evidence laid before the Royal Commission or speeches made in the House of Commons to justify the taxation of land values. Ground taxation was a branch of a much longer subject.

Australia's Militia.

London, Feb. 5.—(C. A. P.)—Australia's military strength will amount to a total of 25,800 men on a peace footing and 39,760 on a war footing. With the reserve and the unattached officers and cadets and rifle clubs, the full total will be 60,000. The new army scheme of organization provides for division forces, a. field force, interstate defence and garrison troops for state defence. The peace establishment proportions are for field purposes 13,831 men and for garrison purposes 11,896.

Against the Asiatic.

London, Feb. 5.—(C.A.P.)—The political committee of the new Reform Club has issued a twenty-page pamphlet entitled "British Workmen or Chinese Slaves." It argues that the real cause of the demand in South Africa and Chinese labor is due to fear that the influx of white laborers would speedily end the political influence of the mining magnates. The New South Wales labor party has emphatically protested against the introduction of Asiatic labor into South Africa.

Keep Russia Down.

London, Feb. 5.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Seddon of New Zealand, speaking on the crisis, said that for the essential safety of New Zealand, Russia should not be allowed to become a great naval power in the Far East. The revenue of the colony for the ten months ending Jan. 31 showed an increase of £481,000, compared with the corresponding period in the previous financial year. The Premier said he anticipated a thumping surplus.

NEWSPAPER MEN MEET.

Canadian Press Association Holds Its 46th Annual Meeting—Officers.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Yesterday morning the forty-sixth annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association convened in the Council Chamber of the Board of Trade. There was a good attendance, despite the difficulties in transportation, and members continued to arrive at irregular intervals during the day.

In his opening address the president, H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., congratulated the members on the reduced rate of portage granted on newspapers transmitted to other parts of the Empire. The association in this point had been of Imperial service. After paying respectful tributes to the memory of these members who had passed away during the year: Honorary members Dr. E. H. Dewart, Pres. of the Association in '88; James Innes, President in '77, and James Shannon, President in '78. Active members, Andrew Pattullo, President in '90-'91; A. F. Pirie, President in '93; J. A. Tucker and George Young. The president concluded by emphasizing the nobility of the pressmen's calling.

The meeting elected the following officials by acclamation: President, John A. Cooper, editor of The Canadian Magazine, Toronto; first vice-president, Archibald McLee, Windsor; secretary-treasurer, Joseph L. Clark, Toronto (re-elected); auditors, Messrs. Gibbard, Toronto, and Dillon, St. Mary's; representatives on Toronto Industrial Exhibition Board, Messrs. Cooper, Clark and Scott. Today voting will take place for the offices of second vice-president, assistant secretary and for the five seats on the Executive Committee.

The discussions during the forenoon and afternoon session were on many topics connected with the craft and the speeches were valuable inasmuch as they were the result of actual experiences in technical matters. In the evening the association dined together, the speakers of the evening being Prof. Goldwin Smith, the Sage of the Grange.

HOW IT SPREADS.

The first package of Hem-Roid (the infallible Pile cure) that was put out went to a small town in the State of Nebraska.

It made the cure of a case of Piles that was considered hopeless.

The news spread and although this was only two years ago the demand prompted Dr. J. S. Leonhardt of Lincoln, Neb., the discoverer, to prepare it for general use. Now it is being sent to all parts of the world.

It will cure any case of Piles. There is a month's treatment in each box.

Sold for $1.00, with absolute guarantee.

It is for sale by James Lynch, druggist, 166 Hunter street, Peterborough. 4

Three Burned to Death.

Montreal, Feb. 5.—At an early hour this morning fire broke out on Cadieux street, and is raging fiercely. Three people have already been taken out dead, and it is feared that many more lives have been lost, for a large lodging house is on fire.

JOINS THE CABINET

Mr. Hyman Minister Without Portfolio For the Present.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION

Entrance of Mr. Hyman to the Cabinet Will Greatly Strengthen the Government—A Chivalrous Fighter Who Is Well Esteemed By All Parties—Some of the Important Legislative Work He Has Done.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Mr. Charles Hyman, M.P., for London, has been called to the Cabinet, and will be sworn in to-day as Minister without portfolio. Mr. Hyman's entrance to the Cabinet will greatly strengthen the Government. The honor conferred upon him has long been foreseen, and will give great satisfaction in Ontario, especially in the western part of the Province. Mr. Hyman has deserved well of his party. He has fought many a gallant battle, and has always been a fearless and chivalrous fighter. As a debater his style is clear-cut, forcible and convincing. Among the rank and file of the House of Commons, and indeed by all who know him, he is held in high esteem. He has great personal magnetism, and is regarded with singular affection by the younger men of the party. The new Minister has an extraordinary capacity for work. As Chairman of the Railway Committee of the House he has displayed firmness, tact and readiness of decision. Mr. Hyman was Chairman of the committee that drafted the redistribution bill last session, a position in which moderation and fairness towards the Opposition were never more conspicuously manifested. Mr. Hyman has an enviable record as an athlete, and is quite at home in cricket, football, golf or any other outdoor sport.

Railway Commissioners.

The first meeting of the Board of Railway Commissioners will be held at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday next. There is one application from Ontario which affects the Grand Trunk Railway and the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway. It has to do with the interpretation of an order of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council permitting the Lindsay & Bobcaygeon line in the Town of Lindsay to be located near the Grand Trunk tracks. In addition to the foregoing some applications in regard to railways in British Columbia will be considered.

CANADIAN HORSE BREEDERS.

Opposed to a Government Grant to Make Showing at St. Louis.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—The tenth annual meeting of the Canadian Horse Breeders' Association was held here last night.

One of the principal matters dealt with in the secretary's report was the result of the interview the association had with the Minister of Agriculture in regard to admission of cayuses, culls and undesirable stock to the country from the United States. The Minister had promised that he would at once notify the department in Manitoba and the Northwest, and instruct them to adhere strictly to the letter of the law governing the admittance of such horses.

F. W. Hodson spoke in reference to the difficulties that he encountered at St. Louis. Several members of the association commented upon the undesirability of an exhibit there, and strongly advocated that no Canadian showing be made. The association adopted a resolution against the Government making any grant. A deputation will attend the meeting of the National Association of Canadian Stock Breeders.

The officers were elected and Dr. Andrew Smith is president.

The financial statement showed receipts to be $8,552, and the balance on hand $5,896. A grant of $500 was made to the Ottawa Horse Show, and $1,000 to the proposed Stallion Show in Toronto, if it is held.

Clydesdale Horse Breeders.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—The Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada met here yesterday in eighteenth annual meeting, with a crowded representation from every part of the country. The reports all pointed to one of the most successful years that the breeders have ever enjoyed. President W. Smith presided. The report of the secretary-treasurer noted a very large number of Clydesdales imported, there being 132 stallions and 57 mares recorded, but this was considered a very small percentage of the number that actually came into the country. During the year 1,196 pedigrees were recorded and 661 transfers and Scotch registrations made an increase of 426 registrations over 1902. The officers were elected, W. Smith, Columbus, Ont., being president.

One Man Burned to Death.

Fernie, Feb. 5.—A work train was wrecked at Hosmer, the next station east of here, on Saturday, by which one man lost his life. One of the worst wrecked cars was the boarding car. The car turned over, and it is supposed that the oil from the lamp started a fire, burning the car and several others. One occupant of the car was burned to a cinder. The dead man was a Swede laborer well up in years.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Six More Election Officers Sent Up For Trial.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—The submission of evidence sending six more election officers up for trial, the announcement of Ald. McGhie's refusal to attend further sessions of the Council until he was relieved of the suspicion attaching to his election, over fourteen bogus votes being discovered to have been cast for him in Div. 9 of Ward 6, and the assignment of Inspector Stark and three of his sleuths to the work of the running down clues for the civic investigators were the interesting developments of the city scandal yesterday.

The following election officials were bound over by Magistrate Denison in the sum of $600 yesterday, on the charge of conspiracy to corrupt the elections:

Div. 2, Ward 5—D. R. O. A. Cahoon; clerk, Thomas E. Kerr.

Div. 3, Ward 6—D. R. O. Frank Gray; clerk, Col. John Gray.

Div. 4, Ward 6—D. R. O. Alfred Gianelli; clerk, Louis Gianelli.

System Poisoned by Defective Kidneys.

Results of the Most Dreadfully Painful and Fatal Ailments Known to Man.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Of the food which is taken into the body, part is digested and assimilated and goes to form new blood and tissue, and a certain portion becomes waste matter which is poisonous to the system. Much of such matter is cast out or excreted by the kidneys in liquid form and passes from these organs through the ureters to the bladder.

When the kidneys become deranged this liquid poison forms into solid material, sometimes collecting in the joints and causing rheumatism, at other times in the kidneys, ureters or bladder, and becoming what is known as gravel or stone in the bladder, probably the most torturing and fatal ailments known to mankind.

Don't wait for symptoms of these horrible diseases, don't wait for Bright's Disease, diabetes, dropsy or apoplexy before beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but prevent these results by taking warning from the first symptoms, such as headache, deposits in urine, loss of flesh, and any irregularities of the urinary organs.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 2

AMARYLLIS

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Outside it was raw and gusty, with white, high lying clouds scudding so thickly across a pale sky that only wan and watery sunshine strained through the breaks between. Inside there was the balm of May, especially in the south parlor, where I knew I should find Myrtilla.

Myrtilla is tall and twenty, with a child's foot and a turn of the head and neck that would become an empress. She has coral red lips, a fine, straight nose, olive skin, dark almond eyes, heavily lashed and lidded, and a low, straight brow, deeply shadowed by dusky floss silk hair. In virtue of all this she reigns as a queen over most men. We had been engaged until two weeks ago—to be exact, until the date of the Verinews' ball and the episode of the Grantley girl.

The ball is ancient history now; besides, it has really nothing to do with the case. I left off dancing—with the Grantley girl at 4 a. m.—to fling myself into tweeds and set forth upon a week's journey. Coming home from it, I found my table cumbered with my letters to Myrtilla down to the most fragmentary note—those of the last week unopened—my ring, my books, a bracelet or two, the locket with my picture and a litter of those idiotic things one sends at Christmas and Easter and on birthdays. It was this litter that saved me from utter despair. I reasoned that if Myrtilla had cared enough for me to keep it all this time she could not give up caring for me in a moment.

Still, I knew there was a tough job ahead. But I did not dream she would go to the length of refusing to see or hear me or even to listen to my side of the case through Aunt Bab, most tactful of intermediaries. Her people backed her, too—all but Dicky. Dicky is fifteen and owns the distinction of being the only thing in trousers Myrtilla has found herself unable to subjugate. I cannot flatter myself that Dicky's advocacy of my cause was wholly disinterested. Dicky has a fine taste in terrier pups and a relish for stolen gallops on my hunters. At home he is allowed nothing more hazardous than a steady going cob. However that may be, it meant a lot to have any sort of friend at court. Otherwise, how should the hall door have swung open at my approach? The servants had strict orders to shut it civilly in my face.

"She's in there. It beats me why you want her, why you want any girl, when you've got heaps of dogs and horses," Dicky said, grinning, as I shot past him. "She's been real hateful polite; no good for even a fight this whole week," Dicky's voice pursued me down the hall.

The south parlor is a square jut, open upon three sides to the sun, with walls more than half windows, iron barred outside and full of green growing things within. There is a big fireplace.

Myrtilla stood in front of it, her eyes intently fixed upon the smoldering logs. At my entrance she started ever so little, turned her head the least bit and kept on staring in the fire.

"Myrtilla," I ventured irresolutely, my hand still on the doorknob.

She sat down and took up her embroidery, her face still further averted. Then I knew I had won half a point. If she had been as angry as she believed herself to be she would have marched away with her nose in the air.

I began again formally, "Miss Grey," but stopped short. She had begun to whistle over her work softly, meditatively, as though she knew herself to be alone.

Something happened then. I am neither poet nor romancer, but my ranging eye saw in the south window a creature of tropic charm, slim and tall, green gowned as a wood nymph, with wonderful golden tawny eyes and a crown still more wonderfully red. As I went to her she shivered and set all her green gown fluttering defensively, but I paid no heed to it, only said joyously, baring my head:

"Amaryllis! You are a real godsend! I was never so glad to see any one in all my life."

Myrtilla's head came around so that I saw her profile out of the tail of my eye. I fancied she stared, but dared not make sure of it. My wood nymph barely nodded; her tremors were all at rest. I bent toward her low enough to look into her golden tawny eyes and ran on:

"What have you done to yourself? You are so beautiful, so strangely, so rarely beautiful, it makes me desperate that I did not keep my heart for you, or, rather, it would make me desperate if hearts were things that could be given or kept at will."

Certainly the wood nymph stared; the golden tawny eyes looked at me unwinking. Myrtilla's head had turned a little more. Her lips were the least bit parted, as though her breath came hard. I straightened and stuck a hand in my pocket as I added:

"The pity of it! There's a true heart gone to waste! True hearts are none so plenty, Amaryllis."

"Certainly they are not," came scornfully from the fireside. I affected not to hear and went on manfully:

"I've played and lost—lost so miserably. Listen—then tell me if you think I quite deserve what I am getting?"

"I am going away," came faintly from Myrtilla's chair, but Myrtilla herself sat still and even made a pretense of putting stitches into her work. Finding me silent through a long minute, she sat very straight and added:

"Naturally one is nervous at finding oneself alone with a lunatic. Only lunatics talk to things as though they were people."

"Don't mind her, Amaryllis," I said softly. "Poor creature, she is jealous. She thinks you are no more than a lily blooming in a pot. We know better, of course."

"Really I did not dream you had so much imagination," Myrtilla said outright, snipping her thread as she spoke.

I stared harder than ever at Amaryllis, saying: "Imagination is a fearful thing sometimes. I am glad, Amaryllis, you altogether lack it. You would never see in ordinary civilities to a pretty girl anything to turn your lovely golden tawny eyes green."

"Dancing or sitting out every other number, I suppose, comes under the head of 'ordinary civilities,'" Myrtilla said, her lip curling.

I kept on quietly: "And even if you felt hurt you would let me explain. The Verinews have hearts as big as their fortune. Thus it happens I owe them what money can never pay. Not so many years back there was a big flurry in the street that put my governor in the worst sort of hole. It needed a cool million to get him out, and a Verinew million did it. Yet the governor was hardly an acquaintance. Verinew learned his extremity by chance and came to his help because, as he phrased it, he didn't think the other side was putting up a square deal. It does not lessen the obligation that he got his million back, plus a good profit. Eventually the Grantley girl will have it, with several millions more. She is a granddaughter—unacknowledged because Mme. Verinew wishes to seem as young as their fortune—but the very apple of the Verinew eye. They wanted her to be the belle of the ball—she was shy and sensitive and frightened half out of her wits. Somehow she trusted me"—

"I don't at all wonder at that," said a voice from the fireplace.

I bowed gravely and resumed: "When she is not frightened she is pretty, Amaryllis. Her head is splendidly red—not quite so red as yours. She is light on her feet, too, and loves to dance as well as the flowers do. The trouble is she has not yet quite caught the rhythms she must move to, so needs must lean heavily upon her partner. I understood; some of the others did not. Occasionally one was flurried, still more occasionally one impertinent. And a single cad let her see he was ashamed of dancing with her in spite of the millions. At her first ball! Think of it! I had to take away the sting of it somehow. Perhaps I did seem devoted, but she didn't misunderstand. I told her about Myrtilla in our very first waltz."

A little inarticulate cry from the fireplace here. Covertly I saw tears on Myrtilla's cheeks. She made as though to rise, but sank back, turned away her head and resumed the furious stabbing with her needle. I gathered the greenery of Amaryllis in my hands, laid my cheek against it and said dreamily:

"Amaryllis, tell me why I am fated to love dusky hair. All the painters and poets agree that red is ever so much more beautiful."

"Are you sure, quite sure, you do love it?" Myrtilla asked tremulously. She was not answered in words.

Five minutes later Dicky, bursting in upon us, found us side by side, looking down at Amaryllis through sunshine grown suddenly and magically warm and golden. After a long look Dicky whistled, turned on his heel and said from the door over his shoulder: "So you two have made it up. McSnifters said you would, 'cause that red lily bloomed so far ahead of time. But I don't care about that. All I want is to know what you're goin' to give me when you get married."

Are Your Lungs Weak?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery CURES Weak Lungs.

$3,000 FORFEIT

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse and regulate the bowels.

What Constitutes Death.

Is the cessation of the heart's action an invariable sign of death? There is on record the case of a woman whose heart was revived by artificial respiration some time after she was supposed to have died, but the heart stopped again when the artificial respiration was given up. There is on record also the case of a decapitated murderer whose heart continued to beat for an hour after the execution. Was the man dead?

Obviously the cessation of the brain's activities is no criterion. A medical authority who has lately considered this absorbing and important question offers the following definition of what we call "death:" "Death," it is suggested, is the name given to the inability of the organs of the body to act together with that harmony which is characteristic of "life," although the derangement of this vital harmony does not preclude a possible activity of the individual organs, which recalls Herbert Spencer's well known definition of life as a continued adjustment of internal relations to external relations.—Harper's Weekly.

A Bargain.

"I have something for you here, my love," said Mr. Darley as he proceeded to open a large, round box.

"What is it, precious?"

"Wait and see."

Darley carefully unwrapped the article and disclosed a lady's hat.

"Isn't it a beauty?" he asked. "I bought it myself as a surprise to you. Don't you think it is a perfect dream?"

Mrs. Darley gazed at the hat and burst into tears.

"I can't wear it!" she cried. "It doesn't suit me at all. You meant to please me, I know, but it isn't my style at all."

"Don't cry, dear. The milliner said you could exchange it, and if you'll agree not to buy any ties for me hereafter I'll let you select your own hats and bonnets."

An agreement was concluded on that basis.

Had to Give up and go to Bed.

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

WILL PRESS MOTION

John Morley Announces His Fiscal Resolution For Feb. 8.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Some Interesting Questions As to Manchuria—The British Government Has Made Frequent Representations to Russia—Want of Confidence Motion in Government in Relation to South African War.

London, Feb. 5.—John Morley announced yesterday in the House of Commons his definite intention to introduce Feb. 8 his fiscal amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, even if Premier Balfour is absent.

Previous to this announcement, Home Secretary Akers-Douglas, on behalf of the Government, said he was willing to give facilities for an adequate discussion of the fiscal question if the amendment was withdrawn. But a storm of protests which issued from the Opposition benches, decided Mr. Morley to carry out his original plan.

Several questions were put with the object of eliciting information regarding the Far Eastern situation; the steps taken to avert war, and whether the Government alone, or in conjunction with the United States Government, had pressed Russia to evacuate Manchuria, etc.; but the questions practically were without result.

Earl Percy, Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, declared that in view of the present state of the negotiations between Russia and Japan, it would be manifestly improper to make any observations on the situation. The British Government, he added, had made frequent representations to Russia in regard to the delay in the evacuation of Manchuria.

Earl Percy confirmed the reports that the Russians had removed several of the employes of Sir Robert Hart, the Inspector-General of Customs and Posts in China, from the native customs office at New Chwang, and had replaced them by Russian nominees. Representations, the Earl added, had been made on the subject at St. Petersburg.

Replying to another question, Earl Percy said the communications which had passed between the British and Russian Governments before the British expedition had been despatched to Thibet would shortly be published.

Mr. Rollinson (Liberal) moved an amendment to the address, setting forth that the evidence presented to the War Commission disclosed grave mismanagement and negligence on the part of the Government during the South African war. In a lengthy review of the propositions for the carlier conduct of the war, Mr. Rollinson severely criticised Premier Balfour and former Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, and at the conclusion of his remarks asked if ministers capable of such conduct were fit to conduct the affairs of the nation.

Mr. McNamara (Radical) seconded the amendment.

MAJORITY IS THREE.

Legislature Adopts the Address in Reply to the Speech—Budget on Tuesday—The Province's Finances.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—The debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne was concluded in the Legislature yesterday, the Government's resolution was adopted by a majority of three, the public accounts were immediately laid on the table, and the House will get down to business this afternoon. The Premier promised that the estimates would be presented to the House today, and he announced that he expected to deliver his budget speech on Tuesday next.

A Party Division.

The division yesterday was a strict party one. The House first voted on the amendment to the amendment, moved by Mr. Hoyle, disapproving of the summoning of the Legislature at such a time as to postpone the trial of several election petitions. This was defeated by 48 to 45, two members on each side being absent, Mr. J. R. Barber (Halton), and Mr. D. C. Cameron (Fort William), Liberals, and Mr. Henry Carscallen (Hamilton), and Mr. Adam Beck (London), Conservatives.

Mr. Pense Moves.

Mr. E. J. B. Pense then moved in amendment to the amendment that the following words be added to the address: "And to express our pleasure that every electoral district of the Province is now represented in this Assembly." The amendment was received by the Opposition with laughter, in which the Government supporters joined. Mr. Whitney jocularly expressed surprise that no notice had been given him of "any such performance as this." The amendment not being withdrawn, Mr. Whitney asked for the yeas and nays to be again taken, which was done.

When Mr. Cameron of West Huron, who had questioned the legality of Mr. Dunlop's election in North Renfrew voted for the amendment he received Opposition applause. The vote, of course, was exactly the same. Mr. Foy's amendment disapproving of the delay in filling the North Renfrew vacancy, and of the directions given by the Government to the Clerk to withhold the writ, having been killed by Mr. Pense's amendment, the main motion was put and carried on the same division. Mr. Gamey has intimated that he intends moving an amendment to supply for the purpose of going again into his charges against the Government.

Partnership Sale

It's a warm proposition! Nothing like Furs for a genuine Canadian winter like this one. Such cold weather calls for the warmest of clothing, and for warmth what will compare with Fur? It keeps the heat of the body in, and conserves it longest. It looks well—is not cumbersome—is durable and decidedly stylish if properly cut and made.

"But what about the price," says some one. All we have to say is that Prices were never Lower.

We are compelled by our partnership agreement to reduce stock by the beginning of March to about $20,000. his means the sale of about $25,000 worth of Furs, Hats and Furnishings by that time.

In fact as one woman said on looking through last week, "I consider I have saved $75.00 on the purchase I have made ($125.00)—having looked at the stocks offered me in Toronto only last we k." You can do the same. Come in.

Remnant Sales

In spite of the astonishing sales of the past three weeks, at the Golden Lion, stock-taking discloses large quantities of winter goods which we do not wish to measure up. We would rather count cash than merchandise. For the sake of disposing of them to the last yard, a pittiless cutting of prices is the rule. The chances during these two weeks of Inventory-taking are the most extraordinary yet announced. If you don't buy to-day or to-morrow, don't say we didn't give you fair warning. It would be well to be around every day. You are in the most sensational buying season of your life for the purchase of serviceable goods.

Remnants in all departments—Short Ends of Dress Goods, Silks, Flannel, Linens, Prints, etc.—Ends of lines in Underclothing, Outer garments, Gloves, Corsets, etc.—all contribute pleasing prices to thrifty shoppers.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE! SALE!

Having purchased the Millinery goods of Mrs. Darnley, that came near being damaged by the late fire on Hunter street, I will begin a sweeping Fire sale of the whole stock on FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 5th, in my own premises, Simcoe street.

The Goods Consist of Ladies' and Misses' Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats, Feather and Silk Ruffs, Flowers, Ribbons, Feathers and a great variety of fashionable Millinery Trimming.

The damage to the goods is so slight it can hardly be recognized. A small portion is soiled by smoke and water only.

Come, ladies, and see how the prices are shattered! You can buy at almost your own offer. The insurance companies are the only losers.

TO EXTEND RAILWAY TO THE ABITIBI.

Bill Introduced Amending the Temiskaming Railway Act.

Government Would Enlarge Its Powers—Power to Commissioners to Enable Them to Issue Debentures for $30,000 Per Mile Instead of $25,000—Also to Grant Land for Town Sites Along the Line.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Ontario Legislature at a session yesterday afternoon that lasted for but one hour practically cleared the order paper, which had assumed large proportions by reason of the accumulation of questions by members that could not be answered until after the address in reply to the speech from the throne had been disposed of. The Ministerial responses to some of these questions brought out information on several interesting subjects. Three Government bills were read a first time. One introduced by the Premier amends the laws concerning the security of officers. Another is the proposed amendment to the municipal taxation laws prepared by the special committee and submitted by the Attorney-General, and the third is the proposed amendment to the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway act.

Temiskaming Railway Extension.

This last provides for the extension of the road from the present northern terminus, New Liskeard, about 90 miles, to the projected Grand Trunk Pacific line, or, in the words of the bill, "to a point on the Abitibi River, or to a point in one of the townships adjacent thereto." It increases the powers of the commission by enabling them to issue debentures for $30,000 per mile, instead of $25,000 per mile; authorizes the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to transfer to the commission for town sites portions of ungranted lands along the line of railway adjacent to stations, and empowers the commission to appropriate other lands up to one thousand acres for each site. The act also provides that the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may from time to time transfer to the commission by way of loan out of the consolidated revenue fund a sum or sums not exceeding in all $2,000,000, and may accept the bonds of the commission as security for the repayment of the loan with interest at 3½ per cent. per annum. With the exception of some deep ravines and rock across the height of land, the route of the proposed line is mostly through clay land, and presents no engineering difficulties. In connection with the bill Mr. Latchford has also given notice of a resolution permitting the loan of $2,000,000 to the commission.

Other Bills Read.

Three other bills were given a first reading. Mr. Hoyle would amend the Ontario companies act to prevent the over-capitalization and watering of stock by practically adopting the Imperial act; Mr. Barr would change the common schools act to enable the Mayor or Reeve of any municipality to vote on the Public School Board in the case of a tie, and Mr. John Smith would amend the public libraries act by allowing non-residents the use of a library on payment of a fee.

Many Questions Answered.

Mr. St. John asked: Will there be a general election for this Legislature before the election petitions now pending in the courts are disposed of?

The Premier replied: The Government have not considered the subject of a general election for this Legislature.

Provincial Fishery Rights.

In answer to Mr. Hendrie, Hon. Mr. Latchford said the Government had learned that a lease of part of James Bay was granted by the Dominion Government to Mr. McNee of Windsor. The Government of Ontario, Mr. Latchford said, asserts a proprietary right in the inshore fisheries of the waters of James Bay, contiguous to the shores of the province, and will maintain such right against the Dominion and the lessee of the Government.

Free Text Books.

To Mr. Graham the Minister of Education said the Government was considering the question of free text books, and it is expected legislation will be introduced this session.

Lease of Old Buildings.

To Mr. Foy, Hon. Mr. Latchford said the old Parliament Buildings were leased to the Grand Trunk Railway, March 23, 1903, for 21 years, the terms being $6,000 a year for 10 years, and $11,000 for the remaining 11 years. An option is given the company to purchase the grounds for $180,000 up to five years, or for $200,000 up to 10 years, or may re-lease it for a further term of 21 years on terms to be settled by arbitration, if not mutually agreed upon. The area is 9,344 acres. Tenders were called for by advertisement.

Saloon Licenses in Ontario.

Mr. Stratton replied to a question of Dr. Barr, that there were three saloon licenses granted in the province in 1902 and 1903; five wholesale licenses elsewhere than in cities in 1902 and six wholesale licenses in 1903.

The total amount paid by the province for the destruction of the Barberry shrub in Simcoe County is $866, Mr. Dryden informed Mr. Little of Cardwell.

The Estimates Brought Down.

The estimates for the year were brought down by Premier Ross in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. They amount to $4,657,909.76, of which $4,057,134.76 is for current expenditure for 1904, $451,475 on capital account and $149,300 for other purposes. Here are the amounts required under the various heads of Government:

AN ALDERMAN TAKES BLAME.

Declares That He Deliberately Padded the List With 19 Names of Voters—Mr. Riddell Satisfied.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—It was an animated story of falsification and fraud that Ald. Woods related during the civic investigation before Judge Morgan. For two hours yesterday the Fifth Ward alderman occupied the witness box, confessing that he deliberately padded the list with 19 names of voters, and implicating Rev. Frank Forster, a Presbyterian minister, as his assistant. He declared that he did not know his acts were criminal, and excused the nefarious practice by deliberately alleging that hundreds of persons had been placed on the list by other candidates in a similar manner, and that the evil was quite common throughout Toronto.

Special Prosecutor Riddell declared he was quite satisfied with the first day's results.

Rev. Frank Forster Contradicts.

Rev. Frank Forster gave an indignant and pointed denial to the story of the Fifth Ward alderman, which sought to throw upon him part of the responsibility for the padded list, which helped that statesman in the 1901 city campaign. The fact that Ald. Woods had been a member of the Bethany congregation of Clinton street, over which Mr. Forster presided, made his effort to implicate the minister especially serious. Woods was flatly contradicted.

The story of the day clustered around 19 names of voters being put opposite as many lots in Markham place, in September, 1900. This is Woods' ward. The property was owned by William Forster, father of the minister. Woods swore he secured the Forster family's consent to putting those names on that property, that would qualify 19 people to vote for him. The preacher denied that he gave the permission. He said Woods asked him if his family were all right toward him, and he said they were. That was the extent of any request Woods had made of him to his knowledge. He admitted, however, that he discovered that these names had been opposite his father's property, and he did nothing to have them removed.

Ald. Woods said he had the names enrolled, but that Commissioner Fleming knew nothing of it. He used this method to increase his vote. It was a common practice among candidates, he swore, but when pinned down by specific instances said he would go over the books later with Mr. Riddell.

Both Laxtons Committed.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—Two more officials were committed for trial by Magistrate Denison in the Police Court yesterday morning, in the persons of John E. and W. A. Laxton, D.R.O., and clerk respectively in subdivision 9, Ward 6, where it is alleged 14 ballots were illegally marked for Ald. McGhie, and the addition of crosses made on the Board of Education ballots in favor of Dr. Orr.

WAS DRIVEN INSANE

Engineer Abernethy's Fate in a Rear-End Collision.

FIREMAN HUNTER WAS KILLED

Both Men Belonged to Toronto Junction—Hunter's Body Was Fearfully Mangled—East C.P.R. Flyer in Collision With Freight Standing in the Yards—C.P.R. Brakeman Speers Killed at Agincourt.

London, Feb. 6.—As the result of a rear-end collision in the C.P.R. yards here yesterday George Hunter of Toronto, is dead, and John Abernethy, also of Toronto Junction, is out of his mind.

C.P.R. flyer No. 5, due here at 11.30, was one hour late yesterday, and crashed into a freight standing on the main track. The men on the engine could not see the freight until they turned the curve a short distance east.

On seeing the train in their way brakes were immediately applied, but with no avail, the icy tracks being too slippery to stop quickly at the rate they were traveling.

George Hunter, the fireman, jumped and struck a car on the next track. He was thrown back under the wheels and was literally ground to pieces. The entire train passed over him.

John Abernethy stayed on the engine till it struck, escaping injury beyond a shaking up. The shock, however, was too much for him, resulting in unbalancing his mind. The poor fellow is now in a state of temporary insanity.

The passengers escaped unhurt, and the train was sent on shortly afterwards. The scene of the wreck is a gruesome one, three large refrigerator cars being jamed into one and piled up about 50 feet. The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained, the railway authorities being reticent.

It is supposed that owing to the sharpness of the curve and the steam from a yard engine the engineer's view was obstructed, and he couldn't see the semaphore was against him.

The yard was full of freight trains, so it was found necessary to make up the freight train on the main line, it being thought, as the flyer was over an hour late, they would have time to get her out.

Both Abernethy and Hunter are married. Hunter, who is about 32 years of age, leaves a widow and one child.

Brakeman Killed at Agincourt.

Toronto Junction, Feb. 6.—William Speers, a brakeman on the C.P.R., residing at 315 East Dundas street, met with his death at Agincourt last evening. He was going east on a freight train, and at Agincourt he was running alongside of his train when he got caught by a passenger train going west and thrown under his own train. He was removed to Toronto, but died on his way to the Western Hospital.

St. Thomas Man Killed.

Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Joseph Wardner, C.P.R. fireman, was fatally injured by falling from the third storey of the Union Bank building at Moose Jaw Thursday.

CANADIAN OVER ALL.

(Dedicated to the Canadian Clubs of the Dominion by William Henry Drummond.)

When our fathers crossed the ocean
In the glorious days gone by,
They breathed their deep emotion
In many a tear and sigh,
Tho' a brighter lay before them
Than the old, old land that bore them,
And all the wide world knows now
That land was Canada.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our birthright,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

Our fathers came to win us
This land beyond recall,
And the same blood flows within us
Of Briton, Celt and Gaul,
Keep alive each glowing ember
Of our sireland, but remember
That we are Canadian
Whatever may befall.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our birthright,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

Who can blame them, who can blame us,
If we feel ourselves with pride
How a thousand years to tame us
The foe has often tried?
And should e'er the Empire need us
She'll require no chains to lead us,
For we are Empire's children,
But Canadian over all.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our birthright,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever Canadian over all.

A HALF MILLION ACRES.

Ontario Lands Now Actually in the Hands of Veterans.

With the end of the year the Crown Lands Department have figured roughly the business done in giving land grants to the Veterans of 1866 and of the South African war, who have applied. Since November 1, 1902, the department have sent out no less than 10,250 certificates, entitling each recipient to 160 acres of land for service to his country. Of those so favored some three thousand have already selected their land. This would mean the actual taking up of 480,000 acres, or twenty-one townships, if the settlement were solid, but as only one veteran may locate in each square mile these locations must be scattered over eighty-four or more townships. The Government set apart one hundred and thirty-six townships in new Ontario from which the veterans might choose land, and besides many townships in the northern parts of old Ontario.

Altogether the department received about 30,000 applications and letters from those who thought they were entitled to grants. Thousands were of course not sustained, and some remain to be decided. The time for making applications expired on December 31, last, so that the arrears of applications will likely be dealt with before long. The Crown Lands Department have no statistics of the number of veterans who have actually settled on their land. The Province of Quebec is now undertaking the granting of land to veterans, doubtless following the example of Ontario.

RIEL QUAILED TO DEATH

WHEN THE REBEL CHIEF FEARED ASSASSINATION.

Interesting Chapter of the Drama Enacted in the Northwest Eighteen Years Ago —Hospital Staff Sergeant Relates the Story, Which Fills in a Useful Gap in a Canadian Historical Event.

Here is the story of a man who saw Riel, the leader of the Northwest Rebellion, quail when he thought death confronted him.

"Time can never erase the memory of that personal experience with the old rebel chieftain that May morning eighteen years ago," observed Robert Hazelton, a well-known Toronto man who relates the story. "I was hospital staff sergeant under Surgeon Lieut.-Col. Ryerson during the Northwest Rebellion. Sunday, May 17, 1885, was a memorable occasion for the right division of the Northwest field force. It was our first Sabbath with the notorious captive rebel chief in our possession. I believe every man in the command felt the importance of the occasion. We realized it was the beginning of the end of the bloody career of Riel.

"We were camped on the Saskatchewan River that Sunday morning, en route to Alberta, with our prisoner. Our camp was pleasantly located. Our tents strung out in a three-sided line, with the opening toward the east and the beautiful river skirting the southern fringe of white canvas. It was eighteen years ago, but it seems but yesterday that I was sitting on a medicine chest talking with Major J. B. Munroe about the capture of Riel the Tuesday before, the stirring events of the campaign and of our boys who had met death.

Called to Attend Riel.

"Suddenly a form darkened the opening made by the flap of the tent being pulled back and Brigadier-Major Young of Winnipeg, son of the famous old missionary of the same name, walked in. 'Doc,' he observed after hesitating a minute, 'I wish you would give me some medicine.'

"'But, Major, what can be the matter with you? I never saw you looking better; I don't think we carry any medicine that can do a man of your appearance any good.' He laughed and with more hesitation, coming closer, said: 'Yes, but I need some medicine; I want a laxative. What have you got about the tent?'

"Seeing he was in earnest, I remarked: 'I can give you a solid, a powder, a paste or a liquid, what do you prefer?'

"The Major seemed puzzled, and finally becoming confidential and exhibiting much mystery, he continued in a lower tone: 'I may as well tell you, Doc, this is not for me but for the prisoner.'

Would Take No Chances.

"Now we had many prisoners, but the prisoner I knew meant Riel. I replied: 'That makes no difference; I can give you medicine for him as well as for yourself, but what shall it be of these I mention?' Hesitating again, he remarked that perhaps I had better come over and see Riel So we walked down toward the prisoner's tent. It was some three hundred yards away. En route the Major remarked, with considerable significance: 'Now, Doc, remember, you must treat this fellow right. There must be no mistake. You understand?'

"I turned and looked at him. I knew what was running through his mind. He knew the hostile feeling among the men toward Riel. Especially did he recall that I had shortly before stood by the side of my boy friend, Lieut. William C. Fitch of Toronto, at Batoche, and seen him shot to death by Riel's braves. He was probably counting just how deep the resentment was toward the author of the bloodshed we had witnessed. 'Yes, I understand you fully,' I replied, and we passed on.

Confronts Rebel Chieftain.

"At a small bell-shaped tent there were two sentries walking. Each had a loaded gun with fixed bayonet on his shoulder, and they were attending to business. There was clearly not to be any chance taken by the officials of anything 'happening' to their prisoner. They realized just then that Riel in captivity was looked upon as almost as dangerous to the Government as Riel at liberty even in rebellion. The officers knew that I realized what a white elephant the prisoner was likely to prove. They understood that if anything 'happened' to the old rebel the force would lay itself open to the charge of having deliberately promoted Riel's death. All these considerations were clear to me.

Striking Manner of the Captive.

"I shall never forget the few minutes' interview with Louis Riel nor the impression the rebel chief left upon me. The prisoner was lying down as I entered. He scrambled to his feet as I came in. His small piercing eyes were so bright and so searching that I almost forgot to survey the powerful physique that confronted me. He greeted me in a low, musical voice and placed rather a delicate, soft hand in mine. His hat was off, showing a great mass of brown hair and full beard of rich brown, all well kept. The bead-like eyes left an uncomfortable feeling on me that could not be allayed by a closer scrutiny of the prisoner's rather pleasant features. It was a face that revealed much strength and coarse features somewhat refined by his early life as divinity student. But the shifting snake-like eyes kept moving all over me and seldom resting for a moment in one place. He wore a gray Northwest Mounted Police shirt, possible a part of the loot from Fort Carlton and the Hudson Bay Co. stores; a pair of bull hide moccasins, gray tweed pants and vests completed his apparel. This was the rebel chieftain as he confronted me that Sunday morning. It was the first time I had ever seen Riel.

In Fear of Being Poisoned.

"After the salutation I remarked 'The Major tells me you want some medicine; what's the matter Riel?'

"'I want a laxative; I have not felt well for four or five days.'

"'What do you want?'

"'What can you give me?' and the prisoner shifted uneasily from one foot to another.

"'I can give you a solid, a liquid, a paste or a powder; which can you take easiest?'

"Quick as a flash he turned his little flashing eyes on me and replied:

"'Have you got any castor oil?'

Thought Death Was Near.

"I intuitively divined what was running through the mind of the cunning old fellow. He knew castor oil when he saw it. He did not know the other various medicines I might offer him. He was in deadly fear of being poisoned. He realized how easily it would be for me to give him a dose of poison and no one would be the wiser. There was no mistaking the expression of awful fear that was overspreading the prisoner's countenance. I could observe the change in his demeanor with no difficulty. Each moment he was getting worse. In his early days Riel had studied for the priesthood. He was perhaps in a measure familiar with the action of some of the more subtle poisons. He probably realized that I could give him, a dose of prussic acid concealed in other drugs, and being volatile the deadly poison would evaporate before his corpse could be examined by persons of sufficient surgical skill to determine that his death was not natural.

Major Got Impatient.

"I told him we did not carry castor oil in our supplies. He did not speak for several moments, but the pallor was deepening. Major Young was impatient. He would not waste any more time on the prisoner.

"'What do you think this man ought to have, Doc?' he broke out with a stamp of his foot.

"'I should say a paste, Major.'

"'Give it to him, then,' was the peremptory reply.

"I returned to my tent and mixed mixed 20 grains of powdered julep, 10 grains of powdered East Indian ginger and incorporated it with a few drops of glycerine. This I carried back in a spoon.

"There was no denying the trepidation of Riel now. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that he thought he was being poisoned—that his last moment had come. His face was ashen. As I approached he began to mumble in Latin to himself. He was a devout Catholic. Riel was praying to the Virgin for protection. His demeanor was that of a hunted animal with every hope dissipated. I held the spoon toward him. His mutterings became lower. I could distinguish an occasional sentence.

Implored Divine Mercy.

"The desperate man grasped the spoon with his left hand. At the same time he began to use his right in crossing himself. His appeal for divine mercy was louder. 'Doc adjuvate, non timendum' he cried, but his trembling hand and terror stricken countenance showed that he did not have much faith in God's help. Then he looked me straight in the eyes for fully a minute, making no sound but continuing to cross himself. As if threatening me in the event it was poison I had given him Riel again murmured as he looked at me, 'Dabit Deus his quoquefinem.'

"The wretched prisoner's face was livid as he slowly raised the medicine to his mouth. He fastened his sharp eyes on me as he prepared to take what he unquestionably believed to be the fatal dose. Just as the spoon touched his lips he spoke again, 'Dei gratia' he breathed, 'Deus major columna.'

Spoon Rattled Against His Teeth.

"As the spoon touched his mouth the hand that held it was palsied. It shook so violently that the metal rattled against his teeth. The medicine was gulped down, and Riel removed the spoon. He continued to cross himself convulsively as if waiting for the death stroke. After a few seconds his attitude slightly changed. He did not feel the convulsion which he knew would follow a fatal poison and his spirits rose. 'Dum spiro, spero,' he groaned, but if he really had hope as long as there was life' his manner belied his words. Slowly he passed the spoon back and turned his head away. If he was ashamed of the vile suspicion he had entertained he did not show it. His distrust, however, was partly allayed when I handed him several pills and told him to use them in future if he required medicine.

"It was the following November when the miserable fellow was executed, but he probably did not suffer more keenly on the scaffold than that May morning in the military camp on the Saskatchewan River, when he thought he was delivering to himself the drug that would snuff out his life.—G. C. Porter in Toronto Sunday World.

Stephenson Stoker.

There has just died at Spenymoor, in Durham, Mr. T. Marshall, said to have been the stoker, on its initial trip, of the first engine built by Geo. Stephenson for the Stockton and Darlington Railway. The journey took place on September 27, 1825, and it is on record that the chimney of the locomotive became nearly red hot, but though the engine was most boisterously skittish, the journey was safely accomplished, the engineer being Stephenson himself. The train consisted of six loaded wagons, a passenger carriage, twenty-one trucks fitted with seats, and six wagons filled with coals. The number of passengers was 450; on the return journey they increased to over 600, many of them "hanging to the wagons in a state of delight, suspense, and even fear."—London Chronicle.

System Poisoned by Defective Kidneys.

Results of the Most Dreadfully Painful and Fatal Ailments Known to Man.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Of the food which is taken into the body, part is digested and assimilated and goes to form new blood and tissue, and a certain portion becomes waste matter which is poisonous to the system. Much of such matter is cast out or excreted by the kidneys in liquid form and passes from these organs through the ureters to the bladder.

When the kidneys become deranged this liquid poison forms into solid material, sometimes collecting in the joints, and causing rheumatism, at other times in the kidneys, ureters or bladder, and becoming what is known as gravel or stone in the bladder, probably the most torturing and fatal ailments known to mankind.

Don't wait for symptoms of these horrible diseases, don't wait for Bright's Disease, diabetes, dropsy or apoplexy before beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but prevent these results by taking warning from the first symptoms, such as headache, deposits in urine, loss of flesh, and any irregularities of the urinary organs.

Mrs. S. Dercosher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

ADD TO A MAN'S YEARS

SIR HERMANN WEBER, M.D., F.R.C.P., TELLS HOW TO PROLONG LIFE.

Eminent English Physician Gives Definite Rules Governing Food and Exercise—Makes the Startling Announcement That the Age of 100 Years Might Be Attained by Most People—The Week-End Holiday.

Sir Hermann Weber, M.D., F.R.C.P., the distinguished English medical authority, in a recent lecture before the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons made the somewhat startling announcement that the age of 100 years might be attained by most people.

He proceeded to lay down many definite rules covering the food and exercise to be taken to accomplish this end. Coming from an authority so highly esteemed the advice cannot be taken too seriously. In discussing the problem Dr. Weber said:

Subject a Large One.

"The subject of the prolongation of life is a very large one, especially if considered with regard to the whole population from infancy onward. The diminution of infant mortality and the improvement of the hygienic conditions of towns and houses have raised and will continue to raise the average duration of life. Here is a wide field of usefulness, and one of the most important sections of it will be the combat with the various forms of pathogenic microbes, in which men have rendered immortal services to humanity. And, besides, the physical education of the entire population, which ought to commence in the nursery and ought to be insisted upon at all schools, public and private, will not only contribute to the prolongation of life but improve the whole race. Our grandchildren ought not to hear any more of the deterioration in the soldiers, the professions or trades.

"We are therefore justified in assuming that although life is usually limited to eighty years it may occasionally be prolonged to one hundred and even more through the operation of careful training. By carefully studying these agencies we may sometimes succeed in prolonging life to the limit natural to the human species.

Long Livers Temperate.

"Some of the most long lived persons have led injudicious lives, and great longevity occurs occasionally under the most different circumstances. After having carefully entered into the records of more than one hundred cases of very long lived persons I have reason to say that by far the majority of them were temperate, were small meat eaters, lived much in the open air and led an active life. Many of them lived a life of toil with great restrictions as to food and comforts, while most of them were early risers and a great number of them had a joyful disposition and performed their work cheerfully. Only a few were intemperate or idle and lazy persons.

"Death from old age is caused by a kind of atrophy of the tissues and organs connected with the changes in the blood vessels. We must counteract this tendency by supplying the tissues and organs with healthy blood. To do so we must endeavor to produce a healthy state of the blood and to maintain the blood vessels and lymphatics in a sound and vigorous condition. Life, we may say, depends to a great extent on the state of the organs of circulation. If we review the different means in our power to prevent early decay and to keep the circulatory system in a healthy condition we find that the most efficacious are given by the different forms of exercise.

"Walking is the most natural form of exercise. The action of the heart and the breathing are accelerated thereby and more blood is passed into the blood vessels, which are obliged to contract more frequently and carry it with greater energy to the different organs and tissues. At the same time the number and depth of inspirations are increased, more oxygen is taken up and more carbonic acid is given out. Walking, however, does not only act directly on the heart, but by the action of the muscles of the legs more blood is attracted to them and all afferent vessels of the lower extremities carry away more blood from the heart, and the afferent vessels, the veins and lymphatics, carry more blood back to the heart and force it to contract more energetically.

The Week-End Holiday.

"It is of great use for those who are still in fair vigor to take regularly, once a week, a day of more prolonged exercise up to four and six hours, and those who live in town ought to spend this day of extra exercise in the country, if possible, on account of the purer air and the change of scene. The benefit of such a long walk is increased if only a very small quantity of fluid and food be taken during the walk—for instance, a sandwich or a few biscuits and an apple or an orange. One of the visible effects of such a walk, combined with a very restricted taking in, is that the body loses mostly between two and seven pounds during the walk. The weight lost on the long walk is usually regained within two or three days.

"One of the great advantages of several hours' exercise in the country is the exposure to the open air, which is scarcely to be overrated; it strengthens the skin and the nervous system and the whole organism; it cheers the mind; it increases the resisting power to meteorological influences, and diminishes the tendency to chills and other morbid affections, and this resisting power is one of the great factors of longevity. Life in the open air, by itself, without exercise, increases the resisting power.

Moderation in Food.

"Great moderation in the amount of food, and especially of the most nourishing articles (flesh food and pulses), ought to be practiced by everybody, particularly by old people, and is a great aid to longevity. Almost all authorities are agreed on the subject that in old age the amount of food ought to be very limited. Dr. George Cheyne, for instance, says in one of his rules, "The aged should lessen the quantity and lower the quality of their food gradually as they grow older, even before a manifest decay of appetite forces them to it." An important subject constantly preached but almost as constantly neglected is thorough mastication. Many forms of indigestion, many states of imperfect nutrition of the whole body are caused by bolting the food. Nothing ought to be swallowed until it has been perfectly comminuted by mastication and by the admixture of saliva. Combined with the fault of bolting is often that of washing down the food before it is properly masticated. This is likewise a grave mistake, committed frequently by great eaters and by those who take much fluid during meals, which is in itself a bad habit.

"Alcohol is not necessary to healthy persons, and most men would be better without it. Many diseases are no doubt produced by the abuse of alcohol. Yet a small quantity of wine or whiskey, or cognac, or beer, according to the individual conditions, is to most persons not injurious, to some even useful.

Alcohol and Tobacco.

"A very prevalent idea with regard to alcohol is that it is most useful to aged people, in fact that 'wine is the milk of old people,' that it does for them what milk does for children. Alcohol taken in any large quantities diminishes the resisting power of the organism against chills, microbes, and other causes of disease, and this resisting power is one of the great agents in the prolongation of life, and ought to be strengthened in every possible way, not weakened.

"Tobacco is to many persons a means of enjoyment and is well borne by them if they take it in moderation. It soothes nervous irritability and makes many men look more contentedly on their troubles. On the other hand, excessive smoking is decidedly injurious to the great majority of people by affecting the heart, the nerves and the throat. In many cases diminution of the amount of smoking or taking a milder form of tobacco remedies the bad effect, while others must give it up entirely.

"A further point of self-education is the restraint of our passions; not only that we must not allow ourselves to become furious if anything displeases us, but we must also conquer our ambition, our avarice, our jealousy, our sexual desires, which often become the sources not only of unhappiness, but as you know, of bodily and mental disease, premature death or 'miserable' old age.

"Attention to the digestive system and food is almost as necessary for the promotion of longevity as to the circulatory and respiratory systems. It is impossible to lay down strict rules.

Some Conclusions.

"The main points of my advice may be comprised in a few sentences:

"Moderation in eating, drinking and physical indulgence.

"Pure air out of the house and within.

"The keeping of every organ of the body as far as possible in constant working order.

"Regular exercise every day in all weathers, supplemented in many cases by breathing movements, and by walking and climbing tours.

"Going to bed early and rising early and restricting the shours of sleep to six or seven.

"Daily baths or ablutions according to individual conditions, cold or warm, or warm followed by cold.

"Regular work and mental occupation.

"Cultivation of placidity, cheerfulness and hopefulness of mind.

"Employment of the great power of mind in controlling passions and nervous fear.

"Strengthening the will in carrying out whatever is useful and in checking the craving for stimulants, anodynes and other injurious agencies.

"In laying down these precepts I wish not to create a life of privation, but to promote a long life and a useful and happy one to the end without suffering, and I can assure you that it has been my good fortune to succeed in a great many cases."

Door Covered With Human Skin.

The historic Pyx Chapel, in Westminster Abbey, the massive door of which is a familiar object in the dark cloisters, is about to be lighted by electricity and thrown open to the public. The chapel is now under the control of the office of works. At one time it was the depository of the regalia of the Scottish kings, and it was here that the famous robbery of the £100,000 which had been collected for the Scotch wars by Edward I. took place.

The nature of the concession to the public may be inferred from the fact that access to this remarkable apartment, with its double doors of oak, has hitherto been possible only by the aid of seven keys in the possession of as many officials of the Exchequer. In former times the Government standards and assays of gold were deposited here.

Among the other contents of the place are a curious stone altar and some ancient chests, in which State documents, exchequer tally sticks and other things are stored. The woodwork of the inner door was formerly covered with human skin, a warning, no doubt, to the burglariously inclined, but little, if indeed any, of this gruesome covering remains.

The Cook Approved.

Out in Columbia road lives a gentlewoman of ample means, who recently advertised for a cook. The establishment is entirely in accord with an excellent social position, but is by no means pretentious, so when a well recommended cook called and mentioned her price as $40 a month the lady of the house answered that a wage of that figure was quite out of the question.

The cook dwelt a little on her superior ability in the matter of getting up smart luncheons and dinners, but the mistress of the house answered that she wouldn't think for a moment of paying $40 for a cook. The chef-lady rose to depart. She was perfectly affable, and the gentlewoman's determination evidently impressed her as most commendable.

"I see how it is," she said approvingly. "You are trying to live within your income."

And she departed, doubtless to find somebody who isn't making that effort.

The Cold that "Hangs On"

The cold that sticks to you is not to be trifled with. If you cannot "shake it" in a very few days you may be sure there is something wrong. Your system must be run down, otherwise it would throw off the cold naturally and quickly. Cough cures may allay the tickling in your throat and give a little temporary relief, but they cannot reach the root of the trouble. What you require is BUILDING UP, and for this purpose there is just one safe, sure and effective remedy, and that is FERROL. If your cold hangs on, take

FERROL (The Iron-Oil Food) as directed and see how soon you will begin to put on flesh, how the enriched blood will course through your veins and bring back the color to your cheeks, how the nerves will brace up and the muscles harden and develop and then nature will soon dispose of the cold.

FERROL is not a cough cure, but it will infallibly cure the most stubborn cough by natural process, and will at the same time strengthen and invigorate the patient and restore lost vim and energy.

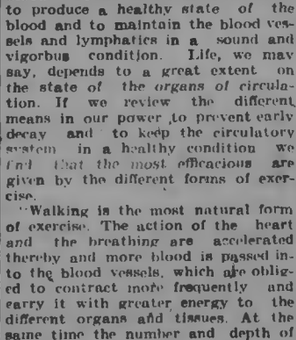
PLUMBING, HEATING, LIGHTING,

No. 413 George St. 'Phone 336.



The burnished plumage of the peacock owes its brilliancy and splendor to a healthful condition. Let the bird be sickly, and the plumage droops and grows dull. There is no exception in nature to the rule that beauty depends on health.

Women who see their beauty waning rarely associate the external change with failure of the womanly health. They do not understand the close relation of the general physical health to the health of the delicate womanly organism, until after being cured of womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they find the color returning to the cheek and the flesh to the body.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Several years ago I was very poorly," writes Mrs. May Kelley, of Sylvia, Kans., "so weak I could hardly walk across the floor, and at times suffered severely. I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and got well and hardy—gained twelve pounds in two months and was the picture of health. Your medicines have cured me. Almost everybody I meet says, 'You look so much better than you have for several years; you look well now.'"

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a mild laxative. Nothing equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

APPEARED ON NECK, LEGS AND ARMS.

It is well-known that all that bad blood is the direct cause of all skin diseases and it is necessary for the blood to be cleansed before the eruptions will disappear. For this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters as the thousands of testimonials we have on hand will testify.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were so painful that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, on the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

MAKE NERVOUS, WEAK, DISEASED MEN.

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body indexed by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life—the farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions. Nervous Debility and Sexual Weakness are guaranteed cured by our New Method Treatment or No Pay. You run no risk 25 years in Detroit. Bank security.

CURED WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED. No names used without written consent.

"I am 33 years of age and married. When young I led a gay life. Early indiscretions and later excesses made trouble for me. I became weak and nervous. My kidneys became affected and I feared Bright's Disease. Married Life was unsatisfactory and my home unhappy. I tried everything—all failed till I took treatment from Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method built me up mentally, physically and sexually. I feel and act like a man in every respect. They treated me six years ago. They are honest, skilful and responsible financially, so why patronize Quacks and Fakirs when you can be cured by reliable doctors."—W. A. Belton.

The Whole Family Can Enjoy It.

Unless you hear it you cannot possibly conceive its most wonderful power. Whatever your age or mood—old or young, grave or gay—you will find that the Berliner Gram-o-phone will humour your caprice. It talks, sings, reproduces piano, violin, banjo, cornet or trombone; full brass band or orchestra, church choir or chime bells. It will play for you to dance to. It will sing hymns or repeat sermons. "A child can operate it." It is not only a source of pleasure, but of profit. It teaches you to appreciate and familiarizes you with the latest and best in music. All this in your own home and at a merely nominal cost. It would cost a fortune in time and money to hear in person one-tenth of the great artists who have made records for the Gram-o-phone—their voices and styles are yours, true to life, on the Gram-o-phone. A PETERBOROUGH GROOM AND BOBCAYGEON BRIDE.

The Wedding of Mr. W. C. Routley and Miss Clara Thompson very Pleasant Affair.

The snow blockade on the northern railway seriously interfered with the wedding arrangements in connection with the marriage of Mr. Wm. C. Routley, of Toronto, and Miss Clara May Thompson, of Bobcaygeon, which was quietly celebrated at midday on Wednesday at the Rockland, Bobcaygeon, in the presence of a number of the family relations. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Smith, of that place, and the contracting parties were supported by Mr. Alf. Kemp, of Peterborough, and Miss Cora Thompson, sister of the bride. The dining room presented a charming appearance and the menu was all that could be desired. The toasts appropriate to the occasion were given and the bride cut the cake according to the honoured custom. A pleasing feature of the assembly was the presence not only of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Routley, but also of his father's mother, a lady who stood the rigours of a six hour drive from Peterborough with several upsets, without the slightest ill-effect. It had been intended that the newly wedded couple would drive to the train for Toronto, but as the line was blocked this had to be abandoned. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Thompson entertained a number of friends and a few pleasant hours were spent, all present wishing happiness to the young couple. The presents were numerous and costly, and many of them of high artistic merit. The wedding party will leave for Toronto, where Mr. and Mrs. Routley will reside, though it is probable that they will make a brief visit to Peterborough next week for a reception.

DEATH RESULTED FROM EXPOSURE.

Mrs. Rebecca Kerr Died at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Rebecca Kerr, a lady of 72 years of age, died at St. Joseph's hospital on Thursday night, and was buried this morning at the Little Lake cemetery. About a week ago Mrs. Kerr, who was slightly demented, went out of doors, and was rather badly frozen, and from the effects of the terrible exposure to the cold she was taken ill and never recovered.

The deceased had no relatives here, but Mr. J. J. Jack, of Toronto, is a nephew, and Mrs. Cuppleson, also of Toronto, a niece.

MURRAY STREET ORGANIST ENTERTAINED THE CHOIR.

Of the Baptist Church—A Delightful Time Spent.

Mrs. C. McClelland, of Downie street, the organist of the Murray street Baptist Church, last night entertained, at her residence, the choir of that church, who on their part thoroughly appreciated her hospitality and spent a highly delightful time. The evening was spent mainly in playing games and towards the close the hostess served some light refreshments. There was a large representation of the choir present and these little incidents do more to make a choir successful than perhaps anything else.

INTERESTING EVENT AT ST. ANDREW'S.

Mr. J. D. Carnegie Gave an Exhibition of Moving Pictures.

Last night at St. Andrew's Sunday School a most enjoyable evening was spent, the feature of the evening being a programme of an illustrated address given by Mr. J. D. Carnegie. This was an entertainment which was a repetition of one previously given, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present.

The opening exercise was the singing of the hymn "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," which was illustrated, and following this the slums of New York were shown and a large number of animatographic pictures.

MADE PRESENTATION TO POPULAR CAPTAIN.

Mr. John MacPherson Given a Gold Locket by His Team Mates

On Eve of His Departure From Town—A Pleasant Evening Spent in Long's Palm Parlours.

The news that Mr. Jack MacPherson was about to leave Peterborough was received with genuine regret by his many friends here, and none more acutely than his associates in hockey, in which sport he proved his efficiency. As captain of the Peterborough II Trent Valley League team, he worked hard, and, as the sequel shows, effectively for the interest of the team for in every championship game in which they figured a win was registered to their credit.

Last night the players on the team met at Long's Palm Parlous to spend a quiet hour and to bid farewell to their captain, who left to-day for Amherst, N.S., where he has been transferred by his employers, the Bank of Montreal. Those present were:—Messrs. Cameron, Lee, Ford, Graham, Glover, Dillon, Hamilton, Comstock, Renton, Rush, MacPherson and Morgan. Mr. E. Wasson sent his regret at his inability to be present. A splendid oyster supper was served in first-class style by Mr. Long, at the conclusion of which Mr. Glover, secretary of the club, read the following address, while Mr. Gordon Lee presented Mr. MacPherson with a gold locket, engraved a monogram and inscription:—

Mr. Jack McPherson, Peterborough:

Dear Friend,—On occasions of a similar character to this when we have met to bid farewell to friends whose departure the vagaries of fate make necessary, you have been among those who mourn, and to-night when you are the guest of honour, and it is us who are wearing the dejected countenances, we feel that words are but meaningless instruments with which to express the regret which your approaching departure brings to us; but there is one consolation in thinking of the absence from our midst of one who has proved himself so agreeable, and, although the consolation is a selfish one, we clutch at it as the straw which offers the only possible hope of rescue from the depths of gloom which your departure will cast over us and that is that for every manly heart around this board which will grieve at your departure, there are scores of more tender hearts in which your winning personality and engaging manners with the fair sex made you a welcome guest, whose grief will transcend ours, if that were possible, and by the companionship of trouble, our regret at losing you is tempered by the remembrance of the fact that we are not alone in this regret.

As members of the Peterborough Second Hockey team, of which you made such an efficient and successful Captain, we have gathered, that as a team we may express to you a measure of the appreciation which your efforts on behalf of the team have inspired, and as we are men of few words we ask your acceptance of this locket, which we earnestly hope may serve the purpose which its presentation intended—that of reminding you of your old associates on the Peterborough Trent Valley Hockey team of 1903-4.

Mr. MacPherson, to whom the presentation was a complete surprise made a characteristically modest speech. He was very pleased to meet his team-mates around the festive board before his departure, and the occasion would serve as a most pleasant reminder of the associations he had enjoyed with them during this season particularly. He expressed his pleasure at the achievement of the team, and felt that they had every reason to be proud of their season's record of unbroken success. He commended the action of the executive in withdrawing from the league when it was found out that they could not go through with the outside games, as being unselfish, and one which the teams benefitted it it would, he thought, appreciate.

He thanked them for the handsome gift which he would prize very highly. He assured those present that he would always look back with pleasant memories on the hockey season of 1903-04, and wished the Peterborough Hockey Club every success in the future. After a short talk on general hockey topics by the secretary, the gathering dispersed, after wishing the guest of the evening success in his new scene of work.

Mr. MacPherson is very popular in social circles in which he will be greatly missed.

LAMENTED DEATH OF JOHN MANIECE

Occurred This Morning After a Lingering Illness.

After a lingering illness, John Maniece died this morning at 11.30, at his late residence, corner of James and Mark streets, fifth ward, at the age of 43 years. The late Mr. Maniece has been a resident of Ashburnham since his birth, and was one of the best known men in that part of the town. He has been ailing for some time and seriously ill since last fall. He was a son of the late John Maniece, and leaves three brothers and one sister, the latter being Mrs. A. E. Sedgewick, of Otonabee, and the former,—William, Robert and Thomas B., all of Peterborough. The deceased was a consistent member of St. Luke's church, and for 22 years had been a trusted employee of Mr. Henry Calcutt.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

MR. ALEX. FITZGERALD BUYS COAL BUSINESS.

It is stated that He Has Purchased the Business of Late Samuel Nelson at Lakefield.

It is stated that Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, late Street Commissioner and village Constable, of Ashburnham has purchased the coal business of the late Samuel Nelson, of Lakefield, and will remove to that village in the near future. Mr. Fitzgerald is a well known figure in the fifth ward, where he has resided for a number of years, and has held the positions referred to for a considerable length of time. He has a son living in Lakefield.

ITALIAN USED HIS STILETTO.

Drunken Foreigner May be a Murderer.

GUISEPPE DE PAOLO KNIFED.

By His Own Brother Pattalleone—Trivial Affair Leads to Quarrel Which Ends Disastrously.

Stabbed in five different places on his body and with his ear almost cut off Guiseppe DePaolo, an Italian, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital last night, his hair and body matted with frozen blood, and an awful look of terror on his features. This was the handiwork of his own brother, Pattalloone DePaolo, who is at present locked up in the cells at the Police Station charged with the attempted murder. The prisoner was arraigned before Police Magistrate D. W. Dumble this morning and remanded until Friday on the formal charge of wounding.

To-day the Examiner visited the scene of the fracas, a small hut, honoured by being numbered 540 Douegal street, and with the aid of English, French and Latin, aided by gesticulations, succeeded in getting the following story: The house in question is rented by one, Antonio Muscarrol by name, and with him there board a number of his fellow-countrymen, Guisseppe and Pattalleone DePaolo amongst them. About 9 o'clock last night Pattalleone DePaolo arrived home in an ugly mood, being in that condition through excess of intoxicants. It was not long before he began to create a disturbance and finally picked a quarrel with his brother Guisseppee over a very trivial matter. It transpires that Pattalleone refused to let his brother drink out of his tin mug, the latter retaliating by forbidding the other taking tea from his pot. This infuriated the drunken man. Rapidly drawing his stiletto he rushed at his brother Guisseppe and began to stab him? Attacked by a heavier and older man under the influence of liquor and armed with a dagger, Guisseppe's position was perilous. The first thrust was not successfully parried and the knife glanced off the warding arm on to his head, inflicting a gash of about six inches. Guisseppe immediately picked up a knife lying on the table and pricked Pattalleone on the lip. The slight wound absolutely crazed the drunken man and the four or five others in the room dared not stand in his way, and beat a hasty retreat to the woodshed. Pattalleone's second blow entered his victim's lung, and was followed by one in the spine, and another between the ribs. These were the main blows, but less serious ones were also inflicted. Now that he had committed the deed Pattalleone was frightened beyond measure and fled precipitately down the road. He did not return home last night and was arrested at the Italian boarding house on Bethune street, between Hunter and Simcoe streets. After leaving the house and finding his lip bleeding freely Pattalleone visited Dr McNulty's surgery and was having his wound dressed, when two other Italians rang the bell. The doctor went to open the door, and when he returned to his office he found the window open and his former patient gone. The second foreigners had come to tell of Guiseppe's wounds and urge the doctor to come and dress them. Dr. McNulty, accompanied by the men, went to the house and found Guiseppe lying as left in a pool of blood, on the floor. He was unconscious and lay huddled up.

The physician immediately telephoned for the ambulance, and had the unfortunate victim removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he now lies at the point of death. He is about 40 years of age while his assailant is six years his senior. The doctor expressed practically no hope for his recovery, the wound in the lung being probably a fatal one. Should Guiseppe DePalo die of his wounds the charge against Pattalleone will be changed to murder.

100 Men This Month.

An effort is being made this month to add one hundred new members to the Y.M.C.A. It can be done with the co-operation of the members. No association has more inducements to offer, and one wonders why hundreds of young men are not members. Every member is asked to help in this canvas by trying to get at least one new subscriber. Young men who do not belong should not wait to be asked but call at the building right away and get a ticket.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON NEW ZEALAND.

Given in Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night by Mr. T. W. Glover.

Mr. T. W. Glover, an enthusiastic temperance advocate from New Zealand, addressed a gathering in the Y. M.C.A. hall last night. He is visiting Canada in the interests of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and has succeeded in organizing a lodge of the Order here. The start was made on Tuesday evening last with fifteen members and last night's meeting was productive of as many more, who took the obligation not to make use buy, sell, furnish or cause to be furnished, anything that can intoxicate while they live. Mr. Glover is a vigorous speaker, and his heart is evidently in his work as a missioner in the cause of temperance.

The illustrations in the lecture were thrown upon the canvas by Mr. Wm. Stubb's very fine machine. The views were those of buildings, people and scenery in the principal towns and cities of Australasia. The pictures of a number of Premiers in these colonies of the British Empire were show. A remarkable fact was told of the Maoris the aboriginal race of New Zealand. The people, the speaker said, were the most intelligent type of aborigines yet discovered, and were capable of great culture, some having become members of the Government. Unfortunately, he said, they were fast passing away, and when first discovered, had been damned by the strong drink introduced by the English. It was a hypocritical way the English had, said the speaker, of giving the people this soul-destroyer, then sending missionaries to tell them to look up, and when they did look up their land would be stolen from them.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Mr. Glover told of many temperance revivals, blue ribbon campaigns and the like, which have been held throughout Australasia. He is a believer in woman's rights and attributed to the I.O.G.T., the causes which resulted in their enfranchisement in New Zealand. Just there, he roasted that peculiar individual, the party man, who though the heavens fell, would support his party, no matter what the character of the candidate. He said there was no such thing as the party woman.

The speaker deplored the fact that in Canada so few young men took active part in religious meetings or in fact, in any meetings having for their purposes the public interests.

And what do you do with your old people? asked Mr. Glover, when years press heavily upon them and they are forsaken and are without means. The pity of it all impressed itself upon me in Hamilton the other day, when I saw a poor old woman sent to jail. Why? Because she was poor. We in New Zealand pension our poor when they come down to old age and instead of sorrow when they approach the end of their journey there is happiness.

Mr. Glover made a strong plea on behalf of temperance and at the close a considerable number of people took the obligation.

On motion of Mr. Geo. Powell, seconded by Mr. G. S. Prathy, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Glover at the close of the meeting.

The officers of the Peterborough Lodge of I.O.G.T. will be elected at a meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A. next Tuesday evening.

NOT IN THE INTERESTS OF THE TOWN.

It seems to be a quite debateable point whether the Town Council, in its manner of dealing with the application of the Lock Works Company, has shown the best judgment, or acted most wisely in the interests of the town and its progress. It is unfortunate that we have from time to time in our council one or two members who seem to feel it their duty to take narrow views of what is calculated to promote the public interests, as represented by the increase of our manufacturing industries. A case in point might be recalled. It will be remembered by many that when the lot in question was applied for as a site for the establishment of an important oil industry, two members of the then council were responsible for driving an oil company out of Peterborough, and leading to its establishment in Toronto. There this same industry, which Peterborough through two of its representative, rejected, is established on a thriving basis, employing 75 hands, receiving good wages, and has developed a business which is one of the most flourishing in the province. With a little more public spirit, with a little less obstruction, Peterborough might have had on reasonable terms this same industry now, contributing to our wealth and increasing our population and importance. This same unprogressive spirit is with us still, opposing in the matter of the Lock Works' application, one of the best and most business-like propositions ever submitted to the town. Two of our Aldermen, especially, are giving it the cold shoulder. They are making themselves responsible for preventing the immediate expenditure in Peterborough, representing a large amount of construction work, of from $25,000 to $30,000, for new, modern, and thoroughly equipped buildings, necessary for a large expansion of operations, and a substantial addition to the payroll of the Lock Works' Company. The proposed fixed assessment means not only increased taxation for the Lock Company, as to its new buildings, but also the bringing of the old buildings under the general assessment and full taxation. How the opposition to the proposal of the Lock Company can be justified in the interests of the town, is difficult to understand.

If the Lock Company took its stand wholly upon what was best for its material interests, it would not propose rebuilding in Peterborough, and for many reasons that could be named. But the management and shareholders of the company are chiefly in, and chiefly interested in, Peterborough. They represent Peterborough capital, and there seems to be no good reason why local capital should not be treated as generously as outside capital. If it is worth while to make exertions to bring capital to the town to engage in manufacturing, it is certainly worth while to do a little something to retain capital in town, for the same purpose. If an industry of assured stability and proved standing, guarantees to erect substantial and permanent buildings, and the employment of, say, fifty hands, should seek to locate in Peterborough, the town would no doubt, and, justifiably, too, make effort and spend considerable money to secure its presence. If the town council does not desire the expansion of the operations of the Lock Works, the company will doubtless be able to get on without the assistance the town can easily give; and, for whatever results that may prejudicially affect the interests of the town, those who oppose the assistance in question, will be responsible.

If the town can secure for a lot that has stood vacant and unproductive for years and years, the erection of buildings worth $25,000, the employment of a large addition to the present staff of hands, and an assessment of $12,000, one would not be inclined to consider it a bad bargain.

If they can secure industrial buildings of the value of $25,000 for $2,000 or the value of $2,000—what the lot is worth—who would say, if the opportunity offered, that the town could any too soon enter upon the work of securing, by the expenditure of $40,000, the erection of $500,000 worth of such buildings; and why the champions of the cause of labour should oppose a proposition that involves this principle, requires a little explanation. There is not a working man, whose judgment is worth considering that would not, if the chance offered, unreservedly approve of the expenditure by the town of $40,000 to secure the erection of $500,000 worth of factory buildings, meaning, at least the employment of a thousand hands and the addition of $240,000 to the assessment. And if the Lock Works, in consideration of the grant of land of the value of about $2,000, will erect buildings worth $25,000, agree to a fixed assessment of $12,000 and use their influence, to secure a new industry for the old buildings, such a proposition should not it seems to the Examiner, be lightly treated.

The Lock Works Company made a proposition which they thought no reasonable person would object to, much less, reject, as the town council seems to have done.

If this attitude is persisted in the Lock Works Company can build when and where it best suits them. In the interests of the town and as citizens of the town, the Company has declined an offer of amalgamation with a similar company in another city, because one of the conditions of the proposed amalgamation was the closing of the factory in Peterborough.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

SO THE CITY FATHERS have decided not to apply for incorporation at this stage, and will defer the acceptance of this dignity until a later date. The Aldermen evidently feel that the adoption of Ashburnham, with the many problems which such a course entails, is a pretty big undertaking for one year, and for fear of it being a case of "biting off more than they can swallow" have decided that for at least another year, Peterborough will remain the "largest town in Canada," preferring this reputation to the, to them, doubtful honour of being counted among the cities, although if Peterborough should decide to step up where her population would place her, she would stand in no mean position among the cities of this fair province.

ON THE WHOLE, perhaps it is just as well to remain where we are for another year. There are a number of pretty weighty matters coming up for settlement by the council this year, and the members will have nearly enough to keep them pretty busily engaged without the additional burdens and responsibilities which city incorporation would lay on them. But then the Aldermen should be used to hard work and knotty problems by this time. During the last year the Council legislated on a number of very important questions each of which means a great amount of study and work on the part of the aldermen, and they will thus be in trim to grapple with the problems confronting them during 1904.

• • •

THE COUNCIL may find it necessary to spend considerable money this year, and if some of the much needed civic improvements are provided, there will be few ratepayers who will oppose the expenditure. One of the departments in which an improvement should be made is that of the fire department. While in the equipment as far as the actual fire fighting apparatus is concerned, probably no great improvement is needed, and the service as regards the personnel of the brigade is fully up to the standard, the men are a credit to the town and it is doubtful if better could be found anywhere. What is needed and needed badly is a new fire hall. No one can deny that the present hall is antiquated and should have been discarded years ago. It is not at all in keeping with the modern requirements of a modern town, such as we all delight to think Peterborough is. It is quite within the range of probability that during this year the council will take this matter into their consideration and the majority of citizens will doubtless sanction any reasonable expenditure for the purpose of raising the efficienty of such an important branch of civic service as the fire department.

NOT ONLY IS A NEW HALL needed but as has already been pointed out in these columns, an alarm system which will meet the requirements of the growing town is something which if the service is to be efficient, must be installed. The one at present in use, it must be admitted, is not adequate and any improvement made in the service must include a new alarm system.

• • •

FREE TEXT BOOKS for public schools is a question which will probably engage the attention of the Board of Education in the near future. Last year the Board sent a deputation to Toronto, Brantford and Hamilton to enquire into the system of free books in use in these cities. The deputation instituted a thorough investigation into the merits and demerits of the different systems, and reported to the Board, recommending the adoption of a system, which included the best features of those in use in the three cities visited, where free text books are in use in schools. Because of the fact that Ashburnham was about to become annexed to Peterborough, and the probability of a change in the personnel of the Board, no action was taken on the report. But it is altogether probable that at an early meeting of the Board, the matter will be discussed, and the report either adopted or amended.

• • •

THE EXPERIENCE of cities in which the free text book system prevails, seems to warrant the belief that such a system would prove advantageous. In Brantford, where free text books have been supplied for over twenty years, it is stated that the system has given perfect satisfaction, and surely if there are defects in it, twenty years, and more, use, would have revealed them. Brantford, which in manufacturing lines probably ranks about equal with Peterborough, is ahead of this town in educational advantages, and the deputation which visited that city and others last year in quest of information on the subject of free text books learned a number of things with reference to modern education in public schools, the adoption by Peterborough of which might not be detrimental to the educational facilities of the town.

• • •

THE SPORTING ELEMENT in Peterborough is strong, and it is doubtful if in any other town in Canada there are as many live sporting organizations as this town can boast of. Not only are sporting organizations numerous, but they are well supported by the public generally, and this is perhaps because of the fact that in all sports which the youth of Peterborough participate, a healthy tone is maintained. The time has gone by when it was considered that if a young man took a part in sport he was unfitted for business, because in the light of experience it has been found that a healthy inclination to sport not only does not incapacitate a young men for business, but on the contrary, if sport is enjoyed as it should be, it has a decided tendency to develop an all round manhood, and in no place where clean sport is encouraged will one find a dull town, either industrially or in any other line.

TO CELEBRATE THEIR 25TH ANNIVERSARY.

Court Peterborough, No 29, C. O. F., will Hold an "At Home."

At the regular meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., held last evening it was decided to fittingly celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary by holding an "at home," which will take the form of a tea and concert. An energetic committee was appointed to make final arrangements. As the anniversary falls on Saturday, February, 27th, the "at home" will, in all probability, be held on the 26th or 28th, the exact date not having yet been decided upon. Tea will be served from six to eight, after which an interesting programme will be run off, at the conclusion of which social hour may be spent.

Court Peterborough is also making arrangements to hold a fancy dress carnival in the Brock street rink, fuller particulars of which will be announced later.

WAS CRUSHED BY ROLLING SAWLOG.

Serious Accident Which Occurred in Peterborough County this Week.

On Tuesday afternoon last a shantyman named Edward McFadden, whose home is in Digby township, was badly crushed by a rolling sawlog in a lumber camp on the border of Peterborough County. The unfortunate fellow was helping to load some heavy logs onto a sleigh when the end of one not solidly in place slewed round, knocked him down, and passed over his body from the waist to the head, crushing him badly but not fatally.

The injured man was conveyed to Gooderham — a 30 mile ride—where Dr. Sutton gave him every attention. Finding that his patient manifested symptoms of having contracted pneumonia as a result of exposure on his long trip from camp, the Dr. decided to remove him to the Ross Hospital, and set out with him Wednesday afternoon. The trip over the I. B. & O. Railway to Irondale Junction was made on time, but owing to the blockade on the Haliburton line the doctor and his patient did not reach Lindsay till 1 o'clock Thursday morning, when a hack was secured and the injured man transferred to the Hospital, where he is doing well. Dr. Sutton is still in attendance, no train having left for the north since his arrival.—Lindsay Post.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a point to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

THE DEBATE OVER.

The debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne terminated in the Ontario Legislature on Thursday afternoon, the first division of the session resulting in a majority of three for the Government. Thus nearly four weeks have been expended principally upon talk. The debates which have generally been dreary, were placed on a low plane in the beginning by the Opposition, and this level was pretty consistently observed throughout. The Opposition speeches, beginning with that of the leader, as a rule, though there was some some exceptions, were of a most trifling character; petty points were thinly hammered out, frivolous charges, inconsequent, even if made good, were indulged in generously and little if anything in the shape of criticism of administration methods or practical or constructive of policy in the public interest, was imputed into the discussion. The same old cries, the same old charges often made, often refuted, turned up on the eloquent lips of Opposition speakers. The line taken by the Opposition in debate necessarily compelled the members on the Government benches to in many cases deal with trifling matters in replying to the petty attacks made upon the Government and its policy. Though there were some excellent speeches made, yet for the reasons named much valuable time was wasted. Of course the tone of the debate was not raised when Mr Gamey took the floor, which he did towards the close of it. He spoke on Wednesday and his remarks were characterized by the same violence of language, the same coarseness of expression and offensive personalities which form a part of his style. The means that apparently has been taken to herald his speech attracted a crowd to see and hear the political curiosity whose vapoury vauntings in North Oxford led the public who did not know what manner of man he was, to expect that some startling political revelations would be made. But Mr. Gamey created no sensation, except to those unused to his peculair style of oratory. In fact, apart from his coarse personality, his "sensation" fell as flat as the proverbial pancake. He began by roundly abusing the editor of the Globe, and then the Premier was so abusively attacked that the Speaker had to call the orator sharply to order for his offensive language. Mr. Gamey then proceeded to revive the discussion of the charges he made last session, which were investigated and disproved, the House approving the finding of the judges. He charged that the letter of the 10th of September, which he (Gamey) sent to the Premier, stating his intention to support the Government, was left in Mr. Stratton's office. It was amply proved during the investigation that this was not the case, and Mr. Stratton at once contradicted this renewed false statement, and claimed that Mr. Gamey had no right to repeat it in the House. Not contented with the rebuke that had been administered, Mr. Gamey proceeded to discuss matters in regard to his charges that had been completely threshed out and settled last session. The Speaker again ruled the man from Manitoulin, out of order and Mr. Gamey's red-fire sensation, which consisted of reiteration of exploded charges, was snuffed out. He had no new charges to make. Mr. Gamey closed his abortive speech with a vague threat of bringing the matter up on some future occasion. Gameyism has had its little fling; the Opposition has had its little say; the members generally have unloaded their eloquence, and now the House can get down to its legitimate work.

THE LATEST PHASE OF GAMEYISM.

The irrepressible member for Manitoulin has just succeeded in provoking a spirited controversy between the two Toronto party organs—the Globe and the Mail—regarding the speech at Woodstock, which was described as "reeking with vulgarity and blackguardism," says the Ottawa Free Press.

The Mail has asserted that the Globe's report of that somewhat notorious oration was an "evil invention," and declares that Mr. Gamey did not use the words of offence against Chief Justice Falconbridge and his family that was attributed to him.

Mr. Gamey, himself, who ought to know something about the matter, does not dispute the accuracy of the report, but in the Legislature he protested that it was unfair to describe the statements he used as "reeking with blackguardism."

The Globe comes out strongly in defence of its reporter, declaring that the offensive words attributed to Mr. Gamey were actually used by him in his speech; were taken down word for word as they were spoken, and copied, without change of a phrase or sentence, from the shorthand notes, and published without alteration in the Globe.

The question of the vulgarity and blackguardism of the speech depends upon the standard or the point of view from which it is regarded. Some of Mr. Gamey's friends may regard the utterances of the member for Manitoulin as the essence of refinement and good taste; but those who think that a man's domestic life and the members of his family should be safe from the slanderous and malicious attacks of a vile and degraded tongue, will conclude that the Globe's epithets were not undeserved.

The Toronto News, which was at one time not unfriendly to Gamey, denounced his harangue as "brutal innuendoes and indecent violence of language."

Our own opinion is that the Globe did well in reporting the speech, and was fully justified in commenting upon it in the manner it did, not because it had any desire to revel in the language used, but in order that such demoralizing exhibitions as Gamey made at Woodstock, and as he made without protest in Muskoka and North Renfrew, may be eliminated from public life.

THE BLOOM OF HEALTH.

Little children always need careful attention — but they do not need strong drugs. When any ailment comes they should not be drugged into insensibility with the so-called "soothing" syrups, nor should they be given strong nauseous, griping, purgatives. The very best medicine in the world for such troubles as colic, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, worms, colds, simple fevers and teething troubles is Baby's Own Tablets. If your little ones suffer from any of these troubles, give them the Tablets, and see how quickly they will bring back the bloom of health. Give the little ones an occasional dose of the Tablets and you will keep them well. Mrs. Robert Hanna, Elgin, Ont., has proved the truth of these statements and says: "I find Baby's Own Tablets the best remedy for indigestion and teething troubles." The Tablets cost 25 cents a box, and may be had from druggists or by mail from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORGANIZED SOCIETY'S INJUSTICE.

Protection against the State is something for which the British law makes no provision, and that is a serious defect, says the Globe. A man may be accused of crimes of which he is innocent, and he has no redress. He may be put up to the expense and trouble of defending himself, may lose money and valuable time, but he has no claim for compensation. Even if he is subjected to the indignity of arrest, on if he is convicted of a crime of which he is innocent, and made to serve a term in prison, he has no resultant legal claim. Where the capital sentence is carried out, and the life of an innocent man is legally taken, his dependents are debarred from any claims for damages. Some countries have made an effort to remove this injustice, with the result that personal liberty has been made much more exempt from official encroachment. The knowledge that legal redress is possible, naturally makes those who exercise the collective or State authority, more cautious. A case has been brought to light recently in Britain, which shows the deep injustice of the existing laws. A man had been sentenced by an English court to life imprisonment. After serving twelve years of his sentence his innocence was accidentally discovered by the confession of the guilty man and he was set at liberty. For that twelve years of a degraded, unnatural life, for the loss of liberty and the appropriation of his labour, he has no legal redress, although the offence and aggression of the State were both proved and acknowledged.

"The publication of this story has brought to light the equally discreditable case of wrong against Mr. Wm. Jas. Mayor, now a resident of Whitby, Ont., and 80 years of age. In March, 1851, he was, together with three others, convicted in Lancashire, England, of burglary, and shooting with intent. The witness identified all the prisoners and another witness identified Mr. Mayor as a burglar who had entered his house previously. This was corroborated by the servants. The defence was an alibi, but it was a convicting jury, such as accident is liable at any time to select. Major was sentenced to life transportation and the other three men to fifteen years each. An appeal by his wife for permission to accompany him to any penal settlement to which he might be sent was refused. About two years after this a man convicted of robbery in Wales made a statement in prison to the effect that he and some companions had committed one of the crimes charged against Mr. Mayor. Three burglars sentenced at Bradford to life imprisonment made a confession of the other crime. These two revelations led Mr. Mayor's friends to procure legal aid, but his prompt and speedy imprisonment. He was not set at liberty till he had spent ten years and two months in penal servitude, five years of which were passed in Gibraltar. The ten years taken from his life was from the age of 38 to 48 years. He never received any compensation, and the law does not regard him as entitled to any. This disregard of and contempt for personal rights is inherited, but clings with remarkable persistence. The State is scrupulously careful, and rightly so, to compensate for every encroachment on the property of the individual. If Mr. Mayor's horse or cow had been commandeered for Governmental use he would have been paid for it to the full extent of its value. But for the aggression against his person he has no redress. This anomaly is seen in the contrast between the punishment provided for offences against the person and offences against property. The people who suffer from the immunity which the State reserves for itself are generally without influence, but that should not prevent such modifications in the law as will provide for rectifying a class of wrongs certain to occur from time to time.

A BLUFF THAT FAILED.

Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman Tells of Boer War Incident.

London, Feb. 6.—In the House yesterday Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said: That when Mr. Chamberlain interviewed him June 20, 1899, prior to the war, and asked him if the Opposition would support the Government in sending out 10,000 troops to Cape Colony, he, Sir Henry, expressed surprise, whereupon Mr. Chamberlain said: "You need not be alarmed. There will be no fighting. We know those fellows won't fight. We are playing a game of bluff." Sir Henry said the Opposition refused the request. The statement of Sir Henry was greeted with roars of laughter from the Opposition benches.

Mr. Chamberlain, in reply, said he did not remember using the word "bluff." His only object in approaching Sir Henry was to make sure that the South African question should not be treated in a party spirit, so that the Boers might be convinced of the earnestness of Great Britain.

Balfour Has 86 Majority.

London, Feb. 6.—In the ultimate division in the House of Commons yesterday on Mr. Robson's amendment to the address the Government had a majority of 86, the vote being 192 for and 378 against the amendment.

THE POSTMASTER STATES HIS CASE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Disposed of his Kidney Troubles.

Reason why he Thinks the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy is the Right Medicine for Kidney Trouble and will do all that is Claimed for it.

Little Windsor, Carleton Co., N. B., Feb. 5th. — (Special.) — Postmaster T. H. Belyea, of Lower Windsor, is among the many in the Maritime Provinces who are shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The The postmaster was troubled with Kidney Complaint. He tried various medicines but found no relief. He tried again with Dodd's Kidney Pills and got a complete and permanent cure. In a statement to the public, Postmaster Belyea says:

"I had been troubled with Kidney-Trouble for years. I tried plasters and other medicines but did not seem to get any benefit. Hearing Dodd's Kidney Pills so highly recommended for kidney trouble I concluded to try them and I must say that I received more benefit from them than from any other medicine.

"They seem to have made a complete cure in my case as I feel as well as ever I did. I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right medicine for kidney trouble and will do all that is claimed for them."

Burke & Co's premises, Winnipeg, were visited by fire on Thursday, at a loss of $20,000.

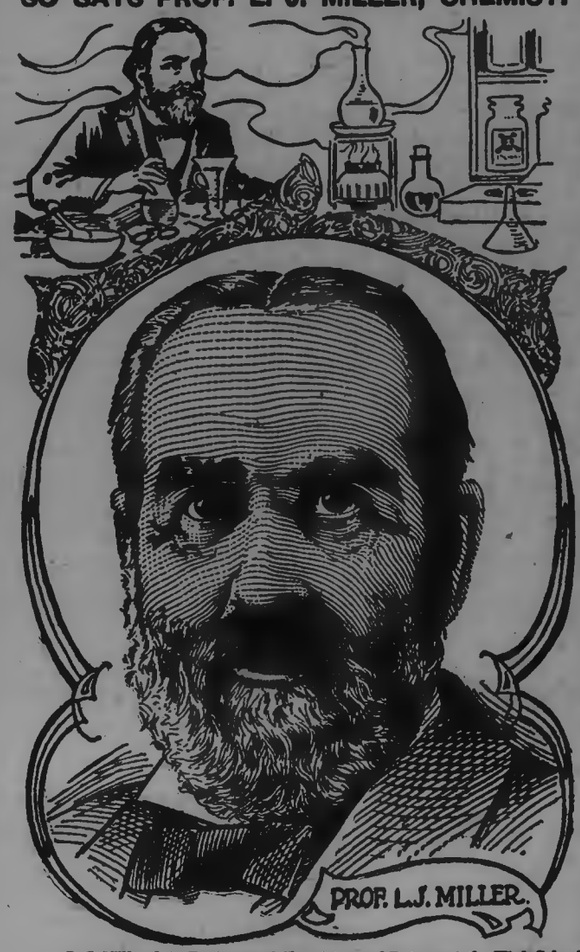
CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.



L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School nti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows: everal of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most ly to learn its contents.

nd it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone stem, restore the functions and procure health.

nsider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared , which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J.

"Builds up the System."

Joseph Ridgeway.

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

GRAND TRUNK AT WORLD'S FAIR

The extensive and comprehensive exhibit which the Grand Trunk Railway System are arranging for the World's Fair, held at St. Louis during 1904, is now in course of preparation. The proposed pavillion which it is the intention of erecting is one combining beauty, elegance and artistic merit and the designs submitted to the Exposition authorities were greatly admired and accepted. The pavillion will be erected in the "Fish and Game" Building, facing on three aisles, will be of Corinthian and Doric architectural style, embellished with emblematic designs of fish and game, and it is claimed will be one of the handsomest structures at the Exposition. Canadian haunts will be the predominating feature of the display.

The mammoth palaces that form the main picture of this "World's Fair"—the Foreign and State buildings and the "Pike" (Midway)—are at the present time much further advanced before the opening date than the buildings of any other of the great expositions that have been held in the past; in fact, the installation of exhibit is now being proceeded with in many of the buildings.

One good feature of St. Louis is the Union station; there being only this one, all trains from all points with the exception of excursion trains from a distance of one or two hundred miles of St. Louis will arrive and leave from the one depot, and as the street car lines pass the station visitors will have no trouble in reaching their hotels or boarding houses without difficulty and early after arrival.

People who have seen the grounds for the first time marvel at the magnitude of this colossal undertaking and do not hesitate in forming the opinion that it will be the greatest event from an instructive, educational and amusement point of view, that the world has ever seen.

Two hundred and fifty conventions have already signified their intention of visiting, and have completed arrangements for St. Louis during the "World's Fair."

Waltham Abbey.

Waltham Abbey, England, which has fallen into the hands of the "restorer," is associated with the memory of King Harold. It was founded by that monarch, whose tomb stood for many centuries on a site several yards beyond the east end of the present church. William the Conqueror showed little favor to the monastery. He robbed it of vestments, plate, and jewels, though, curiously enough, he left the monks in possession of their large estates. Among former curates of Waltham Abbey was Thomas Fuller, who has left an interesting "History" of his old church, which, by an odd coincidence, he compiled from a chronicle written by his namesake, Robert Fuller, the last abbot of Waltham before the Reformation.

ELECTIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Gerald Balfour Hints That They May Soon Be Brought on.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking at the dinner in the Hotel Metropole the Right Hon. Gerald Balfour, president of the Board of Trade, said he would apply for the appointment of a special committee for the purpose of enquiring whether the Board of Trade regulations could be applied to foreign ships. He hinted that a general election might soon be held.

Question re Canada.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Mr. Black, M.P., will on Monday ask Right Hon. Alfred Lyttleton, Secretary of State for the Colonies, whether Germany has offered to restore to Canada the most favored nation treatment on terms which include the recall of Canada's preference to the Mortherland; also, if he will state the present position of the negotiations.

Will Hurt British Trade.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—The English Building Trades say that if Canada is after a preferential rate on timber, which will likely be demanded as well as that on corn, a crushing blow will be given to the British trade, and the occupation of a million persons will be imperilled.

Dinner to Cement Coalition.

London, Feb. 6.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Wimborne gave a dinner and reception at Wimborne House last night, which is regarded as signalizing the coalition of the two sections of the free traders and possibly the return of the Liberal-Unionists to the Liberal fold.

To Be Married in the Abbey.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Lady Grize! Winifred Louisa Cochrane, eldest daughter of Lord Dundonald, commanding the militia of Canada, has been accorded the special privilege of being married in Westminster Abbey to the Hon. Ralph Gerard Alexander Hamilton, Master of Belhaven, son and heir of Lord Belhaven and Stenton. The privilege is due to the fact that an ancestor of Lord Dundonald is buried in the Abbey. The wedding will take place in Henry VII. Chapel on March 1, next.

Sir Charles Attacks Sir Wilfrid.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Charles Tupper writing to The Times anent Canada and her liberty to carry on treaty negotiations, says that since his letter of Jan. 26, Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his interview with H. W. Lucy has qualified his position, now insisting only on the right to arrange preliminaries. Sir Charles Tupper quotes from a despatch of Lord Lansdowne to the British Ambassador at Washington in 1901 re the difficulty in amending the Clayton-Bulwer treaty in the face of American opposition to the Alaska settlement, and Sir Charles adds that Canadians will not soon forget that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, instead of seizing the golden opportunity and requiring the Alaska boundary to be submitted to a properly constituted tribunal, unfortunately declared that Canada had no interest in the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. Sir Charles continued: "I unhesitatingly deny that Canada demands treaty making rights with foreign powers. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier's present jejune scheme is practicable it involves the most effective means of inducing hostile feelings between Canada and the Crown."

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of. The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

A TREATY OR FIGHT

A Frank Statement by Japan's Minister to London.

THE SITUATION IS HOPELESS

Tokio Believes War to Be Imminent—Volunteer Subscriptions to Japan's War Fund Now Exceed $2,000,000 Yen—Baron Hayashi Says His Country Would Object to Interference By Great Britain.

Paris, Feb. 6.—An interview published here with Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister to Great Britain, has attracted marked attention in the highest Government quarters.

Baron Hayashi, besides reiterating his former published statements that the Japanese will insist on a signed treaty recognizing China's rights in Manchuria, is quoted as adding:

"If Russia refuses this treaty we will fight."

"Is your Government unalterably determined on this course?" the minister was asked.

"Absolutely," he is said to have replied.

"We will not take promises. Too many promises have been broken, and now we insist upon a signed treaty."

The interviewer then asked: "Suppose Russia's answer is conciliatory and reasonable but refuses to go to the extent of signing the treaty you desire, will your Government then have recourse to arms?"

"That is precisely what I mean," replied the minister.

"If the Government of King Edward VII. asks Japan not to make war," continued the interviewer, "and requests her to accept Russia's reply, what will Japan do?"

"We shall greatly object to such intervention, even coming from the King. We desire to be left alone in our duel with Russia. We do not want support or assistance. We desire to settle our own account with Russia."

In terminating the interview, Baron Hayashi was asked: "Then you say that if Russia refuses to sign a treaty recognizing China's rights in Manchuria that means war?"

"That will be war," replied the minister.

Baron Hayashi added to the foregoing that he believed it to be the view of his Government, and that authority had been given him to announce it.

The Situation Hopeless.

London, Feb. 6.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says the situation is regarded as hopeless. It is generally believed, he continues, that the councils of the elder statesmen held February 3 and February 4 decided upon the final measures to be taken in the event of an unfavorable reply from Russia.

The voluntary subscriptions to the war fund exceed 2,000,000 yen ($1,000,000), the correspondent says, and little credence is attached to the persistent rumors that Russian troops are about to proceed to Corea at the request of the Corean Government.

Russian Relay Post Established.

Port Arthur, Feb. 6.—Military reports declare that all the railway bridges are guarded and that the bridges over the Sungar River are defended by infantry, artillery and patrol boats.

A relay post has been established on the military road from Lian Yang to Antung in anticipation of an advance. The railway is almost entirely at the disposal of the commissariat in order to allow for the free passage of troops later when their movement is urgent.

What Japan Proposes.

London, Feb. 6.—The statement is published here that the draft of the treaty which Japan originally submitted to Russia contained several articles, the first of which provided for the mutual recognition of the integrity and independence of China and Corea. The second recognized Japan's right to advise Corea on finances and general administration. The third stipulated that Russia should not hinder the development of Japan's commercial interests in Corea. The fourth recognized that Japan was entitled to send troops to Corea in the event of disturbances, such troops to be withdrawn when peace had been restored. The fifth article provided that no fortifications be erected on the southern coast of Corea, and guaranteed the freedom of the Straits of Corea. The sixth article arranged for the eventual junction of the Corean and Manchurian railroad system, while the seventh denounced all previous Russo-Japanese treaties relating to Corea.

Japanese Panic Stricken.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—"The Japanese are flying panic-stricken," cables the Vladivostock correspondent of The Novoe Vremya. "and Japanese storekeepers are sacrificing all they possess in their haste to escape to Japan. Cases of oranges are selling for 5 cents, and furniture is being literally given away. They are practically ruining themselves in their hurry to get away before the outbreak of war."

Rushing Railway Supplies.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—A semi-official despatch received here from Irkutsk says: "Telegraphic" orders have been received here to forward immediately to Baikal a consignment of rails sufficient to lay thirty miles of track with all necessary material for the construction work across Lake Baikal."

Cables at Owe Risk.

New York, Feb. 6.—The significant announcement that telegrams for Japan and Corea can be accepted only at sender's risk was made yesterday by the Commercial Cable Company, which has received the following despatch: "From to-day telegrams to Japan and Corea can only be accepted at sender's risk."

Coaling the British Fleet.

London, Feb. 6.—There is renewed activity at Cardiff owing to the demand for coal. The Admiralty agents yesterday received instructions to secure the prompt loading of coal cargoes for the British fleet in Japanese waters. Steam coal is so freely sold that it is impossible to obtain spot cargoes. There is considerable pressure for the immediate shipment of coal already purchased by Russia and Japan and for the European navies, hence several days are likely to elapse before the British Admiralty orders can be filled.

FOREIGN PAPERS.

C.P.A. Would Like Protection Afforded Through Postage.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Canadian Press Association disposed of business in short order yesterday. A. McNeo of Windsor moved for a reconstruction of the postal laws to make United States papers, magazines, circulars, etc., pay the same rates as British and other publications, as the royal mails carried 100 bags of Yankee papers to one of Canadian, and he urged that the newspapers should share in Government protection. President Cooper related the present system, but agreed that a change would bring the American matter through the express companies instead of the mails. Then a duty could be imposed. A. H. U. Colquhoun was elected second vice-president and J. R. Bone assistant secretary by acclamation. The following were elected to the Executive Committee: Messrs. D. Williams, J. F. McKay, W. E. Smallfield, W. A. James and W. Ireland.

CHATHAM MAN'S HONEST OPINION.

Greatest Blessing Mr. Hutchison ever Received was From Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

That Indigestion causes more discomfort and actual suffering in the present age than all other ailments combined is readily admitted by the medical fraternity. Nearly everybody has it, and the great majority will exclaim "It's that Indigestion again," and let it go at that. People seem to think that those who eat are entitled to suffer.

Mr. H. Hutchison, of Chatham, Ont., may be a little severe in his criticism of such people when he says: "I think a man is a fool who will suffer from Indigestion when he can be so easily cured." But he's right, and he knows that he is out of his own experience. Mr. Hutchison continues:—

"I had suffered for a long time from Indigestion until a short time ago a friend brought me a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and from the very first I got relief. I keep them by me and if any time my food is likely to disagree with me I just take one or two Tablets and feel no more Indigestion.

"I must confess one of the greatest blessings I ever received was from using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Insurgents Kill Yankee Engineer.

San Domingo, Feb. 6.—The insurgents yesterday morning deliberately fired on the launch of the United States auxiliary cruiser Yankee, killing J. C. Johnston, the engineer.

Sent Up For Trial.

St. Catharines, Feb. 5.—Thomas Blake, charged with stealing a money letter, was sent up for trial yesterday.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, beas, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Embezzler Takes His Own Life.

San Francisco, Feb. 6.—Malcome De Lafere, doctor, ex-soldier, and inventor, who was wanted by the Minneapolis police authorities for embezzlement, has committed suicide here by taking poison.

Hanna Has Typhoid.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Hanna is officially pronounced to have typhoid fever.

"77"

Breaks up Grip and

COLDS

Many cases of Grip and Influenza go straight to the liver, producing Jaundice. The skin gets as yellow as a duck's foot. The use of Humphreys' "77" and Specific 10 puts the liver in working order and cures both Grip and Jaundice. The embarrassing yellow skin is gradually absorbed.

"77" cures Coughs, Grip, Influenza, Catarrh, Sore Throat, and Colds that "hang on."

We Shall Spend $500,000

To Give Liquozone Away.

This Company, after testing Liquozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We are now spending $500,000 to give the product away—one bottle to each of a million sick ones. We are doing this so that every sick one may let Liquozone itself prove what it can do.

Kills Inside Germs

The greatest value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it kills germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. And no man knows another way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease, as every physician knows.

Liquozone will do for sick humanity more than all the drugs in the world combined. It does what no skill can accomplish without it. It cures diseases which medicine never cured.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone, which—like oxygen—is life to an animal, is deadly to vegetal matter. It is carried by the blood to every cell of every tissue, and no touch of impurity—no germ of disease, can exist where Liquozone goes.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

ONTARIO'S SEVERE WINTER WEATHER.

As Contrasted with Mild Weather in the North West Territories.

The Government Monthly Reports — Peterborough Coldest Day 30 Below Zero.

The weather report for the month of January, was issued by the Government yesterday, and from it the Examiner takes some extracts in reference to a subject which is well-named the universal topic.

As is well known, the winter in Ontario, and in this portion particularly, has been of a very severe character. The average daily temperature for the month was over six degrees below the mean. This state of affairs existed though to a less extent eastward through Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. West of the head of Lake Superior, the temperature was just as much above the average, and Manitoba and the Northwest generally, is experiencing a very mild winter, as will be noticed below.

The following are a few figures regarding the lowest temperature experienced during January in different localities: Victoria, 28 above; Vancouver, 20 above; Edmonton, 22 below; Battleford 32 below; Winnipeg, 42 below; Port Arthur, 34 below; White River, 46 below; Parry Sound, 31 below; Toronto, 15 below; Kingston, 28 below; Ottawa, 30 below; London, 22 below; Hamilton, 10 below; Lakefield, 29 below; Kinmount, 44 below; Peterborough, 30 below; Montreal, 21 below; Charlottetown, 16 below; Halifax, 7 below.

The report says: "At the close of the month deep snow covered the Dominion from the Lake Superior District to the Atalantic Coast. In Ontario, and to a lesser extent in the Maritime provinces, the depth in many places was phenomenal. This was not owing so much to the heavy snowfalls of the month, although locally, these were pronounced, but more to the accumulation of snow from the early part of the winter, caused by the absence of rains and thaws. In Ontario the depth ranged from 16 inches on the shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario, to 30, 40 and 50 inches in the interior, and even locally to much more.

"British Columbia. — An unusually mild month, only occasional light frosts, snow on three days. A good many flowers and shrubs still in full bloom in gardens.

"Northwest Territories and Manitoba. — January weather for the most part fine and agreeable very little snow, a great deal of sunshine, and little zero weather. Live stock running on the ranges are in splendid condition. Spring larks appeared for a time during the month. Building operations have continued in full swing with few interruptions.

"Ontario and Quebec. — The weather in these provinces was exceedingly cold. Much snow and little rain also characterized the month.

"Maritime Provinces. — Intensely cold weather, high gales and heavy snowstorms characterized the month of January."

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

LOCAL WRESTLER IN TORONTO BOUT.

Geo. Gauthier Will Wrestle Three Falls With Johnny Jackson of Toronto.

The wrestling bouts at St. Andrew's Hall to-night promise to equal, if, indeed, not exceed, in interest the bout there a week ago between Jack Tobin (Chas. Conklin), of Hamilton, and Max Luttberg, the New York welterweight.

The main bout to-night is a handicap match between Tobin and the ever popular Artie Edmunds, of Toronto. At last Saturday night's bouts, Tobin, at the conclusion of Edmunds' handicap bout with Farmer Burns and Nick Collins, boasted that he could throw Edmunds three times in an hour. Edmunds promptly called the bluff, and Tobin stood pat. There is a $300 purse and a side bet of $100 up. Tobin has about 20 pounds the better of it in the weights, but Edmunds is a strong youngster, and used to stacking up against good men in handicap bouts. He stood off "Demon" Parker, the well-known welterweight, for fifteen minutes while the latter was at the Star theatre last season, and this season he collected $25 for sticking a quarter of an hour with Luttberg, who was also working at the burlesque house. A week ago Luttberg was thrown by Tobin in 49 minutes, and in turn put the Hamilton man's shoulders to the mat in 51 minutes, so that it is practically an even break between that pair of wrestlers. Doped out along that line, Edmunds has a fair chance of staying the limit with the sleightlous city crack.

In addition to this bout the well-known Geo. Gauthier of Peterborough, will wrestle three falls with Johnny Jackson of Toronto and Hockey Jones and Nic Collins, both local men, will go two in three for a curtain raiser. Collins is a pretty fair mat artist, and Jones has some little science and lots of steam and speed.—Toronto Star.

PUCKERINGS.

This afternoon the Junior Alerts defeated the Junior Beavers by 5 to 0.

The Junior Snowflakes of the fifth ward played a game this afternoon with the Junior Northern Lights of Lakefield. The home team lined up as follows: Goal, M. Swanson; point, Percy Hall, (captain); cover point, J. Fitzgerald; forwards, Alex Butcher, H. Roger, Fred Masters, Alex. McAllister.

As Brighton has put up no defense to Trenton protest concerning the game played in Brighton on January 27 the game has been awarded to Trenton. This leaves Cobourg and Trenton a tie. The secretary of the league has ordered these two teams to play off in Port Hope on Tuesday night.

For kindly consenting to referee the Examiner-Review hockey match on Thursday night, the two teams presented Miss Florence Scott with a gold-headed parasol. Mr. S. S. Moore, of the Review, made the presentation. Miss Scott expressed her appreciation of the gift and the kindness of the teams in presenting it.

The junior Cordage hockey team hereby challenges the Aberdeens or any other team to a game of hockey. Average age, 16 years.

At Norwood last night Campbellford and Warkworth Trent Valley League hockey teams played a sudden death game, Campbellford winning, Warkworth, however, has protested the game.

The Review will say to-night: "Unless the Examiner stops 'jollying' the Review on its hockey team the latter will stop its subscription and take its advertising some other place.

Mr. Editor.—We notice in your last issue the difficulty the 'Office Bunch' of the American Cerea' Co. have in organizing their hockey team. However the challenge is out of order, as they are aware the number employed in our office would not constitute a hockey team. The McAllister Milling Co.

SPRINTING.

The race which was to have been run this afternoon between A. J. Burns and Dave Belland has been postponed because of a severe cold under which the latter is labouring. It will probably be pulled off on Monday. Mr. Burns states that he is in good condition and will give Mr. Belland a hard run.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—When you think of pictures or picture framing, think of the "Framery," 428 George street.

—Mr. Whiten is having the scenery for his studio painted by the gold medal scenic painter of Canada.

—A bevel plate mirror in an ornamented solid oak frame for sale cheap at the "Framery," 428 George street.

—The Ministerial Association will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday morning at ten o'clock in the parlour of the Y.M.C.A.

—Owing to the condition of the railways it has been found impossible to arrange for an excursion to Toronto on the 11th.

—A concert and entertainment will be given in St. John's school house on Monday evening, February 15th, under the auspices of the Auxiliary Branch of the Mission to the Deep Sea Fishermen. An excellent programme is being prepared.

—The market to-day was practically nil. The almost impassible condition of the country roads made the number of farmers on the market very small. The leading prices for produce were Butter 23 to 24c., eggs 30c., chickens 60 to 80c., ducks 70 cents to $1, turkeys $1.25 to $2.

For Stomach Troubles.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation," says Mrs. S. Geiger, of Dunkerton, Iowa, "but never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets." For sale by all druggists.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Hannah Cottingham Died in Lindsay Recently.

Lindsay Watchman-Warder.—Deep regret was caused on Sunday evening by the news that Mrs. Cottingham had died suddenly of heart failure. Deceased was the widow of Mr. Anthony Cottingham, who died about 35 years ago. She had been in frail health for several months but her sudden taking off was unexpected.

Mrs. Cottingham's maiden name was Hannah Rae; she was a daughter of the late W. Rae, who came to Ops from Ireland nearly a century ago. About 1856 she and Mr. Cottingham were married, and came to live in Lindsay. A family of four survive her. They are: Jennie, at home, William and Albert, of town; and Walter, of Chicago. Mrs. J. Parsons of Omemee, and Mrs. S. Rehill, of Peterborough, are sisters of deceased.

Mrs. Cottingham was a member of the Methodist church, and the funeral to Riverside on Monday was conducted by Rev. G. W. Henderson.

It's a warm proposition! Nothing like Furs for a genuine Canadian winter like this one. Such cold weather calls for the warmest of clothing, and for warmth what will compare with Fur? It keeps the heat of the body in, and conserves it longest. It looks well—is not cumbersome—is durable and decidedly stylish if properly cut and made.

"But what about the price," says some one. All we have to say is that Prices were never Lower.

We are compelled by our partnership agreement to reduce stock by the beginning of March to about $20,000. this means the sale of about $25,000 worth of Furs, Hats and Furnishings by that time.

Remnant Sales

In spite of the astonishing sales of the past three weeks, at the Golden Lion, stock-taking discloses large quantities of winter goods which we do not wish to measure up. We would rather count cash than merchandise. For the sake of disposing of them to the last yard, a pittiless cutting of prices is the rule. The chances during these two weeks of Inventory-taking are the most extraordinary yet announced. If you don't buy to-day or to-morrow, don't say we didn't give you fair warning. It would be well to be around every day. You are in the most sensational buying season of your life for the purchase of serviceable goods.

Remnants in all departments—Short Ends of Dress Goods, Silks, Flannel, Linens, Prints, etc.—Ends of lines in Underclothing, Outer garments, Gloves, Corsets, etc.—all contribute pleasing prices to thrifty shoppers.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA THE SWORD DRAWN

Negotiations Broken Off Between These Two Powers.

RUSSIAN DELAY IS TO BLAME

Japan Tired of Russia's Delays, Evasions and Insincerity Brings Matters to a Focus—A Step Toward War—Troops Going to Corea—Russians Already on the Move—Hostilities May Commence To-day.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 8.—It is officially announced that Count Lamsdorff, the Russian Foreign Minister, has informed the Russian representatives abroad that Japan has decided to break off negotiations with Russia and to withdraw her Minister and the entire Legation staff from St. Petersburg, and that upon the receipt of a note to this effect from the Japanese Minister, Russia had ordered Baron de Rosen and the Legation to leave Tokio. This is only a step towards war. The indications are there will be no formal declaration of war. A clash of arms will precede a declaration. To-day Japan will unquestionably seize Corea.

London, Feb. 8.—Cabling from Tokio, the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, gives a report that Russian troops have already crossed the Corean frontier and that an official declaration of war is expected to-day. He adds that Russian interests in Japan have been placed in the hands of the Austrian Minister.

Appeals to God of Battle.

London, Feb. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Standard, referring to the Far Eastern situation, says: "The god of battle has flung the dice; destiny is in his hands at last, and with the stern echo of that terrible cast the peace of the world is in his hands. When and how it will be restored no living man dare say."

The Chronicle says: "While English influence has restrained Japan throughout the negotiations yet it only acted as a millstone around her neck preventing necessary military considerations."

Japanese Demands Moderate.

The Times this morning asserts that the Japanese demands were of a moderation that will astonish the world when they are disclosed. Japan did nat even ask Russia to promise to move a single soldier from Manchuria or to renounce a single right in Manchuria.

The Daily Graphic, dealing with this same subject, asserts that the original draft of the treaty submitted to Russia was drawn up by Baron Komura in consultation with Baron de Rosen.

"PIECE OF IMPUDENCE."

Story From St. Petersburg Giving Account of Japanese Minister's Withdrawal.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 8.—Although the fear was general here Saturday that the presentation of the Russian note to Japan might be followed by an act on the part of the Japanese Government which would plunge the two countries into war the startling action of Japan in severing diplomatic relations with Russia before the actual delivery of the Russian note came like a bolt from a clear sky.

It was believed that the receipt of this note might have unmasked an ultimatum, but that Japan should sever diplomatic relations, a step little short of a declaration of war, was almost like a blow in the face under the present circumstances, and it is resented accordingly. The authorities believe this action places Japan distinctly in the wrong before the world, and, moreover, after such a "piece of impudence," as it is denominated here, makes easy an appeal to the patriotism of the Russian people. The news that at any moment Japan had drawn the sword and that the first clash had occurred would not be surprising. The events leading to Japan's abrupt action have come with great rapidity.

M. Kurino Asks For Passport.

The Russian note was already in the hands of Baron de Rosen, Russian Minister to Tokio, for delivery to Baron Komura, the Japanese Foreign Minister, when, at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister, here, presented himself at the Foreign Office and informed Foreign Minister Lamsdorff that his Government, in view of delays in connection with the Russian answer and the futility hitherto of the negotiations, considered it useless to continue diplomatic relations and would take such steps as it deemed proper for the protection of Japan's interests. In obedience to instructions, therefore, he asked for his passports.

It is known that Count Lamsdorff expressed surprise and regret at this move. M. Kurino received his passports and after consulting with Sir C. S. Scott, the British Ambassador, returned to his legation, where the preparations for his departure has been started.

Japanese Legation Cleared.

During the night as if by magic, all the Japanese art treasures, bronzes and ivories, had disappeared in the Japanese Legation and the spacious saloons were bare. When a representative of the Associated Press called, M. Kurino entered the salon, his bloodshot eyes giving evidence that he had been a stranger to sleep. He was, however, without trace of excitement. There was an air of firm resolution about him which was the only noticeable change in his usual demeanor. Throughout the strain which has just passed, the attitude of the Japanese Minister has been strictly correct. He has been on good terms personally with Count Lamsdorff and the other Russian officials.

Yesterday he declined to offer an explanation of the course of Japan, saying the authorities at Tokio would doubtless give their side of the story. He did, however, venture to point out that the irritation created by the delay in the Russian response, together with the forecasts of what it contained, might have convinced his Government that it was futile to proceed further with diplomacy.

Not Necessarily War.

As M. Kurino looked out of a window at the Legation he saw a battalion of the Russian Imperial Guard. He showed no emotion, but said, rather sadly, that the rupture of the diplomatic relations did not necessarily mean war. United States Ambassador McCormick was one of M. Kurino's callers yesterday morning, and later in the day many other diplomats came to express to him their regrets at the turn affairs had taken. In the afternoon M. Kurino and his wife made a number of hurried farewell calls. Four cars were ready at the Warsaw station for the Minister and the Legation staff. M. Kurino will leave at the earliest possible moment, but will probably not be able to get away before Wednesday. The current business of the Japanese Legation will probably be turned over to the British Embassy. It is possible that the Czar may personally undertake the protection of the Japanese in Russia, as Nicholas I. did in the case of the English during the Crimean war.

Amid the crop of stories afloat here yesterday, there were some of the wildest character, as, for example, that a naval battle has already been fought and a Japanese fleet sunk.

What Russia Declined to Do.

When Count Lamsdorff informed M. Kurino on Thursday night that the response had gone to Viceroy Alexieff, he did not give him a copy of it, but it is understood he made known in a general way, the Russian position. Russia, while making concessions, declined to yield on the four following points:

First—Japan's right to ask for a treaty covering the sovereignty of Manchuria.

Second—She insisted upon mutual recognition of the independence of Corea.

Third—That there should be no fortification of Southern Corea, which might threaten Russian communication with Port Arthur and Vladivostock, and Fourth—She declined to meet Japan's wishes with regard to a neutral zone on both sides of the Yalu River.

A STEP TOWARD WAR.

Japan Was Tired of Russia's Delays, Evasions and Insincerity.

Tokio, Feb. 8.—The severance of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan appears to be only a step toward war, although when the ministers of Russia and Japan withdraw from their respective posts quick and decisive action is expected.

When Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura on Saturday notified Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister, of Japan's declaration to sever diplomatic relations, he is reported to have declared to him that Japan is tired of Russia's delays, evasions and insincerity and has decided to take independent action for the conservation of Japan's interests. Repeated requests for an answer were treated in a most unsatisfactory manner. Japan waited until convinced that it was useless to wait longer, and has now ended the discussion. The indications are that there will be no formal declaration of war.

Japan will publicly define its position and purposes, and the Foreign Office has prepared a new statement. To-day Japan will unquestionably seize Corea, and although Russia has previously intimated that it would not interfere, in view of that country's present attitude, developments are eagerly awaited.

No Popular Excitement at Tokio.

London, Feb. 8.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Tokio says a declaration of war is expected soon. The correspondent says that Japan Saturday forwarded to the powers a statement of the events that led to the breaking off of relations with Russia. There is no popular excitement at Tokio.

British Regiment Moves.

Shanghai, Feb. 8.—The British regiment, the Sherwood Foresters, is preparing to sail on the steamer Kwang Ping to Chin-Wang-Tao, where the railroad from Tien Tsin to Kin-Chau passes the Great Wall. The movement of this regiment is presumably to safeguard the Tien-Tsin-New Chwang railroad, which enters the Great Wall of Chin Wang Too. It is reported that the Russians are seizing various points on the northern part of this line.

De Rosen Leaves Friday.

Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister, has arranged to depart from Tokio Friday next.

The Government's preliminary ex-

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

One of the objections raised against the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is that its route will pass through a long stretch of barren, unproductive and difficult country, making construction in the first place extremely costly, and in the second place affording no local traffic, and presenting no opportunity for development. Voicing the sentiments of the objectors, the Montreal Star says:

"We should not waste any money on that mad route, unknown, unsurveyed and uninhabited, through the north country, over granite ranges, from Winnipeg to Quebec."

Mr. J. G. Scott, Manager of the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway, in a letter to the Globe in reply, tells quite a different story. Speaking of the territory described by the Star, he says it is a mistake to speak of the country in this way. Recent surveys and expenditures, he says, have proved that the territory in question is rich in spruce forests, agricultural soil and water powers, and also in minerals. At the same time meteorological reports show that the climate is distinctly better than that of the vast country below Quebec, and that this district is in all respects infinitely superior in soil, climate and resources to the "barren country traversed by the C.P.R. between Lake Nipissing and Winnipeg." The geographical position of the country, in question, says Mr. Scott, is such that the shortest possible line from St. Lawrence tide-water must pass through its centre, and that thus a line, shorter by 300 miles than the C.P.R., can be secured. Mr. Scott points out in regard to the section through northern Ontario, that by keeping well north of the height of land and Lake Abitibi, the line will pass over an almost universally level country to Winnipeg, because the level of Lake Winnipeg is 700 feet. He deduces that there will be no difficulty in securing the maximum grade of six-tenths of one per cent., or 31 feet per mile, so that with the same power twice the tonnage can be hauled. Mr. Scott draws a very favourable picture of the resources adjacent to the route of the new railway if the St. Maurice valley is selected. Mr. Scott deals in his letter only with this section of the great Transcontinental line, and sweeps away the chief objections to the route begotten of sectional anxiety and political prejudice. He does not deal with the other aspects of the railway, but he has shown that the objections to the route from the St. Lawrence to Winnipeg, are without foundation, and done that much towards clearing the way for a line urgently needed in the interests of transportation and national development—a line which constitutes another of the many "spouts" needed for the discharge of the continuously enlarging and over-flowing grain "hopper" of the Northwest.

CONDEMNED BY POLITICAL FRIENDS.

The member from Manitoulin is not enthroning himself any higher in public opinion, and his erratic and violent course is alienating many whose party affiliations desire, if they can, to speak well of him, are becoming disgusted with his antics on both the platform and in the House. The Woodstock Express strongly supported Mr. Whitney and his candidate in the North Oxford bye-election, in which Mr. Gamey was a prominent element, though to do justice to the Express it objected to his presence in the riding. This is what the Express has to say of Mr. Gamey in its last issue:—"Mr. Gamey had his fling in the House yesterday. As was to be expected, his speech indicated the man's motive, which appears to be one of revenge, and not a desire to promote the interests of the party that elected him. It is probable that Mr. Gamey would not give a fig what became of the Conservative party as long as he could get even with Hon. J. R. Stratton, the Premier, and the Judges by wrecking the Ontario Government. How long the patience of the people will tolerate this man's strenuosity is a matter for conjecture. While the man himself thinks he has a cause which warrents an unrelenting prosecution, his bitter and revengeful nature and the vigour of his protracted campaign against those whom he considers have wronged him cannot appeal for any length of time to any large section of the people. Certain it is that Mr. Gamey is not adding much to the dignity of the House. As for his own dignity, he is not worrying much about that."

SOME SIGNIFICANT SEVENS.

The live Liberals of Leduc, Alberta, have prepared for local distribution a document which sets forth in a very succinct and striking way the contrast with the condition in which the Conservatives left Canada in 1896 when they gave place to a Liberal Government, and the conditions that prevail after seven years of honest and progressive Liberal administration. The number seven has been assigned magical properties and it would seem that the almost magical prosperity and growth that have come to Canada in the past seven years bear out this idea. This is very well set forth in the document referred to, which, printed under the heading "Facts for the Elections of Leduc," is as follows:—

Seven years ago last June the Conservative Government was in power. To-day the Liberals are in power and this is part of their record for the seven years past

Seven years ago our revenue was $36,618,591; to-day it is $63,739,271, or nearly twice as much.

Seven years ago we had a deficit of $330,000; this year we had a surplus of over $13,000,000, or a betterment of a little over $13,000,000.

Seven years ago our foreign trade was $239,000,000; to-day it is $459,000,000, or about twice as much.

Seven years ago the number of homesteads entered during the year was 1,857; this year it was 31,343 or a little over seventeen times as many.

Seven years ago our cattle export was $104,541; this year it was $11,342,634, or say eleven times as much.

Seven years ago we exported in oats $273,861; this year we exported $2,583,151, or over nine times as much.

Seven years ago we exported in flour $718,433; this year we exported $4,699,142, or say six times as much.

Seven years ago our Territorial grant was $267,000; this year it was $957,000, or say four times as much.

Seven years ago our bank note circulation was $31,456,297; this year it was $60,414,740, or say, $2 to $1.

Seven years ago we exported bacon to the value of $3,802,135; this year we exported $15,455,174, or about four times as much.

Seven years ago we exported in butter, $4,000,000; this year we exported $7,000,000, or, say, twice as much.

Seven years ago we exported in agricultural implements $593,464; this year we exported $2,284,904, or, say, four times as much.

Seven years ago our mineral export was $4,419,170, this year it was $31,064,861, or, say, seven times as much.

Seven years ago it took the bonding of three quarter-sections of this land to buy a bushel of seed grain from the Government.

This year lots of the same land sold for one and two thousand dollars.

And last, but not least, seven years ago tons of Tory literature were strewed over the width and breadth of this land abusing Mr. Israel Tarte in every way imaginable; this year it is "Come to my arms, Israel dear, bid your friends in the Liberal Cabinet good-bye."

This is cheerful reading, and it is no wonder that with lots more like it to be told, every Canadian is an optimist, realizing by the story of the past seven years, what a great future is open to this country, from a continuation of the wise, prudent and progressive administration of our affairs by a Liberal Government. We all realize that the present Government of this country is safe in the hands of the Liberal Administration. No one wants a return of the gloomy days that preceded the past seven years. The old song that was on every tongue seven years ago, "It's time for a change!" has lost its vogue.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mail and Empire says that the "close vote" on the amendment to the address in the local Legislature was "greeted with thunders of Opposition applause." It's a cheerful mind that extorts so much comfort from so little cause.

An Italian has invented a "hydroscope," which throws on a screen an accurate reflection of objects at the bottom of the sea. Already, says the Globe, an ancient Grecian statue has been recovered from the sea by its use, and it promises to reveal the secrets of the region which has heretofore eluded human curiosity. One of these instruments might be procured and used with advantage in the pending investigation into the electoral corruption in Toronto. By its use, truth, which the proverb places at the bottom of a well might be discovered.

A Toronto Alderman, a Conservative of the Conservatives, frankly admitted in the witness box, in the course of the Toronto corruption inquiry, that he stuffed the assessment rolls with many bogus names, and, naturally, from the assessment rolls these bogus names found their way to the voters' lists. He did this, he said, at the suggestion of a minister of the Gospel, and this pliant Alderman said his object was a moral one. The votes would be under his influence, or that of the minister, to be used to promote some great moral cause, such as a temperance issue. Such a mentor as the minister concerned, and such a pliant parishioner, would play the very deuce with the Decalogue, though they would keep church finances on a comfortable footing. The minister would have only to suggest to the Alderman that the latter steal a hundred dollars for church purposes, and he could justify the theft as being made in the interests of a moral cause, as much as he could justify padding the assessment rolls to make votes for a temperance cause.

THE AMERICAN INVASION.

The fact that thousands and thousands of American settlers are finding it advisable to move in the Canadian West in causing a great deal of anxiety in some circles and among the men who are objecting most strenuously is the railway magnate, J. J. Hill, say the Brantford Expositor. He controls one paper, The St. Paul Globe, and that paper of late has taken a good deal of trouble and devoted a good deal of space in an effort to show the migrating settlers that there is nothing better for them in the Northwest than is to be found at home. If the campaign has had an effect it has so far not been noticeable, for the influx continues, and it appears that it will be a difficult matter indeed to stem the tide of emigration. The present conditions were not brought about by the representations of interested railway companies, although the Canadian Government did point out the advantages that farmers would have there. Heads of families crossed the line, saw the land, the products, the climatic conditions, the system of government for themselves and returned home with reports so glowing that the exodus of whole communities resulted. For industrious men and women no country presents the advantages that are to be found in the Canadian Northwest, and the objections inspired by Mr. Hill are proving to be an excellent advertisement.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others; but every stomach has its limit, and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juices and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong healthy stomach will and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal, and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interefered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try and get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

IN GRIP OF FLAMES

Fire Sweeping City of Baltimore and Cannot Be Checked.

PEOPLE DODGE RAIN OF FIRE

Scene of Terror Inaugurated By a Terrific Explosion Which Frightened the Worshipers in the Churches—All Efforts of the Firemen Without Avail—Help From Other Cities and Towns—No One Killed.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 8.—The most disastrous conflagration in the history of Baltimore occurred here yesterday, raging practically unchecked during many hours, completely destroying scores of the largest business houses in the wholesale district, involving losses which cannot be estimated, as the fire was still burning fiercely when night fell. Owing to the wide extent of the calamity, it will be late to-day before even an approximate estimate of the loss can be made, though it is certain that it has already exceeded $15,000,000. The fire broke out shortly before 11 o'clock in the morning in the wholesale dry goods store of John E. Hurst & Company on Hopkins place, in the heart of the business district, with a series of loud explosions, which were heard in all parts of the city. It spread with fearful rapidity.

In half an hour there was a dozen big warehouses in the wholesale dry goods district burning fiercely. The entire city fire department was called out, but it was utterly powerless to check the spread of the flames, which were aided by high winds, and by noon there were savage fires in at least thirty big warehouses, and the conflagration was steadily eating its way into blocks east, north, west and south.

Too Great a Task For Firemen.

Every bit of fire-fighting apparatus in the city was called into requisition as the flames spread, but the firemen realized they had a task too great for them to combat. Telegrams for fire engines were sent to Washington and Philadelphia, and about 1 o'clock six engines arrived from Washington and four from Philadelphia and joined in the battle. Engines from the stations in Baltimore, Howard, Anne Rundel and Hartford Counties were also summoned, some of the apparatus traveling a distance of thirty miles and more.

It is roughly estimated that there were 350 lines of hose playing upon different parts of the conflagration. Owing to the great congestion of fire apparatus, the crowds of people and the general confusion, many of the engines from out of town were unable to find a place where they would be of any service.

With loud roars wall after wall toppled to the streets and firemen ran for their lives.

At the City Hospital the physicians worked on the roof extinguishing the fires started by the rain of cinders.

Explosion Hurled Tons of Matter.

Eighteen women, two babies and seven nurses were taken from the Maternity Hospital in police ambulances. At 3 o'clock a tremendous explosion of about 150 barrels of whiskey stored in the upper floors of 24 Hanover street hurled tons of burning matter across the street onto the roofs of the buildings which the firemen had drenched with water, hoping to make Hanover street the eastern boundary line of the conflagration.

The flames quivered for a moment, and then took hold and ate into the structures.

The whole city was notified of the conflagration by a terrific explosion about 11, o'clock. A sharp, spitting roar was followed by a whistling noise. In the crowded churches the people became frightened and hundreds went to the streets to see what catastrophe had befallen. Then came another thunderous crash and dense columns of cinders and smoke shot up over the central section of the city, and in a huge brown column moved rapidly toward the northwest. Excited throng filled the streets. The columns of smoke, pieces of roofing and wood were carried along rapidly, and people were forced to dodge the rain of fire.

Two more explosions followed. Of all the spectators comparatively few saw the fire itself. They could not get within half a block of it.

At this hour—midnight—the fire is absolutely beyond control and all occupants of the buildings in the centre of the city are rapidly removing their valuables.

So far as known at this hour no one has been killed.

It is now estimated that the money loss will exceed $10,000,000.

KILLED ON G. T. R.

Benjamin Clark Beheaded in the Toronto Railway Yard.

Toronto, Feb. 8.—Another railway employe met his death on Sunday morning in the yards at the foot of Bathurst street. Benjamin Clark, for six years an employe of the G.T.R., was run over and killed instantly by an eastbound train. He was acting as brakeman for a yard engine, and in getting off to turn a switch did not see the train approaching. He was struck and thrown some distance on the track, the wheel passing over the neck, severing the head from the body.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

IN SPLENDID FIGHTING TRIM

Liberal Clubs of the City Combined in a Demonstration to the Liberal Chief—Sir Wilfrid Roused His Immense Audience to the Highest Pitch of Enthusiasm—Other Distinguished Speakers.

Montreal, Feb. 8.—The largest, most enthusiastic and most successful political rally within the memory of the present generation in Montreal was held Saturday night at the Monument National, when the many Liberal clubs of the city combined in a demonstration in honor of the Liberal Chief of the Dominion and in the interests of the two Government candidates who seek support in the bye-elections to be held in St. James and Hochelaga on February 16. The presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a number of his Ministers added zest to the occasion. A special train brought the party from Ottawa. It was met at the station by deputations from the different Liberal clubs, and students from Laval and McGill Universities. A procession was formed, and when the party arrived at the hall an immense throng greeted him. The hall has the largest seating capacity in this city, and not only was every seat taken, but the aisles were packed and the approaches so congested that it was impossible to break through the crowd. The principal speech was made by Sir Wilfrid and it was notable inasmuch as it was his first political address since the last campaign. He was in splendid fighting form and bore the strain for more than an hour on his feet with remarkable ease. At times he aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and the polished eloquence of his native language had a marked effect when with breathless interest the multitude listened to his exalted pledges of fidelity to the cause of Liberalism, so long as the present generation should repose confidence in the "Old Chief." These utterances caused the listeners to rise from their seats and amidst waving flags, hats and handkerchiefs, a mighty shout went up for "Laurier." The other speakers were Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries; Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Inland Revenue; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Solicitor-General, and the two candidates, Honore Gervais in St. James, and L. A. Rivet in Hochelaga. Mr. E. Blanchard, candidate in St. Hyacinthe, also said a few words.

NIAGARA FALLS FLOODED.

Thaw Inconveniences Householders and Prevents Trolleys Running.

Niagara Falls, Feb. 8.—The thaw here was assisted by a heavy rain yesterday morning, and turned streets into rivers, filled cellars and caused Muddy Run Creek to overflow its banks and stop trolley traffic as well as flood houses and cellars. The water rose until it was running from one to three feet deep in the first storeys of the residences along the creek. In one house a woman was rescued by a man on horseback.

The Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway through cars were unable to run into the city, or to the American side of the river, owing to flood, and the local service to the south end of the city was also interrupted.

The water is subsiding.

Little Italy, a section of the city inhabited by Italians, was so flooded yesterday morning that it presented an immense lake, with the houses completely surrounded with water ranging from 2 to 10 feet deep. Many were unable to reach their homes.

Many Not on List.

London, Feb. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Electoral Department of Australia proved weak during the recent elections. Numbers of voters were disfranchised, including the Lord Mayor of Sydney, although his wife figured in the list.
